Baseball celebrities taking to the stage is becoming so common that Al. G. Field says men must go into baseball to even up matters. With this idea in view Mr. Field has launched a production on the above plan. In one of the big features of this year's show, which comes to the Plainfield theatre Wednesday, matinee and evening, a baseball field is depicted with all its surroundings including the ball game. There is nothing omitted. Of course, Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner, Frank Chance and Mugsy McGraw have prominent places. The presidents of the National and American Leagues, Tom Lynch and Ban Johnson, have not been overlooked. Two rival colored baseball teams engage in a contest that will warm up the coldest fan and keep alive his interest in the national game.

Arcanumites to Go Calling.

The members of Plainfield Council, No. 711, will leave on the 7:10 train Tuesday evening to visit Bayonne Council, No. 695, Royal Arcanum. The visitors will be met at the West Eighth street station by a delegation from Bayonne Council. A big time and a big "feed" will be given in honor of the Plainfielders.

EQUITABLE HOME WAS A MARVEL

COVERED ACRE OF GROUND.

With Splendid Arcade of Granite, Onyx and Marble It Was One of New York's Wonders—Late E. H. Harriman Had Offices In Building.

The Equitable Life Assurance society's building in New York, which was recently destroyed by fire, was valued at $17,000,000 to $20,000,000. Covering an acre of ground and containing a beautiful arcade of polished granite, onyx and Italian marble, it occupied an entire block, surrounded by Broadway, Pine, Cedar and Nassau streets, and for decades, until the erection of the great skyscrapers, was one of the most imposing buildings in the city.

Built of granite and elaborately decorated, it was pointed out for nearly half a century as one of the sights of New York, significant of the solidity of the city's financial institutions, and in later years its ornamented towers have given a trace of structural beauty to a section of Broadway where square, towering skyscrapers are forcing out older and more beautiful buildings.

It contained the rooms of the Lawyers' club and had a law library of 13,000 volumes, together with scores of valuable paintings.

Held Harriman Offices.

Financiers of national reputation had offices in the Equitable building for years. From offices there E. H. Harriman for years directed the affairs of his system of railroads.

Erected in 1869, the original building covered only one-half of the Broadway front of the block, adjoining the Pine street corner, but it was extended and remodelled in 1887 so as to cover the entire block.

It was then regarded as one of the city's structural marvels and contained 600 offices. A part of the old building had been torn down and extensive additions made, producing a structure eleven stories high, with approximately 160 feet frontage on Broadway and 310 feet depth, running through to Nassau street.

Its most notable feature after remodeling was the splendid arcade, which was opened on May 3, 1887. This composed a court 100 feet long, 44 feet wide and 30 feet high, its walls of highly polished granite, with rows of double pillars of the same material, extending along its sides. The capitals of these pillars were of Algerian onyx, and along their tops were layers of Knoxville and Italian marble.

Had Tessellated Floor.

A tessellated floor of pink and white marble added to its beauty. At its eastern end, in the arch of the dome, was a mosaic panel, said to be one of the finest of its kind in the country. It consisted of the draped figure of a woman, at each side of which was the figure of a warrior and beneath them the motto of the society, "Vigilance and Strength—Defend the Defenseless."

Plans were made in 1908 to tear down the building and erect in its place a sixty-two story structure which was to be 909 feet in height and to cost $15,000,000, consisting of a main building 489 feet high, of thirty-four stories, and a tower of twenty-eight stories, with a cupola 420 feet high. These plans, however, were abandoned.

The great war against the insurance companies which resulted in a legislative investigation conducted by Charles E. Hughes and in extensive reforms of the insurance business throughout the country had its inception in the Equitable building and began in a struggle between James Hazen Hyde and James W. Alexander, its chief official, for the stock of the society.

As a result of this struggle Hyde was forced out of the ownership of the society and sold it to Thomas F. Ryan.

The late E. H. Harriman testified at the insurance investigation that he attempted to induce Mr. Ryan to sell him a part interest in the society, but Mr. Ryan declined, and Mr. Harriman, when asked if he had squared the account with Mr. Ryan for his refusal, answered, "Not yet."

After retaining its ownership for several years Mr. Ryan sold control of the society to J. P. Morgan in 1909, and Mr. Morgan is now believed to be its owner.

CONTROL OF TELEGRAPH.

Postmaster General Hitchcock's proposal that the Federal Government acquire control of the telegraph lines is interesting to say the least. Not only does he believe it is the Government's duty to operate this utility but he is sanguine that lower rates would prevail and that the undertaking would prove profitable.

In explaining why he has been led to become a champion for government ownership of such means of communication, Mr. Hitchcock says:

"My own view is that every reason for the tranmission of mail under Government control can be urged with equal force for the transmission of communications by telegraph. Because of the more extensive organization maintained by the Postal Service and the freedom from taxation and other charges to which private corporations are subject, the Government undoubtedly could afford greater facilities at lower rates than are afforded by companies now conducting the telegraph business. Next to the introduction of a general parcels post, for which there is a strong popular demand, the establishment of a Government telegraph system offers, in my judgment, the best opportunity for the profitable extension of the Nation's Postal Service."

It appears that in at least fifty countries there is Government control of the telegraph. Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Russia and Japan are among these. Mr. Hitchcock refers to this and makes a strong argument for its adoption here. "The establishment of a government telegraph system offers, in my judgment, the best opportunity for the profitable extension of the Nation's postal service," he says, but will not Federal control of the telegraph means ultimately Federal ownership of the railroad and all other public utilities? The proposition is a momentous one. It means a departure from the Government's established policy since its founding.

While such action probably would not give better service in the long run, it would undoubtedly reduce the cost of sending messages. The present rivalry and keen competition between the Western Union and Postal companies make the service, on the whole, excellent, and the chances are that it will indirectly make telephone rates lower. Since the Western Union and Bell telephone interests have combined the Postal has begun to string wires suitable for 'phone service, and will combine with independent companies throughout the country to compete with the telephone and telegraph trust. This cannot mean anything but better rates and improved facilities for rapid communication. We doubt whether Congress will see its way clear to even consider the spending of from three to five hundred millions of dollars for the existing telegraph lines, but for all that the suggestion is a good one.

One defect in the American public school system is the inadequate salary of the teacher. So Alfred Mosley, head of the British Education Commission, said at Stanford University one day last week. The blame he placed on the boards of education. In doing so, we consider he has made a mistake. The average board of education is an intelligent body composed of leading men in a given community. Like all other public servants they are frequently the object of much undeserved criticism. It is not the education board but the community which is responsible for small emoluments of the pedagogue. Public sentiment must be aroused and until it is there can be no hope for the teacher, who under present conditions, receives less than the average mechanic.

The Daily Press acknowledges receipt of $5.00 towards a fund to permit the Charity Organization Society to purchase milk for a poor widow who is having a hard time attempting to support herself and seven children. This donation is the result of the appeal made in these columns for contributions to defray the expense of milk not only for this unfortunate woman but for invalids, poverty-stricken families and tubercular patients particularly. The warm hearted woman who sent the $5.00 writes: "I am sure that it needs only a few lines in your newspaper to cause many to see that during this extreme weather $50 a month for milk for the needy ones is a matter that should be taken care of immediately." We share the view of this generous hearted woman in believing that there are others who will respond to the appeal.

It has been suggested that former Governor Murphy be made the Republican candidate for vice president, with an idea of holding New Jersey in line for the party at the election in the fall. Evidently it is thought that the progressives will vote for Governor Wilson anyway, and Mr. Murphy is proposed to keep the regulars in line. He certainly could not get the Progressive vote. Judging from the result of the Senatorial preference vote of over a year ago, it would be better to have former Governor Stokes the party candidate, for he ran well in all sections of the State, while Murphy's strength only appeared in Essex county. Murphy was a candidate for the nomination four years ago, but failed to land the place.

Henry Watterson and his Louisville Courier-Journal has won a wager made over a year ago with the New York World. "Marse Henry" bet that before the first of this year, Taft and Roosevelt would be at swords' points and the other day he called the New York paper's attention to the fact that he was getting hungry waiting for that meal. Yesterday, the World "confessed judgment" and notified the picturesque Kentuckian to name the time and the place and the food—which in this case necessarily includes the vintage. Verily this will be a "feast of reason and flow of soul" to be followed by a "you're another" from the Outlook's sanctum the next morning.

The Daily Press published a news item several days ago about the possibility of another strike in the coal fields. While the story may have seemed premature, because there was no agitation of the subject in the papers throughout the nation, it begins to look now as if the tip given to this newspaper by a local coal dealer, had considerable significance. The New York Sun this morning printed a two-column article in which the fear of a strike sometime after March 31 next is emphasized. Sometimes the small dailies get there first with the news and this looks like a case of the kind.

The New York Times and the New York World are scrapping between themselves, each claiming seniority as a member of the Roosevelt Ananias Club. As a new member is born each day, the honor has been greatly cheapened since either of these papers were admitted.

The darkest (and coldest) hour is just before the dawn. If you don't believe it ask the man in whose house the water pipes have frozen.

natives are being reached by the Gospel. He also told of the self-sacrifice required at times to meet unexpected conditions.

The site of the school which is on what is called "Virtue Hill," Mr. Lovell said, is an ideal one, and the fact that it is considered sacred ground, the gift of the land for the school, is appreciated all the more by the missionaries. The missionary told one or two pathetic incidents, showing how the Gospel had resulted in the conversion of natives.

After the service which was closed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Greene, a large part of the congregation remained to greet Mr. Lovell personally.

ONE AUTO VICTIM STILL UNDER ICE

Bodies of Four Recovered From Canal.

FOSTER MAY BE INDICTED

Coroner Bower Will Hold an Inquest Next Saturday — Prosecutor Crossley Will Present Facts to Court, and Criminal Prosecutions Probably Will Follow.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 15.—The bodies of four of the five persons who met death Saturday morning when an automobile they occupied plunged into the water power canal at Brookville have been recovered. The body of the fifth victim, Anna Shakosky, nineteen years old, is still in the ice bound stream and is believed to have floated miles from the spot where the wrecked and sunken automobile was found.

The body of Chester Vancleef, one of Trenton's best known young men, was discovered by his uncle, A. C. Holcomb, about 400 feet from the point where the fatality occurred. The victim's face bore evidence of a terrific struggle for life.

When Holcomb brought up the body hundreds gathered about it, and he was forced to drive the morbid crowd away with a boat hook, as many endeavored to get bits of the dead man's clothes for souvenirs.

Before Vancleef's body was recovered there was a persistent rumor he had escaped and was in hiding.

The county authorities say there is no doubt the victims were on a "joy ride." Frederick M. Foster, the only survivor, admits the party left Wilburtha inn, a road house a mile from the scene of the accident, a short time before the auto skidded at the sharp Brookville turn. The inn is said to be a favorite resort for joy riders. Louis Schmidt, the proprietor, says there is no truth in the report that five young people stopped at his place late Friday night of early Saturday morning.

Because young Foster has figured in so many automobile accidents there is a sentiment in this city for a thorough investigation. Foster in a statement said the accident was due to the machine skidding.

Coroner Bower announced he would hold an inquest Saturday. Prosecutor Crossley said he would present the facts to Justice Trenchard, who will charge the grand jury tomorrow. Crossley declared if it could be proved Foster was intoxicated or grossly negligent he would prefer a charge of manslaughter against him. The youth denies he was intoxicated. Crossley said he would seek an indictment if he found liquor had been sold to any in the party, as all were minors.

The bodies recovered were those of Donald Reed, nineteen years old; Margaret Tindall, seventeen, and Helen Mulvey, nineteen.

TRAIN KILLS SIX AT UNGUARDED CROSSING

Man and Five Women Run Down Near Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Because the grade crossing over the Pennsylvania railroad at Linden avenue, Torresdale, was unprotected five persons were dashed to instant death and another died without regaining consciousness a few minutes later. The dead were in a depot wagon when an express train going sixty miles an hour struck the team. The sextette consisted of five women employed as servants by two Torresdale families and the driver of the wagon.

The dead are Charles Davidson, fifty years old, driver; Nellie O'Connor, nineteen; Rose Gallagher, eighteen; Mary Roddy, twenty; Bridget Malloy, forty-two, and Agnes Garrity, twenty-two.

As the team approached the crossing a freight train was passing, and Davidson waited for it to go by.

Blinded as he was in the early morning light and with the freight train before him, he failed to see the express come thundering along. When the freight had passed Davidson started across and drove directly in front of the express. In an instant the flier struck the team, and the debris and bodies were scattered along the road for seventy-five yards.

Avoid the Blues.

The temptation to yield to the blues often assails people when they are weak in bodily health. Often it attacks them when they are incumbered by mental troubles. A wise elderly woman once said to a young girl: "Anybody can cope with real trouble. It is the vague, intangible trouble that gets the better of one and clouds the gay spirits until one walks in the blackness of a fog." Whether trials are real or simply imaginary, a good rule for every one is to seek the sunshine. If there is the least derangement of health trust in God with all your might and apply to the best physcian within reach.—Christian Herald.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 15.—Through the columns of a newspaper ex-Governor Franklin Murphy of this state makes announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for vice president of the United States on the Taft ticket.

The ex-governor is the state's representative on the Republican national committee and has just been made the disburser of the committee's campaign funds. He is a varnish manufacturer owning a big plant in Newark.

Senator Briggs' term is to expire next March, and there have been intimations that the ex-governor might enter the primary next fall as a candidate against him.

FIVE AFLOAT ON ICE IN LAKE.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Hope of rescuing the five men afloat on the ice off Rogers Park was abandoned, and the roll of those lost in the great battle with the ice in Lake Michigan was swelled to thirty this season.

The steamer Flora M. Hill of the Hill line, that left Waukegan Saturday morning, carrying twenty-five men, has not been heard from, and friends of the crew fear that the steamer has gone down with all on board.

The lake shore from Grant Park to Evanston was lined with regular and volunteer life savers to be in readiness to take advantage of any opportunity to reach either of the five big steamers, the Indiana, the Alabama, the Iowa, the Georgia and the Kansas, that are imprisoned in the icefields.

TO THE PEOPLE OF NEW JERSEY

The attacks upon Ocean Grove have of late become so persistent and so misleading that a proper regard for public opinion demands a true statement of the object work and purposes of the Association.

Ocean Grove was organized as a Camp Meeting Association in 1869 for the purpose of worship and rest. Its founders selected its present location. They were the pioneers in the development of a section that was then practically a wilderness. At that time there were no railroad facilities nearer than Long Branch and no settlements nearer than that famous resort. The Ocean Grove idea grew beyond all expectations. Visitors thronged to the religious exercises and under certain agreements made Ocean Grove their home, because they liked it. Neighbors came in that vicinity and settled down, because they liked the Ocean Grove attractions.

Ocean Grove differs from all other resorts in that it is not a private enterprise for profit, but its revenues are devoted to the public interest in a religious and educational way in accordance with the provision of its charter. It has no stock. It pays no dividends. None of its members derive a penny of profit from the Association, nor do they receive any pay for their services, except when specially employed. The President and Secretary of the Association receive at the present time $3,000 and $2,500 per annum respectively. For years the President received a salary of but $800 per annum. In summer Ocean Grove grows into a city of perhaps fifty thousand people. No community of like size is so economically administered. All the income received by Ocean Grove from leases, rentals and franchises is spent and always will be spent, for the benefit of the public at large in the maintainance of religious services, educational, literary and musical work; for the public improvements; for the physical comfort and legitimate entertainment of its citizens and patrons. Ocean Grove is purely altruistic in the use of its income.

At no time in the history of Ocean Grove has there ever been even the semblance of a real estate speculation. Appreciation in land values has been of natural growth and has inured to the benefit of the leaseholders and general public.

Ocean Grove is a church from gate to ocean, from lake to lake, a church like all other up-to-date churches of today, with various departments that can in any way advance the religious and ethical welfare of the community. It has no other object. It proposes to become a great religious educational center. For the coming season Student Bible Classes are under consideration and if adopted, as the income of the Association warrants, it is proposed to develope a Summer University providing for instruction in all departments of church work, a university broader in its scope than the ordinary theological seminary.

Ocean Grove is a great musical center, its visitors hear the finest music of the world—vocal and instrumental. It has become a great literary center, where are heard the greatest speakers of the world. It has already entertained as its guests the most prominent of our public men, official and otherwise.

It proposes to do this work for the benefit of all whom such work appeals, and it proposes at the same time to maintain its religious character and to "remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy."

This is the object and purpose of Ocean Grove. It does not want to make money. It is willing that its neighbors do that. It wans to carry on the work for which it was organized and for which it was fitted, and for which it believes there is a great popular demand. It can carry on this work without interfering with those engaged in enterprises of a different character. It accords to others full tolerence in their pursuits and occupations. It asks from them the same tolerance for its own chosen work.

It cannot carry on its religious and educational labors effectively without the moral support and sympathy of the public, nor can it carry on its labors effectively if its powers are taken away from it and a secular government is substituted in its stead. The work it wants to do is impossible under a lay government. A church would soon cease to be a church if it were conducted by elected mayors and members of council, none of whom might be members of any religious organization. Ocean Grove would not be Ocean Grove except under the government and direction of members of the Methodist church. No power can change the forms of government of Ocean Grove, except by destroying Ocean Grove. We trust that this will not be done.

The Methodists of this State would never consent to the destruction of any other church organization, whether Catholic, Presbyterian, Baptist or Episcopalian, nor of any Christian denomination whatsoever. We would be recreant to the spirit of Christian Brotherhood if we failed to accord them our support if they were attacked. We appeal to them for their support when our existence is threatened.

The argument advanced by our opponents—taxation without representation, has no application to Ocean Grove. There is no such thing as taxation without representation in the governments of a church or religious organization. There is no taxation without representation at Ocean Grove. The township of Neptune, in which Ocean Grove is located, levies certain taxes to some of which citizens of Ocean Grove are liable. Every citizen in Ocean Grove who is a voter under the laws of the State has a vote upon township matters and township offices just the same as though he lived in any other section. The principle of representation maintains there just as truly as it does in any part of New Jersey.

Ocean Grove levies no taxes. It has no power to levy taxes. It claims none. Ocean Grove levies no taxes for its police or public lighting, or its parks and highways and street improvements. It leases its lands under terms and contract which the leasees voluntarily assume when they come to Ocean Grove of their own free will and accord. It is fair now that those contracts that were voluntarily assumed should be broken? The rental charged is merely nominal is a part of the leasehold purchase and is applied to expenses and management, religious services, benevolence, education and improvement, the sum being $10.50 per annum on lots that are worth easily from $700 to $3,000—an exceedingly low rental considering the value to the lease holder. Nowhere in the State can the property holder get so much for so little as he gets from his landlord at Ocean Grove.

Indeed the Ocean Grove Association is in debt and has been in debt for years, and has been handicapped because of its inability to secure sufficient funds to carry on its altruistic enterprises. It has now, however, commenced to operate its own ocean front privileges and it hopes in the near future to have an income that will enable it to make improvements that will make Ocean Grove more attractive than ever, and will greatly enhance the value of the property of the people who live there.

Ocean Grove has no quarrel with any one. It wants to carry on its great work without offense and for the benefit of all to whom its influence extends.

Commercial profit it leaves to others. To uplift and elevate and standardize American ideals is the object it hopes to achieve. That it may be allowed to carry on this work with all its possibilities to the benefit and glory of our people and our State, is its prayer to the sovereign voters of New Jersey.

COUPLE CELEBRATE 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The parents of Robert Heyman, of East Fifth street, celebrated the diamond anniversary of their wedding in Lexington Hall, 116th street, New York, last night. Among those present were a number from this city. Mr. and Mrs. Heyman, eighty-six and eighty-five years old, respectively, still hale and hearty went through the Jewish wedding ceremony for the fourth time. They had previously celebrated their silver and golden anniversaries. The same rabbi who officiated at the silver and golden jubilees officiated last night.

Sixty years ago the aged couple were married in Nakel, Germany by Rev. Dr. Fabian Light. Julius Reiss, a son-in-law, was master of ceremonies and sent invitations to President Taft, former President Roosevelt, Mayor Gaynor, of New York, and a number of other prominent men.

In reply to his invitation, President Taft wrote: "I will be unable to attend the joyous affair to which you so kindly invite me. Offer my best wishes and congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Heyman upon reaching their sixtieth anniversary."

Mayor Gaynor sent the following reply to his invitation: "I wish I could attend. The most important thing of all is that they have raised a family of eight children. They are deserving of the highest honor, especially the mother. The women who are postponing motherhood, or refusing it altogether, are denying themselves the greatest happiness that can come to women."

MISSIONARY SERVICE AT CHURCH OF THE HOLY CROSS.

A missionary service was held by the Sunday school of the Church of the Holy Cross, yesterday morning. Douglas Anderson read the lesson, which was followed by a missionary hymn. In the course of the sermon, Rev. W. S. McCoy, the rector, read a letter from a Western India missionary who had received assistance from the Holy Cross Junior Auxiliary. The donation made it possible for the little flock of converts to enjoy a Christmas party.

At the 11 o'clock service a sermon bearing on the spreading of the gospel was delivered and in the evening the rector preached the first of a series of sermons on "The Warnings of Jesus."

SEVEN CAPTURED IN RAID ON A GAMBLING HOUSE.

Seven men, all colored, were caught in a raid on an alleged gambling house on West Third street near Plainfield avenue Saturday night. Roundsman Higgins and Patrolman Wicht made the descent.

Elmer Rice, alleged proprietor of the place, was fined $10 or thirty days in the city court today. Edward Rice was released and the others were fined as follows: Fred Taylor, $3 or ten days; Oscar Green, $8 or forty days; William S. Harvey, $2 or ten days; Charles Cassett, $8 or forty days; Eugene Britton, $8 or forty days.

"Ireland in Song and Story."

Lewis William Armstrong will give a musical-lecture-recital at the Washington school Thursday night, on "Ireland in Song and Story." Mr. Armstrong has an extensive reputation and will be remembered by many who heard him here last winter. The recital will be the fifth in the series of free entertainments under the auspices of the Board of Education.

The ordinance of believer's baptism was administered to several candidates at the Park Avenue Baptist church last night.

Alfred Smalley, son of Ida Randolph-Smalley, has been selected as the soloist for the vested choir at Holy Cross church, and he sang his first solo yesterday, the selection being "Angel Voices."

GREAT FORTUNES THAT HAVE BEEN MADE IN THE LAST DOZEN YEARS

More Millionaires Produced Since Spanish War Than In Any Previous Period.

THE great railroad and industrial development of this country which has gone on since the Spanish war has produced a remarkable crop of men whose fortunes have mounted into the millions at a rate unknown in any previous period of our country. It is only when one of these newly made millionaires dies nowadays that a sense is conveyed of the celerity with which money can be amassed now.

One who died recently was John W. Gates. Mr. Gates' fortune has been appraised at $11,000,000 net. To be sure, this is a good deal less than most of the estimates of his wealth made shortly after his death, for with this crop of new fortunes has grown a habit quite characteristic of exaggerating them. A conspicuous example of this tendency was afforded when Mr. Harriman died two years ago.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB.

Like Mr. Gates, Mr. Harriman possessed a fortune made practically within this period. It was a much larger fortune than Mr. Gates', and the estimates of it at Mr. Harriman's death ran as high as $150,000,000. The Harriman estate paid taxes on a fortune of $71,000,000. Estimates on the fortunes of some of the living millionaires of this group probably are based on the same system of computation.

These new American fortunes, to which attention has been called by the death of these two men, might be divided into two separate and distinct groups—namely, those created by the industrial combinations which began in the McKinley era and those due to the resurrection and expansion of dead railroads which the prosperity of the period made possible. Mr. Gates was as conspicuous an example of one as Mr. Harriman was of the other.

It is only ten years ago that Mr. Gates was described as one of the new forces in Wall street. Edwin Hawley and William H. Moore were named with him. Many others could be mentioned before the list of the possessors of these rapidly acquired fortunes was complete. All of these fortune builders are comparatively young men. Charles M. Schwab, for example, is only forty-nine. Gates was fifty-six, and Harriman was sixty-one.

One of Wall street's most interesting figures in these years of rapid fortune building has been ex-Judge William H. Moore. Of all these newly made millionaires his record is unique. He was born in 1848, the same year as Harriman, and he was graduated from Amherst in 1867. He practiced many years as a lawyer in the west before they heard of him and his brother, H. W. Moore, in Wall street. He was a good corporation lawyer, and he turned this to account when the consolidation fever set in. He organized the match trust and followed that with the American Biscuit company. They made a fortune for him, and then a few years later, in 1896, the cracker trust, which he had put together, went into the hands of a receiver, and Judge Moore failed for $9,000,000.

He started right in to make another fortune. First he reorganized the American Biscuit company, which helped to get him out of the hole. Then he began organizing all sorts of trusts, among them the American Tin Plate company, the American Sheet Steel company and the American Steel Hoop company. In 1899 he had completed the organization of the National Steel company, and when this went into the United States Steel corporation Judge Moore had made his second fortune. It had been made in four years, which gives a fair idea of some speed records in this game of getting together quick fortunes. In 1900, when he moved to New York from Chicago with his brother, he was credited with $10,000,000. He has much more than that now.

Judge Moore turned to railroads to increase his fortune, but has always retained much of his interest in the industrials. He secured control of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific in 1901 and ever since has headed the so called Rock Island group of financiers, a powerful coterie in Wall street whose interests are very large and cover a wide field.

As the youngest possibly of this remarkable group of swiftly made men of millions, Charles M. Schwab has come in for perhaps more attention than many of the older figures in it. Strictly speaking, he belongs to the Carnegie group of millionaires, men whom the ironmaster took into partnership and helped to push along toward fortune, though belonging to a younger generation than himself. The career of Schwab has been almost meteoric.

Andrew Carnegie once wanted to cross a mountain in Pennsylvania, and a youngster offered to take him across for 50 cents. Carnegie thought 25 cents was enough, but the youngster held out for 50 cents. Mr. Carnegie afterward said that he gave in not because the trip was worth 50 cents, but because he had to get to the other side of the mountain. The youngster was Charles M. Schwab. One of the conditions Mr. Carnegie exacted when he sold out to the steel corporation was that Charles M. Schwab should be its first president. Mr. Schwab's rise through the different places in Mr. Carnegie's steel works is well known. It was in 1896 that he was elected as president of the Carnegie company, sixteen years after he had finished school.

There have been few millionaires better known than Mr. Schwab. He has been received by the crowned heads of Europe, and his influence has been farreaching. He retired as president of the steel corporation a millionaire many times over. Today he is at the head of the Bethlehem Steel company and is still a commanding figure in the steel business of this country. Not long ago he made a trip to China to sell steel war vessels to the Chinese government. His home on Riverside drive, built as the crowning achievement of his career at fortune making, is one of the most notable houses of New York.

EX-JUDGE W. H. MOORE.

These are among the most conspicuous figures in the group of new men of great fortunes in this country. Others that might be mentioned are Edwin Hawley, who controls more miles of railroads than the Vanderbilts and has a fortune of more than $20,000,000; Daniel G. Reid, who has made a large fortune in the same record breaking time and in much the same way as Judge Moore; the late William B. Leeds, who was associated with Reid, and William E. Corey, who, like Schwab, was made rich by Andrew Carnegie.

OLLIE JAMES.

He May Be Temporary Chairman of Democratic National Convention.

Ollie James of Kentucky, who has just been elected United States senator from that state, may be the temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention, which will meet at Baltimore on June 25.

OLLIE JAMES.

The usual custom of naming the Democratic leader in the house will have to be foregone this year, as both Speaker Champ Clark and Representative Underwood will be represented at the convention by delegates instructed for them for the presidential nomination.

Ollie James has been in congress for five terms as the representative of the First Kentucky district. He was admitted to the bar in 1891. He made the seconding speech for William J. Bryan at one of the national conventions and acted as attorney for Governor Goebel in his contest.

TAFT A SPEAKER IN AID OF A PEACEFUL NAVY.

Annual Convention of the League Will Be Held Soon.

President Taft and Secretary of the Navy Meyer will head a distinguished list of speakers at the annual convention of the Navy League of the United States to be held in Washington on Feb. 22 and 23. On Saturday, the 24th, the delegates will visit the Naval academy. The president will address a mass meeting on Friday in the Memorial Continental hall, D. A. R. On Washington's birthday the convention will pay its respects to the memory of the Father of His Country by visiting his tomb at Mount Vernon, and the annual dinner will take place in the evening.

Thirty-three states and the territory of Hawaii will be represented at the convention. Probably the largest delegation will come from the Pacific coast, where the people more fully appreciate the necessity of an adequate navy. The league has between 5,000 and 6,000 active members, among whom are prominent men in every walk of life.

President Taft is an honorary member, and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt heads the list of honorary vice presidents. The ex-president, as well as the president, has always taken a deep interest in the organization, the purpose of which is to keep before the people the importance of an adequate navy as the best guarantee of peace.

TEACH MORALS BY PICTURES.

Teaching morality in the public schools by means of photographs from actual life and showing what is right and what is wrong, has been given its first test in the public schools of Fitchburg, Mass.

The pictures themselves, taken in proper series, are depended upon to impress on the children's minds the rights and wrongs of certain questions arising every day, such as fights between boys, squabbles between girls, playing games fairly, etc.

The teacher gives a few words of explanation, which may frequently broaden out into a lecture. A number of lectures have been prepared by Milton Fairchild, the originator of the project. Some of the lectures, with the pictures, are to be given in Fitchburg this week. The work is under the supervision of Professor H. C. Barbour of the Fitchburg high school.

Professor George F. Moore and Professor James H. Ropes, both of Harvard, have served as advisers for the plan.

SHERMAN'S SMILE IN MARBLE

Bust of the Vice President Ready to Set Up In Capitol.

The sculptured bust of Vice President Sherman has been received at the capitol and will soon be placed in position. It will occupy a pedestal in the main corridor of the senate wing immediately next to that of Theodore Roosevelt.

It is carved from white marble and cost approximately $10,000. It was made by Mrs. Bessie Potter Vonnoh of New York. The sittings were given in the senate office building.

The bust is regarded as a fine likeness. The invariable semismile which earned Mr. Sherman the title of "Sunny Jim" is modeled on the marble face.

It was the intention of Colonel Roosevelt to have his eyeglasses appear on his bust, but the plan was not carried into execution. In Sherman's case the spectacles are depicted in a most natural way.

TEACHERS TO VISIT GERMANY

Six Hundred to Leave New York Next July.

Under the auspices of the German American Teachers' association 600 teachers from the public schools and universities of the United States will leave New York on board the steamship Grosser Kurfuerst July 2 for a trip through the principal cities of Germany. Sponsors of the tour include Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university; Dr. Andrew D. White, Herman Ridder, Hugo Reisinger and others.

The German government is aiding in arranging concerts and banquets for the teachers. An elaborate concert has been arranged to take place during the visit of the teachers in Berlin.

WILL OF A CHINAMAN.

Terse Document Admitted to Probate In Philadelphia.

The first will written in the Chinese language admitted to probate in Philadelphia was made public by the register of wills. The instrument is that of Lee Nom Yet, who died several months ago, and his son, Lee Bark, is sole heir and executor. The will is painted on red paper, and was apparently done with a marking brush. A translation of the will is as follows:

Business and money I give to my son, Lee Bark. Nobody else can touch it.
I have money in bank, Seventh and Walnut streets, $2,500.
I have money in bank, Tenth and Walnut streets, $999.37.

The Krupp works at Essen are constructing a fifteen inch gun which will be the biggest piece of artillery ever made. The length of the gun will be sixty-five and a half feet, and the projectile it will carry will weigh nearly 7,880 pounds.

CENTENNIAL OF OUR WAR OF 1812 WITH ENGLAND

Capture of Washington and Other Spectacular Incidents Recalled.

THE year 1912 marks the lapse of a century since the outbreak of our last war with England. By all odds the most spectacular incident of that conflict was the capture of Washington by the British, which was followed by the burning of the capitol and the White House, the president and his cabinet being driven to ignominious flight.

One hundred years ago, in 1812, the United States declared war against Great Britain by a bill which, after passing the senate and house, was formally signed by Mr. Madison.

The struggle which thereupon ensued was marked by some very heroic deeds and many blunders on our side, but the most inexcusable and inglorious happening of all was the taking of Washington, which could easily have been prevented. Truth to tell, the president and his advisers availed themselves of this precious opportunity to behave like a lot of old women, and General Winder, who commanded the American troops in the vicinity of the capital, lost his head entirely and did nothing until it was too late to do anything effectively.

Nevertheless the occasion had its hero and its heroine. The latter was Mistress Dolly Madison, who played her part like a man, holding the fort at the White House until the last possible moment and then retreating in good order with everything in the way of official documents and valuables that could possibly be carried away.

Dolly Madison's Letter.

At the moment of what seemed extremest peril she coolly sat down and wrote to her sister, Mrs. Steptoe Washington:

"Will you believe it, my dear sister, we have had a battle near Bladensburg? And I am still here within sound of the cannon. Mr. Madison comes not. May God protect him. Two messengers covered with dust come to bid me fly, but I wait for him. At this late hour a wagon has been procured. I have had it filled with the plate and most valuable portable articles. Whether it will reach its destination, the Bank of Maryland, or fall into the hands of the British, events must determine. Our kind friend Mr. Carroll has come to hasten my departure and is in a very bad humor with me because I insist on waiting until the large picture of General Washington is secured. It required to be unscrewed from the wall, and this process was found too tedious for these perilous moments, so I have ordered the frame broken and the canvas taken out. It is done and the precious portrait placed in the hands of two gentlemen of New York for safe keeping. And now, my dear sister, I must leave the house or the retreating army will make me a prisoner in it by filling up the road I am to take."

The portrait of Washington was by Stuart and hung in the state dining room. Somebody, at Mrs. Madison's orders, broke with an ax the heavy gold frame that protected the inner one of wood, on which the canvas was stretched, and thus it was removed uninjured. The oft published statement that the picture was cut from the frame by Dolly herself is incorrect.

But to go back a little. The British forces on land and sea had orders to "destroy and lay waste such towns and districts on the coast as might be assailable." The enemy's fleet and transports arrived off the mouth of the Patuxent (fifty miles south of Annapolis) on the 18th day of August, 1814. The troops, under General Robert Ross, were disembarked on the following day and formed into three brigades, numbering 4,500 men. On Aug. 20 the boats of the fleet, led by Rear Admiral Cockburn, started up the Patuxent to capture a bunch of gunboats blockaded there, under the command of Commodore Barney. The soldiers marched abreast of the boats, and Barney, having blown up his vessels to prevent them from falling into the hands of the foe, retreated.

A Remarkable Proceeding.

Now comes the remarkable part of the military proceedings. For five days the British troops marched across Maryland in a leisurely way, without encountering the slightest opposition. The country, much of it densely forested and with few roads, was difficult. Under such circumstances a few hundred determined men could have so harassed the advancing column as to make its progress practically impossible. Even the most untutored savages would have had sufficient military knowledge to adopt such an expedient. But General Winder, with a force of 2,500 men, including 1,000 regulars and 500 fighting sailors under Barney, did nothing.

As a result, the enemy was not obliged to fire a shot until it had arrived actually within sight of the capital. Then at Bladensburg Winder put up some sort of a fight. But it was wholly ineffective, and the Americans soon fled—all of them, that is to say, except the 500 sailormen under Barney, who stuck by their guns, and, against overwhelming odds, were pretty nearly wiped out before they surrendered, Barney himself being badly wounded and made prisoner.

There is no question of the fact that if Barney, instead of Winder, had been in command of the American forces the foe would never have got anywhere near Washington. He knew his business. But, as it was, the British entered the city after nightfall on the 23d and camped a quarter of a mile east of the capitol.

Panic In Washington.

Meanwhile in Washington alarm had turned into panic. The American troops, after the fight at Bladensburg, were in disorderly retreat. Crowds of flying fugitives were passing over the Long bridge across the Potomac, and when the British entered the population had dwindled to a few stragglers and the slaves of absent residents. All private houses were shut up and there were few signs of life.

During the previous twenty-four hours clerks at the president's house had been busy packing and aiding in the removal of valuables. Coarse linen bags, hastily made for the purpose, were hung around the walls to receive portable stuff and particularly documents. Among the latter were the Declaration of Independence, the constitution of the United States and Washington's commission as commander in chief of the American forces. The records of the Continental congress are said to have been carried away by Mrs. Madison in a small red trunk, which is preserved to this day as a historical relic in the department of state.

History relates that General Ross was in favor of attacking Baltimore rather than Washington, because of the larger loot there to be obtained, but Cockburn thought it would be more spectacular to raid the Capital City, and his plan prevailed, one notion of his being that it would be a fine scheme to take the president and his wife and exhibit them as captives in England.

Cockburn had a strong sense of the picturesque, and it is related that on the evening of his arrival in Washington he entered the capitol and, seating himself in the chair of the speaker of the house of representatives, put the question, "Shall this harbor of Yankee democracy be burned?" The mock resolution was carried unanimously, and thereupon the furniture and whatever other combustibles chanced to be at hand were gathered in heaps, the torch being applied. The temporary wooden structure at that time connecting the senate and house wings burned readily, and everything inflammable went up in smoke, including the library of congress, then housed on the second floor at the north end.

Delighted with this exploit, the admiral and General Ross led their men up the avenue to the president's house. After ordering and eating supper at the home of an old lady named Suter, living close by, they proceeded at about 11 p. m. to break into the mansion, the doors of which were found locked. John Siousa, a porter, seems to have been the last person to leave the place. When he had carried Dolly's pet parrot to the house of Colonel Taylor, two blocks away, he returned, locked up and took the keys to Philadelphia.

The Capitol Ransacked.

Having broken open the doors they ransacked the place from top to bottom, and then obtaining fire from a beer shop opposite the treasury collected the furniture together in heaps and set it alight.

Meanwhile the American commodore, Tingey, had set fire to the navy yard and the vessels in the neighborhood, and before midnight three conflagrations made the whole country almost as light as day, while from the distant hills of Virginia, beyond the Potomac, the fleeing president and members of his cabinet caught glimpses of the ruin their incompetence caused.

All this while the British were almost in panic themselves. They were afraid of being surprised by a superior force, and were in a hurry to get away. This state of mind was much intensified by a frightful hurricane which struck the city at 1 p. m. on the day after the capitol and White House were burned. It rained as if the bottom of the sky had fallen out, and the wind blew down many buildings which the British had spared. The invading soldiery were nearly drowned, and thirty of them lost their lives, walls falling upon them. A British officer wrote, "Our column was as completely dispersed as if it had experienced total defeat."

The storm saved the war department and the postoffice, which the enemy had meant to burn. They left the city twenty-nine hours after they had entered it. When Mrs. Madison returned she found the Long bridge burned and was ferried across the river in her carriage on a raft. Her home being in ruins, she was received by her sister, Mrs. Cutts. Later the president rented Colonel Taylor's mansion, known as the Octagon House (which still stands), on the corner of New York avenue and Eighteenth street, where he and Dolly passed the following winter. There the treaty of peace with Great Britain was signed.

FEWER GERMAN AND IRISH IMMIGRANTS.

Figures given out by E. Dana Durand, director of the census bureau, show a marked increase in the number of natives of Austria-Hungary, Italy, Russia and Finland who have come to New York in the decade covered by the last census and a correspondingly heavy decrease in the number of immigrants from Ireland and Germany.

Only 279,200 Germans came to New York in the last decade, a decrease of 44,998 since the census of 1900. The immigration from Ireland showed a decrease of 22,573, a falling off of more than 8 per cent from the number who arrived in New York in the previous ten years. Austria-Hungary has been sending her men and women to New York in constantly increasing numbers. In fact, from that country and from Russia, Italy and Finland has come in recent years by far the largest proportion of all the immigrants to the United States. In 1910 New York's population included 485,600 natives of Russia and Finland, an increase in ten years of 163.7 per cent. The census tables show that natives of Russia, Italy and Austria-Hungary constitute more than one-half the entire foreign born white population of the city.

Since 1900 natives of Great Britain, of which there are in New York at present 105,800, exclusive of Ireland, have increased 17.3 per cent. There also has been a steady increase in the number of residents from Canada and Newfoundland.

The following figures show the number of persons born in foreign countries in New York in 1910 and the changes since 1900:

$7.50 CHAIR WORTH $15,000.

A chair with a history, a much battered, tarnished chair with the hair protruding from the seat, was sold at Fordsburg, South Africa, recently for $7.50. Mrs. Harvey of Redruth, who purchased the relic, refused $5,000 for it when its history became known, and it is said experts appraise its value at $15,000.

According to the story told of this chair, it belonged to Louis XIV. and with other furniture was bought by the British government and shipped to St. Helena for the house to be occupied by Napoleon while he was a prisoner there. The vessel carrying this furniture altered its course for a reason unexplained and was wrecked off the Cape of Good Hope.

The historic chair was rescued from the waves and until its sale to Mrs. Harvey had been kept in a warehouse.

FAMOUS KEY HOME TO GO.

The old colonial house in Georgetown, Md., in which Francis Scott Key, who wrote "The Star Spangled Banner," lived will be torn down next spring to make room for a business building.

In 1907 the Francis Scott Key Memorial association was formed to raise funds with which to purchase the property and to preserve it. The purchase price was $15,000, but the association failed to raise the money.

Representative Taggart of Kansas has promised the members of the association that he will ask congress to appropriate a fund to remove the old house to Rock Creek park.

The imperviousness of the modern safe deposit vault to fire was conclusively demonstrated by the great calamity which occurred this week in New York City, and no stronger argument for the effectiveness of such vaults in protecting property can ever be presented than the millions of securities which survived the Equitable fire.

FEDERAL WIRES, HITCHCOCK'S PLAN

Will Urge Congress to Acquire Telegraph Lines.

COST WOULD BE MILLIONS

Postmaster General Cites Old Law Which Gives Government Power to Take Over Telegraph Lines and Operate Them as Adjunct to Postoffice Department.

Washington, Jan. 15.—That the United States government acquire all telegraph lines of the country will be urged upon congress by Postmaster General Hitchcock. It is his plan to have the postoffice department take over the entire telegraph business.

The postmaster general has dug up a statute, enacted by congress forty or more years ago, under which he contends the government can take over the wire service of the country and conduct it as an adjunct of the postoffice department. It is estimated unofficially that this gigantic undertaking would cost the United States government somewhere between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000.

To say that the postmaster general's announcement was a surprise to official Washington is putting it mildly. The most interesting thing about it, though, is that it apparently was a great surprise also to President Taft. The White House was informed of the statement that the postmaster general had issued, but there has yet been no official intimation that the president had authorized his postmaster general to make such a recommendation. Circumstances pointed to the fact that the White House was considerably concerned over the statement made by Mr. Hitchcock.

Recently reports have been circulated from sources that cannot be ignored that the president and his postmaster general are not in as close accord, especially on politics, as they once were. On at least one occasion recently Mr. Hitchcock was accused of taking a stand against the wishes of the president. This was at the meeting of the Republican national committee, when the postmaster general was charged with supporting southern Republicans in the opposition to the naming of Harry New as chairman of the committee on arrangements.

If Mr. Hitchcock's statement in regard to the government ownership of telegraph companies has been issued, as seems likely, without the indorsement of the president, it may lead to a further embarrassment. The first thing members of congress wanted to know when they heard of Mr. Hitchcock's statement was whether President Taft was advocating government ownership.

TOO EXPENSIVE, SAYS VAIL.

Boston, Jan. 15.—Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, which controls the Western Union Telegraph company, received his first information that Postmaster General Hitchcock would recommend to congress that the government take over the telegraph lines of this country and make them part of his department. Mr. Vail was at his farm in Lyndonville, Vt.

"It is the first time I have heard anything about this, and I am inclined to doubt that any such recommendations will be made," he said. "There is nothing in particular that I can say. I don't think the government will do such a thing. The expense the British government has been under in maintaining the telegraph lines should indicate that public ownership is not very promising, and I should not think our government would find very much to enthuse over if congress will read the last report on the cost over on that side of the ocean. The last annual report of the Western Union Telegraph company refers to the situation in England, where the general revenue pays just about one-half the cost of conducting the telegraph lines. In other words, the expense of handling every message exceeds the amount received by about 50 per cent."

"TAKE RAILROADS FIRST."

This Is Advice of Postal's General Manager, Mr. Nally.

New York, Jan. 15.—Edward J. Nally, vice president and general manager of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, said at his home in Ossining, N. Y., that he had not heard of Postmaster General Hitchcock's intention before. He said he could not say offhand what the attitude of the Postal would be toward the proposed absorption of the lines by the government, but he personally did not believe that congress would favor Mr. Hitchcock's idea.

"In my opinion," he added, "the country is not quite prepared for such a step. If the government is to take over our public utilities shouldn't the bigger things be taken first? Surely the railroads are bigger than the telegraph."

Mr Nally seemed to be doubtful as to whether the government could make the telegraph pay. He mentioned England as a country that owns its lines and is laboring with a deficit.

What Would Happen to the Office Safe?

In a fire such as that of the Equitable Building, what would happen to the office safe that the average business man puts so much faith in? A word to those who are willing to profit by others costly experience: rent a box in the fire and burglar proof vault of The State Trust Company and thus insure your valuables against the day when a similar catastrophe may visit the building in which your office is located. Our Manganese Steel Vault is supported on its own concrete foundation and is surrounded by concrete and even though our building should burn to the ground, the vault and contents would stand intact. The cost is but $5.00 per year, little enough for the protection and peace of mind that it will afford.

HOPE CHAPEL'S TEAM HAS AN EASY VICTORY

The Hope chapel five defeated the Union, N. J., High School team in a fast game of basketball on the local court on Saturday night, the final score being 42 to 21. The game was marked by many clean shots made by players of both teams. At the end of the first half the visitors were in the lead, the score being 15 to 8, due to the fact that the locals missed many easy shots.

The Hope boys took a decided brace in the second half and gave a fine exhibition of acurate shooting. John Sinclaire was the chief basket ringer for the visitors, scoring four goals. John Snyder, Hope's guard, scored fourteen points, and John Heron was a close second with a total of thirteen points to his credit. The lineup:

MAYORS OPPOSED TO THE PIERCE CROSSING MEASURE

Opposition to Senator Carlton B. Pierce's bill for the elimination of railroad crossings, which has been introduced by him in the Legislature was voiced Saturday at the meeting of the newly formed Mayors' Society of New Jersey, which held its first regular session in the council chambers at the Elizabeth City Hall.

The mayors favor radical changes in the Pierce bill, or, in the event of the refusal of Senator Pierce to accept these changes, the introduction of a new measure.

Mayor Moy wasn't at the meeting. He suffered so much pain Saturday from the bruises and sprains resulting from his fall last week, that he was just about able to attend to pressing business and no more.

The main objection to the Pierce bill is that it provides for the payment by municipalities of 25 per cent. of the cost of the elimination of the crossings, except in cases where the railroads ask the Utilities Board for permission to remove them. The mayors contend that the cities, boroughs and towns should not pay any part of the cost.

The object of the organization is to cooperate for the purpose of investigating methods of government in municipalities of New Jersey and other states and to recommend the passage of such laws by the Legislature as shall benefit the State municipalities.

The officers of the society are Frederick W. Donnelly, of Trenton, president; Alfred A. Stein, of Elizabeth; Julian A. Gregory of East Orange; Jacob Haussling, of Newark, George N. Seeger, of Passaic, and Joseph H. Firth, of Phillipsburg, vice-presidents; Arthur S. Pierson, of Morristown, secretary, and Arthur B. Seymour, of Orange, treasurer.

CONGRESS DISTRICTS FOR STATE PLANNED

Fifth Division Would be Composed of Union and Warren and Part of Morris.

FOURTH TO BE UNCHANGED

New Jersey House Delegation Through Congressman Tuttle Submits Propsed Re-Districting Idea to Governor Wilson.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, January 16.—Representing the views of all the Democratic members of the New Jersey House delegation, Representative William E. Tuttle, of the Fifth district, has submitted to Governor Wilson a proposed plan for the redistricting of the State under the reapportionment act of 1911. This work must be done by the New Jersey Legislature now in session.

The Legislature will have to fix lines for twelve districts in the State—two more than at present. The scheme of the Democratic Congressmen, as presented by Mr. Tuttle, will leave the First, Second, Third and Fourth districts, which cover central and southern New Jersey, exactly as they are today. It is proposed to alter the Fifth district by joining Union and Warren with only about one-half of Morris county, all of the latter now being in this district. The north half of Morris county, which is estimated to have a population of 39,000, would be put in a district with Sussex and the Western part of Passaic. A new district, to be known as the Seventh, is contemplated in the scheme by joining Bergen and the eastern part of Passaic. Where Essex and Hudson counties now have four districts, it is proposed to give them five, or one additional. The new district, it is calculated, would be made up partly of Hudson and partly of Essex territory.

In his proposal to the Governor, Mr. Tuttle does not attempt to lay out the lines for the division of the Essex-Hudson districts. He says that the mapping of these districts could be easily made on an equitable basis by following the census returns as to population. The total population of Essex and Hudson is 1,050,117, which would give each district approximately 210,000. The official ratio under the apportionment act is 211,431.

On the basis of the plan submitted by Mr. Tuttle, according to the 1910 census report, the Fifth district would contain 218,384 population and the Fourth 198,646.

CENSURES BOARD FOR TAKING CARNEGIE'S CASH

John B. Dumont Says That if Library Gift Offer Had Been Submitted to People it Would Have Been Rejected.

Criticism of the action of the Public Library directors in accepting a gift of $50,000 from Andrew Carnegie for the erection of a Carnegie library structure as an addition to the present building is contained in a letter received today from former President of the Common Council John B. Dumont, a retired banker. For many years Mr. Dumont has taken a deep interest in the city's affairs. As to the Carnegie donation, he takes the position that it does not become the community to accept "charity with conditions" and that the people should have been consulted before the contribution was accepted.

Mr. Dumont's letter follows:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

My attention has been directed to the following article in a New York paper and as it bears on a local situation I submit it for the consideration of our people:

"Racine, Wis., Jan. 14.—The City Council in committee of the whole last evening refused by a vote of 5 to 4 to accept a gift of $10,000 from Andrew Carnegie for a branch library at Racine Junction.

"Labor unions and individuals sent in communications protesting against the acceptance. Mayor Goodland opposed the gift on the ground that he did not believe in accepting charity from outsiders and that Racine was rich enough to build its own libraries."

Had the people of Plainfield been allowed to vote on the question I believe they would have voted "No" by a large majority. Had the board of directors of the Plainfield Public Library made known to the people what was really needed in way of additions to the present library building the funds necessary for the purpose would have been contributed rather than have accepted the charity with conditions from such a self-advertiser as Carnegie shows himself on any occasion that offers.

Bicycle Mix Goes to Grand Jury.

John Rox was held under $800 bail to await the action of the Union County Grand Jury by Judge William G. DeMeza in the city court this morning on the charge of stealing a bicycle from Martin Palozy. Rox said that he had gone into a business place, leaving his bicycle at the curb. When he came out it was gone and he took another that was standing there. It developed that the one he took belonged to Palozy. It also developed that Martin Coniff by mistake took Rox's wheel, but as the latter had not reported the matter to the police he was held to admit of further investigation.

Endeavorers Enjoy Sleighride.

The executive committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church and a few friends enjoyed a straw-ride to Westfield, last night. The affair was arranged by Miss Lucie Coriell, president of the society, assisted by other members. Alfred B. Dunavan provided the rig and drove the team. Upon the return from Westfield the party stopped at the home of Miss May Randolph, where refreshments were served and a musical program was enjoyed.

DUNELLEN HEALTH BOARD WOULD CONTROL PEDDLERS

The Dunellen Board of Health is seeking the passage by the Borough Council, of an ordinance regarding the licensing of peddlers of foodstuffs intended for human consumption. There is a strong sentiment in the borough that the board's recommendation be given serious consideration.

The board suggests that all applicants for the proposed license be referred to it for inspection.

The board brought the subject formally before the Council in its annual report, as follows: "That hereafter, in the borough of Dunellen, all applications of persons seeking licenses to peddle or otherwise expose for sale, any food stuffs or articles intended for human consumption, be referred to the Board of Health for investigation and that the board be invested with authority to grant or reject the same. We recommend that an ordinance making this change in the manner of issuing such licenses be adopted, if, in the estimation of your honorable board, that is the proper method of procedure."

HAMILTON KEAN FOR RENOMINATION OF TAFT

Hamilton F. Kean, brother of former United States Senator John Kean and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Republican County Committee, is to run for delegate to the Republican National convention as a supporter of President Taft for renomination.

Mr. Kean says New Jersey Republican are for Taft and that the rest of the party are coming to understand what he has been doing.

Opposition exists to President Taft's renomination, Mr. Kean believes, only among the Democrats and a few other detractors of the Nation's Chief Executive, who always arise to thwart the best efforts of a President.

As regards Union county alone, Mr. Kean views the condition here identical with that elsewhere. "Just the same as in any other county," he said, "the voters are learning what high intentions have moved the President."

UNION PRINTERS GET AN INCREASE IN WAGES.

Union printers in Plainfield have received an increase in wages of $1 a week. Scale agreements with employers were signed at the meeting of Plainfield Typographical Union, No. 399, last night in the Trade Council rooms.

The union elected these officers, committeemen and delegates: President, W. C. Cram; vice-president, C. A. Nichols; secretary-treasurer, H. W. Thomas; sergeant-at-arms, R. F. Scott; auditing committee, W. C. Cram, chairman; William Banghart, William Higgins; delegates to the State League, H. W. Thomas, M. A. Nichols and W. C. Cram.

East End Taxpayers Organize.

The East End Taxpayers' Association was organized last night at the home of F. W. Warnke on East Second street. The object of the association is to improve the general welfare of the community in the east end section of the city. Plans for a dollar dinner were also discussed. These officers were elected: President, Robert Newton Crane; vice president, F. W. Warnke; secretary, Thomas Meaney; treasurer, George Merkel.

Basements Flooded With Water.

A two-inch water pipe, running from the Park avenue main, and supplying the Hetfield and Codington buildings at Park avenue and Second street, burst in the cellar of the former structure yesterday afternoon. The basements were badly flooded and the tenants in both buildings have been without water since. Repairs are being made.

SAYS HE IS SUSPECT IN SHOOTING CASE

Bernardsville Man Asserts Detectives Have Dogged Him and Denounces "Conspiracy.

ELLIS MAKES NO COMMENT

But He and Detective Totten Say No Arrest Is to Be Made At This Time—Prosecutor Away On a Hunting Trip.

Charles W. Alpaugh, who said he had reason to believe he was suspected of the attempted murder of Monroe F. Ellis at Basking Ridge, November 20, made a statement yesterday to a reporter in Newark. Mr. Alpaugh lives in Woolf avenue, Bernardsville.

"This is all a conspiracy," he said, "and I am going to run it down to the end if it takes the last drop of my life blood.

"I have been dogged by detectives and my name has been openly mentioned in connection with the attempted murder. It is one of the most outrageous things I ever heard of."

Mr. Alpaugh's counsel, George E. Clymer, of Newark, declared that nothing would be left undone to defend his client from so unjust a suspicious as has been directed toward him.

When Mr. Ellis was told that Mr. Alpaugh had vowed he would run down what he called the conspiracy in connecting him in any way with the case, he said:

"He evidently means business. Oh, yes," Mr. Ellis continued, "I have had business dealings with him for several years."

Asked as to whether or not there had been any financial relations between them Mr. Ellis said:

"Please do not ask me too much just now."

Mr. Ellis said that he did not know of a warrant being issued for the arrest of the man suspected of shooting him.

"It seems to me," he said, "that I would know something about the warrant if it was issued. You can say that there will be nothing further done in the case until after the return of Prosecutor Pope from his hunting trip. As I said the other day, there is a man under suspicion, but I refuse absolutely to say who it is or what business he is in."

County Detective George Totten, of Somerset county, denied that any warrants had been issued in connection with the Ellis case.

"Eventually we hope to get the man who shot Mr. Ellis. We have our suspicions and have not changed our mind in this respect since within forty-eight hours after the shooting."

SCOTS BIG TIME ON BOBBY BURNS' BIRTHDAY

Scottish songs and dances will be features of the entertainment to be given by Clan Mackenzie, Order Scottsih Clans, at the Plainfield theatre, Thursday night, January 25, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Robert Burns. The affair promises to be a success, judging by the talented artists engaged. An especially strong program has been arranged.

Among those who will appear are Miss May Bryson the Scottish nightingale; Miss May Alexander Arthur, another noted Scotch singer, and MacFarlane Brockett, a widely known tenor. Concerning Miss Arthur, Andrew Carnegie says: "I am very glad to recommend you as a singer of Scottish songs. Indeed, I may say that I have never heard anyone for years who sang so much to my liking, and upon Scottish song I am rather fastidious."

Tickets can be obtained from the members of Clan Mackenzie and after January 18 at the theatre. Attention is called to the advertisement in another part of the Press, giving list of entertainers.

JOINT SEWER PROSPECT IS REVIVED BY COUNCILS

City and Borough Officials Confer on "Seventy-Five-Twenty-Five Per Cent." Proposition--Brought Together by Alex. Gilbert.

Plans for the construction of a joint trunk line sewer were discussed last night at a conference of the members of the City and Borough Councils, the two Mayors and other representative citizens of the two municipalities in the councilmanic chamber last night. The conference adjourned to meet again tonight when it is expected the Plainfield Common Council will decide to enter into negotiations with North Plainfield in the preliminary work and later make a joint contract for the construction and maintenance of a sanitary sewer.

Last night's conference resolved itself into a proposition whether Plainfield desired to share half the expense, estimated at $300, to engage George W. Fuller, a sanitary engineer, to prepare plans, maps, estimated cost of expense covering the proposition. Plainfield did not seem quite ready to agree to this suggestion at short notice and for that reason it was decided to continue the meeting tonight.

The conference was the result of a special effort on the part of former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, made, as he explained it at some length, for the reason that he was strongly opposed to the proposed plan of the city to expend $175,000 or $180,000 in enlarging its present sewage disposal plant and continuing to operate and maintain an admitted nuisance under the very nose of the borough of Dunellen. Mr. Gilbert said that he was actuated solely from an unselfish motive and with the one desire of seeing the best interests of Plainfield and North Plainfield conserved. He said that he had been requested to preside at a public meeting of protest against the city's proposed action, but he had advised against the holding of such a meeting.

After Mr. Gilbert had explained the reasons for the conference, how it happened to be held and its purpose William J. Buttfield, a member of the Borough Council, and also of the sewer commission of that municipality, explained the borough's position and then presented this definite proposition:

"Each Council to adopt this week a resolution authorizing the joint employment of George W. Fuller to make estimates, plans, etc., to be presented to the city and borough before the en dof this month. The two Councils each at their first meeting in February to consider such plans and estimates and to notify the other of their decision, namely, to accept or reject the joint proposition. If the plans and estimates are satisfactory to both, a contract to be entered into providing for:

"A—Division of first cost of joint trunk sewer and disposal works in the ratio of 75 per cent. against the city and 25 per cent. against the borough.

"B—Division of cost of maintenance and repairs to be based upon the volume of sewage delivered by each.

"C—Division of cost of future additions to be based upon the needs o feach municipality as evidenced by the volume of sewage being delivered.

"D—Capacity of joint outfall sewer to be sufficient to take care of all probable future needs of Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Fanwood and Scotch Plains.

"E—Income from municipalities (other than Plainfield and North Plainfield) for use or rental of joint trunk sewer and disposal works to be divided in the same ratio as the respective contributions toward the cost and maintenance.

"F—A referee to be agreed upon (with proper provisions for choosing successors) to arbitrate any question or dispute that may arise between the city and borough."

In this connection Mr. Buttfield presented a resolution, which it is proposed to adopt at the meeting of the Borough Council tomorrow night, authorizing Mr. Fuller to go ahead and make the survey, maps, etc., and collect other data. He suggested that the Plainfield Council adopt a similar resolution before or at that time, giving the borough officials an assurance that it proposed to join in the proposed improvement, provided that was the sentiment of the city officials. He was explicit, however, in stating that such action would not bind the city to a contract to join in the construction and maintenance of a trunk sewer and that the city could withdraw after the definite cost of the work was ascertained, if it so desired.

Councilman Reville, of the city, moved that the matter be decided at last night's meeting, but the other members expressed a desire to consider the proposition further, and

STATION HOUSE FAILED TO PROTECT HIS GLOVES

That it is not wise to leave gloves lying around these cold days, especially nice fur lined ones, even in a police headquarters, Erastus Tims, colored, of East Fourth street, janitor at the North Plainfield police station, learned last Friday. On that day a pair disappeared while he was as work cleaning the stationhouse.

James Springs, also colored, of West Third street, learned that it is unwise to steal, especially from a police station, when arraigned before Justice Snape this morning on Tim's charge. The prisoner had denied all knowledge of the missing hand warmers, but adept detective work by Chief Weiss disclosed that he had been seen wearing them while at work driving a coal wagon. He was the only caller at headquarters last Friday while Tims was at work.

Justice Snape fined him the cost of the gloves, $3, and $3 more for the costs of the trial. If the gloves are returned in as good condition as when taken the money paid for them will be refunded. He was let off with a fine for his family's sake.

COMMERCE CHAMBER TO MOVE; SAVES $475 YEARLY

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night decided to move the secretary's office and assembly rooms to the Boice-Runyon building, next door to the Frost building, where the present quarters are maintained. The removal will take place the last of this month.

Economy is the reason for the change and at the reduced rental $175 per year will be saved. This item in addition to the saving effected by the agreement of Paul H. Burns, the secretary, to serve without salary, reduces the annual expense of the chamber by almost $2,000.

The directors discussed plans for a vigorous campaign for the benefit of the city and borough.

ARMY OF 5,000 FOR ANTI-"T.B." FIGHT

Aim of A.-T. L. For 1912 is to Multiply Membership by More Than Five.

LEAGUE SPENT $4,608 IN 1911

Reports of President and Physician Recount How the Organization Has Carried on Work of Relief and Education.

Members of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of this city, which is carrying on the fight to rid Plainfield of the White Plague, pledged themselves last night at their annual meeting in the Babcock building to do a big thing in the year 1912, no less a thing than to enlist in the city's army of defense against the disease five thousand recruits. The magnitude of that undertaking is indicated by the fact that the present membership of the league is only 704. But the resolve of the 700 to multiply themselves by more than five in twelve months was no mere thing of the moment, due to the enthusiasm of an annual meeting, or as W. S. Tyler, the president, put it, no setting up of an impractical ideal, but the determination to do what can be done, if everybody helps a little, and what ought to be done for the welfare of all the people of the city.

According to the report of the treasurer, James P. Murray, five hundred and sixteen of the members contributed one dollar each. The other 188 members contributed $2,556, in sums ranging from two to one hundred dollars, making the total receipts from members $3,072. From other sources, the churches, lodges, stamp sales and entertainments, the league received $1,743. These amounts, together with the $413.[illegible] on hand at the first of the year made the total of $5,228.87 for 1911. Expenditures amounted to $4,608.31, covering the maintenance of the pavilion; the salaries of nurses, relief of patients and the cost of the clinic and the Welfare Exhibit. So the balance now on hand is $620.56.

In the course of his annual report President Tyler said:

"The work of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield has grown so rapidly during the past year and reached out into so many lines of activity in the city and borough, that it has come to be no mean task to make a report of the year which will fairly review the field and keep within the bounds of reasonable brevity. Broadly speaking, the work of the league has in view two objects: Relief and education. The former concerns itself with those only who are sick; and the latter also with those who are well. It is an able bodied proposition at the very outset, which has taken upon itself not only to relieve the suffering, but also to destroy the very disease itself.

"The pavilion maintained by the league on the grounds of Muhlenberg hospital has done a great work during the past two years. The facts which will be given to us in the report of our physician in charge, Dr. Hughes, will stir us deeply to the realization as never before of the needlessness of the destruction of life and ruin of health caused by tuberculosis, when by the simple remedies of fresh air and good food at our little camp, practically every patient gets well. Great as is the work of saving the few lives which it is permitted us to reach in this way, how much greater and more far-reaching is the spreading abroad of the glad tidings, so that all may come to know the remedy, and help in their homes to destroy the disease itself.

"An important forward step has been taken this year in the placing of the visiting nurse work of the several organizations of the city under one control and management, known as the 'Nursing Bureau,' whose report will be received later. Miss Leahy now, as formerly, devotes her whole time to the work of the league, but finds her hands greatly strengthened by her association with the other nurses, and with the committee in charge of the new organization. The experiment has already gone far enough to demonstrate that the new system is an improvement and will be likely to justify itself as the best medium of conducting this department of the outdoor relief work of the league.

"The Tuberculosis Class conducted each week by Dr. Krans, with the aid of the committee of arrangements and entertainment, is the means of retaining the benefit of the relief work, in calling together, for further instruction and advice, those who have been discharged from our pavilion or from the care of our nurses. The class forms the connecting link, as it were, between the relief work and the educational work

PLAINFIELD MEN ARE PROMINENT AT RUTGERS

Maintaining the record made last year in all branches of Rutgers College activities the Union county boys at the State educational institution are making their influence felt during the present term. On February 1 the conclusion of the examinations mark the completion of the first term's work and a brief review of the past few months bring to light the fact that the students from Union county are second to none in general activity. Plainfield students are among the leaders.

Harold W. Schenck, of Plainfield, was elected secretary of the Philoclean Society at a recent meeting. Schenck ran on his class relay and track teams, was a member of the football squad of the college, a candidate for the debating team and a prominent member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

W. G. Herrman, of North Plainfield, completed his duties this term as business manager of the 1912 Scarlet Letter. He ran on the victorious senior relay team in the fall track meet and was also a member of the class track team.

Quite a number of students from Union county are registered in the freshmen class of the college. These men, every one of whom are actively present in all college activities, are: John Henry Berna, of Elizabeth; Frederic C. Brush, of Westfield; Spencer D. Embree, of Westfield; Russell W. Hunt, of Westfield; Joseph Kern, of Elizabeth; A. V. Mershon, of Rahway; W. D. Reese, of Westfield; Russell J. Savitz, of Westfield; Ralph L. Shearer, of Elizabeth; Joseph Siberl, of Plainfield; Charles G. Slausen, of Elizabeth; Harry B. Smith, of North Plainfield; Aaron Wallace, of Elizabeth; Whyman, of Elizabeth.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Dr. Harvey Wiley, the government pure food expert, has held the spotlight so long that he is known to every reading person in this country and to a great many other countries. That Dr. Wiley's efforts are made use of to furnish fun for the theatre-going public is not unnatural in these days of free speech, free press and free stage license. Everything and everybody is caricatured. One of the prolonged laughs induced by the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels, who play at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening, is the defence of Dr. Wiley and his methods. Unfortunately the writer of the burlesque did not get further in his discussion than whisky and hair mattresses.

At the Plainfield theatre next Thursday night will be presented that sterling Western comedy dramatic romance, "The Cowboy and the Thief." This offering may be described as a four-act picturesque reproductions of life love of various characters, incidents and episodes, exactly as they are experienced in the Golden West. There is nothing overdrawn in its story, plot, or characterizations, being as it is, plausible, convincing and human throughout. The play is said to contain an excellent cast and is produced under the personal direction of the author, J. Wendel Davis, with complete and beautiful scenic equipment. The company carries a great cyclorama drop over a hundred feet in length, an exact reproduction of Golden Ranch, Colorado.

Before the Civil War, there was hardly a plantation in the South but boasted a whipping post to which the owner's slaves were fastened while being punished with the cruel whip. To faithfully depict the actual scenes in that part of the south with which the story deals, Manager Washburn uses in his production of Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which will be the offering at the Plainfield theatre next Saturday, a whipping post which was in service on a Red River plantation for many years prior to the war between the States. Its genuineness cannot be disputed when one reads the affidavit from the farmer-owner, which Manager Washburn always carries and a copy of which is on file in a Louisiana court of record.

THE FORUM.

State Tuberculosis Work.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

In your issue January 12 referring to the annual report of the State Sanitorium for Tuberculosis Diseases, you state that 544 applicants having been refused admission during the past year, would tend to show that the institution may not be doing the best work and that those who have charge are accepting only the mildest cases, because of the desire to make a remarkable record of cures. May I correct such a misunderstanding?

The laws of the State intend that the sanitorium shall be for the admission of those cases in which there is a prospect for cure and the institution is designed and equipped for the care of such cases only. Far advanced and hopeless cases are necessarily refused, although the institution is very liberal in its policy of accepting even these cases when there is hope for any improvement and vacant beds exist. The 544 rejections speak rather for the importance of the public realizing the necessity of early recognition and attention to this disease, and also for the creation of institutions for the advanced as well as for the early cases.

The Montessori Method.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I see that in your issue of January 13th I am quoted as having said that Madame Montessori's system is one which teaches reading and writing to two year olds'. Will you permit me to correct this mistake which I fear may give people a totally wrong impression and prejudice against the method. Children of two years old are admitted into the Montessori classes and are there given simple sense training exercises which by the time they are four to four and a half years old enable them to write and read simple words and sentences, but no child of two would ever be allowed to start on anything even approaching reading or writing.

The matter of reading and writing is only a side issue of the Montessori method which seeks to lay the foundations for a perfectly developed man or woman and leaves scholarship to the individual inclination. Believe me, faithfully yours.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Not for years has a musical piece received such glowing notices as did "The Wedding Trip," the new comic opera by Reginald De Koven, which the Messrs. Shubert are producing at the Broadway theatre. The cast, which is really an unusual one, comes in for fine commendation. There is no star which seems to strike everyone as both promising and agreeable. But every member of the cast has something to do; some a little more than others which permits of the audience picking its own star. The singers are: Dorothy Jardon, Christine Nielsen, Dorothy Morton, Fritzi Von Busing, Gwen DuBary, Edward Martindale, John McCloskey, Arthur Cunningham, Joseph Phillips, Charles Angelo and George Madson. "The Wedding Trip" marks a return to the days when comedy come from situation and the spoken word rather than clowning, and the result is altogether satisfying.

OPINIONS DIFFER ON HITCHCOCK'S PLAN

Insurgents For It; Mann Says No; Underwood Quiet.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican house leader, has this to say in regard to the proposed Hitchcock resolution:

"I think the relation of the post-office department to the express companies should be disposed of before the relation of the postal service to the telegraph systems is taken up. I do not believe that two measures of the kind can be acted upon at once. It is my opinion that we should pass on the questions of parcels post before we take up Mr. Hitchcock's recommendation as to the telegraph."

"It is a good thing," said Representative Norris, the Nebraska insurgent. "If I had proposed it the administration would have called me a Socialist."

"The Democratic party is not bound to take up every idiosyncracy proposed by Postmaster General Hitchcock," said Representative Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce and a Democratic leader. "He is not the leader of the Democratic party. I do not believe that the government could control telegraph lines any more efficiently through ownership than by regulation."

Representative Murdock, the Kansas insurgent, said: "I am for this proposition. The matter must be given careful, leisurely and thoughtful consideration. The United States owned the telegraph when it was first invented, and the government should never have permitted the system to pass from its hands. Postmaster General Wickliffe in 1842 made a plea to congress to retain the telegraph systems. Congress refused to make an appropriation of $25,000 for the purpose at the time."

Plainfield, N. J., January 16, 1912.

"BLACK DURHAM."

Under the above caption there appears in the January "World's Work" by W. E. Burghardt Du Bois, an article of especial interest. It is an account of the growth of business and industrial enterprises by the colored business men of Durham, North Carolina. The concluding paragraph of the article states the results of negro skill at that place: "Today there is a singular group in Durham where a black man may get up in the morning from a mattress made by a black man, in a house which a black man built out of lumber which a black man cut and planed; he may put on a suit which he bought at a colored haberdashery and socks knit at a colored mill; he may cook victuals from a colored grocery on a stove which black men fashioned; he may earn his living working for colored men, be sick in a colored hospital and buried from a colored church; and the negro instrance society will pay his widow enough to keep his children in a colored school. This is surely progress."

Indeed it is progress and of the right kind. Why should not the colored man have an even chance in the race of life with the rest of us? If he can do it in Durham, North Carolina, he can do it anywhere. It is a hopeful sign for the colored man when we see in the Southland this splendid result and have it stated that it is encouraged by the men of the South. There are nine million colored people in their nation. They are entitled to an education that will fit them for usefulness as citizens. They should receive support, respect and an even chance in the race of life, just as their activities and good citizenship shows that they are entitled to it. The color of a man's skin should be no guage as to his actions. Rather let the criterion be what he is and what he does. If he can run a bank, an insurance society, a brick yard, a hosiery and planing mill, a grocery store, drug stores, and shoe stores, let him do it. The success in industry of every citizen counts for the general good. The success of the Durham colored citizens means much for the future of the whole country.

Senator Leavitt's bill to amend the Geran law put in appearance last night at Trenton. It contains a number of changes, none of which, however, will alter the form of ballot adopted last year for the first time. One noticeable change will require any candidate who is suggested for the Presidency to consent in writing to have his name used at the primary, which would virtually make him a seeker after the office, rather than a receptive candidate. Some people see in this an effort to sidetrack Roosevelt this year, as he has maintained that he would not run, but has not forbidden his supporters the use of his name, practically admitting that were the nomination to come without effort on his part he would accept it. Another change, which seems to be a good one, alters the requirements for personal registration to municipalities of 15,000 and over, instead of 5,000 as under the act of a year ago. If the amendments pass it will also no longer be necessary to give the age of a voter, or to answer a number of questions which are now considered entirely too personal by many voters. None of these amendments seriously affects the law, and probably no great objection to their passage will appear.

There is just about as much sound argument in favor of the abolition of the death sentence as there is in behalf of prohibition and yet from time to time some distinguished man proclaims himself as against the infliction of capital punishment. The latest champion is Governor Dix who is extremely anxious to see the death penalty abandoned in New York State. Most people, we believe, will agree with the opinion expressed by the Bishop of Albany when asked what he thought of Governor Dix's views. The prelate declared that capital punishment is right and the objection to it is purely sentimental. Those who have declared themselves in favor of the removal of the death penalty, he asserted, have overlooked the one great significant instruction —"God's own word—'Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed.'"

The Up-State Public Service Commission in New York declares in its annual report that some fifty municipal lighting plants in that State are very poorly conducted, and that modern business methods do not seem to appeal to the large majority of the municipal governing bodies. If the people do not elect business-like officials the blame for such conditions goes directly back to the body politic. Municipally owned utility plants, like any private business, must be run along modern lines, to be successful, and when the plants are so operated there is great saving to the communities.

Governor Wilson, the dispatches say, will begin to travel around the country again in a few weeks in the interest of his presidential candidacy, but will try to arrange to be at Trenton on Tuesdays during the legislative session. Governor Harmon is taking similar jaunts through middle Western States, and Senator La Follette has been advancing his claims in Ohio and Michigan. The business of seeking the Presidential nomination is certainly not going to be interferred with, even if the jobs to which the aspirants have been chosen are neglected.

One of the New York State Assemblymen will introduce a bill in the Legislature of that State making it compulsory for all hotels to provide bed-sheets "at least nine feet long." Commercial travelers are said to be behind the movement, which is to be pushed with all seriousness. While the idea sounds foolish this legislation is just as sensible as some which is proposed in New Jersey and given serious consideration.

Rather discouraing, after the weather yesterday raised our hopes, to find that the thermometer was again chasing down toward the zero mark this morning. And to think that they are already talking about summer plans!

MOTHER.

Young man, did you ever put your arms around your dear old mother, who has loved and cared for you, and tell her that you love her and are grateful for the tears she has shed and the prayers she has offered for you? She may think that you love her without your assuring her that you do, but it costs you but little effort to tell her, and your words may bring more joy and sunshine to her heart than you ever dreamed of.

A Saving Farmer.

A man with New England small town recollections says that one Yankee storekeeper used to pull a fig in two to make the pound weight balance to a hair.

This same man was also a road contractor and had to provide lunch, to be eaten by the wayside by the farmers who gave their time to the county two or three days a year. There was considerable kicking about the lunch, especially the bread and butter.

"I always knew old man Jones was pretty tight," said one farmer, "and I know that butter is skerce and high, but I didn't think he cut bread with a greasy knife."—Chicago Post.

Desperate.

Johnny, aged five, had been chastised by his father for disobedience and, running to his mother, said, "Mamma, were all the bad men drowned in the flood?"

"Yes, dear," she replied.

"Well," continued Johnny, looking at his father with a frown, "do you think there will be another flood soon?"—Chicago News.

FORREST F. DRYDEN.

He Is the New President of the Prudential Life.

Forrest F. Dryden, who was elected president of the Prudential Life Insurance company to succeed his father, the late Senator John F. Dryden, was born at Bedford, O., Dec. 26, 1864, and entered the service of the Prudential at the age of eighteen after a course at Phillips academy, Andover, Mass. He has had wide experience in the home office and field work of the Prudential, first as clerk, then as field superintendent, following which he was elected secretary and then to the several vice presidencies of the company.

Mr. Dryden is a director of the Union National bank, Newark; the Fidelity Trust company, Newark; the South Jersey Gas, Electric and Traction company and other financial institutions. He also took his father's place in the executive committee of the Life Insurance Presidents' association. He holds the rank of lieutenant colonel and is chief commissary on the staff of Major General Wanser of the national guard of New Jersey.

FORREST F. DRYDEN.

Mr. Dryden's father in 1875 founded the Prudential, which was the first successful institution for the transaction of industrial insurance. He died a few months ago, leaving an estate of many millions.

CHARLES A. PROUTY.

He Is the New Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Charles Azro Prouty, a member of the interstate commerce commission, since December, 1896, who has been chosen chairman of that organization in succession to Judson C. Clements of Georgia, is a Republican and hails from Vermont, and his election thus changes the political complexion of the chairmanship, as Mr. Clements is a Democrat.

The election of the new chairman is the first move in line with the decision of the commission "that the term of office of the chairmanship shall be for one year and that the office shall be filled from year to year in the order of seniority of service."

This rule when observed next year will make Commissioner Franklin K. Lane of California the head of the organization. He is a Democrat and became a member of the commission in 1905.

Chairman Prouty from 1888 to 1896 was the reporter of decisions of the supreme court of Vermont. Previous to 1888 he had been a member of the Vermont house of representatives. He was born at Newport, Vt., in 1853, and graduated from Dartmouth college in 1875.

CHARLES A. PROUTY.

In this year he was selected by the late Professor Samuel P. Langley, for many years secretary of the Smithsonian institution, as his assistant at the Allegheny observatory. In 1882 Mr. Prouty was admitted to the bar of Vermont and engaged in the practice of his profession until named a member of the interstate commerce commission by President Cleveland.

SEWER PROSPECT REVIVED

Mygatt suggested that the conference be continued until tonight, which would give the members time to reach a decision before the Borough Council meets Wednesday night, which had previously been agreed to by its members. Afterward it was agreed by the City Council to hold an adjourned meeting tomorrow night which will afford an opportunity to pass the resolution suggested by Mr. Buttfield. They keynote of the meeting was that no time should be lost. This was emphasized by the borough representatives who stated that under the present plan it would require a year to carry out the project.

"I want to assume the entire responsibility for this meeting," said Mr. Gilbert. "North Plainfield did not come to me. I went to them on my own initiative, because I had heard that the Common Council proposed to spend between $150,000 and $180,000 on our sewage plant which has been a bone of contention for a long time among our own people. I have nothing to conceal. I want everything to be like an open book. When I heard that the city proposed to expend such a large sum I thought it to be unwise. I then spoke to Councilmen Mygatt and Clay and learned that that was the proposition.

"Believing it to be unwise I suggested that it would be a good opportunity to join with North Plainfield and move the sewage plant four or five miles away from the city. Mr. Mygatt asked me if I knew that negotiations could be re-opened. I said that I thought they could be and immediately arranged for a meeting with Mr. Buttfield and Mr. McCutchen, and in reply to a question, was informed by those two gentlemen that they believed it would be possible to reopen negotiations. I then emphasized the importance of such a step showing how joint operations would be of interest to both city and borough. Following a suggestion a whole evening was spent going over the plans, proposed cost of joint sewer. Under the proposed action of 1909 I saw that North Plainfield was willing to pay $111,000 and that by joining with Plainfield the borough would save $25,000. I asked Mr. Buttfield to ascertain the cost of joint action and at a meeting of the Common Council at my home on Friday night, called at my request the figures were considered.

"Mr. Mygatt expressed the opinion that it would be best to move the plant away. I said to the Council Friday night that rather than spend $150,000 to reconstruct the present system it would be wiser to proceed along the lines of a joint proposition, that it would be better to spend $53,000 in addition to the estimated cost of the city's improvement, a total of approximately $228,000, move the present beds and join with the borough in building an entirely new plant.

"Plainfield's plans have called forth much criticism and there is a decided opposition to the city spending such a large sum in improving the beds now in use. I was asked to preside at a public meeting of protest, but I advised against the holding o fsuch a meeting. I think you will agree to the main proposition, that it would be better to spend an extra $53,000, secure a system that would be approved by the State Board of Health and one that would last for thirty or forty years.

"When the prpesent beds were installed we had grave doubts about the wisdom of the plan. We tried to get further away. I spoke to the Borough Council on the subject and I went to Dunellen and went to the expense of having maps and surveys made, the idea being to carry the sewage two or three miles away. Dunellen opposed the plan so strongly that we could not even get permission to lay pipes through that borough and North Plainfield was indifferent at that time. In 1909 when the city and borough tried to get together I regretted that trifling differences prevented this, but now there appears to be no real difficulties to prevent the joint action. I cannot see wh ythere should be any delay.

"Plainfield can save between $50,000 and $60,000 by joint action through the redemption of the land now used for sewage beds. The property could be sold and the purchaser if he improved the same would be taxed almost for full value."

During the discussion of the probable cost for the preliminary work of making a new survey to the Cramer farm, Mr. Gilbert said that if it exceeded Mr. Buttfield's figures of $300, he would be willing to pay the difference, but said Mr. Gilbert, "for Heaven's sake don't spend $175,000 or $180,000 to improve the present system."

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., said that he heartily concurred in the proposed plan, believing it to be for the interest of the city and borough, which are so closely allied. He opposed delay, believing that to be folly and suicidal. "I have learned with regret," said Mr. Clark, "that an option has been secured on the Cramer farm and that it is being held for a higher price. Such an act is reprehensible and I take this opportunity of disavowing such action. The sewer commission and Borough Council publicly censure the action."

Mr. Buttfield then at some length reviewed the situation, making it plain that while the borough did not seek the conference, it being leap year the borough would have the right to propose. He gave a concise statement of facts leading up to the proposition, which is given in full elsewhere. He had no suggestions to make as to the plans of enlarging the present beds, but believed that it would entail an expenditure and loss in rentals of nearly a half million dollars, and he did not think the plan an economic one. Mr. Buttfield's presentation of facts and his arguments were apparently convincing.

Mr. Buttfield said that he received word from an authoritative source in Dunellen that that borough would concur in the proposed plan, provided Plainfield would agree to the trunk sewer and remove its beds from the present site. He also said that it was reasonable to believe that the State Board of Health would approve the plans of the borough now before them for consideration.

In response to a question by Mr. Holt, Mr. Buttfield said that it would be impracticable for either municipality to build a plant and rent privileges to other municipalities. Mr. Buttfield then took up the proposition section by section and it was discussed at length.

Mayor Moy said that he coincided with Mayor Clark that there should be no delay and with Mr. Gilbert that the city should not expend such a large sum on the present plant. He considered it to be the plain duty of the Council to join with the borough, that it is a duty owing to the city to follow out the suggestions made by Mr. Gilbert.

Those representing the city at the conference were Mayor G. W. V. Moy, and Councilmen R. I. Tolles, D. W. Taylor, W. L. Gloak, P. J. Reville, F. E. Mygatt, G. S. Clay, F L Holt, W. W. Wilson, Fred Endress, while those from North Plainfield included Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., Councilmen W. J. Buttfield, M. C. VanArsdale, Alexander Milne, Edward Rushmore and L. B. Woolston and the sewer commissioners, S. St. John McCutchen, George T. Rogers, Fred Boyer; also A. E. Kenney, David T. Kenney, William C. Smith and Alexander Gilbert, who represented the city. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett was also present.

MINERS SURE TO MAKE DEMANDS

All Wage Contracts Expire March 31 Next.

WHITE AGAIN PRESIDENT.

United Mine Workers of America In Convention a Unit In Determination to Fight For From 5 to 20 Per Cent Increase—Mitchell Wants $8,000 Job Back.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—The annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America is in session here today, with 1,300 delegates in attendance. The leaders from every state are united in the determination to demand an increase in wages, a few wanting as high as 20 per cent and others as low as 5 per cent increase.

There is no longer any doubt as to the result of the election. According to the best obtainable information, John P. White is re-elected president over Thomas L. Lewis, former president, by a majority of something like 40,000, and the majority of Frank J. Hayes for re-election as vice president over Samuel Pascoe of Illinois is about the same. Edwin Perry had no opposition for re-election as secretary-treasurer.

The important subject of the convention this year to the more than a quarter of a million union miners is largely in the fact that for the first time in the history of the organization the wage scale agreements in both the anthracite and bituminous mining fields will expire March 31, and new wage scale agreements will have to be negotiated before that time. This means that the convention will have to determine on the scale for the central competitive bituminous field and make recommendations for the wage scale to be negotiated at the conference of the anthracite operators and miners.

The miners will insist on an advance in the mining wage scale because they say the cost of living has increased greatly in the last ten years, while their wages have remained the same under the award of the anthracite commission. It is expected that the anthracite miners will be supported in this demand for an increase by all of the members of the miners' organizations with all of their resources.

It is expected John Mitchell, former president, will try to have rescinded the action of the convention in declaring that he must either resign from the National Civic federation or the United Mine Workers of America.

Mitchell left the Civic federation, where his position carried a salary of $8,000 a year, and remained in the union. His friends now assert that the Mine Workers' convention was packed against him last year and that this enabled the socialist element to force through the resolution.

FARLEY NEARING HOME.

Steamship Berlin Will Dock at New York Wednesday Morning.

At Sea Aboard the Steamship Berlin, Jan. 16. (by Wireless via Halifax).—In spite of a misty rain the sea is calm, and the vessel with Cardinal Farley and his suit aboard is making good progress toward New York. The change in the sea is a welcome one from the storm which kicked up such heavy waves as to make impossible the holding of divine services aboard.

For three days the great ship has been harassed by head winds which began on Friday and on Saturday developed into a veritable gale. At times it blew seventy-five miles an hour, driving nearly every one below and causing the greatest discomfort.

Unless another storm breaks it is assumed that the ship will be off Sandy Hook late tonight, but the captain has instructions from New York to anchor outside until morning, so that he will not dock before Wednesday forenoon, in accordance with the program which has been made for the reception of the distinguished prelate.

STILL ASSESS IRONWORKERS.

Levy of $7,000 a Month Collected Because of Expected Trouble.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—It is admitted at the offices of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers that the special assessment of $7,000 a month levied five months ago is still being collected and that the money is being raised because of expected trouble.

It was not stated what the expected trouble is, but the officers intimate in a circular recently issued that the money will be needed to defend some one or more persons who will be prosecuted because of their connection with unionism.

DEMOCRATS ELECT FISK.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 16.—By a plurality of 137 John L. Fisk, Democratic candidate, was elected mayor of Middletown, defeating his Republican opponent, Joseph Brazos, and carrying with him the entire ticket with the exception of one councilman.

Mayor Elect Fisk will succeed Professor Willard C. Fisher of the chair of political economy at Wesleyan, who has served two terms.

A REPUBLIC BY DECREE?

Edict Expected That Will Restore Peace In China.

London, Jan. 16.—The correspondent of the Times at Peking, telegraphing to his paper, says that within three or four days a momentous edict will be issued in China which will go much further than has been expected. It will not only announce the abdication of the reigning family, but will decree the establishment of a republican form of government for China, the people to elect a president.

The belief is that this will cause the republic to be guarded by the people.

WARRANT FOR A MINISTER.

Pittsburgh Girl Before Death Accused Medical Divine.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 16.—The Rev. Dr. William McFarland, formerly head of the academic department of the Pittsburg high school, must answer to the grand jury on a charge of performing a criminal operation which resulted in the death of his former secretary, Elsie D. Coe.

After an inquest relative to the woman's death Friday, District Attorney W. A. Blakely and Coroner S. C. Jamison swore out a warrant for the arrest of the divine, who fled from Pittsburgh after the woman was admitted to the hospital.

"Believing that I am about to die, I make this statement: 'My present condition was caused by two operations performed upon me by Dr. William McFarland, knowing that I was in a delicate condition. The father of my child is Roland McConnell of Chicago.'"

Old Time Pitcher Dead.

Unionville, Conn., Jan. 16.—Steve Lambert, an old time pitcher whose acquaintance with baseball men was country wide, is dead at his home here at the age of fifty-three years. Death was due to Bright's disease. In the early eighties he pitched on teams at New Britain and Meriden, subsequently at Bridgeport and Newark, N. J., and later was with the Boston Blues, Newburyport and Lawrence of the New England league.

That has been my slogan for years. GIRL WINS RACE WITH FAST TRAIN

ENGINEER COULDN'T STOP.

Nellie B. Freeman of Metuchen Takes Short Cut on Way to Visit Sister-in-law and Pennsylvania Train Overtakes Her on Slippery Trestle.

Metuchen, N. J., Jan. 16.—Miss Nellie B. Freeman barely escaped death while on her way to visit her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary W. Freeman, the writer, who lives some distance down the Pennsylvania tracks from her home.

The deep snow made the paths skirting the tracks on either side almost impassable, so Miss Freeman walked the tracks. When she came to a long trestle over the Lehigh Valley instead of taking a foot bridge some distance below she decided to walk the trestle. She was still on the trestle when the St. Louis limited rounded a curve a quarter of a mile behind, going seventy-five miles an hour to make up lost time. The engineer sounded his whistle and put on the emergency brakes, but so fast was the train going and so slippery the tracks that it was impossible to stop.

Miss Freeman began to run. The ties were snow covered and slippery. One misstep would have meant certain death. All the while the engineer was sounding his whistle and reversing his power.

Reaching the end of the trestle, Miss Freeman made a flying leap as the cowcatcher of the locomotive was almost upon her and fell safe in a snow bank.

Then she lost her nerve and as the train crew came back to her she fainted.

SEEK DEAD MAN'S COMPANION

Newark Police Hunt For Italiar Named "Patsy."

Newark, N. J., Jan. 16.—Joseph and Julius Zuhidors of 12 Mary street, tramping across the Newark meadows from a hunting trip, stumbled upon the dead body of a man lying face down in a sheltered hollow on Doremus avenue, just off the Hamburg Place road. The hunters felt his body and found that it was still warm. They telephoned to the police.

The man was an Italian, about thirty-five years old. His head had been hacked. There were two stab wounds under his shoulders, and his right hand had been cut off.

The police found two Italians, Giovanni Peduto of 383 Second street, Jersey City, and Antonio Mucciolio, who are employed as street levelers. They have been working with two other Italians known to them only as Frank and Patsy in filling in ground near Hamburg avenue, on the Newark meadows.

When they were shown the body they cried that it was Frank. They said the dead man had a wife, and they thought he lived in Brooklyn. They said that during the week they lived in a little shanty on the meadows and broke camp Saturday. When they came to the hut neither Patsy nor Frank showed up. The police are looking for Patsy.

USE DYNAMITE TO FIND BODY

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 16.—In a vain effort to recover the body of Miss Sarah Hetzel, who, together with Helen Mulvey, Margaret Tindall, Donald Reed and Chester Van Cleef, was drowned Saturday morning when an automobile driven by Frederick M. Foster plunged into the water power creek, dynamite was used under direction of Coroner Bower. All the other bodies have been found, and the funeral will be Wednesday afternoon.

Chief of Police Hinerley has begun an investigation of the tragedy. It has been learned from the state department of motor vehicles that young Foster had no driver's license and it is also said that he was driving the machine without the consent of his father, who owns it. The police are being aided by County Prosecutor Crossley and his detectives, and the case will be presented to Justice Trencard today for consideration by the grand jury. The prosecutor has made an inspection of the road where the accident occurred and is of the opinion that it is not properly protected.

LEAVES MILLIONS TO AID DESERTED WIVES

Late Millionaire Crane's Will Makes Original Bequest.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A fund of $2,000,135 from the fortune of the late Richard T. Crane, multimillionaire ironmaster of Chicago, will be devoted to charitable works. This became known when the will was filed for probate.

One striking and original feature is the establishment of a fund to provide homes in the country and means of sustaining them for families deserted by the husbands.

Mrs. Crane, the widow, was given the palatial home at 2541 Michigan avenue for life, the summer home at Lake Geneva and a yearly allowance of $15,000, this in addition to the provisions made for Mrs. Crane in an antenuptial agreement.

The will disposes of property estimated at values as high as $20,000,000. In the petition it is estimated at $10,000,000. Charles R. and Richard, the sons named as executors, will get perhaps the major portion of their father's property. The third son, Herbert P. Crane, and the several daughters, the will states, had been cared for prior to the drawing of the instrument.

TRY TO KIDNAP PRINCE.

Young Son of Princess Alice Found by Searchers.

Viareggio, Italy, Jan. 16.—An attempt was made here to kidnap the nine-year-old son of the late Prince Frederic of Schoenburg-Waldenburg. The boy has been living here with his mother, the Princess Alice of Bourbon, who is a sister of Don Jamie, pretender to the throne of Spain. The princess divorced her husband several years ago and afterward married a lieutenant in the Italian army named Del Prete.

When the boy was missed from his mother's villa, a widespread search was inaugurated. Searchers came upon the little prince on a lonely road near the town of Pietrazanta. The princess attributes the attempt to kidnap her son to the members of the family of his father.

ADMITS KILLING BROTHER.

Eugene Furman, Who Accused Another Brother, Confesses.

Middletown, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Eugene Furman admitted to the police that he killed his brother, Theodore Furman, and put his body in a car of cinders. He had previously accused his brother Joseph of the crime.

On Saturday night Joseph made a statement to the effect that Eugene was guilty of the crime. Eugene now says he is the guilty one. He is only eighteen years old.

LAWRENCE UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Mill Hands Get Beyond Control of Police.

FOSS CALLS OUT MILITIA.

State Guards With Bayonets Wound One and Many Others Are Injured With Missiles and Firearms—Court Open to Deal With Cases as Fast as They Are Brought Before It.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 16.—Lawrence is virtually under martial law after fighting between militia and bands of the 25,000 strikers, who have left the woolen mills because of a dispute over their pay. More than a dozen persons were injured, two in bayonet charges two by bullets and several by rocks and other missiles. Turbulent mobs of foreign born mill workers got beyond the control of the augmented police force and three local militia companies and hurry calls for extra troops were sent to surrounding cities.

A great crowd of men, women and children stormed the city hall, demanding an entrance in order that they might hold a special meeting of strikers.

At a conference with Mayor Scanlon and city officials Joseph Ettor of New York declared the strikers demand an increase of 15 per cent in wages, the abolition of the premium system and double pay for all overtime work.

The demands are something new, as the strike was started as a protest against not being paid for fifty-six hours' work, although labor for but fifty-four hours was performed in consequence of the new law.

The conference with the mayor resulted in the strikers securing the use of city hall for a meeting and permission to post pickets on the thoroughfares leading to the mills. The strike committee was informed that if any attempt was made by the pickets to use any force toward operatives who desired to go to work they would be instantly arrested by the soldiers.

There was an attack made upon the Champion paper mills, one of the International Paper company's plants, by strikers from the woolen mills. Several gates were broken down and windows smashed before the rioters were dispersed. It appears to be the aim of the strikers to induce, either by force or otherwise, every man employed in any industry whatever here to go out.

About 30,000 people are practically idle now, and it is a question if any of the woolen mills will be able to resume operations for several days.

Many arrests have been made, and most of the prisoners were found to have revolvers or knives in their pockets. One Italian was nabbed who had an automatic revolver and two knives on his person besides a belt full of cartridges. He was given a sentence of two years by Judge Mahoney, who disposed of the cases as fast as they were brought before him.

Police Commissioner Lynch passed out word today that there would be shooting to kill if the strikers continued their tactics.

PROBE TELEPHONE TRUST.

Department of Justice Agent Visits Many Cities For Evidence.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A country wide investigation of the affairs of the Bell Telephone company for information bearing upon an alleged monopoly, of which the company is said to control, was reported with the return to Chicago of Charles F. Dewoody, division superintendent of the department of justice.

The investigation, it is said, is being complemented by an exhaustive probe in Chicago. According to the report, government agents have been at work in this city, and a report to the administration in Washington of the operations of the Bell syndicate will soon be presented.

OPEN DEBATE ON TREATIES.

Senate Decides Not to Close Doors on Arbitration Discussion.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate in executive session by a vote of 58 to 8 decided to debate the pending arbitration treaties, or so called "peace treaties," with Great Britain and France in open senate. This conclusion was reached after a stormy debate in which the president and secretary of state were severely criticised. Senator Lodge led the fight for keeping the debate behind closed doors, while Senator Rayner and others demanded that the doors of the senate be open and that the debate proceed publicly.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT

STORAGE VAULT.

The imperviousness of the modern safe deposit vault to fire was conclusively demonstrated by the great calamity which occurred this week in New York City, and no stronger argument for the effectiveness of such vaults in protecting property can ever be presented than the millions of securities which survived the Equitable fire.

The Plainfield Trust Company's vaults are not only of the most modern and approved construction but are further protected by a fireproof building. Boxes for rent at $5 a year and upwards.

of the league, having to do with both branches, and leading from one directly into the other.

"Perhaps the most important new department of the league's activities is the publication of our monthly magazine, 'The White Crusader,' which now finds its way into the homes of about 2,000 families twelve times a year. Those who read from cover to cover, as many do, are taking a course of higher education in health matters, while those who see only the attractive cover, sealed with the significant double red cross, lying on their tables at home, are reminded of the battle which is being fought all about us throughout this whole land for the extermination of tuberculosis.

"The power of the press is perhaps the most considerable and far-reaching influence at our disposal in the campaign of education, which is the root and center of the tuberculosis campaign. There need be no hesitation, therefore, in recognizing as the most important new work to be undertaken this year, the enlargement of our membership during the year so that it will include directly or indirectly every family in the city.

"I recommend the adoption of a resolution, not only as a matter of record upon our minutes, but as a resolve for the New Year, to be carried in our hearts, and as a slogan or common call of the league members to their fellow citizens, to be written in red ink upon the cover of our magazine, and reiterated by word of mouth from day to day throughout the year: Resolved, Five thousand members for 1912.' This thing can be done. Both the daily newspapers are eager advocates and fellow-workers in the cause for which we are laboring, and instead of being rivals are joined together as friends and backers of our 'White Crusader,' which they would both be glad to see increased to a circulation exceeding their own circulation as Plainfield newspapers.

"During the past year we have received a legacy from Mrs. Edgerton's estate amounting to $10,000, and that amount is now invested in a mortgage, which returns us an income of about $500 a year. A legacy of $5,000 from the will of Mrs. Babcock will probably not be available for several years to come, owing to the provisions of her will; but eventually this amount of money will be in the hands of the Muhlenberg Hospital, as trustee, the income to be applied to the maintenance of our pavilion."

Dr. Edward S. Kraus reported on the year's work with his tuberculosis class, explaining that its object was to enroll persons afflicted with tuberculosis for the purpose of giving advice, treatment, encouragement, supplying drugs, milk, oil, and such other articles as are necessary. The membership at the end of the year was 37.

"In regard to drugs, cod liver oil, milk, chairs and clothing," added Dr. Kraus, "the class is seriously handicapped. The Organized Aid has helped us greatly in this respect; some drug manufacturers have contributed; Dudley Miller, druggist, gave thermometers; and we have been promised a small account at a drug store which has not yet materialized. There is a fund for furnishing refreshments at the meetings, which has been used to great advantage by Miss Ryder and her assistants. The refreshments are very necessary in order to give that informal and social atmosphere that it is hoped maybe kept up. In this connection acknowledgement should be made to the Nursing Bureau for its help, and especially should the work of Miss Leahy be mentioned without which it would be very difficult to conduct the class.

"During the coming year it is planned to get if possible a substantial fund with which to buy cod liver oil, tonics, and other medical necessities. Also an effort will be made to secure a visitor for each case, who shall keep in touch with it and report to the physician in charge of the class. This last is a most important and necessary addition to our machinery because it assists the physician in his management of the case, strengthens the bond between the patients and the class, and above all gives the consumptive that hope, encouragement, and perseverance in treatment without which arrest of the disease cannot be depended upon for any length of time. The year or so following discharge from the sanatorium is a critical period and one that is peculiarly well adapted for the class to manage through lay helpers."

Dr. William H. Murray of the committee on nurses explained that the outside nursing work had been transferred to the Nursing Bureau of the Charity Organization Society and added that the care of tuberculosis patients had been greatly advanced thereby.

Dr. Frederick J. Hughes, chairman of the house committee of the tuberculosis pavilion, reported that twenty-one patients had been cared for in the course of the year and that eighteen had been discharged, seven of them apparently cured, seven improved and four with the disease arrested.

"It will be noticed," continued Dr. Hughes, "that but three patients remain at the end of the year, instead of the usual full quota of eight. As is generally known the camp has been obliged to confine itself to women and children of both sexes under the age of twelve. At one time we had a waiting list of eight women and children, now we have five vacant beds.

"The cause is easily found and it operates usually in all communities the size of Plainfield and North Plainfield. We have cared for all we could find of the cases of early tuberculosis in women and children, accumulating in Plainfield and North Plainfield for the few years prior to the opening of the camp and all that our agents have been able to get hold of since then. Now, as in the future we shall have only to look after the new cases which develop and many of these will prefer to go to another climate, while others will refuse institutional care because of a fancied stigma which attends residence in a sanatorium."

Officers for 1912 were elected as follows: William S. Tyler, president; F. E. DuBois, M. D., secretary; James P. Murray, treasurer; George L. Babcock, first vice-president; Leighton Calkins, second vice-president; honoroary vice-presidents—Ernest R. Ackerman, Robert Clark, Jr., Alexander Gilbert, James E. Martine, G. W. V. What Would Happen to the Office Safe?

In a fire such as that of the Equitable building, what would happen to the office safe that the average business man puts so much faith in? A word to those who are willing to profit by others costly experience; rent a box in the fire and burglar proof vault of The State Trust Company and thus insure your valuables against the day when a similar catastrophe may visit the building in which your office is located. Our Manganese Steel Vault is supported on its own concrete foundation and is surrounded by concrete and even though our building should burn to the ground, the vault and contents would stand intact. The cost is but $5.00 per year, little enough for the protection and peace of mind that it will afford.

AS TO DOING AWAY WITH HOME STUDY

There Are Worse Things Than Preparing Lessons at Night, Says Mr. Krebs.

LONG GERMAN SCHOOL DAY

Pupils In Kaiser's Realm Escape Home Work By Remaining In Class From Seven A. M. to Five P. M. Every Day.

Plans of educators in other communities to do away with home study by public school pupils are not considered with favor by Supervising Principal H. C. Krebs, of North Plainfield. He thinks that on the whole it is better for boys and girls to be "worthily occupied" with study at home in the evenings than to be running about the streets.

Professor Krebs gave out a statement on the subject when his attention was called to the plan as presented to the Belleville Board of Education by George R. Gerard, supervising principal of schools at that place. In reply to a question by a member of the board as to how the pupils could get along without some study, Professor Gerard cited the system in the German schools, which international investigators of educational methods say are in the lead.

Mr. Krebs prefaced his statement by saying that the details of the Belleville plan had not been laid before him, and so he couldn't in fairness judge that particular proposition.

"However," he continued, "the German plan is quoted with approval. If the German system is to be used, I fear it will meet with some disfavor, inasmuch as the regular school hours there the from seven in the morning until five in the afternoon.

"There are many objections to home study, but there are also many objections to no home study. If children are kept in school for too many hours, play and other exercise in the daylight are impossible, especially during the winter months. This would be a most serious loss to the pupils.

"Systematic home study keeps pupils worthily occupied during the evening. In many homes pupils would spend their evenings on the streets or at places of amusement but for the school tasks. I regard this as of vital importance. Even now in so well-regulated a community as ours, the amount of moral damage done our young people by excessive street-walking is beyond estimate. It would be much worse if many were not kept at home by their school duties.

"Home work in studies should be such that pupils can accomplish it. Then there will be a minimum of discouragement. Under proper conditions hame study leads to self-reliance.

"If all children had good homes the problem would be different. Under such conditions there are books to read and games to play, and there is an atmosphere of culture. These influence are just as valuable as chool work. But where such conditions do not exist, it is hard to keep children from the streets unless they have something of an intellectual nature given them to do.

"The German methods may be very well adapted to the Germans. They are not so well adapted to other nations. We would not be satisfied with their form of government, for instance. We would not approve for ourselves the frequency and severity of corporal punishment practiced in their schools and in their homes. The number of suicides among German school children is alarmingly large, which certainly indicates a faulty system of dealing with children.

"In some families pupils can study only in the kitchen, in the presence often of talking and noise. In such instances the disadvantages are great; but is not this better than if the pupil spent the evening on the streets?

"In spite, therefore, of the numerous difficulties that arise under a system requiring home work, it is a grave question whether an entire change, such as is contemplated at Belleville, will on the whole produce better results."

Surprised on Her Birthday.

Mrs. Margaret Sweeny, of the New Madison apartments, was given a delightful surprise party last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James E. Jack, of 128 Plainfield avenue. It was the fifty-second birthday anniversary of Mrs. Sweeny, who received a number of remembrances from the thirty or more friends and relatives present. Cards were enjoyed, followed by refreshments.

CITY READY TO JOIN BORO IN ORDERING SEWER PLAN

Agreement to Consider Joint Plant Announced by Mygatt at Second Conference --System Suitable to Two Sites Outlined.

Plainfield has decided to join with North Plainfield in the proposed plan to investigate the advisability of constructing a joint sanitary sewer, as outlined at a conference of city and borough representatives held Monday night. The deliberations were continued last night in the Common Council chamber, when Councilman F. E. Mygatt, speaking for his colleagues, informed the borough representatives of the decision reached. In outlining the city's position, Mr. Mygatt stated that it was distinctly understood that by agreeing to join in the investigation of plans, there should be nothing construed to mean that the city would be bound by any contract. Both Councils will meet tonight to adopt resolutions, authorizing the investigation.

The whole matter was discussed at great length and at the close of the conference it was informally agreed that Mr. Mygatt and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett should cooperate with Councilman W. J. Buttfield, of the borough, in cerfering with George W. Fuller, the engineer for the city and borough and that Mr. Buttfield should draft a tentative contract to be submitted to both Councils.

Councilman Mygatt, acting as a spokesman for his colleagues, explained that he had conferred with Councilmen Clay, Taylor and Holt and they favored the proposition that a resolution such as suggested at the first conference should be passed. He wanted it distinctly undedstood, however, that this action would not bind the city to any contract; that after the plans, estimates, etc., are prepared that the matter will then be taken up and considered with a view to making a contract.

"I have very reason to believe that a satisfactory adjustment can be made," said Mr. Mygatt. "Much has been said regarding the saving that would result to the city under such an arrangement. I have the greatest respect for the gentlemen presenting such arguments, but I cannot agree with them that so much would be saved by the city. However, I believe that joint proposition is the thing, and especially for the reason that it would put the city and borough in a position of controlling the situation and other municipalities could be compelled to tie up to the system, if necessary. I believe that the benefits will be equal.

"Another great advantage will be that the present sewage beds will be removed, a benefit to Plainfield and North Plainfield, and it will result in the construction of one disposal works, instead of two. The time must come when the two municipalities must get together and laying aside the question of expense, which I do not consider a cogent reason, I believe that plans looking to that end can be adopted."

Mr. Buttfield explained that he had taken up with George W. Fuller the question of the expense of making plans, etc., and his assistant, Mr. Harding, informed him that it would not exceed $350. This led S. St. John McCutchen to remark that they could hold Mr. Gilbert for $50, he offering to pay any difference over $300.

Mr. Buttfield outlined plans for the outfall sewer, profile and works appropriate to either site, Zvolenck or Cramer farm, adding that he thought it would be wise to present both plans to the State Board of Health, showing that the municipalities are amenable to reason, and that there are alternative plans.

"There are advantages in both sites," said Mr. Buttfield, "but for some reasons the Cramer farm is considered the best because it is below the wells of the water company." In response to his question as to which site he favored, Mr. Buttfield informed Councilman Tolles that he thought perhaps the Zvolenck farm was the best because it is "out of sight" of general travel. "There are two houses on a hill some distance away and there might be sentimental reasons against that site," said Mr. Buttfield.

"State Senator W. W. Smalley has asked us to go to the Cramer farm and Bound Brook would be satisfied with that proposition. It was Senator Smalley who engineered the joint sewer bill through the Legislature and I think all would be glad to have him co-operate with us in this matter. Incidentally, I might say that Plainfield alone might have some difficulty in locating its sewage plant out of the city, this being possible under the law where two or more municipalities join such an improvement. I think the State Board of Health would hail with delight our selection of the Cramer farm. I was informed by John H. Capstick, president of the State Board of Health,

NEW LEGISLATURE'S LAW-MAKING SPEED

For First Time Bills Are Considered During Second Week of Session.

FOUR ON SECOND READING

Over In the House Fourteen Measures Are Reported—Old Time Politicans Surprised By the Activity Already Shown.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 17.—The Legislature yesterday made a new record in New Jersey law making. Four measures were reported in the Senate, three of them with amendments. The amendments were adopted and all four measures were sent to second reading for consideration next Monday evening.

In the Assembly fourteen bills were reported, although none had been introduced until the evening previous. The early reports were possible because Monday night the bills were not sent immediately to the printer, as had been the custom, but were retained and placed at once in the hands of the respective committees. They were considered by the committees yesterday morning and the reports followed yesterday afternoon.

Old time politicians at the State House said they never remember a session where bills were considered and reported for action the second week of the session.

The measures reported in the Senate were as follows: Senate No. 1, providing for the elimination of the dust evil in factories, amended so as to strike out the penalty of $50 fine, but retaining the penalty of $10 a day; Senate No. 2, requiring safety devices on machinery, amended to correct a defect in the title; Senate No. 3, requiring fire alarms in mercantile establishments, amended so as require an alarm on every floor, instead of in every room; Senate 23, relating to building and loan associations and giving them power to improve mortgaged property, was reported unamended.

Senator Leavitt, of Mercer, introduced a bill to permit the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to condemn additional land, not exceeding fifty feet in width, for the construction of two additional tracks to its main line to New York. The effect of the measure will be to permit the railroad company to acquire a right of way 150 feet wide to accommodate six tracks. Senator Fielder put in a bill providing that in case of an appeal to the Errors Court in proceedings for the condemnation of land, the petitioner for the condemnation may pay the sum awarded into the Court of Chancery and take possession of the property pending the settlement of the appeal.

WILSON TOLD HARVEY HARPER'S HELP HURT

"To our readers:

"The name of Woodrow Wilson as our candidate for president was taken down from the head of these columns in response to a statement made to us directly by Governor Wilson to the effect that our support was affecting his candidacy injuriously.

"The only course open to us, in simple fairness to Mr. Wilson, no less than in consideration of our own self-respect, was to cease to advocate his nomination.

"We make this explanation with great reluctance and the deepest regret. But we cannot escape the conclusion that the very considerable number of our readers who have cooperated earnestly and loyally in advancing a movement which was inaugurated solely in the hope of rendering a high public service are clearly entitled to this information."

Sesame Club to Meet.

The Sesame Club will meet at the home of Miss Ida Cook, 144 Crescent avenue, tomorrow morning.

Harold Shearer, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearer, of East Front and Washington streets, saved William J. Firstbrook's grocery from a serious fire about 8 o'clock last night. The little one was looking out of a rear window when he was attracted to a blaze in some barrels and boxes belonging to the grocer, whose storeyard adjoins the Shearer house.

At the sight of the blaze the child jumped up and down, babbling with delight. This brought the parents to the window and they at once realized the danger. Hastening to the rear of the building Mr. Shearer, with the assistanse of his neighbors extinguished the fire just as it was eating its way through the woodwork surrounding the door to the grocery. It was afterward learned that one of the tenants had thrown red hot ashes into a barrel.

DINES PISCATAWEGIANS WHO RULE OR HAVE RULED

The past and present officials of Piscataway township, together with a number of special guests, were tendered a complimentary dinner at Brantingham's club house, on lower Park avenue, by former Judge William A. Coddington, of this city, last night. The affair was in honor of his twelfth anniversary as counsel for the township and was similar to others given in previous years. Covers were laid for twenty-five.

The dinner was served under Mr. Brantingham's personal supervision and comprised an excellent menu. When coffee and cigars had completed the courses, a session of speechmaking was commenced, Judge Coddington presiding as toastmaster. Addresses were made by a majority of the guests, during which frequent reference was made to the efficient service rendered the township by the incumbent counsel. The host of the evening also spoke and dwelt briefly on the harmonious relations existing among the Piscataway officials and the valued co-operation he had received from all.

The list of invited guests was as follows: B. DeWitt Giles, Thomas H. Brantingham, Nelson M. Giles, Arthur R. Tappen, Abram G. Nelson, William H. Hamilton, John Geary, William B. LaRue, Charles S. Day, George W. Coriell, John M. Dayton, William Coulter, Henry G. Hummer, Dr. W. J. Nelson, Newton B. Smalley, William F. Williams, Herbert Buxton, Herbert A. Bonn, George W. Harris, D. J. Carney, W. S. Bullock, Harry C. VanEmburgh, A. J. Gebhardt.

VERDICT FOR LUMBER CO. ON AN ASSIGNED CLAIM

The Supreme Court case of the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Co. against Antonan Smogin, brought to recover $1,210, with interest, claimed to be due for the erection of a small house in Garwood under a contract between the defendant and J. W. Manhattan, was tried yesterday before Judge Vail and a jury in the Union County Court yesterday. The lumber company got a verdict of $1,181.41.

After Manhattan finished the work, he assigned his rights in the contract to the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Co., which furnished material for the building. The defendant filed a notice of recoupement claiming he had been damaged by the defective and imperfect construction of the building, and that he should be allowed $1,200 which he claimed would be required to correct and replace the defective work and material in the building and to compensate him for loss of rental, the building having stood empty since its erection in 1910 to the present time.

The plaintiff insisted that the work had been done according to contract and that the materials used were of the kind specified and Manhattan was called to the stand to prove that he had performed the contract in a substantial manner. Several witnesses were called by the plaintiff who had examined the building and they corroborated Manhattan.

It was admitted by the plaintiff that there were certain minor defects, which, however, could be remedied at slight expense and which had not rendered the premises untenantable. The jury rendered the verdict of $1,181 after brief deliberation. The plaintiff was represented by Codington & Swackhamer, and the defendant by John J. Stamler.

BURGLAR ESCAPES WHILE WOMAN CALLS FOR HELP

After ransacking H. S. Phillips' home on Duer street from cellar to garret last night in search of money and valuables, a thief escaped from the rear door while Mrs. Phillips was telephoning for the police. He took with him a small bank and some change found in a drawer of the sideboard in the dining room, less than $10 in all.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips discovered the burglar's presence when they returned from New York about 7 o'clock. The house was lighted up and instead of entering they stood on the sidewalk and considered what was best to be done. During the few minutes they stood there the burglar took alarm. He had provided a way for escape by leaving the rear door and a window on the second floor, one on the roof of the back porch open. His tracks in the snow showed that he climbed a fence into the next yard, the yard of the house from which Mrs. Phillips by that time was calling the police, then to the yard of the next house and walked out into the street. He turned into Mercer avenue and made good his escape. Mr. Phillips on guard at the front of his home saw him come out of the yard two doors away but did not suspect he was the burglar.

A pet dog was left in the house when Mr. and Mrs. Phillips went away and it was found asleep, curled up on a divan in the living room. Burned matches were strewn over the floors in every room and the rug in one of the rooms on the second floor had been set afire by one of them. There was evidences of the flames having been trampled out after burning a hole through the rug and scorching the floor.

Marshals Pope and Kellar hurried to the scene and went into the house at the rear and front at the same time, hoping to trap the thief. The lights were left burning in all the rooms. The floors were littered with the contents of bureau and dresser drawers thrown aside by the intruder in his hunt for money. All efforts to locate him in the house proving futile, a search of the yard was made and disclosed the tracks in the snow.

Mr. Phillips then recalled having seen a stranger leave the yard two doors below his home. The only description he could give of the thief was that he wore a long black overcoat, and derby and was of medium height. Entrance to the house was gained by the use of a skeleton key.

M'INTYRE CONCERT WAS PRAISEWORTHY

KEFER AS CELLIST CHARMING

Mrs. Lucille Stevenson as Assisting Artist Meritorious and Joseph McIntyre's Work up to His Usual Standard.

The McIntyre chamber music concert last night at the High School auditorium, notwithstanding the severe cold weather, was enjoyed by a large and enthusiastic audience. A program of unusual attractiveness was provided and faultlessly performed. The great Brahms trio in B major was the chief feature of the evening and its rendition by the trio of artists was a pleasure to be long remembered.

Plainfield has distinctly developed in musical appreciation during the seven years of these concerts. It was with true and genuine appreciation that the audience listened and showed approval last evening to the masterpiece of Brahms and should go far to encourage Mr. McIntyre in his worthy endeavors to provide the best music for Plainfield. This work is generally conceded to be a musical feast for musicians only, so that this appreciation is doubly convincing of our musical development.

The work of the McIntyre trio is beyond praise. The success they are attaining in New York and vicinity bears evidence of the true merit of the organization and points to greater success which will eventually be theirs.

Mrs. Lucille Stevenson, who made a flying trip from Toronto, Canada, to New York, and was secured by Mr. McIntyre for this concert, was the assisting artist. She showed herself a songstress of the highest order and completely won the audience by her beautiful rendition of two groups of songs. She was recalled many times and responded by giving encoures after each group. She is not unknown in Plainfield, being a niece of Mrs. W. F. Hobbie, of Watchung avenue, and has many warm friends here.

The playing of Paul Kefer, the cellist, stamped him as the fine artist he is and won for him an immediate success. It was a great treat to hear his fine full tone from this prince of instruments and which he knows so well how to bring forth. The "Lento Cantabile" by Chopin was faultlessly played and enthusiastically encored. He gave in response the delightful Cradle Song by Faure.

The closing number, a Spanisn Gipsy Dance, "Seguidillas Gitanas," by the Spanish composer, Fernandez-Arbos, with its guitar-like character was a novelty and extremely pleasing.

Altogether the program was remarkably enjoyable and was a fitting close to a very delightful series.

LONG ILLNESS ENDS LIFE OF YOUNG DUNELLEN WIFE.

After a long illness, during which she underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital in this city, Mrs. J. C. Smith died last night at her home in Dunellen in her twenty-sixth year. She became a resident of Dunellen with her husband, Dr. J. C. Smith, a short time ago.

Surviving besides her husband are her father, William L. Parmelee, and a sister, Miss Eunice Parmelee. The funeral will be held privately from her late residence tomorrow afternoon and will be conducted by Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery, this city.

Mrs. Smith is mourned by a large circle in Dunellen. Brief as was her residence there, it was long enough for her to become popular with many acquaintances.

MAYOR CLARK INJURED.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough, while on his way to the joint sewer conference of city and borough officials in the city building, last night, slipped and fell on the ice on Watchung avenue, sustaining a severe injury to his hip. He succeeded in reaching the meeting, but afterward was obliged to return home in a carriage. Today he is able to be about the house.

COMPANY K TO AID IN 'DEFENSE' OF N. Y.

New Jersey Militiamen Will Have Part in Big War Game Next Summer.

METROPOLIS TO BE ATTACKED

Special Campaign Planned by National Government Will Closely Approach Actual Conditions of Warfare—Regulars on Both Sides.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 17.—New Jersey National Guardsmen, with those of New York State next summer will repel an invasion of New York by troops from Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Connecticut, according to unofficial information which has been received here from Washington. It will be a special campaign, involving the attack and defense of New York city, and will be a part of the joint maneuvers for the United States Army and the organized militia planned by the government military authorities for 1912.

The advices from Washington are that the joint maneuvers this year will be conducted under conditions that will approach nearer actual warfare than in any previous year. The attacking forces will be organized from the Tenth Cavalry, Fifth Infantry and Second Battalion of the Third Field Artillery, of the Regular Army, and the Militia of the New England States. The defending force will be organized from the First Squadron, Fifteenth Calvary, the Third Battalion, Twenty-ninth Infantry, of the Regular Army and the Militia of New Jersey and New York. The organization of the attacking and defending forces will be left to the commanding general of the Eastern Division, who is General Frederick D. Grant. There will be about a division of troops on each side.

It is understood that the New Jersey and New York troops will be mobilized somewhere in West Chester county, New York, on the border of Connecticut, but the theatre of the campaign probably will be in Connecticut. No plans have been made by the New Jersey military authorities for the maneuvers, and none will be made until the full official information is received from the War Department.

The marches of the National Guard contingents of the contending forces will vary from five to seven miles on the first maneuver day to ten to twelve miles on the last maneuver day. In all marches and other operations connected with the maneuvers proper consideration will be given the conditions prevailing in National Guard organizations just called into active field service from civil pursuits. The hour for terminating the maneuvers on each day will depend on the situation on the particular day.

The House Committee on military affairs has agreed to an appropriation of $1,350,000 for the maneuvers this year, and in expectation of having this money at its disposal, the War Department is now perfecting its plans for the joint maneuvers.

WOULD USE WHIP UPON COUNTY INCORRIGIBLES.

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—"Spare the rod and spoil the child" is the sense of the annual report of County Probation Officer Charles W. Irwin, just made to Judge Atwater. The probation officer urges the enactment of a bill providing for the appointment of county juvenile judges and vesting in them the right of administering corporal punishment, which, he believes, is the only way to get the desired results when children of a certain class are being dealt with.

The problem of reforming incorrigible boys and girls is one of the most serious which the community is facing, according to Probation Officer Irwin, who says that after a careful consideration of the subject, he has arrived at the conclusion that the only way lies in the administering of punishment in the old "whole-soled" fashion. The establishment of playgrounds and the work of the probation officer have done much to alleviate conditions, he notes, but he also declares that the progress has not been as speedy as it would have been had there been a judge with a rod to preside over the destinies of young America.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

LIQUOR PROBLEM IS BEFORE PRESBYTERY.

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—A discussion of the liquor problem occupied most of the time yesterday at the ninety-sixth stated session of the Elizabeth Presbytery in the Second Presbyterian church, at which twenty-three ministers and nineteen elders of the district were present. The Rev. Louis B. Crane, pastor of Westminster church, presided.

The temperance committee, through its chairman, the Rev. H. K. England, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Roselle, reported that satisfactory results are being attained in the fight against the liquor traffic and urged a more complete co-operation on the part of the churches.

The Rev. Joseph B. Ferguson, pastor of the Greystone Presbyterian church, urged a better observance of the Sabbath, and the Rev. William Hoppaugh, of Springfield, gave some interesting advice on the religious instruction of children. An encouraging report on the work of the brotherhood was made by the Rev. William F. Whittaker, of the First Presbyterian church of this city.

The following committees were appointed: Narrative, the Rev. H. K. England, the Rev. Joseph E. McKelvey and P. H. Poelhemus; systematic benevolences, the Rev. W. I. Steans, the Rev. R. Y. Graham and the Rev. W. J. Steans. The ministers were served with lunch, after which they were addressed by the Rev. Dr. Morgan, of Newark.

AMATEURS TO GIVE GOLDSMITH COMEDY.

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—Rehearsals are now being held for the annual senior play at the Pingry School. The production this year will be Oliver Goldsmith's comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer."

The presence of much talent in the class this year augurs well for the success of the production. Even in the first rehearsals the various parts are being well taken and when it is produced in the Elizabeth Town and Country Club on the evening of February 17 it is expected that the hit of all amateur dramatics in the history of the school will be the result.

The cast has been selected by Mrs. Estelle Davis, instructor of elocution at both the Pingry School and Barnard College, as follows: Mr. Hardcastle, R. Lincoln Bonnell; Sir Charles Marlow, Otto P. Tiemann; Young Marlow, E. A. Clare; Hastings, Eugene Sullivan; Tony Lumpkin, W. R. Buchanan; Mrs. Hardcastle, Campbell Cole; Miss Hardcastle, Percy H. Buchanan; Miss Neville, Everard Kempshall; landlord, William Weber; servants, Fletcher Smith, Van H. Laggren, Herbert Goetz and Christopher Brokaw.

DOVER HOPES TO HAVE CARNEGIE FUND LIBRARY.

A Carnegie library in Dover is one of the possibilities of the near future. Mayor John Mulligan has been informed by Rev. William S. Condon, rector of the Sacred Heart church, that he has received word from the Carnegie library committee that Dover can have a library building providing certain conditions are met by the taxpayers.

The stipulations are that Dover shall furnish the lot on which to erect the library building and put up a sum equivalent to ten per cent. of the cost of erecting the same.

Fire Whistle Without a Home.

Wharton has a fire whistle but doesn't know what to do with it. The borough owns an outfit for the fighting of fires and also a siren whistle to give the warning, but since the suspensions of operations at the furnaces of the Wharton Steel Company, where the whistle had been stationed for the past several years, there seems to be no place available for it. Mayor Oram has appointed Messrs. Langdon, Fichter, Larrison and Downs a committee to wait upon C. L. Beach, one of the owners of the Hough mine, and ascertain under what conditions the borough might be permitted to transfer the whistle to the mine engine-house.

Summit Pioneer Buried Here.

George Augustus Pulling, of Summit, formerly a hunter and trapper, whose boast was that he came to Summit when the town consisted of but three houses, died Monday of a complication of diseases. He was sixty-two years old. He will be buried in Plainfield. In recent years Pulling had been unemployed and a few months ago, owing to illness, he became a city charge. His widow survives him. The funeral will be held today, directed by Thomas Baird, overseer of the poor.

Finds Rough Dentist in a Stall.

Lynne E. Greenwood, employed at the stock farm of Charles Roberts, Basking Ridge, is recovering from injuries he received when gored by a bull last week. Two teeth were knocked out and his mouth and cheeks were badly cut. It was necessary to take fourteen stitches to close the wound. Greenwood entered the animal's stall by the manger instead of from the rear. Another employe came to the rescue and averted more serious injuries.

Mrs. J. W. Cowley, of West Fourth street, who has been seriously ill for several months, shows no sign of improvement.

Much Ice in S. I. Sound.

Heavy ice blocks Staten Island Sound so severely that the ferryboat Warren was scarcely able to make progress through it last night and this morning. The Warren ties up at Perth Amboy at night and leaves at 6:30 a. m. on its first trip to Tottenville. It is due in Perth Amboy again at 6:30, but yesterday morning the trip occupied nearly ninety minutes. A Pennsylvania railroad tug with a tow of light boats got as far as Ward's Point, Staten Island, some time during Tuesday night, on its way from New York to South Amboy. There the ice held the tug and its fleet of coal boats prisoner until noon, when tugs from South Amboy succeeded in breaking the ice so that the trip could be completed.

PUBLIC SERVICE MAY WAIVE OPTION ON R. R.

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—That the Public Service Railway Company will waive its option on the acquisition of the Trenton, New Brunswick and Elizabeth Railroad is the general belief that is being expressed here. The incoming of a new Council has renewed interest in the situation, which has lain dormant since the ordinance providing for the franchises to double track the South Broad street line was defeated and the one providing for the extension of the tracks to connect with the Trenton, New Brunswick and Elizabeth Railroad was withdrawn at a meeting of the old body, following a parliamentary ruse by President Nugent that made eighteen votes necessary for passage, instead of thirteen.

The option of the Public Service Railway Company will expire next month, and there is every reason to believe that no effort will be made to acquire the road. Since the defeat of the ordinances it has devoloped that the Public Service people were none too anxious for their enactment. Frank Bergen, general counsel for the corporation, showed at the various meetings of the joint committee on streets and highways and railroads and street railways that he would not grieve should the proposition be turned down by the Council, and at the meeting when final action was taken, he as much as voiced such a sentiment, although he refused to withdrawn the petition for either ordinance.

SUMMIT COASTER DIES AS RESULT OF INJURIES.

Following the amputation of his left leg, which was broken in two places in a coasting accident on the Morris avenue hill, Summit, Tuesday night of last week, Cleveland Parse, twenty-five years old, died Monday night in Overlook Hospital, Summit.

Parse is survived by a widowed mother, who lives in Russell place, Summit. His uncle is former Freeholder William H. Swain.

At the time of the accident Parse and Thomas and William Fleming were on the bob. William was steering when the rope broke and it became unmanageable.

Near the bottom of the hill it collided with an iron street sign post. By what seemed to be almost a miracle, William Fleming, who was steering, was not hurt, but the other Fleming and Parse each sustained a broken leg.

BANKS AS ADVERTISERS.

The effects of publicity to financial institutions are very clearly explained by Edwin Bird Wilson in the current number of the National magazine. He tells of the value of publicity in general and of voluntary advertising in particular, and what he has to say about the great benefits to be obtained by banking institutions through rightly directed publicity bears testimony that the banks in Plainfield are pursuing the proper course in availing themselves very largely of the advertising columns of the local dailies.

Until about eight years ago, none of the local banking institutions resorted to the newspapers to any extent to reach out for more business, but from that time on each of the five prosperous banks has conducted a vigorous and persistent campaign. One has only to read their advertisements in this or any other issue of the Plainfield Press to see just what is being done to get new business. The officials of the several banks are enthusiastic over the results obtained for their annual statements show a steady and satisfactory gain in deposits.

"The problem of selling banking service by advertising methods doubtless is harder to solve than the problem of selling automobiles and pianos," says Mr. Wilson, "but it is being solved daily; and no better evidence need be cited than the fact that the strong financial institutions which have long, consistently and intelligently advertised their condition and facilities, have experienced a consistent growth in volume of business, and in public confidence, beyond reasonable expectation.

"It is quite clear that a strong institution with ample facilities, ought to obtain greater results from its advertising than a weak institution," Mr. Wilson holds, "yet it is quite possible that a clever advertiser could produce greater results for the weak bank than an unskilled advertiser could produce for the strong bank. Also, plainly, a bank in a fertile field with little competition, ought to obtain larger results from its advertising than a similar bank in a similar field with much competition, yet the manner in which the respective institutions are advertised may reverse the expected results."

AUTO RECIPROCITY.

The bill which, if passed, will pacify more kickers than any other legislation, has been introduced at Trenton by Assemblyman Stickel, of Essex county. It provides for automobile reciprocity with other States, and will allow foreign machines to come to New Jersey for fifteen days in each year without fee, provided the same privilege is extended to Jerseymen in the visitors' home State. While the automobilists, hotel men and those who sell auto supplies will do everything they can to have this legislation passed, the farmers, State road department, and autoists who do not leave the State will oppose it bitterly. We are inclined to believe that the New Jersey roads will suffer under this law because of the decrease in auto fees, which are used for road upkeep. In the past foreign autoists have paid about sixty per cent. of the license money received by the State. If the bill should pass and the income be cut in half the upkeep of the roads would suffer correspondingly. It 's safe to say that our autoists do not use the roads in other States to an amount equal to ten per cent. of the use which foreign autos make of New Jersey highways. In spite of the apparent demand for reciprocity it is our belief that a majority of the people of the State do not believe in it. They, however, are not making so much clamor about the matter as are the autoists, and it is therefore difficult to judge what really is wanted.

OUR ANTI-"T. B." ARMY.

It is no idle boast to claim that Plainfield today holds first place among the municipalities in New Jersey waging a vigorous crusade against the "Great White Plague." The reports submitted at the annual meeting of the Anti-Tuberculosis League on Monday night gives ample demonstration of this assertion. And yet, the 704 active members of the league consider that the work is only in its infancy here. Great things are planned for achievement during the present year, first in importance being a carefully mapped out scheme to muster into the league's service 5,000 men and women. This is no hasty determination but one arrived at only after mature deliberation. That the purpose will be accomplished we feel sanguine for when such public spirited citizens as those promoting the association's activity make up their minds to do something it can be depended upon that it will be done. Every resident owes it to himself and to the community to interest himself in this noble work. He should send in his name for membership and with it $1.00 as his annual dues. He should subscribe for the "White Crusader," the league's official magazine. Above all he should give his active support to the movement. The fight against the "Great White Plague" is one of the great problems of the age and those who have not joined the ranks of the fighters should lose no time in doing so.

One man in Bernardsville is getting touchy about articles printed in connection with the Ellis shooting affray. He has demanded that a newspaper there make a retraction of an article in which no names were used, because, as his counsel says, it "unmistakably indicated my client as the object of suspicion." This reminds us of an another instance we heard of recently. In connection with a murder case it was published in a certain paper in the State that the police suspected a man who lived near the scene of the crime, "who had been drinking hard lately and had also been beating his wife." The next day a man visited the office of the publication and demanded a retraction of the story, insinuating that the shoe pinched, although no names had appeared in the original story! It would be a difficult matter to prove intent in any news story in which names were omitted, even if everyone in the community knew who was meant by a description worded in general terms.

Colonel George Harvey is not going to take the blame for discontinuing his ardent support of Governor Wilson for the presidency in Harper's Weekly. In the current issue it is told why that publication no longer carries the name of the New Jersey executive at the head of its editorial column. "The name of Woodrow Wilson as our candidate for President was taken down from the head of these columns in response to a statement made to us directly by Governor Wilson to the effect that our support was affecting his candidacy injuriously," says Harper's. Probably the Governor is right, and he again shows his courage in this case, by deliberately alienating support which has done as much for him in a national way as has any other. The Governor will lose nothing by htis step in the end, any more than he did by the publication of the Joline letter about Bryan, or by opposing Smith for the United States Senate.

A Troy bank man talked on "Financial Advertising" the other day before the Springfield, Mass., board of trade and told how his bank had grown to $7,000,000 in deposits from 12,000 depositors, when it had only 2,700 when the publicity campaign started. The bank used most approved forms of advertising but avoided the billboard. It gots its best returns from the newspapers, of which it bought the highest-priced space. The institution is out for a $10,000,000 deposit account and will get it through the same means.

The late John Marshall Harlan probably the ablest member of the Supreme Court of the United States, left but $13,000 to his heirs according to news dispatch. His legacy to the Nation cannot be counted in money for it was of untold riches. He left an untarnished name and he will be remembered as a great and just jurist.

It appears that the defense of Richeson, the murderer, is to be "spasmodic insanity," whatever that is. That has Dr. Brittan D. Evans' "brainstorm" beaten a mile, but we have no doubt that the famous Thaw specialist could define the "spasmodic" kind.

Astronomers are going into ecstasies over the new suns and stars. Yes, they're great—we fell on the icy sidewalks ourselves recently.

"Shuster Was Going to Put Persia in Shape," says a headline. He seems to have only succeeded in putting it in shape for a drubbing by Russia.

Plan Annual Banquet.

The Dutch Arms, men's association of Trinity Reformed church, is planning for its annual banquet to be held on Thursday night, February 22. The banquet will be in charge of Class No. 30, of the Sunday-school, of which Horace J. Martin is teacher, and will be under the direction of the good and welfare committee. Monday night, the Dutch Arms and its friends enjoyed an entertainment provided by Malcolm Shackelford, impersonator. It was a 'ladies' night'" affair.

BILL TO PROTECT MINERS.

Senator Works Prepares Measure to Lessen Loss of Life.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Senator Works of California has prepared a bill for inspection and regulation of coal mines.

Its purpose is to lessen the tremendous loss of life due to lack of safety measures.

Under the bill the secretary of the interior will have authority to make such safety appliances as will protect lives and health of mine employees.

SUGAR PROBERS AT ODDS.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Trouble is brewing among the members of the Hardwick sugar investigating commission. The indications are that when the committee next meets in formal session there will be a clash among the Democratic and Republican members. By a vote of 4 to 3, the Democrats controlling, the members decided to close its hearings.

This action was taken, the Democrats explained, because all the testimony needed to complete the report to the house is now on record. The Republicans charge that Representative Hardwicke of Georgia and his Democratic colleagues perceived that as things were progressing they would soon have in their hands a lot of testimony that would demonstrate the necessity of maintaining the sugar tariff in order that the industry in this country might live. It was for this reason, according to Representative Fordney and other Republicans, that the Democrats closed the public hearing, thus preventing beet sugar men from making a case.

Sugar yields the government $60,000,000 a year in revenue.

FIND REVOLUTION POPULAR.

Pastor Russell Says Chinese Republic Hopes For Recognition.

Manila, Jan. 17.—The international Bible students' missions investigating committee is here. Pastor Russell was interviewed. He says thousands of Chinese are starving in the interior from Shanghai. The revolution is popular, yet in grave danger for lack of money, of which the Manchus have abundance.

The revolutionists appreciated Andrew Carnegie's kind words, but hoped for a loan to help over the present crisis. They are forced to pay 40 per cent until recognized, when bonds will sell. Governmental recognition should come as quickly as good statesmanship will permit. When hope expires awful anarchy will result.

WILSON READY TO AID PIERCE'S CROSSING BILL

Trenton, Jan. 17.—"You may be sure I will do all in my power to aid the grade crossing legislation," said Governor Wilson yesterday afternoon to a delegation from Ridgefield Park, who came to Trenton on purpose to see the Governor and enlist his assistance in securing the abatement of the danger at the grade crossings on the West Shore and New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroads.

The Governor referred to the fact that Senator Pierce, of Union county, had introduced a grade crossing bill and suggested that members of the delegation make an appointment with Senator Pierce to see if his measure met the need of Ridgefield Park. It was after speaking of the Pierce bill and referring to the fact that both the Democratic and Republican platforms favored the abolition of dangerous grade crossings, that the Governor declared he would do all in his power to aid such legislation.

It was stated by members of the delegation that attempts had been made and would be continued to have the railroad companies indicted for maintaining a nuisance and the Governor's reply to this was that the people of Ridgefield Park should follow up every remedy they had. Governor Wilson also said that he did not think the borough should be compelled to bear any part of the expense of abolishing the crossing. The estimated cost of eliminating the dangerous crossing would be about $8,000.

P. S. C. ELECTRICAL MEN FEAST AND HEAR SPEECHES

The employes of the Public Service Plainfield and Bound Brook electrical departments, assembled at Frowery's hotel, Scotch Plains, last night, for a formal banquet that is to be an annual affair. Forty men were present in all. The dinner was a full course service and gave evident satisfaction to all.

Division Superintendent George G. Andrews, of this city, presided as toastmaster at a session following the repast and in an introductory address explained the idea of the gathering. The employes of the department have no time for sociability during working hours and it was planned to meet at least once a year to get better acquainted with each other and at the same time to exchange ideas relative to their positions. Mr. Andrews afterward introduced the following speakers: J. T. Barron, of Elizabeth, general superintendent of the central division; R. C. Borcher, of Bound Brook; C. E. Varian, James S. Ellis, J. J. Lake and Charles Anderson, of this city. During the dinner and interspersing the speeches, the Ebony Four, of Plainfield, rendered musical numbers. Solos were given by George S. Andrews, Daniel J. Guinee and James S. Ellis, while M. B. Caffrey contributed recitations.

The affair was arranged by a committee composed of James S. Ellis, George G. Andrews, C. E. Varian, J. J. Lake, D. W. Delmer, J. R. Sullivan, W. J. Walp and G. R. Blair.

CITY TO JOIN BORO SEWER PLAN

that had the borough's proposition of last year come before the board a week earlier, before Frank Bergen presented arguments in behalf of the water company, it would have undoubtedly gone through."

At this point, Mr. Mygatt raised the question of arbitrators in the joint proposition, to which Mr. Buttfield replied that he had taken that matter up with the borough's counsel and had been informed that any specific question agreed to by the two municipalities would be held binding by an arbitrator. The powers would be merged and Mr. Buttfield said that both municipalities would be anxious to provide against any dead-lock, but he did not think that would be a serious question.

As to Dunellen joining the sewer, Mr. Buttfield said that a connection could be made on the Warrenville road, and he then inquired of the city representatives what their idea was as to providing for sewering Fan wood and Scotch Plains. Mr. Mygatt thought some provision should be made for those two places and Mr. Buttfield agreed provided such action could be taken legally. This suggestion will be taken up later.

There was a discussion of the provisions of a contract, suggested by Mr. Buttfield and Mr. Mygatt and it was agreed that the former should draft a tentative contract to be considered by both Councils. Then Mr. Buttfield raised the question as to possible enlargement of the sewer system in the future, and it was suggested that each municipality should pay for any increased facilities as it needed them. It was then agreed that Mr. Mygatt and Mr. Gavett with Mr. Buttfield should co-operate with Mr. Fuller as to the plans for the joint sewer. It was further suggested that the city's point of juncture for connection with the works might be on Rock avenue, in the borough, and Mr. Buttfield expressed the opinion that he thought the borough would be willing to grant a right of way without expense.

Those present at last night's conference included Councilmen R. I. Tolles, W. L. Gloak, W. W. Wilson, F. E. Mygatt and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, of this city, and Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., Councilmen Alexander Milne and W. J. Buttfield, of the Borough Council, and S. St. John McCutchen, of the borough sewer cimission.

ASSASSINS HURL BOMB AT CHINESE PREMIER

Republic Officers Deplore Attack on Opposition Leader.

Peking, Jan. 17.—Three well dressed Chinamen who up to the present have not been identified made an attempt to assassinate Premier Yuan Shih Kai. One of the three threw a bomb at the carriage in which China's strong man was riding, but his aim was poor, and the prime minister escaped unhurt.

The bomb exploded twenty feet from the carriage, and two of the soldiers forming Yuan's escort were killed, and a score of soldiers and persons standing near by were injured. Several of the latter are expected to die. The bomb was thrown from a spot near the residence of Willard Straight, representative in China of an American financial group, and several of the wounded were treated by Dr. Gantreile, an American physician.

The assassins were arrested and are being closely guarded, while the lord executioner and his assistants are marching up and down in front of the house awaiting the word to perform their duty.

Dispatches from Shanghai say that Dr. Wu Ting Fang and the other republican leaders were greatly distressed at the news of the attempt on Yuan Shih Kai's life. They ridiculed the idea that republicans or republican sympathizers were in any way concerned in the affair.

MAY SEND ARMY TO CUBA AGAIN

Island Republic Affairs Cause Alarm.

VETERANS DEMAND OFFICES

American Minister to Island Republic Reports Acute Situation Due to Army Officers and Revolutionary Soldiers Demanding Repeal of Law Barring Them From Political Participation.

Washington, Jan. 17.—A third armed force from the United States may intervene to restore order in Cuba, according to a note sent to President Gomez by the state department. The note was presented to the Cuban executive by Arthur M. Beaupre, American minister to Havana.

The last time the United States sent troops to Cuba was in October, 1906. It was recalled here that the belief was freely expressed at that time by both officials and members of congress that the next time American soldiers went to Cuba they would go there to stay. Since that date, however, confidence in the ability of the Cubans to manage their own affairs has greatly increased and there is little expectation that actual intervention will be necessary.

The text of the note presented by Mr. Beaupre is as follows: "The situation in Cuba as now reported causes grave concern to the government of the United States.

"That the laws intended to safeguard free republican government shall be enforced and not defied is obviously essential to the maintenance of the law, order and stability indispensable to the status of the republic of Cuba, in the continued well bearing of which the United States has always evinced and cannot escape a vital interest.

"The president of the United States therefore looks to the president and government of Cuba to prevent a threatened situation which would compel the government of the United States, much against its desires, to consider what measures it must take in pursuance of the obligations of its relations to Cuba."

The presentation of the note was decided upon when Minister Baupre reported to the state department that, in defiance of a decree issued by President Gomez calling attention to the law forbidding officers of the army and the rurale guard to participate in politics and also forbidding their participation in meetings of the veterans' associations, many officers of the army and the rurales attended a meeting of the national council of the veterans on Sunday night and were accorded an ovation. In conjunction with this Mr. Beaupre reported that the veterans have practically presented an ultimatum to the government demanding the abrogation of the law forbidding the participation of the military in politics.

The situation received serious consideration at the cabinet meeting, and the warning was determined upon by the president's advisers.

There is a conviction in Washington that the veterans' movement, which has been closely observed from the beginning of the agitation, is nothing less than a cloak for the movements of General Nunez toward the presidential nomination. The veterans have not yet gone so far as to declare for any man for the presidency, but General Nunez has been thus far the most active leader in the agitation. His ambitions to become president are well known, and it is now charged that he hit upon the scheme of the veterans' movement both to make trouble for President Gomez and to create a strong organization for his own purposes.

EXCITEMENT IN HAVANA.

Receipt of Intervention Threat Finds Situation Grave.

Havana, Jan. 17.—The note from the state department at Washington admonishing Cuba that the United States will intervene if the veterans persist in their attempt to annul the law forbidding the army from interfering in politics appeared in the late papers here and created great excitement.

President Gomez says that the conditions have been greatly exaggerated and that he is perfectly able to cope with the situation.

This is not true, and the situation is very grave. General Nunez, the president of the Veterans' association, in an interview declared that he doesn't believe that any such note has been sent by the American state department. He says if it is true the veterans will fight to the death.

GIRL CONFESSES THEFT OF $1,200

SPENT MONEY ON FRIENDS

When She Became Alarmed That the Shortage Might Be Discovered She Bet on Horse Races In Hope of Making a Big Winning to Clear Herself.

Englewood, N. J., Jan. 17.—A theft of $1,200 to "entertain her girl friends" was admitted, the police of New York declare, by Miss Ada M. Elss, twenty-three years old, of Englewood. She was arrested on complaint of her employer, Joseph W. Cushman, a real estate operator, with offices at 240 West Twenty-third street, New York, where she was a stenographer and assistant bookkeeper.

Miss Elss told the authorities her father was formerly head of the Elss Piano company, that she was educated in a convent in France and had been employed by Mr. Cushman for the last five years. Since last September Miss Elss stole, Mr. Cushman alleges, not less than $2,000.

"I did not take $2,000," the police quote Miss Elss as saying. "I believe that an audit of the books will prove that the amount was not more than $1,200. What did I do with the money? Spent it on my friends and myself. I liked to go to theaters and used quite a lot of money for that purpose.

"After I began to take money I became alarmed and tried to find some means of making it good. I gambled on horse races through a pool room, hoping I would make a big winning and clear myself. I determined if I ever got square I would not take another cent. But, instead of winning on the horses, I lost. I put up as much as $50 to $100 at a time, and every bit of it vanished."

Miss Elss was arrested in her employer's office. She wore a sealskin coat and carried a big fur muff. She did not seem to be the least worried or excited and calmly answered all the questions asked by the police.

Miss Elss' mother, Mrs. Andrew Reissner, who married a second time several years ago, said at her home in Howland avenue, Englewood, she believed until a few days ago her daughter was going to marry a partner of Mr. Cushman. She said Miss Elss did not go to work this week until yesterday, when she told her mother there was a "mixup" in the books and that she was going to help Mr. Cushman straighten it out.

CARNEGIE GIFT OF $10,000.

Tuberculosis Preventorium at Farmingdale, N. J., Near Completion.

New York, Jan. 17.—A gift of $10,000 from Andrew Carnegie for the new buildings of the tuberculosis preventorium for children at Farmingdale, N. J., on condition that the balance of the $150,000 cost of the buildings, which are to be completed next month, be raised, was announced at the meeting of the board of directors of the institution at the Academy of Medicine.

A similar gift from John D. Rockefeller to the fund leaves $15,000 still to be raised for the new buildings.

The preventorium is the first institution of its kind in the United States to do preventive work all the year round in the open air among children of tuberculosis or general predisposition to the disease, but who have not developed it. There are 40,000 children in the city exposed to tuberculosis conditions, it is said.

Children between four and eleven are taken from the tenements of New York and sent to the preventorium at Farmingdale for an average stay of 106 days.

CAUGHT IN PALISADES TREE.

Boy Slips From Top of Precipice and Hangs 275 Feet Above Water.

Alpine, N. J., Jan. 17.—Skaters crossing the Hudson river heard faint cries for help coming from the side of the Palisades and caught sight of a boy dangling in the branches of a tree on the side of the cliff, 275 feet above the water.

They mounted to the top and with a fisherman's rope managed to draw up ten-year-old James Lawton of Alpine. He had walked to the edge of the precipice and lost his footing on the icy rock and tumbled. He had been in his perilous perch more than half an hour and couldn't have stood the cold much longer.

GALLAGHER HAS PARESIS.

Mayor Gaynor's Assailant Removed From Prison to Insane Hospital.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 17.—James J. Gallagher of Manhattan, who is serving a twelve year sentence here for assaulting Street Commissioner Edwards at the time the latter went to the rescue of Mayor Gaynor, whom Gallagher had shot, was ordered transferred from the state prison to the State Hospital For the Insane by Judge Gnichtel.

The prison doctors have decided he is suffering from paresis.

Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Plainfield prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. William E. Gardner, 322 E. Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered intensely from pains through my back and I also had a distressing weakness of my kidneys. I was in misery and nothing gave me the least relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills which I obtained at Randolph's Drug Store. They acted on my kidneys at once and not only removed the pain from my back but corrected the kidney weakness and restored me to good health. I shall be willing to give Doan's Kidney Pills the praise they deserve."

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

WELCOME IN LIGHTS.

Thousands of Electric Bulbs Illuminate New York Cathedral.

THOUSANDS WELCOME CARDINAL FARLEY

New York, Jan. 17.—The steamer Berlin with Cardinal Farley arrived at its dock in Hoboken this morning. The health officer did not board the Berlin.

The plans for the reception of Cardinal Farley and the demonstration in his honor were notable, even in a city of big things.

It is estimated that 300,000 Roman Catholics, many of whom were from out of town, were in line along Broadway and Fifth avenue from the Battery to the cathedral. Buildings on Broadway and Fifth avenue were decorated with American flags and the papal colors. In other parts of the town many buildings displayed flags. The city hall is flying its national, state and city flags.

ILLUMINATE FOR FARLEY.

St. Patrick's Cathedral In Electric Blaze For Prelate.

New York, Jan. 17.—About 40,000 incandescent lamps have been strung in and about St. Patrick's cathedral, in addition to the great clusters that have always formed a feature of the illuminating scheme of the building. It had been calculated at first that 25,000 lights would be enough, but the measurements showed that this estimate was too small.

The stringing of the outside lights was halted when there still remained thousands of lamps to string. The steeplejacks intrusted with the job flatly refused to work after 8 o'clock on account of the cold. Edison company officials said they hoped to make a complete job of the wiring today.

STRIKERS FEAR TROOPS.

Armed Militiamen Put Damper on Riots In Lawrence.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 17.—The presence of more than 500 armed soldiers and the knowledge that the state is ready to throw thousands more into the city jails if occasion demands evidently is acting as a damper on the desire of the textile strikers to riot and destroy property.

Efforts are being made by Mayor Scanlon to bring about a settlement of the difficulties, and after a conference between he and Secretary Supple of the state board of arbitration the latter conferred with the executive committee of the strikers and secured their consent to the board making an effort to end the war.

WIVES CUT LATE HOURS.

Force Connecticut Board of Burgesses to Adjourn by 10:30 P. M.

Winsted, Conn., Jan. 17.—Because it is alleged their wives objected to their remaining out so late at night the members of the board of wardens and burgesses at their meeting adopted a resolution introduced by Burgess Clemens King that hereafter the sessions of the board adjourn by 10:30 p. m. at latest.

The monthly sessions have been lasting until midnight and later on account of the press of municipal business.

TAFT SHELVES HITCHCOCK PLAN

President Opposes Government Ownership.

WILL NOT REACH CONGRESS

Reliable Information Says Postmaster General's Recommendation to Take Over Telegraph Lines Is Not Accepted as an Administration Policy. Plans to Stay In Cabinet.

Washington, Jan. 17.—It is learned on excellent authority that President Taft will not recommend government ownership of telegraph lines. It also is learned that this part of Postmaster General Hitchcock's report may never reach congress.

Mr. Taft's refusal to accept the Hitchcock recommendation as an administration policy will tend to emphasize Mr. Hitchcock's indiscretion or insubordination in making public his government ownership recommendation without having obtained the consent of the president. While the relations between the president and his postmaster general are not as cordial and intimate as they once were, Mr. Taft at least for political reasons desires to preserve harmony in his cabinet and avoid an open break with his postmaster general. It is possible, in view of this desire, the president may transmit Mr. Hitchcock's recommendation to congress merely for what it is worth, but with a definite understanding that it is not one of the administration measures.

If Mr. Hitchcock is turned down absolutely by the president in this matter many persons would not be surprised to see the postmaster general retire from the cabinet before the end of the Taft administration.

Mr. Hitchcock's friends were positive in their statements, however, that he had no intention of withdrawing from the president's official family and that it is his sole ambition to continue his management of the postoffice department and go out of office at the end of the Taft term.

DYNAMITING IN DETAIL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—Ortie McManigal, the most important witness in the five year dynamiting record of John J. McNamara, went before the federal grand jury and entered upon a detailed account of the outrages perpetrated in various parts of the country. He began with the first dynamiting in 1905 and detailed all the circumstances of the explosions of the first two years, adjournment stopping the narration.

For the first time since his arrest on April 12, 1911, McManigal was permitted to see his two children at close range. Mrs. McManigal, who now has legal custody of the children, consented to allow them to be taken to see their father. Mrs. D. MacGuire, Mrs. McManigal's friend, who has been with her on the coast and here, took the children to see the dynamiter. Mrs. McManigal did not meet her husband.

BIG WAREHOUSE BURNS.

Wanamaker Storage Building Total Loss In New York.

New York, Jan. 17.—Four alarms were sent in early this morning for a fire in the building of the Terminal Warehouse and Storage company, covering the block between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets and Eleventh and Thirteenth avenues. The fire was discovered in the southeast corner of the building on the ground floor, where the Wanamaker store has its storage compartments. The two feet thick fire walls confined the flames to the inflammable matter inside the building, and when the first apparatus arrived the fighters could not see the flames from the street. Four fire boats were on duty.

The flames worked rapidly. The loss has not been estimated. The building is a total loss.

DENY MORGAN SUPPORT.

Republican Leaders Say Perkins Is Acting Alone.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Rumors that the steel people are standing behind George W. Perkins in his promotion of the Roosevelt boom are denied here by Republicans familiar with all that is taking place behind the scenes.

In fact, there is good reason to believe that the steel trust people have assured Taft's advisers that Mr. Perkins' activity is entirely a personal matter and that he is acting absolutely without any support of J. P. Morgan or any other person interested in the United States Steel corporation.

Women to Vote In Sweden.

Stockholm, Jan. 17.—Announcement was made in the king's speech, read at the opening of parliament, that hereafter the women of Sweden would have the right to vote and would be eligible to membership in parliament.

Vardaman Goes to U. S. Senate.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 17.—Balloting separately, the two houses of the Mississippi legislature named James K. Vardaman to succeed United States Senator Leroy Percy, whose term expires in March, 1913.

The Square Pot gives heat—you don't have to extract it

It cannot choke or clog with ashes, as the square bottom dumps the ashes evenly over the grates—they cannot cling to the sides or smother the fire. The poker, too, is obsolete—a slight turn of the grates empties the Square

Fire Pot of all ashes—the cutting bar breaks up all clinkers.

The Square Pot is clean, economical and easy to adjust—the operation is simple and is all accomplished from the outside—you need not put a finger inside the door.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT

The imperviousness of the modern safe deposit vault to fire was conclusively demonstrated by the great calamity which occurred this week in New York City, and no stronger argument for the effectiveness of such vaults in protecting property can ever be presented than the millions of securities which survived the Equitable fire.

The Plainfield Trust Company's vaults are not only of the most modern and approved construction but are further protected by a fireproof building. Boxes for rent at $5 a year and upwards.

P. H. S. GIRLS' FIVE GIVE W. H. S. QUINT A DRUBBING

The Plainfield High School girls' basketball team defeated the girls' five of the Westfield High School yesterday afternoon in the local gymnasium in one of the hardest played games of the season. The final score was 21 to 10.

This is the first defeat of the season for the Westfield girls, and although they put up a strong game they were outclassed by the local team.

Miss Mehl, who has been playing a fast game for the P. H. S. team, threw baskets almost at will. Near the end of the first half Miss Tice changed places with Miss Gladwin, who was guarding Miss Mehl, but the change did not stop the latter's fast playing. The period ended with a score of 12 to 7 in favor of P. H. S.

The second half was faster and more exciting with many fouls on both sides from over guarding and stepping over the lines. Until the last minute of play neither side was able to score from play.

Miss Douglas, who was largely responsible for keeping the ball in the local team's territory, made the first score of this period by throwing a foul goal. Miss Pearsall, who played a strong game at forward for Westfield, made the entire score for her team by throwing three fouls.

Miss Stewart dropped two foul goals through the net and shot one basket and Miss Mehl came to the front again in the last minute of play by throwing two baskets. Miss Phillips and Miss Moy played a strong game at guard for P. H. S. and Miss Gladwin did good work for the visitors. The lineup:

P. H. S.—Forwards, J. Stewart, A. Mehl; center, R. Douglas; guards, M. Moy, E. Phillips.

W. H. S.—Forwards, K. Felt, H. Pearsall, E. Glawwin; center F. Wittke; guards, M. Tice, G. Lightfoot.

Will Spend Winter in Florida.

M. W. Casterline, of this city, who has been snuperintending a farm at Oak Tree for the past two years, has resigned his position and left this morning for Mandarin, Fla., where he will remain until next April. Mr. Casterline will visit at the home of his sister, Mrs. Elzo Tappen, who is kell known to Plainfielders, being a former local resident, and during his stay will enjoy the excellent duck shooting that abounds in the vicinity.

In a fire such as that of the Equitable building, what would happen to the office safe that the average business man puts so much faith in? A word to those who are willing to profit by others costly experience; rent a box in the fire and burglar proof vault of The State Trust Company and thus insure your valuables against the day when a similar catastrophe may visit the building in which your office is located. Our Manganese Steel Vault is supported on its own concrete foundation and is surrounded by concrete and even though our building should burn to the ground, the vault and contents would stand intact.
The cost is but $5.00 per year, little enough for the protection and peace of mind that it will afford.

Theatregoers as a rule know but little of the private life of those who furnish them amusement and pleasure upon the stage. Information of this character, however, is being given them now by the leading newspapers and magazines of the country which are publishing stories and biographies of stage celebrities and favorites.

Al. G. Field is one celebrity concerning whose private life there is little mystery. He is a farmer and glories in the title. During the summer months Mr. Field goes to his fine estate near Columbus, Ohio, and spends his time in the enjoyment of agricultural pursuits.

Another characteristic of the great producer is that he is quite a sportsman, carrying dogs, guns and togs with him always on his private car. He never misses an opportunity to accompany local nimrods in search of game. Those who heve been with him declare that he is a crack shot.

Mr. Field is in Plainfield today. He and his merry minstrels arrived this morning from Elizabeth, where they played to two packed houses yesterday. According to reports from the neighboring city the show is about the best minstrel production ever on the road.

The jovial minstrel king is a great favorite in Plainfield and he will doubtless receive a warm welcome at both matinee and night performance today.

RELIGION IS INSTINCTIVE IN ALL MEN, SAYS PASTOR.

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has began a series of sermons on "The Religion for the Modern Man," which will be continued every Sunday night for an indefinite time. The theme Sunday was: "Is every man naturally and normally religious?" In part Dr. Herring said:

"It would seem that a great many people that we meet have not the slightest suggestion of religion in their make-up, for it evidently never troubles them and they have not found it vitally important in the practical problems of their lives.

"There are moments in our experience when the grip we have on God is the only thing that saves us. That is the privilege of every man, if he will observe the conditions. That is religion.

"At some time of His life, God speaks to every man. In every man there is a an instinct to rest in God. But so many men have learned to bury these Godward instincts. Some have buried them in business, and soon the church gives them very little concern. It is not because they never had a religious nature, but because of their continued neglect of the religious life, their spiritual nature has atrophied. Money is really their God. They are after the dollars and frequently they are heartless in securing them.

"Another man has buried his religious sense under the rubbish of his sinful life. He was not born without that sense. He was born with the privilege of becoming better acquainted with God, but some sin has chained him. It may be drink, immorality, greed or dishonesty, and his religious nature is under the wickedness of his life."

COUNTY COMMITTEE SAYS UNION IS ALL FOR TAFT

Hamilton F. Kean, whose candidacy as a Taft delegate to the National convention was announced yesterday has been endorsed by the Republican County Committee. The full support of the organization is pledged to him.

The endorsement was voted at a largely attended meeting of the committee in Elizabeth last night. All sections of the county were represented at the session.

It wouldn't be far from the truth to describe the meeting as a Taft rally. Sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of the President's renomination and the members said they spoke for the Republicans of their districts. The State was likewise declared certain to be found in support of President Taft when the preference primaries are held.

That the country at large is beginning to appreciate the services of President Taft was asserted. The Steel Trust investigation was endorsed as the move necessary to show the country how President Taft views the Sherman law, and how that view is the best one for all concerned.

Regardless of what changes are made in the Congressional district lines, it was said that the members of the county committee will continue to work for the selection of Mr. Kean as delegate. Mr. Kean, it was said, can be relied upon to represent the sentiment of Union county and this Congressional district, and should be given every Republican vote.

PRESBYTERY TOLD THAT RUM IS BEING CONQUERED.

The temperance committee, through its chairman, Rev. H. K. England, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Roselle, reported at the ninety-sixth stated session of the Elizabeth Presbytery at Elizabeth, yesterday, that satisfactory results are being attained in the fight against the liquor traffic and urged a more complete co-operation on the part of the churches.

Rev. Joseph B. Ferguson, pastor of the Greystone church, Elizabeth, urged a better observance of the Sabbath, and Rev. William Hoppaugh, of Springfield, gave some interesting advice on the religious instruction of children. Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, was named as a member of the narrative committee.

NON-SUITED IN $10,000 ACTION AGAINST LAWYER

In the Supreme Court at Elizabeth yesterday, Emanuel Kapelsohn's action against Chas. McNabb was withdrawn from the jury and a verdict of non-suit rendered by Judge Vail on motion of Robert Newton Crane, counsel for the defendant. Mr. Kapelsohn asserted that he had been damaged to the extent of $10,000 by the failure of Mr. McNabb, acting as his attorney, to make a proper abstract of the title to property purchased by the plaintiff from Mrs. Lucy McVey in 1910.

The land in question is located in this city. Judge Vail decided that the search made was proper and legal and that other matters complained of were not chargeable to Mr. McNabb. The other matters mentioned were regarding interest on a mortgage and insurance.

Shortly after title had been passed to Mr. Kapelsohn, foreclosure proceedings were started to collect the interest on an $8,000 mortgage on the property. Judge William Newcorn represented the complainant.

Chimney Fire; Damage Nil.

A chimney nre was discovered last night in the home of J. W. Yeats, of East Seventh street. The blaze was extinguished by firemen with chemicals before doing any damage.

Dr. W. C. Leonard, who has been visiting his former home in Nova Scotia for a month, has returned to his home in the borough.

The lowest temperature in years was registered in Califon Sunday. In different parts of the village the thermometers registered from 18 to 26 degrees below zero. FOR VACCINATION OF ALL CHILDREN

Education Board Wants Health Authorities to Compel Inoculation of Pupils.

DANGER TO THE COMMUNITY

The question of securing the vaccination of all children attending the public schools of the city was discussed at a meeting of the Board of Education, last night, and the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That whereas there are at the present time many children attending the public schools of the Plainfield who have never been vaccinated and whereas the Board of Education recognizes the great danger to the community arising from this condition should small-pox break out in our midst, be it, therefore,

"Resolved, That we respectfully petition the Plainfield Board of Health to adopt such measures as may seem wise to them whereby those who are unvaccinated may become vaccinated."

The board granted the free use of the auditorium for a public meeting to be held later under the auspices of the Mothers' Association, when the subject of "Child Hygiene and Social Purity" will be presented by prominent speakers. The Y. W. C. A. was granted the use of the auditorium for a meeting in March, when a lecture on cooking will be given by an expert.

George Knight, of Newark, a consulting engineer, met with the board and considerable time was devoted to going over the plans for the proposed addition to the high school building. The plans were revised to meet the State law and the board hopes to be able to advertise for bids next month.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS HOLD LAST DANCE BEFORE LENT

The pre-Lenten dance of Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, the last to be held prior to the penitential season, was held last night in Abrams' Hall, West Front street, near Madison avenue. It was largely attended by members and friends.

Paul H. Burns was chairman of the committee of arrangements and was assisted by J. E. Traynor, M. T. Moynihan and J. J. Carty. To the untiring efforts of this committee is due the success of the affair. Daniel J. Couraine acted as floor manager and had as assistants M. D. O'Keefe, C. E. Shannon, T. J. Meany, R. O'Neill, J. A. O'Keefe, Thomas Carty, D. B. Doyle, G. Taylor, E. J. Harding, Daniel McAfee, John Kyle and J. F. Parent.

The reception committee was headed by Grand Knight Joseph F. O'Keefe and comprised the following, all past grand knights of the order: H. P. Greenwood, F. J. Blatz, J. J. Hines, A. A. Cannon, A. E. LaPorte, G. H. Reiley and J. J. Caffrey.

DR. SCHENCK'S SON WILL BE PROTEGE OF CLASSIS.

Harold W. Schenck, son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, appeared before the Classis of Newark, at a special meeting held in Newark yesterday, as a candidate for the support of the Classis in his work of preparing for the ministry. Mr. Schenck passed a very satisfactory examination and was assured the support of the Classis. He still has another year in Rutgers College, after which he will enter the Seminary at New Brunswick. Mr. Schenck informed the Classis yesterday that he is nineteen years of age, and it is expected that he will be ready for the ministry at the age of twenty-three.

Encouraging reports were received regarding the work of securing funds for the new Reformed church at Ampere in the Oranges, and the time of collecting subscriptions was extended to February 1. Rev. J. Y. Broek, president of the Classis, and Elder A. L. Force were present to represent Trinity Reformed church.

Councilman Woolston Denies Son Holds "Option"---Pledges Destruction of Agreement If Declared Inimical by Mayor Clark.

Fear of encountering a "hold up" in seeking possession of the Cramer farm as a sewage disposal site by North Plainfield, alone or in conjunction with the city, which grew out of the report that the right to sell had passed from the hands of the farm owner, was dispelled last night at a meeting of the Borough Council. The alleged option on the property secured by Howard Woolston and Herbert Cleaves—which the former says is not an option—will be submitted to Mayor Clark. If in his opinion, it is an improper instrument, it will be destroyed.

Councilman L. B. Woolston explainted at the meeting that the paper drawn between his son, Cleaves and Cramer is merely an instrument giving selling rights to the young men, and could not be considered an option. In reply to a question regarding the naming of a price, by Councilman VanArsdale, Mr. Woolston said that the exact wording of the agreement says, "the farm shall be sold for $12,000 or any other price that may be agreed upon."

Continuing, he said that in his opinion the existence of the paper was a good thing for the borough, as it would obviate dealing with other persons, possibly hostile to the proposition, when negotiations for the site were started.

"And if there was any question that this is so, I will see that the paper is destroyed," he said impressively.

Councilman Milne stated that it is his belief that the young men were actuated by the best of intentions, but maintained, that owing to the connections of one of them, it was improper. He had so stated his views to Mr. Woolston as soon as it was known that an option—Mr. Milne insisted on calling it that—had been taken, and reiterated his opinion.

Councilman Buttfield asked if it was not true that a commission consideration was named if a sale was consummated, to which Mr. Woolston replied that it was. Mr. Buttfield than referred to the law which makes it an offense for any member of a governing body or a connection of his to benefit by the purchase of materials or supplies by the municipality.

Further discussion resulted in the suggestion being made by Mr. Milne that the question be referred to Mayor Clark and if in his opinion the paper was improper it was to be destroyed. Mr. Woolston agreed. He did not have the paper with him, and the submission of it to the Mayor was put off until today.

Howard Woolston made positive denial today that he and Mr. Cleaves held an option on the farm.

"I have no option and never have had an option, and know of no option in existence anywhere," said Mr. Woolston. "There is nothing to prevent the borough itself from securing an option, as far as I know. It can deal with Cramer and does not have to deal with Cleaves or me. We have no agreement that will prevent the owner of the farm from selling at whatever figure he chooses. The agreement we hold is that we may act as his agents. We have no option contract. What I call an option is the way the Lewis Bird property on Watchung avenue was sold."

Mr. Woolston put a note of satire in his tones as he continued:

"My father, Councilman Woolston, had nothing whatever to do with the agreement, and he and I are naturally grateful to those who yesterday dragged his name into print in connection with it."

At Father's 98th Anniversary.

Mrs. Lehman K. Strouse, of Central avenue, returned yesterday from Trenton, where she attended a celebration this week of the ninety-eighth birthday of her father, John W. Stockton, after whom the town of Stockton was named. Mrs. Strouse and two other daughters are the only survivors of a family of seven children. Mr. Stockton expressed the wish to be spared to pass the century milestone. He is still hale and hearty, being able to go about his house and grounds unassisted.

CANDIDATES CHANCE TO FILE EXPENSES

Judge Atwater Extends Time For Practice Act Violators' Benefit.

PETITIONERS MUST APPEAR

Hearing to Be Held In Union County Court On Saturday Morning—Prosecutor Swift Appears For the State.

Judge Atwater, in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday at Elizabeth, decided that he has the jurisdiction to extend the time within which statements of expenses may be filed with the county clerk by men who were candidates at the last general election and granted a hearing on the question to be held Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Donald H. McLean, counsel for sixteen Republican candidates, and Robert H. McAdams, attorney in behalf of fifteen Democrats, appeared in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday morning and asked Judge Atwater to decide whether or not he had jurisdiction to grant an extension of time to their clients, all of whom failed to file a statement of their election expenses with the county clerk. Prosecutor Swift appeared for the State, but interposed no objection to the granting of a hearing on the question.

After hearing arguments on the law, Judge Atwater settled the question of jurisdiction. Section 8 of the corrupt practices act provides for the present contingency. It reads as follows:

"The judge of the Court of Common Pleas in the county wherein such statement is filed, or is required to be filed, may, on the application of either his finance committee or a creditor thereof, allow any claim to be presented and paid after the time limited by this act, and a statement of any sum so paid, with a certificate of its allowance, shall forthwith, after payment, be filed by the committee in the same office as the original statement of the committee.

"If the committee upon such application shall show to the satisfaction of said judge that any error or false recital in such statement or affidavit, or that the failure to make such statement or affidavit, or to present, within the designated time, a claim otherwise just and proper, has been occasioned by the absence or illness of such candidate, or the absence, illness or death of one or members of such committee * * * the judgfe may, after such notice of the application as the judge shall require, and on the production of such evidence of the facts stated in the application as shall be satisfactory to such judge by order, allow such statement and affidavit to be filed, or such error or false recital therein to be corrected, or such claim to be paid, as the judge deemed just."

Judge Atwater also settled the question as to whether or not the petitioners would have to appear in person. He said that the petitioners were all violators of the practices act, and that this constituted a misdemeanor subject to indictment by the Grand Jury. The violations, he said, were of such a serious nature that he would require the sworn testimony of the persons interested before ruling on the applications.

LESSON IN CUTTING COST OF PROVENDER

SO. PLAINFIELD DEMONSTRATION

Yeggmen Saw Window Bars, Stock Up With Butter, Cheese, Bacon, Bread, Groceries and Smokes, and Travel Blithely On.

Thieves, apparently after provisions, broke into the grocery store of William H. Manning, in South Plainfield, last night and made away with things that ought to make them indifferent to the high cost of living for awhile. The store is also the postoffice, but the burglars seemingly paid no attention to Uncle Sam's safe.

Experts evidently worked on the job, because entrance was gained by sawing through iron bars that guarded a rear window. Mr. Manning discovered the burglary this morning when he opened the store. The business is housed in a frame building that stands fifty feet away from Mr. Mannings' house. No one is in it at night, and the Mannings heard nothing indicative of the burglars' proximity from their dwelling.

The thieves were comprehensive in their raid on the grocery stock. They took bread, butter, cheese, bacon, assorted canned goods, dry groceries of various kinds, cigars, cigarettes and tobacco.

From the character of the raid it is assumed that the marauders were tramps, of yegg proclivities and equipment, who set out to replenish camp and travelling supplies. They left no trail for the police to follow.

In past years it was hardly a matter for comment when the old South Plainfield postoffice was robbed. Matters reached a point when it looked as if no self-respecting yeggman could get within travelling distance of South Plainfield and not crack the village postoffice. Of late the postoffice hasn't been jarred by 80 per cent. dynamite or full strength nitroglycerine.

FOR COMBINATION AUTO PATROL AND AMBULANCE

Plans for replacing the patrol wagon and ambulance now in use at police headquarters with an automobile apparatus will be discussed at a meeting of the Councilmanic police board tomorrow night. The wisdom of making such a change has been brought to the attention of the board by the fact that owing to the almost constant use of both vehicles, one horse is not sufficient for the work, and besides with horse-driven wagons it is impossible to cover the ground and answer all calls as promptly as with an automobile apparatus.

The board has had the matter under consideration for some time, ever since the ambulance was sent from the Plainfield Cab Company stables to police headquarters. There have been numerous instances when there has been calls for both the ambulance and patrol and the department has been confronted with a difficult problem of having only one horse for both wagons. The board believes that by the use of an automobile there will be considerable saving both in time and money.

HE ESCAPED DEATH ON ONE TRACK TO DIE ON ANOTHER

While at work with a section gang at Cranford yesterday Joseph Sonti, of that place, stepped from in front of one engine and was killed by another, unnoticed by him, traveling in the opposite direction. The body was brought to Cole's undertaking rooms in this city, where County Physician Westcott viewed it and issued the necessary burial permit.

The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery. The victim is survived by a widow and two small children in Italy.

BIG DOG ATTACKS AND TEARS CHIEF MARSHAL

Chief Marshal Weiss, of North Plainfield, was attacked by a great Dane dog on Watchung avenue this morning and severely bitten. The fleshy part of his left leg above the knee was torn. The brute made its attack from the rear and got a grip before the chief could defend himself. It held fast until beaten off with Weiss' blackjack. Dr. Pittis cauterized the wounds, one of which is nearly two inches long.

The attack came after the chief had captured a small dog which a dozen others were attacking. He was stooping over to tie a piece of rope around the little dogs' neck preparatory to leading it to the pound when the great Dane, which was among the others, sprang upon him. All the other dogs barked and yelped excitedly and for a time it looked as if the whole pack would go for the policeman.

Employes of Nischwitz's garage, whose attention were attracted by the noise, ran to the Chief's assistance, but before they reached the scene his whacks had made the big brute loosen its hold. It ran with the others at the approach of help. Investigation disclosed the fact that the owner of the Dane is Andrew Marsh, of Westervelt avenue, and this afternoon it was tied up for observation.

COUNCILS PASSED SEWER RESOLUTION

BOROUGH TO THE TOWNSHIP

Separate Resolution Reviving Petition For Permit to Go Into the "Back Country" With An Exclusive Disposal Works.

Action, ratifying the agreement of the City and Borough Councils' committees, was taken at a meeting of the Common Council, last night, when a resolution was adopted authorizing the employment of George W. Fuller, sanitary engineer, at the joint expense of the two municipalities, to prepare maps, plans and estimates for the proposed joint trunk sewer.

It was carefully provided that no liability to the city should arise until the Borough Council adopt a similar resolution. A similar resolution was passed by the Borough Council almost simultaneously. The Common Council instructed the clerk to notify the borough of its action and to also send a copy of the resolution to Mr. Fuller.

The resolution was not commented on. Comment was not necessary in view of the previous discussion at conferences between city and borough officials, when all the details of the agreement were gone over, and there was considerable talk about the probable contract between the two municipalities for the joint construction of the sewer.

At the North Plainfield Council meeting a resolution was passed providing for a petition to North Plainfield Township for permission to locate the proposed disposal plant within the township borders. The resolution was prefaced with a report of the refusal of the Township Committee to grant a similar petition.

The one refused embraced a plan for a plant that would handle the sewerage of Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Fanwood and Scotch Plains. The one to be presented will be for the borough only and Councilman Buttfield said at the meeting that it is possible, but not probable, that it would be granted with the other municipalities eliminated.

PEEPING JACK APPEARS ON WEST FIFTH STREET

A colored man in the role of Jack the-Peeper stirred residents in houses about West Fifth and New streets at bedtime last night, and the residents promptly stirred up the police. In answer to excited telephone calls, Roundsman Higgins and a half dozen policemen were hurried out on the job.

They didn't find the man. His last recorded appearance was at the window of a house on Fifth near New street, a few minutes after midnight, where a woman was waiting alone for the return of her husband. The sight of the dark face, peering in at the window, nearly sent her into hysterics.

As far as the police could find out that was the last attempt he made to invade the privacy of West Fifth street homes. No one could give the policemen a description of the peeper.

Royal Council Officers.

These officers were installed last night at the meeting of Royal Council, No. 77, Sr. O. U. A. M.: Senior ex-councilor, G. E. Thomas; junior ex-councilor, E. B. Rowland; councilor, F. G. MISS WINTER BECOMES MRS. ARTHUR RANDOLPH

Miss Alice Winter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winter, and Arthur Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Randolph, both of South Plainfield, were married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents on Maple avenue. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, performed the ceremony. There were about one hundred guests.

The bride was gowned in white messaline and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Annie Miller, of Brooklyn, who was also gowned in white and carried pink and white carnations. The best man was Kenneth Stuart, of this city. A reception followed the ceremony, after which the couple left on a three weeks' visit with friends at Warren, Ohio. They will reside at South Plainfield. The groom is employed by Richard B. VanArsdale, of West Front street, as a tile setter.

CURRIE'S APPOINTMENT HELD UP BY COUNCILMEN

The appointment of Dr. Norman W. Currie as city physician to succeed Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, which was made by Mayor G. W. V. Moy, at the adjourned meeting of the Council, last night, was temporarily held up at the suggestion of Councilman C. C. Randolph, who thought it would be best to have a full attendance when a vote was taken. There were only eight members present last night. Mr. Randolph stated after the meeting that he had no feeling in the matter, his only purpose being to have a full vote on the appointment.

The Plainfield Trust Company's petition for the right to erect ornamental lights in front of its banking place, identical with those in front of the Public Service Corporation offices on Park avenue, was granted on motion of Councilman W. L. Gloak, who said that he thought it to be an excellent improvement.

The petition of the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company for permission to extend a grade siding on North avenue, across Berckman street, was referred to the street committee for further investigation. The company has an ice plant on North avenue and the additional privileges are believed to be wanted in connection with shipping at that point.

Councilmen F. E. Mygatt and C. C. Randolph were made members of the Board of School Estimate in accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Taylor. The appointment of E. F. Stillwell as a special policeman by Mayor Moy, was confirmed on motion of Mr. Randolph. A petition from residents of West Fifth street for three lights on that thoroughfare between Monroe and Clinton avenues, was referred to the light committee. The applications of Miss Caroline D. Squires and Robert Murray for licenses to conduct employment agencies, were granted.

GLOEKLER SEEKS A LICENSE AGAIN

HE WILL FILE APPLICATION

Christian Gloekler, who was refused a license to sell liquor at his place of business, 102-104 West Front street, last year, expects to make an application for a license at the February meeting of the Common Council. His counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, is now engaged in preparing the application and he said today that it would be presented in February. There have been rumors that Mr. Gloekler had or was about to sell the corner property and that a modern building would soon be erected on the site. The fact that he will try to get another license is a sufficient denial of the rumor that he planned to sell his property.

Mr. Gloekler was denied a license a year ago because it came to the knowledge of the councilmen that liquor had been sold to minors in his place. He was not given an opportunity to defend himself against the charge. The boys, who it is claimed purchased liquor at the saloon, swore to affidavits to that effect and they were presented to the members of the Council. When Mr. Gloekler's application came up all the members voted against it. Efforts were made by his counsel, Mr. Hetfield, to have the matter re-considered, but to no purpose.

The complexion of the Council is now changed, there being two Democratic members, Fred Eldress and P. J. Reville, but it is a question whether Mr. Gloekler can secure a sufficient number of votes to give him a license.

BOROUGH OFFICIALS FILE BONDS WITH THE COUNCIL

Routine matters transacted last night at the adjourned meeting of the North Plainfield Council included the acceptance of the bonds of Tax Collector George F. Brown, Borough Clerk C. M. Dolliver, Recorder M. F. Gano, Chief Marshal Weiss and the regular marshals. The only change made from previous years was in those of the marshals which are left at the same amount, $500, but instead of having but one bondsman they are now required to have two for the full amount.

The annual report of Chief McCullough, of the fire department, showed that during 1911 there were only twenty-six alarms, eleven general and fifteen still. The property loss was estimated at $1,800. During December twenty arrests were made and $15 in fines collected, according to the report of the recorder.

The room at the rear of the cells at headquarters will be fixed up as a place for keeping the tools used in street work. Bids for laying a concrete floor were received from Alfred DeNise and John H. Higgins. They both would do the work for $35. The police committee will select one of them.

An appropriation of $300 was made to the Board of Health. Mrs. Anna Kellar was granted a license to conduct an employment office on Somerset place. The telephone that has been in former Mayor Smalley's home, one of the free instruments given the borough by the telephone company, was ordered removed to Mayor Clark's office in the police station.

DUNELLEN NERVES UPSET BY ROUND HOUSE STEAM

Residents in the vicinity of the round house at Dunellen are complaining again about the almost continual hissing of escaping steam from locomotives. Last summer when windows were open day and night, the matter was called to the attention of the Board of Health.

Now the board has asked the Borough Council to get after the Central Railroad and secure an abatement of the nuisance. These clear crisp nights makes the noise almost as annoying as in warm weather. In fact, it seems to be more penetrating and the frosty air increases the volume.

The Health Board contends that it is quite possible for citizens to become nervous wrecks from such an annoyance. Complaint is also registered against the bell at Grove street, which rings with great frequency, fracturing nocturnal peace and quiet.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Only one appeal from the borough was made to the Middlesex County Board of Taxation while it was in session yesterday afternoon in the town hall. That was made by Mrs. Sarah Smalley, who applied to have an assessment of $400 on personal property reduced to $50, which was granted. Robert Fairbairn was the only successful appealer from the township. He secured a reduction of $2,000 from a $5,000 assessment on personal property. Two other appeals made by Mr. Evans and Mr. Johnson were not acted on.

Several sleigh riding parties have been enjoyed by young people from town lately. C. T. Voorhees arranged one of a half dozen couples for a trip to New Brunswick. George Martin mustered seven couples for a ride to Westfield and last night a stag party went to Raritan. All report the roads in splendid condition, but the favorite stopping places somewhat crowded by parties from other points.

The sewage disposal meeting arranged by the Board of Health will be held in the town hall tonight.

W. H. Cole is confined to his home by illness.

E. A. Hutchinson has removed to Elizabeth.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church, began a series of Bible readings on the "Life of Christ," at the church, last night. The readings were illustrated by means of a stereopticon lantern. From week to week, with the aid of the great master paintings, the Scripture story of the life of Christ will be presented. The public is invited.

The pupils of School No. 1 are enjoying the good sleighing while it lasts. Tuesday the pupils of the 6th grade had a straw ride to Westfield, Alton and Plainfield, and yesterday the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades had their inning, enjoying a ten-mile ride through the country with a short halt at Plainfield, where refreshments were enjoyed.

The first of a series of talks on "The Life of Christ" was given last night by Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews at the weekly prayer meeting at the Baptist church. The talks are to be illustrated with stereopticon views and the public are invited to attend.

Edward Heath, who recently returned from Muhlenberg Hospital, where he underwent treatment for an eye trouble, has suffered a relapse on account of catching cold in the injured optic, and will be detained at home again for some time.

The Fanwood Fire Company held their election of officers, last evening. The following were elected for the coming year: President, H. P. Robinson; secretary, S. G. VanHoesen; treasurer, Mr. Maxim.

Although the weather has been very cold, it has not prevented the carpenters from going on with the houses being built in the borough.

George Frentz, who has been ill for two weeks with pneumonia, has recovered and is able to be around again.

William Guest and Otto Gunther have been drawn for jury duty at the present term of court at Elizabeth.

The sleighing in the borough is fine and everyone that possibly can is riding behind the jingling bells.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klunser are the proud parents of twins, a boy and girl, born Tuesday night.

Smith; the brick stores and dwellings on West Main street and Doughty avenue, for $10,960, to M. H. Burke; the dwelling house on Main street for $6,025 to Chistopher A. Speer.

The Athletic Club will open its clubhouse tomorrow afternoon for the use of the ladies. In the evening a card party and short concert will be given.

Charles M. Dumas, of West Main street, is spending two weeks in the South.

ARREST GUERIN AGAIN.

Man Held In Glasgow Claims to Be Noted Criminal.

Glasgow, Jan. 18.—A man under arrest here on a charge of loitering in a hotel with intent to steal claims he is Eddie Guerin, the so called American criminal, although an English judge once decided that he was a British subject. The man has not yet been identified.

Eddie Guerin's name was known all over the world through his sensational escape from the French penal colony at Devil's island, where he was serving a life sentence. He was aided by friends in New York, who furnished the money. He was afterwards arrested in London, but Great Britain refused to extradite him to France, the judge holding that he was a British subject. He got into several scrapes later.

Guerin, who is catalogued in Inspector Byrne's book as a notorious western criminal, got his life sentence on Devil's island for robbing the American Express company in Paris of $30,000 and for a previous robbery of $50,000 from the Bank of Lyons. He escaped in 1905 and came to New York, where he remained for a short time and then returned to England.

LONG REACH FOR STORE'S FREE DELIVERY SYSTEM

A local young matron entered the furniture department of the Woodhull-Martin store a few days ago and with the faintest suspicion of a smile to Manager Vanderhoef, said:

"You deliver all purchases, do you not?"

On being told that the firm did, the shopper selected one of the best infant's high chairs in the concern's assortment.

"You may send it to this address," she said, and she presented a name and city in Japan. "They don't have high chairs in that country," she added, "and I am anxious for my friend to have one."

Mr. Vanderhoef remarked that the Woodhull-Martin wagons did not go to the Orient but so long as there were steamships and trains he would have the purchase delivered. The chair was accordingly well bundled up and yesterday began its journey of 10,000 miles, more or less, to delight a Japanese mother and her baby.

TAFT'S WARNING CALMS CUBANS

"Veteran" Movement Near Causing Revolt.

BUSINESS TAKES NEW LIFE

With One Exception All Cuban Newspapers Urge People to Forget Differences—Senate Assures President Gomez of Sympathy and Support to Preserve Order.

Havana, Jan. 18.—There is a very general impression that President Taft's note to President Gomez intimating possible intervention in Cuba, which caused a shock when news of it was made public, has dealt a death blow to the veteran agitation, thereby removing the excuse for intervention and abundantly strengthening the Cuban government in controlling the situation.

Despite the surprise, tranquillity reigns. Not a ripple of excitement is visible here, and the popular attitude is apparently one of intense silent expectation.

The newspapers urge all Cubans to forget differences and unite in obeying the laws and preserving order. No bitterness toward the United States is shown by any paper except La Prenso, which demands the recall of American Minister Beaupre on the ground of discourtesy in presenting the note directly to the president instead of to the foreign secretary. The minister did so because he could not find the secretary.

Foreign Secretary Sanguilly cabled to all the Cuban ministers abroad giving the purport of the American note, with the assurance that the Cuban government "will proceed with serenity, confiding in the patriotism of the Cubans for obedience to the law and the preservation of peace."

President Nunez of the Veterans' association reaffirmed his opinion that the United States was not justified in threatening intervention because the Veterans' association, like the Grand Army of the Republic, has no law, has not defied the government and exists only to promote the welfare of the republic. But he declared that the veterans are determined to persist in the campaign, to purify the civil service and all publications obnoxious to patriots by reason of former hostility to the cause of Cuban independence.

The house of representatives transacted routine business without referring to the political crisis. The senate sent a communication to President Gomez assuring him of its sympathy and support in his efforts to compel compliance with the law and the preservation of order.

The Stock Exchange was strong on the news of possible intervention, and in the board of trade there was great relief at the probable revival of business. Many planters who have been afraid to begin grinding now intend to start their mills immediately.

NUNEZ REMAINS FIRM.

New York, Jan. 18.—General Nunez, commander of the Cuban veterans, in a message to a news bureau here, says:

"Havana, Jan. 17.—Our attitude will be that the organization will remain firm in its object to guarantee peace, which may be altered by political parties, to moralize the administration and to spread patriotism in the hearts of the people. We protest against that which may be a menace to our freedom and independence, being sure that the noble people of the United States will never take our unselfish and patriotic campaign as an excuse to intervene in matters which could not affect in any way their interests in Cuba."

DEPENDS UPON PATRIOTISM.

President Gomez Wires New York Sun That He Will Enforce Law.

"Havana, Jan. 18.—Undoubtedly the news from Cuba has been greatly exaggerated. This caused the friendly note from the American government. I depend upon the patriotism of the Cuban people, who will not forget their duty. I am certain the veterans will listen to my advice, and, in any event, I have sufficient means at my command to maintain order and to enforce the law."

STEEL SCHEDULE BILL NEXT.

Democratic Measure Will Pass the House Next Week.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The Democratic bill to revise the iron and steel schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law will be passed by the house next week. Majority Leader Underwood made this statement:

"The Democrats will caucus on Saturday and agree on the bill as framed by the ways and means committee. Then the measure will be introduced at noon on Monday and taken up Tuesday."

La Follette Indorsed.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—Senator La Follette has been indorsed for the presidential nomination by the North Dakota Progressive Republican league here.

SAVES TWO, BREAKS LEG, THEN BECOMES FATHER

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—After a series of events as remarkable, perhaps, as could possibly attend a man in a single day, Captain Quigley, of the barge Ethel, is lying in his cabin suffering from a compound fracture of his right leg.

While Quigley was working about the barge yesterday Neil Olson and Joseph Peterson, two of his deckhands, fell overboard and were in danger of drowning, being poor swimmers. Braving the great cakes of floating ice which are practically tying up navigation in the sound at present, the captain jumped overboard and after a tussle succeeded in saving the lives of both men.

Weak from cold and exposure, Quigley staggered when he finally reached the deck of the barge, missed his footing on the icy surface and plunged into the hold, breaking his leg. A doctor was immediately summoned and when he arrived everything was in a state of excitement. Conditions were such that he could not attend the injured boatman, but had to pay all of his attention to Mrs. Quigley.

Shortly afterward when the physician went to Quigley's bunk he said, "Well, I guess I can attend to you now. It might interest you to know that you have just become the father of an eleven-pound boy and everything is fine and dandy."

Quigley has a record for rescues along the local water front. While here four months ago he saved the lives of two other men who had gone overboard, and it is estimated that during his career he has saved about twenty-five persons from drowning.

ELAZABETH TO HAVE BIG CHARITY BALL.

Plans have been made to accommodate 2,000 dancers at the annual charity ball for the benefit of the St. Elizabeth Hospital to be held in Turn Hall, Elizabeth, on the night of February 13. It is the aim of the committees in charge to make the affair the largest, both from a social and a financial standpoint, that has ever been held in the city.

Up to the present time arrangements for the ball have been in the hands of a general committee of which City Attorney Connolly is chairman. Interested women, however, have formed an auxiliary to aid in perfecting the details and have elected Mrs. Alfred A. Stein, wife of Mayor Stein, president. The other officers are: Vice-president, Miss Mary Flatley; secretary, Mrs. Arthur Flynn; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Engel; chairman of the refreshment committee, Mrs. William Carr, and chairman of the badge committee, Mrs. John A. Scharwath.

Although the affair is almost a month away there has already been a large demand for tickets. Chairman Connolly announced yesterday that he had added Adrian O. Murray to the finance committee and John B. Flach to the music committee.

No Money, Go to Jail.

Charles Cassett and Eugene Britton, two of the men caught in the raid on a West Third street house Saturday night, have been committed to the county jail for forty days, in default of $8 fines.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"The Cowboy and the Thief," which is the attraction at the Plainfield theatre tonight, is described as a story of western life which does not depend on (gun play) and startling climaxes for its wonderful success as a popular price show. It is a wholesome story of the land west of the Rockies, bearing on the theme brotherly love and striking home with a moral that will never be forgotten. The good cowboy and the bad cattle thief clash in thrilling climaxes that point a lesson for the evil doers. There is a pretty love story intertwined and numerous cowboys make the song and laughter part of the play most enjoyable.

Ask any metropolitan theatrical manager to name the biggest money-making play produced during the last thirty years and he will unhesitating reply "Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin." That this is true there can be no doubt. It is a well-known fact that season after season, wherever the Stetson company appears, it is patronized, not only by the regular theatregoers, but by devout church members, as well. The Stetson company, which will appear at the Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, is said to be the only one to have received the unqualified approval of Harriet Beecher Stowe, the authoress of this famous and widely read book. Always unapproachable in specialties and handsome stage pictures the Stetson company this season has eclipsed its previous enviable record in the matter of scenic, mechanical and electrical effects, costumes and vaudeville features.

Summit Real Estate Deal.

One of the largest real estate deals in residential property in Summit in some time was closed Tuesday, when title was passed by Robert J. Murphy, of Summit, and William S. Post, of New Providence, representatives of a Summit realty company, on three building plots in Edgemont avenue, to Mrs. Phoebe A. Scott, of Jersey City. The lots have a frontage of about sixty-three feet and a depth of about 200 feet each. Negotiations for the sale of the tracts, which are located in an exclusive residential section of the city, have been under way for several weeks, and plans are already in preparation for two dwellings, which will cost about $10,000 each.

ELIZABETH IS ASSURED OF THIRD MILITIA CO.

At a meeting of officers tonight final steps will be taken for the organization of another company from Elizabeth in the National Guard of New Jersey. The formation of the command was assured Tuesday night, when several militiamen gathered to consider the project and signified their willingness to become identified with such a company. It will probably take the place of Company F, of Lambertville, which disbanded several months ago. Elizabeth is already represented in the guard by Companies C and I.

The meeting Tuesday night was attended by more than thirty interested persons, among them being Major William B. Martin, Colonel Robert J. Patterson, Major Conrad Hall and Captain Kitchell, all of the Second Battalion. They made addresses in which they set forth the advantages to be attained from the organization of an additional command, and pointed out that military life in the future would hold more attractions than in the past, owing to the fact that the new armory would be completed before spring. The roll was signed by thirty, and as only sixty-nine are needed to insure the organization of the new command it seems almost certain that there will be three companies in Elizabeth before the end of the winter.

DESPOSITIONS TAKEN IN AN EXCISE RULING CASE.

Taking of depositions in the certiorari proceedings brought by William R. Wilson as attorney for Tolfil Dulinsky, an Elizabeth saloonkeeper whose license was recently revoked by the Board of Excise on a charge of Sunday selling, was finished yesterday before former Prosecutor Frederick C. Marsh, as Supreme Court commissioner.

The writ was granted on the ground that the Rising Sun Brewery, owner of the building at 216 Second street, Elizabeth, the one in which Dulinsky does business, was not made a party to the original action. The writ acts as a stay and in the meanwhile the place is open.

Women's Auxiliary to Meet Here.

The second quarterly session of the Women's Auxiliary to the Middlesex Central Baptist Association of New Jersey, colored, will be held at the Calvary Baptist church, Saturday and Sunday, January 20 and 21. The first session will begin at 10 o'clock Saturday morning with a board meeting. Then will follow the presentation of papers, reports, etc. There will be an afternoon and evening session the first day and a morning and afternoon session the second day.

Club's First Dance.

The Chrysanthemum Club conducted a most successful dance Tuesday night in Debele's Auditorium on Chatham street. It was the first affair of the club this season.

John Mitchell's statement that strikes which cost only $10,000,000 have yielded more than $500,000,000 in increased wages may be true. And the public paid both sums.—Providence Tribune.

ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY.

Economy and efficiency are the keynotes of a special message sent to Congress yesterday by President Taft and the recommendations bear further testimony that the Chief Magistrate is more of a statesman than a politician. He proposes that the pruning knife be used to save millions annually. His argument is that the business methods of the gigantic corporations be employed by the Federal government in the conduct of its affairs. A far-reaching extension of the merit system and the institution of a civil service pension scheme are advocated. In effect the President desires that all administrative officers be removed from political influence, that all useless offices be abolished and that he be shorn of much of his power as to making appointments. The message is all the more startling because it demonstrates that Mr. Taft is not playing politics to achieve his avowed purpose to obtain a second term for himself.

"To politicians who dread change and cling to the habits of the past," the New York Tribune says, "the President's recommendations will seem almost revolutfonary. There are Congressmen, we fear, who will think they see the Statue of Liberty tottering on its pedestal if they are asked to forego the privilege of designating the men at home who are best fitted to run the postoffices. But if the country really desires efficiency in government it will have to come to Mr. Taft's idea. We have come to it in the military and semi-military services, but there is just as urgent work to be done in the non-military field, and it can be properly and economically done only when Congress agrees to take the federal establishment, practically in its entirety, out of personal and partisan politics."

OCEAN GROVE.

No better evidence of the up-to-dateness of the present management of Ocean Grove can be presented than was the case on Monday, when that religious community, through paid advertisements, sent out by a publicity agent, presented its side of the now famous "borough controversy." In the announcement, which appeared in the Press, the various heads of the different departments at the "Grove," gave what they considered sufficient reasons for maintaining the present system of government, in a concise and positive manner. They will gain twice as many friends in their fight against the boroughites by this frank method of soliciting support from the general public, as they can by any other means. Interviews in the news columns will only get into the papers, where the subject discussed is of most interest, but advertising reaches all of the people of the State. By adopting such tactics the Ocean Grove Campmeeting authorities are liable to secure a much better hearing from the legislators than they could through any other method. While we are great believers in representative government, the situation in this seaside religious resort is an odd one, and it owes most of its successful growth to the peculiar atmosphere and management which has characterized it in the past. Under a borough government many of the unusual features would be done away with, and the thousands now attracted there because of the "different" way of doing things might gradually seek other summer homes.

THE SEWAGE PROBLEM.

It is encouraging to know that the city and borough authorities have joined forces in an effort to solve the sewage disposal problem on a joint basis. Although some time must necessarily elapse before the report of the engineer engaged to report on the feasibility and to submit a definite scheme is received, the conviction appears to obtain generally that the suggested trunk line sewer will prove the only satisfactory solution.

For North Plainfield and Plainfield, forming one community in every respect save in the eyes of the law, to go about this matter independently would not only be poor judgment from a financial standpoint but from every other standpoint. A sewage system in common for both will mean joint action in solving other municipal problems and there are several of them but none so important. It will mean more than this for it will hasten the day when the two municipalities are consolidated.

Many of the leaders of the opposition in the fight for annexation some years ago are now convinced that the best interests of the city and borough would be served by a merger into one government. Hence, whatever is done in respect to sewage disposal or any other problem, it should always be borne in mind that sooner or later the entire community will form one municipality.

THE ARMY CANTEEN.

"When the 'Women of the United States Army' protest in a body," says today's World, "as they have done in a petition to Congress, they speak with authority." What these women, the wives of the officers, have to say, pertains to the damage done to the service by the abolition of the canteen. The army man's wife is generally a very sensible, broad-minded and righteous woman and her life at the barracks gives her experience that other women very often fail to obtain. Hence the World says that she is no fussy theorist and is not a fanatical reformer. It would be furthest from her purpose to seek to create for herself evil surroundings and that paper continues "it is well to have the question of the army canteen treated in a common-sense way, as a matter of hygiene, instead of hypocrisy." If the soldier must have liquor, is it not better that he get it served at the post, where there is strict regulation, than at some vile resort, miles from the barracks, where what is commonly known as "third-rail" is sold? "It is a condition and not a theory" which confronts the War Department.

We are inclined to believe that the plan so carefully worked out by Congressman Tuttle for rearranging this Congressional district was devised with the thought of turning the district into a Democratic one, as a slice cut from Morris would materially decrease the Republican vote and not affect the Democrats in Warren, and in part of Union.

What was the lesson taught in the marvellous demonstration in honor of the Lord Cardinal of New York? Was it not the intense loyalty and devotion of the Catholic laymen to a prince of the church? Protestanism, praying for Christian unity, has something to learn from this most remarkable ovation.

All this discussion about the use of free passes by State officials, and the objection on the part of the users to signing certain releases for the benefit of the railroads, may be interesting, but there are lots of people who would be pleased to accept them with any kind of a string attached.

Addressing the New York State Agriculture Society at Albany last night, Mr. Gaynor referred to himself as "the mayor of modern Babylon." If memory serves us right, it was only a short time ago that this self-same Gaynor denounced New York's villifiers.

Atlantic City's new mayor will abolish flirting, gambling and fast entertainments, so where shall we go this summer instead?—Detroit Journal.

How about Fifth avenue?

"Queen's Former Maid a Nobleman's Bride," is not the caption topping another scandal story in high life. This time it was a maid of honor, but the head was rather misleading.

"Marse Henry" Watterson says that Wilson is "rather a schoolmaster than a statesman." Substitute "politician" for "statesman" and the Kentucky editor is right.

Muhlenberg Hospital

In 1876 a railroad accident to a stranger, necessitating a serious surgical operation amid the distracting surroundings of a railway station, indicated the need of a hospital in Plainfield. Muhlenberg Hospital was incorporated in 1877, and was named after the Reverend William A. Muhlenberg, D. D., formerly rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of the Holy Communion of the city of New York, and founder of St. Luke's Hospital. The Right Reverend John Scarborough, Bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey, was elected the first president. As early as 1878 the board of governors declared as its policy that Muhlenberg Hospital should ever be an unsectarian and undenominational institutional, always open to those of whatever creed or nationality who might need its good offices.

After organization, nearly three years were spent in vain efforts to secure by purchase or otherwise suitable accommodations for carrying on the hospital work. Numerous sites in different parts of the city were suggested, but difficulties were encountered at every step, such as the opposition of land owners and the difficulty of getting subscriptions. Interest flagged and several members of the board of governors lost heart and resigned, but only to be replaced by others.

As early as 1878 an auxiliary committee of ladies was organized, and the permanent organization of the ladies' auxiliary board was accomplished on May 28, 1878, by the election of Miss E. E. Kenyon as president. Miss Emilie Shipper as secretary, and Mrs. Harvey D. Burlingham as treasurer. The name of this organization was subsequently changed to Women's Auxiliary Board.

In July, 1879, Mr. Job Male offered to purchase and donate to the hospital a plot of land on Third street near Plainfield avenue, and the offer was accepted and the plans of Mr. Charles H. Smith, an architect, were adopted. Various delays however, prevented the actual acquisition of this property by Mr. Male until April 2, 1880. The corner stone of the old hospital was laid by the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons with appropriate ceremonies on Decoration Day in 1880. There was a procession to the grounds. It was formed near the Common Council chamber on Front street, headed by a drum corps, followed by the officers of the hospital, the board of governors, the Common Council, the fire commissioners, the assistants of the fire department and by various associations.

Unexpected and annoying delays occurred in the work of construction, but on Thanksgiving Day, November 24, 1881, the building was completed and paid for and the hospital opened for inspection.

The hospital was opened for the reception of patients on November 28, 1881, with an enlarged medical staff consisting of Dr. Tomlinson, Dr. J. B. Probasco, Dr. Boone, Dr. Hart, Dr. Endicott, Dr. Long, Dr. Stillman, Dr. Field and Dr. Janvrin. Miss Sarah W. Clerk was the first matron or superintendent.

From the day of opening until May 26, 1882, 28 patients were treated in the hospital, and the first surgical operation was performed by Dr. George W. Endicott of the staff.

The work of the hospital constantly grew and as early as 1887 the necessity of additional accommodations for nurses and private patients became pressing. In 1889 plans were adopted for an addition to the main building, specially designed for private patients and cases requiring isolation; and this addition was ready for occupation in October, 1889.

It will surprise most people to learn that as late as 1891 the hospital buildings were lighted at night wholly by oil lamps, and that for water the hospital depended entirely on a pump; but in the summer of that year electric lights were introduced in the buildings and at about the same time the pure and wholesome water for which Plainfield is now noted was also introduced.

The first operating room for surgical operations was added in 1895 at a cost of $2,800.

The Department of Pathology and Bacteriology was created in 1894 under the direction of Dr. B. VanD. Hedges.

The growing work of the hospital showed the value of the systematic training of nurses, and the board of governors in 1894 established the Training School for Nurses. This school is a great advantage to the hospital and also a great benefit to the pupils, and the opportunity which it affords for securing pupil nurses for service outside the hospital is of great advantage to the community at large.

The first building for the accommodation of nurses was completed in 1897 at a cost of about $5,000.

Notwithstanding all these extensions the limits of the hospital accomodations were soon reached, and a more comprehensive building became imperative. In 1899 the board of governors decided that it would be necessary to remove the hospital to a more commodious and quiet site if the necessary funds could be secured. In 1900 a special committee was appointed to obtain subscriptions, and encouraged by its success, in 1901 the board of governors declared its firm resolve to build a new hospital. The purchase of the plot of land at Park avenue and Randolph road was decided upon, and a building committee was appointed. The land was paid for in cash out of subscriptions received. The plans for the new hospital buildings were adopted in 1902, and the construction begun that year. The corner stone was laid December 6, 1902, by the Mayor of Plainfield, Dr. Olin L. Jenkins. In the corner stone were placed copies of the printed annual reports of the hospital, and lists of the names of members of the board of governors, officers, medical staff, members of the training school, architects, contractors, etc., and copies of Plainfield and New York papers.

The five buildings of the original group were substantially completed by December 17, 1903, and on that day these buildings entirely equipped and furnished were thrown open to the public for inspection. On December 28, 1903, patients were transferred from the old to the new buildings, and since that date the work of the hospital has been carried on at the present location.

The construction of the commodious building as a Nurses' Home, separate from the main group, was completed in December, 1904. More recently still, the Isolation Ward Building and the laundry and power house buildings have been erected.

These early years were trying years, many of them filled with discouragement and apprehension, but patience, courage and energy have overcome difficulties in the past, and the results achieved have furnished an all sufficient reward. The institution has been of inestimable value to the people of Plainfield, the greater part of its work being charitable in character owing to the inability of patients to pay for treatment received. From the earliest years, collections in aid of the hospital have been taken annually in the different city churches, and the funds collected on Hospital Sunday have been of great help to the Board of Governors in meeting the expenses incurred in carrying on this charitable work. The Harvest Home Festival usually held in November each year brings to the hospital a large quantity of useful supplies.

Grateful acknowledgement should be made of the long continued and faithful and efficient labors of the Women's Auxiliary Board in aid of all branches of the hospital work.

CHURCH WILL FILL PLACE OF Y. M. C. A. IN DUNELLEN

The Bible class of the Presbyterian church, constituting a committee of the Young Men's Club, will meet tomorrow night for the purpose of discussing plans for the installation of a bowling alley and billiard table in the basement of the church, where it is intended to institute club rooms. This departure is in line with a talk given at the Baraca class dinner last Friday night by Rev. Robert W. Mark, of Woodbridge, who during his pastorate there has organized the young men of his congregation into a club for social purposes and located the rooms in the basement of his church.

His talk was a recital of the advantages of the club towards interesting men in general in church affairs and the benefit it has been to those making use of it. The innovation was in the nature of an experiment, but has met with such marked success that the pastor is encouraging club adoption by all churches. The feature that makes it of value to a congregation is the fact that the general public is given the liberty of the rooms and means of entertainment and amusement. In a word, it is a sort of Y. M. C. A. on a small scale.

SUMMITT RECORD SUED; POST ASKING $10,000

Summit, January 18.—Because the Summit Record printed December 2 an editorial which the New York Evening Post feels is a libel on it, suits for $10,000 damages each have been started by the Post against Alfred J. Lane, publisher of the Record.

The Record editorial, which it is alleged by complainants contained the libel, bore the caption, "Human Nature Always the Same." It dealt with the fact that the Post had been designated among the New York papers to publish the New York official primary and election notice. The days set for the publication of the notice were Monday, October 10, and Monday, October 17. The Record editorial explained that the law necessitated a publication on each of the Sundays preceding these dates and that the Post, which does not publish a paper on Sunday, got out issues on the required Sundays.

In the Record's issue of December 30 a letter from William M. Wherry, of Plainfield, the Post's counsel, demanding a retraction was published with another editorial which was not regarded by the Post as satisfactory, hence the suits.

LITTLE INTEREST TAKEN IN THE PEACE MEETING

There was a slim attendance at the peace meeting held last night in the auditorium of the High School, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Citizens' National Peace Committee, of which former ambassador to England Joseph H. Choate is chairman. Hardly more than fifty people were present.

The meeting was addressed by Paul Fuller, Sr., senior member of the law firm of Frederick R. Coudert and Edwin Mead, director general of the World's Peace Foundation, of Boston. Mr. Mead is a cousin of Mrs. A. D. Shepard, of Scotch Plains, and was her guest. He is known as the "Prince of Peace."

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert presided at the meeting and made an interesting speech in which he said that he believed that in the near future all questions between nations would be settled by arbitration.

The theme of the speakers was the peace treaties with France and England which President Taft is endeavoring to have confirmed by the Senate. None of the speakers was interrupted as have speakers at peace meetings in other places.

The Middleman Again.

"This world's a stage," said the ready-made philosopher.

"Mebbe so," replied Farmer Corntossel. "But it ain't any minstrel show. Business ain't arranged so that the middleman always gets the joke put on him, while the men at both ends of the line do the laughin.' Not yet."—Washington Star.

Yearly.

"George, dear," said the young wife, "you are growing handsomer every day."

"Yes, darling," replied the knowing George. "It's a way I have just before your birthday."—Pick-Me-Up.

Something in That.

It is quite true that we refuse to take a chance by dodging across a street in front of a taxi. One gets a much handsomer obituary if he is run over by a limousine.—Boston Globe.

GIVES $100,000 TO HELP IN PREVENTING DISEASE

New York, January 18.—The announcement is just made that Mount Sinai Hospital has received a gift of $100,000 from Mrs. Myer Lehman, widow of one of the founders of the hospital. Mrs. Lehman is the mother of Supreme Court Justice Lehman, of New York. The thought in the mind of the donor seems to be that the fund thus given may be used by the hospital authorities in measures that may tend to decrease sickness and disease throughout the city. In her letter giving notice of the gift, she dedicates the subscription to the work of extending the activities "of an institution which has been most useful in alleviating illness to the vaster field of preventing illness."

This is the second subscription to Mount Sinai Hospital by the Lehman family, the sons having given $75,000 in 1901 for a dispensary which bears their father's name.

Mrs. Lehman, on Sunday, at her home on 175 West 58th street, New York city, said, "I have only tried to do something toward bringing about a condition in which I am deeply interested. I have been impressed recently with the greatly increasing demands upon the hospitals and dispensaries of this city. It is practically impossible for any of them to cope with the demands made directly upon them, and I believe that when all of them are taken into account they fall very far short of the community's needs.

"It seemed to me, since this was ture, that the time had come to do something toward decreasing these demands. There is only one way, of course, in which this can be done, and that is what I want to help Mt. Sinai to do. Disease must be attacked at its sources, I think, and while a hundred times as much as I can give would not be able to do everything that should be done, it will still make possible a beginning."

Gifts like this to hospitals are becoming more frequent the country over. The needs of Muhlenberg Hospital, of our own city, are becoming greater each year; and an equipment which eight years ago was adequate, has for several years been found to be insufficient to meet the increasing demands. Steps must be taken at an early date to provide enlargements that will accommodate at least 50 per cent. more patients than can at present be received. A movement for such enlargement would call for an heroic effort on the part of the friends of the hospital, and generous giving by all of our people.

MINISTERS' ASSOCIATION WILL SUPPORT MISSION

The Plainfield Ministers' Association in special session at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, decided to lend its support to the Plainfield Rescue Mission in the future and a committee comprising J. D. Loizeaux, A. L. Force, Harry Gee, F. H. Andrews and J. A. Powlison was appointed to represent the various churches in securing the necessary support for the work which was inaugurated several years ago by John LeMatty.

Former Mayor Samuel Townsend and W. A. Bowen, representing Muhlenberg Hospital, appeared before the association in reference to a matter in the interest of the hospital.

The association adopted the amendment to its constitution whereby ministers and others in the vicinity of the city may be eligible to membership. Those invited to join include Herbert E. Parker, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Rev. Ernest Brown, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. A. Knox, of the M. E. church, Dunellen; Rev. J. J. Allen, of South Plainfield; Rev. J. T. Lansdale, of Marconnier chapel; Rev. F. K. Mathiews, of Scotch Plains; Rev. Frank Fletcher, Rev. H. S. Craig and Rev. R. H. Craig, of this city

A Poor Loser.

"Well, Tommie," said the joyous Slithers, "you must congratulate me. I am going to marry your sister."

"Oh, thunder," growled Tommie.

"Why, Tommie," protested Slithers, "don't you like me?"

"Oh, yes, I like you well enough," said Tommie, "but I bet Mabel a pound of candy you wouldn't ask her, and she bet you would."—Harper's Weekly.

HERE TO CHOOSE FROM

When you begin thinking about purchasing a Piano or exchanging the Piano for a Self-Player you should keep well fixed in your mind the fact that in no store in Newark or New York have you so many first-class makes of instruments to choose from as are presented to you here for choice.

It may be well enough to satisfy yourself by going from place to place and seeing and hearing other makes, but this tripping and touring and shopping is really wholly unnecessary when you consider the fact that every piano we sell is a first-class one—surely as good as any sold at its price—probably better than any sold at the same price—and that the range of cost and the variety of styles is wide enough to satisfy practically every desire.

You can feel safe in the purchase of any piano we sell—there is not an unworthy make in the lot—not a piano that cannot be depended upon—not one that the makers do not stand back of—not one that we do not guarantee.

If you buy a low-cost instrument you can always trade it in exchange for a higher priced one when you get ready to buy one, or, if you buy a piano, and later, feel that you would like to own a self-player, we can make most satisfactory arrangements with you.

300,000 WELCOME CARDINAL FARLEY

CEREMONIES FOR TEN DAYS

From Dock to Cathedral Countless Thousands of Catholics and Others Pack Streets to Greet Prelate So Signally Honored by the Pope—Plan Banquet Jan. 30.

New York, Jan. 18.—Welcome to John Cardinal Farley was voiced by 300,000 persons as he rode through the streets of this city to take his place on his cathedral throne for the first time since his elevation.

Enthusiasm over his return pervaded the archdiocese, and last night the interior of St. Patrick's was stripped of much of its decorations by thousands who thronged its aisles in quest of remembrances of an occasion fraught with such meaning for the American branch of the Roman Catholic church.

The cathedral's outer walls and spires were aglow with a myriad of lights as the multitude surged about it seeking for a glimpse of their beloved spiritual leader. So great was the crowd that policemen were called by the authorities to prevent congestion.

Within the church walls were crowded 6,000 children from the parochial schools of the city. Thousands of others were in Fifth avenue, unable to get into the great building. Each little one carried a papal flag, and all waved their white and yellow standards with royal good will as the open carriage containing the cardinal rolled up to the curb.

The Catholic Protectory boys' band was on hand to render a musical welcome, but its notes were drowned in the mighty shouts which rose from thousands of throats. "Welcome to our cardinal!" called the crowd again and again, and the police had a lively battle to keep back the surging enthusiasts from overrunning his eminence.

As the cardinal stepped from his carriage the great front doors of the cathedral swung open to receive him. Guarded by the papal guards, he walked slowly within and the doors swung shut again. Within the doors Cardinal Farley halted and donned the red robe and the red hat. Then he knelt and said a brief prayer as he kissed the crucifix. As he was donning his robe the big front door was pushed open by the crowd surging against it from without, and for an instant it looked as if the throng outside would beat their way in, but the police in attendance drove them back. Then the cardinal walked slowly up the aisle to the altar.

As he entered the body of the church the thousands of children rose and, lustily waving their white and yellow flag, sang the song, "Welcome Home, Cardinal," especially written for the occasion.

Receptions and services in his honor will continue ten days, concluding with a great religious ceremony Thursday, Jan. 25. Bishops and archbishops from all over the United States are expected to attend.

The congratulations of the non-Catholic citizenship of New York will be expressed, in a banquet to be tendered the new cardinal by a committee of representative citizens, of which former Comptroller Herman A. Metz is the head. The banquet will be held at the Waldorf on Jan. 30. Governor Dix will voice the appreciation of the people of the state upon the honor that has come to New York through the elevation of the cardinal, and Mayor Gaynor will speak for the city.

ARREST TWO ON GIRL'S STORY

Chicago Men Held on Charges Made by Runaway Heiress.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Two young men were arrested here because of statements made to the New York police by Violet Buehler, the fifteen-year-old heiress who fled from her home in Chicago and was found in New York.

The men are Charles McGlynn, a printer, who boarded at the hotel owned by Violet's foster mother, and Roy Allen, an electrician, who used to live there.

Both men denied the charges. McGlynn was questioned by the police at the time of the girl's disappearance last November. He admitted that the girl had been in his room and that he had kissed her.

DEADLY BATTLE IN PARAGUAY

Insurgents Hold President Rojas a Prisoner.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 18.—There has been stiff fighting in the streets of Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay, between the adherents of President Liberato Rojas and the revolutionaries. Many were killed on both sides.

The insurgents, however, are still in control of the situation, and all attempts by the government troops to rescue President Rojas, who has been a prisoner in their hands since Monday, have proved unsuccessful.

COAL MINERS WANT FEDERAL OWNERSHIP

Convention Adopts Socialist Resolution Unanimously.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—Government ownership of all industries was favored by the United Mine Workers of America, now in convention here, in a resolution. The resolution, which was presented by the local union of Manifold, Pa., is brief and is as follows:

"Whereas, We consider it would be a benefit to the community at large, therefore be it

The resolution was backed by the socialists in the convention, and found practically no opposition among the 1,300 delegates. There was little discussion, and the result of the vote was greeted with cheers.

GRAND JURY ACTIVE.

Indianapolis Dynamite Probers to Indict Soon.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—The greater part of the essential evidence in the dynamite inquiry, it is understood, will be in the hands of the federal government when Ortie E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, finishes his story, and it is believed that indictments already are being drawn.

Stenographers and some of the attorneys connected with the investigation are working every night in the office of District Attorney Miller, and it is believed that they are engaged in preparing true bills, so that there will be no delay in making arrests when the grand jury makes its report.

Following McManigal's testimony, it is believed that fifty more witnesses will be examined before the grand jury is ready to make its report. Before the completion of the inquiry fully 300 witnesses will have testified.

EXPECT MORSE PAROLE.

New York Banker-Convict Failing Rapidly, According to Report.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Charles W. Morse, the convicted New York banker who is now a federal prisoner at Atlanta, may be released within the next few days. In view of his critical condition it is generally expected here that President Taft will grant a commutation of Morse's sentence soon.

Attorney General Wickersham received a report on Morse's condition from Brigadier General George T. Torney, chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery of the army. This report was sent to the White House for the president's consideration. While the substance of the report was not disclosed, it is understood to show that Morse is rapidly losing strength and his condition is becoming critical.

SPANISH ASSEMBLY REOPENS.

Government Will Ask Approval of 1912 Budget.

Madrid, Jan. 18.—The cortes will reopen today. The government intends obtaining approval of the legislature for adopting last year's budget estimates for 1912.

The senate will take up immediately the position of Moroccan affairs, and a debate is expected to be precipitated on the relations between France and Spain.

Congress Session Until August.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Both Democratic and Republican leaders in the house of representatives agree that there was little likelihood of congress adjourning before August.

SISTERS CALM, PUPILS IN PANIC

Convent Damaged by Explosion In Basement.

LEAD 150 TOTS TO SAFETY

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 18.—Following a boiler explosion in the basement of the convent at Spring and Charles streets, West Hoboken, the sisters of the Holy Rosary controlled a panic among their 150 pupils and prevented a single accident or injury.

The force of the blast was so great that windows in buildings two blocks away were shattered and in the convent itself there was hardly a whole pane of glass left.

The children were at their studies when the crash came. The building rocked until it seemed about to collapse. Screams echoed through the corridors.

Sister Catherine, the superior of the convent, moved swiftly to the fire bell and sounded the call for fire drill. The other thirteen sisters, speaking gently and smiling, got the frightened little folk into file, and all marched out through a cloud of steam.

John Ford, the janitor of the free public library, near by, heard the explosion and rushed to the convent. He volunteered to crawl into the basement and shut off the steam. Wrapping himself heavily, he entered, but before he accomplished his purpose he was badly scalded.

When the steam had cleared it was found that the kitchen was in a state of wreck and that the other parts of the building were in no condition to house the children.

This presented a grave problem to the sisters, as most of the pupils are resident in the convent. Anthony Ricco, one of the leading contractors of West Hoboken, came to their aid and opened the doors of his immense house on High street to the little ones. Mr. Ricco has fifteen children of his own, but the house was big enough to accommodate the additional 150.

WOUNDED MAN, DYING, WEDS.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 18.—Lying in St. Joseph's hospital here with fifteen wounds in his intestines and not expected to live, Frank Deegan was married to Miss Catherine McDonald of 977 Dean street, Brooklyn, by the Rev. Father Julian of the hospital in the presence of a nurse and County Detective Blauvelt.

Deegan was wounded in a fight at Waldwick, N. J., by Frederick Schneider, the police allege, early Sunday morning, and a newspaper report of the affair was the first inkling the young woman had of the whereabouts of Deegan, to whom, she says, she became engaged last year in Brooklyn. In September, however, he left Brooklyn, she declares, and she could discover no trace of him.

The young woman came here and made arrangements for the wedding.

FINES NEGLIGENT SHERIFF.

Costs Kelly of Hudson County $50 For Not Holding Prisoners.

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 18.—James J. Kelly, sheriff of Hudson county, N. J., up to Jan. 1, was found guilty of negligently allowing prisoners to escape. He was fined $50 in the court of common pleas in Jersey City.

Last fall raids were made on north Hudson resorts by detectives from the office of Prosecutor Garven. Four resort keepers were taken to the county jail, but as there had been no commitment by a magistrate Sheriff Kelly refused to hold the prisoners overnight. His counsel advised this action.

The court held that the sheriff acted in violation of the law, although not with criminal intent.

CUPID'S QUEER HIDING PLACE.

Red Bank, N. J., Jan. 18.—John S. Bainton of Borden street was unpacking at Eisner's clothing factory in Red Bank three years ago when he came upon a slip of paper on which was written "Miss Mary Flanders, Burlington, Vt."

A few days later Miss Flanders got a letter from Bainton. The return mail brought Bainton a reply. A regular correspondence was begun and soon photographs were exchanged.

LONGPORT'S MAYOR IS 23.

PRINCETON HAS HAD NOTABLE PRESIDENTS

Institution Trebled In Numbers During Incumbency of James McCosh.

THE choice of Dr. John Grier Hibben as president of Princeton recalls the fact that the university has had many great presidents. Some of the most earnest and successful presidents in the list, such as John Witherspoon in the eighteenth century and James McCosh, who came almost precisely a century after him, were Scots.

While the list contains the names of famous native Americans as well, it would be hard to say whether Princeton's old world presidents or those taken from among the New England divines did more to advance the condition of the college. In general the famous Princeton college presidents have been those who stayed by the institution for long terms of years. They usually have ended their careers working until the time was ripe for their retirement.

The Rev. Aaron Burr, the famous Aaron's father, was an instance of this. He was made president at the time when the removal of the young institution from Elizabeth to the present site was still a project. Nor was it known by the title so familiarized of late by the college cheer of nowadays. It began its usefulness under the humble if picturesque title of the Log college. And until quite recent years the name of College of the State of New Jersey for formal uses stuck to it.

President Burr had more to do with the upbuilding of the college than can well be realized without bearing in mind the great distance that the Jersey institution has traveled from its small beginnings.

Of most of the Princeton presidents it is true that each has contributed something during his term of office to the permanent advancement of the university. President Burr's contribution was in the outline of university working plans with schedule of courses, rules of government, and so on. It was the misfortune of Jonathan Edwards, the otherwise famous Connecticut Calvinist, that he died too soon to leave any deep mark on the college in formation.

The Princeton Library.

Samuel Finley was the chief administrator, chief magistrate, chief college patriot and chief scholar and teacher at the institution, after the fashion of the college presidents of old. He ruled and taught from 1761 to 1766.

John Witherspoon, the next succeeding president, signed the Declaration of Independence in his quality not of university head, but of American Whig and revolutionary. And yet he was a native of Scotland and dwelt there for the whole first part of his life. He was a descendant of John Knox on his mother's side. As a young man he witnessed some of the fighting in the rebellion of 1745 and was even made prisoner by mistake in the course of one of the battles. They brought him over from Scotland to take the presidency of Princeton, which he accepted after a first refusal.

Witherspoon as a tax gatherer from the philanthropic must have, despite his grand old time scholastic airs, looked astonishingly like a modern college president—his methods were so similar. His tour to raise funds netted the institution many a pound sterling.

Witherspoon a Signer.

A heroic statue of Witherspoon may be recalled by those who know Fairmount park, Philadelphia. The statue was put there in the Centennial year, 1876. Witherspoon did several things to deserve it. He served in the Continental congress, signed the Declaration of Independence and acted on sundry important committees. On May 17, 1776, the day of appointed fasting and prayer in the colonies, he preached a sermon at the college on "The Dominion of Providence Over the Passions of Men," which is pronounced by those who have read it to be a remarkable and vigorous Whig argument against the British.

Witherspoon labored at the head of Princeton until the end of his life, though in his later years he ceased teaching and took to a farm near by the college. His memory is kept in note by Witherspoon hall among the present university buildings. Only four presidents intervened between Witherspoon and his like in the nineteenth century, McCosh. They were Samuel Stanhope Smith, who inaugurated the first instruction in chemistry given in an American college; Ashbel Green, who ruled from 1812 to 1822; James Carahan, during whose thirty-one years' tenure a law school was maintained from 1846 to 1852 and finally abandoned for lack of funds, and John MacLean, president through the civil war.

Great Work of McCosh.

James McCosh, the president of the majority of the elder Princeton graduates of today, left as deep as impression on the university as any of those who had preceded him, and a successor so stimulating to the great school has not yet been found. Dr. McCosh was born in Scotland in 1811 and lived there all his life until called oversea to Princeton in 1868. He was a keen student and writer and an advocate of the views of Presbyterianism in that field between science and dogmatism opened up by the Darwinian ideas.

A divine, like all the early presidents of Princeton, McCosh wrote books that laymen read. It is said that his first important preferment came from the Earl of Clarendon's reading one of his books, "The Method of Divine Government," in 1862. The full story is that the earl, at that time lord lieutenant of Ireland, took up the book after breakfast one Sunday morning, read on and on and completely forgot about church until it was too late and service all over. At all events, the sequel brought McCosh an appointment as professor in Queen's college, Ireland.

His fame was carried to this country with his books. In 1868 the college trustees decided on his account to go once more abroad for a president. Dr. McCosh differed from his talented prototype, Witherspoon, in coming to this country not just before but just after a great war. He fell upon peaceful times. Public affairs outside of the institution called forth little of his energies. But at Princeton he was a great and continual leader. The graduates of the classes from 1869 to 1888, and indeed to his death, remember him as they do nothing else about their college experience. Later graduates who came too late to have McCosh are looked upon with a certain pity.

Fully one-third of the student body used to attend the lectures of McCosh when he was at the height of his powers, for he was an educator of the old school, not only the ruler of the scholastic realm, but its first and foremost professor.

Patton and Wilson.

Men who are acquainted with modern Princeton and its hosts of nurselings and pedagogues may not be aware how much of this magnitude came during McCosh's time. When the Scottish divine took hold in 1868 Princeton had sixteen professors and but 264 students. From that starting point the institution roughly trebled in numbers during his incumbency. Like growth took place in the Princeton finances, while the campus, speaking architecturally, might almost be said to date from his time.

When the successful and beloved president resigned in the spring of 1888 it was because of advancing years and not to take up any other line of activity. He spent his last days at Princeton and remained identified with it to the end.

In his successor, Francis L. Patton, the university was ruled again by a divine of foreign birth. Dr. Patton is a native of Bermuda. Previous to his presidency and also since he taught in the Princeton Theological seminary.

President Wilson's term of office at Princeton proved that character and diplomacy must have their hands full to maintain order in the growing and changing institution. Great decisions regarding the university's future plans were taken during Dr. Wilson's brief term of office. Among these steps were the tutorial system and the planning of the graduate school.

RICH POLICEMAN TO RETIRE.

George W. Cromwell, believed to be one of the wealthiest policemen in Philadelphia, has just retired after forty-nine years in the service of the department of that city. He was never reprimanded.

His average salary has been less than $1,000 a year, and he will retire with the rank of sergeant, with more than $250,000. Cromwell made his money in real estate.

In the civil war, as a member of the famous Baxter fire zouaves, Sergeant Cromwell lost an arm at the battle of Antietam. He is seventy-one years old.

URGES GIRLS TO GET MEN.

Mrs. Barney-Hemmick of Washington, who last year at the age of sixty became the bride of Christian Hemmick, a clubman, aged twenty-six, declared that the girls of today are too slow and fail to take advantage of leap year.

"Leap year is a great institution," she said. "I wish it could be arranged some way so it could come every year. Girls should be more forward and progressive. Why should they not change from the defensive to the aggressive? Yes, girls, take advantage of your leap year opportunities and pray for leap year to come often."

TAFT URGES CONGRESS TO BE ECONOMICAL

Message Wants Merit In Government Service.

Washington, Jan. 18.—How the people of the United States can save millions of dollars annually in the operation of their governmental machinery was outlined by President Taft in a message to congress on "economy and efficiency in the government service."

"What the government does with nearly $1,000,000,000 each year," said the president, "is of as much concern to the average citizen as is the manner of obtaining this amount of money for the public use."

Probably the most radical proposal advanced by the president in his message was that all administrative officers of the government in the departments at Washington and in the field be put under the civil service, be removed from the influence of politics and that their terms of office be not limited, as at present, to four years. Such officers should not be appointed by the president with the necessity of senate confirmation, he said, but upon merit.

TRY TO BLOW UP BAPTISTERY

Pisa, Italy, Jan. 18.—A determined attempt was made here to blow up the famous baptistery, which was begun in 1153 and not completed until 1278. The building, which is entirely of marble, is opposite the famous cathedral and adjacent to the Leaning Tower. Two watchmen in making their rounds noticed smoke issuing from underneath the door of the baptistery. An investigation followed, and a burning fuse was discovered attached to a contrivance on the door panels filled with gunpowder.

The watchmen extinguished the burning fuse. This averted not only the probable destruction of the baptistery, but disaster to the marble cathedral and the Leaning Tower.

AMERICAN MAIL BURNS.

Cherbourgh, Jan. 18.—A special train from Paris with passengers who are to embark on the liner Philadelphia for New York caught fire halfway between the capital and this place. Three postal vans were burned, but none of the passenger coaches was touched. After the fire, which broke out in one of the mail cars, had been extinguished the three ruined vans were detached from the train, which then came on and arrived here four hours late.

It is feared that several important American mail bags were destroyed. There were 400 bags for the Philadelphia in the burned vans, and only half of these were saved.

MAY CHANGE HOMESTEAD LAW

Washington, Jan. 18.—A speech by Senator Borah of Idaho, in support of a bill he had introduced to revise the homestead entry land laws of the United States, contained much criticism of the administration of the land office. Senator Borah declared that much of the trouble could be cleared up by a change in the law, and he expressed confidence in the desire of Secretary Fisher to enforce the laws without undue hardship to the settler.

At the conclusion of Senator Borah's speech the president's economy message was read to the senate.

The imperviousness of the modern safe deposit vault to fire was conclusively demonstrated by the great calamity which occurred this week in New York City, and no stronger argument for the effectiveness of such vaults in protecting property can ever be presented than the millions of securities which survived the Equitable fire.

The Plainfield Trust Company's vaults are not only of the most modern and approved construction but are further protected by a fireproof building. Boxes for rent at $5 a year and upwards.

MEASURE FOR EXTENSION OF DELAWARE WIDENING

Washington, January 18.—A bill authorizing the appropriation of $164,000 for the deepening and widening of the channel in the Delaware River from Lalor street to the upper railroad bridge at Trenton, was introduced yesterday in the House by Representative Wood, of the Fourth district. The measure provides the channel shall be twelve feet deep.

Mr. Wood's bill is supplemental to the bill which he introduced two years ago, and which was passed, providing an appropriation of $265,000 for the widening and deepening of the Delaware between Allegheny avenue, Philadelphia, and Lalor street, Trenton. The bill introduced yesterday is planned as an aid to the city of Trenton in providing proper terminal facilities at the head of Delaware navigation. If the improvement of the river was stopped at Lalor street it would be impossible to provide adequate docking facilities for the vessels that will come up the Delaware when the channel is improved. Between Lalor street and the upper railroad bridge the city can acquire sufficient property for terminal purposes, and is understood to have $100,000 available for such purposes. The bill also carries authority for an annual outlay of $5,000 for maintenance charges.

LOCAL OPTIONISTS TO PLAN NEW CAMPAIGN

Trenton, Jan. 18.—Several hundred local optionists from all parts of New Jersey are expected here tomorrow, when the second annual convention of the State Anti-Saloon League is held in the State Street Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. Edwin I. Stearns, formerly of Matawan, the new State superintendent, will be introduced to the delegates to outline a new type of work for a local option law in New Jersey, and in several ways the convention is expected to be the most important gathering ever held in Trenton in the interest of home rule on the liquor question.

State leaders of the movement say there is much evidence of a big increase in local option sentiment in New Jersey in the last few months, and declare that the general political shakeup the State has had will make it much harder for the liquor interests to control elections. In addition, they say that sagacious political leaders in parts of the State that have been notorious for political corruption are sidestepping alliances with rum interests, which they recognize as having had much to do with bringing their organizations into discredit.

The Rev. Mr. Stearns, the new superintendent, has some advanced plans to bring before the convention, which are expected to produce some surprising results in the political field this year. The Rev. Dr. P. A. Baker, of Washington, national superintendent of the anti-saloon work, will be another speaker at the convention, of which there will be three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening.

Attorney Harold B. Wells, of Bordentown, will deliver an important address at the morning session on "The Initiative and Referendum and the Saloon." Other morning speakers will be the Rev. H. J. Zelly, the Rev. Dr. I. L. Wood, the Rev. William T. Snead, Fillmore Condit, State president; the Rev. S. Munroe VanSant, the Rev. W. H. Morgan and Samuel Wilson.

Important subjects for discussion by delegates and the men who will lead in the debates are "The League's Place on the Church Program," the Rev. D. F. Diefendorf; "The Social Problem and the Saloon," T. Alex Cairns; "Organization" G. Rowland Munroe; "Publicity—Wet and Dry," Joseph H. Collier, editor of the Issue; "The Down-and-Outs," E. G. Randal; "Putting Them Out of Business," the Rev. W. S. MacRorie; "The Campaign Speech," the Rev. Arthur D. Hilton; "The Pastor and the League," the Rev. J. T. Reeve.

The local option situation in south Jersey will be summed up by Senator J. Warren Davis, of Salem county, and at the evening session William H. Bery, former State treasurer of Pennsylvania, will deliver the principal address.

Rahway Budget, $76,950.

The annual tax budget, calling for $76,950, exclusive of the school tax, has been passed by the Common Council of Rahway. The deadlock over the appointment of a street commissioner remains unbroken. The Council vote, it is understood, stands four each for Noah Moffett and Silas K. Tombs, with one councilman refusing to vote for either. This man says he will vote for Tombs if he will agree to give up his business and devote his whole time to the office.

Entertained Five Hundred Club.

The P. T. C. Five Hundred Club was entertained last night by Mrs. E. A. Giddes, of Grove street. At the conclusion of play first prize was awarded Mrs. W. W. Warnock and the second to Mrs. W. N. Tier. A social hour with refreshments rounded out the evening's enjoyment.

In a fire such as that of the Equitable building, what would happen to the office safe that the average business man puts so much faith in? A word to those who are willing to profit by others costly experience: rent a box in the fire and burglar proof vault of The State Trust Company and thus insure your valuables against the day when a similar catastrophe may visit the building in which your office is located. Our Manganese Steel Vault is supported on its own concrete foundation and is surrounded by concrete and even though our building should burn to the ground, the vault and contents would stand intact.

The cost is but $5.00 per year, little enough for the protection and peace of mind that it will afford.

CHIEF REPORTS ON FIRES IN ELIZABETH.

Fire Chief August Gerstung, of Elizabeth, is preparing his annual report, which will show that during 1911 the city suffered fire losses amounting to $77,426.83. The insurance on buildings in which conflagrations occurred was $1,101,277, showing that the department saved more than $1,000,000 from total destruction. The losses are some $3,000 less than in 1910.

The report will show that during the year the department was called out on 281 occasions, and that, as usual, the month of March saw the greatest fire loss, accounted for by the high winds that prevail at that time of the year.

The losses of other years, with one exception, greatly exceed those which will be set forth in the report for this year. In 1905 damage by conflagrations amounted to only $38,000, deemed by the authorities to be an extraordinary low figure.

ILL WITH PNEUMONIA AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT.

Otto Benesch, of Mountainside, is seriously ill with pneumonia at his home as the result of the shock and exposure which followed the automobile accident on Mountain avenue on the night of December 26, when Mr. Benesch and his wife were run into by an automobile belonging to a Mr. Boehm, of Somerville.

The automobile was driven by a young man thought to be the son of Mr. Boehm, and the borough authorities are now trying to place him under arrest for driving without a license.

The Y. W. C. A. will give a straw-ride Saturday night, starting from the association at 7:30 o'clock. Those wishing to join in the ride are requested to leave their names at the association by tomorrow noon.

CHURCH MUST FACE 'SOCIAL' PROBLEM

REV. MR. POWELL'S OPINION

A. B. Beers, Director for 21 Years and Secretary for 16, Resigns—To Be 21 Directors Instead of 16—Election Later.

That the relation of religion to society, and not the scientific question, is the centre of interest today, was the declaration of Rev. John Powell, pastor of the Park Presbyterian church, Newark, at the annual meeting and banquet of the Young Men's Christian Association, last night, in his stirring talk on "The Church and the Social Problem." "We are face to face with the greatest problem ever before the church," he said. "From our public libraries 60 per cent. of the books in use treat of the social question.

"Never before has there been so much organization. There are 8,000,000 members of labor unions and 20,000,000 people are following socialism, while there is scarcely a nation in Europe that is not trembling. In a recent Congress twenty-eight bills were passed aimed at government control, industrial and social. This is the age of the social question. Who shall give leadership to it. It is the question of the hour. Shall it be Christ or anti-Christ. The Christian church shall give leadership to the movement.

"There are three important things to be considered: First, what the social problem is; secondly, the relation of religion to the problem, and thirdly, what is one's duty. Some have said that it is a problem of systems, but the fact is it is problem of the Spirit, a problem in relationship, kindness, love, thoughtfulness through Christ. The social problem is to tell men how to run their lives, not their business.

"God's first question to Adam was 'Adam where art thou?' and to Cain 'Where is thy brother?' Christianity is the cause of the presence of the social problem and the only cure of the problem is through the law of regeneration. What we want are men who would rather die than violate one of God's laws. The church must get her hand on the throttle valve of the social problem. Get into politics, not in the party sense, but in the broadest sense.

"The church and the Y. M. C. A. ought to know what this social problem is and be prepared to meet it. This relation of man to man demands the greatest thought and attention."

There were about one hundred members of the association and friends at the banquet, which was served in the large hall by Mrs. Henry Johnson. There was a short business session prior to the address, when James McClymont, William D. Murray, J. H. Manning, F. R. Stevens, F. E. Smith and Howard McWilliams were chosen as directors for three years. Mr. McWilliams takes the place of A. B. Beers, who had been a director for twenty-one years and secretary for sixteen years. A rising vote of thanks was given to him for his faithful services. The new board will meet February 1 to elect officers.

The constitution was amended providing for twenty-one directors, instead of eighteen, and doing away with the provision that not more than seven members of the board shall be of one religious faith; also that a director's term shall expire upon his failure to attend three consecutive meetings.

General Secretary H. E. Parker called the attention of the members to the eight-day campaign of the "Men and Religion Movement" to be held in Newark, beginning January 25, and urged all who can to attend these meetings. During the business session a vote of thanks was given to the press of the city for the publication of association news.

James E. Kimball, the president, who presided last night, made an address reviewing briefly the work of the different departments for the year, showing the excellent progress made in each one, together with the prospects for the coming year.

The report of H. E. Parker, the general secretary of the association, made at the association's annual banquet last night, was as follows:

"It is safe to say that our membership is today better organized than at any time during my connection with the association, particularly in the boys' department, where the boys are carefully grouped in natural divisions—streets boys, employed boys, grammar school, high school and Leal's School. Every one of these groups is as large and in some cases larger than we can properly care for. The membership now stands at: Men,

FANWOOD-TO-RARITAN TRUNK SEWER SYSTEM

Representatives of Seven of the Eight Communities Which Would Benefit Favor That Solution of Disposal Problem at Conference.

A trunk line sewer to tidewater is the only solution to the problem of sewage disposal now confronting Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Fanwood and Fanwood Township, according to consensus of opinions expressed by representatives of each of these places, with the exception of North Plainfield, at a meeting in Dunellen last night. Consequently a motion was carried to have committees appointed by the governing bodies of each municipality to act as a joint committee and this body will meet in Plainfield Thursday, February 15, to consider the cost of erecting a trunk line.

Those speaking in favor of the scheme were Mayor Moy, of Plainfield; Mayor Stelle, of Somerville; former Somerset County Prosecutor John F. Reger, representing the Board of Commissioners of Raritan; Oscar Potts, representing Bound Brookfll E. F. Feickert and Charles P. Sebring, from Greenbrook; L. T. Churchill, of Dunellen, for Fanwood; Wilson Frederick, former Mayor Harry Swackhamer, Councilman Charles F. Starker and Borough Clerk William Deering for Dunellen. Mayor Richards, of Dunellen, presided. H. W. Marshall, of Plainfield, was also present.

The impression that Dunellen would agree to the proposed joint plant of this city and North Plainfield to be located on the Cramer farm was dispelled in no unmistakable terms the widely circulated assertion of a prominent North Plainfielder to the contrary notwithstanding. Mr. Feickert mentioned the legal obstacles thrown in the way of the borough last summer against locating the disposal works on the Zvolenck farm and said that the same opposition would be met for the Cramer farm site, mentioning a number of wealthy residents in the section who have already engaged counsel. Among them are Mrs. Brown, Isaac Brokaw, Stephen Palmer and Dr. Bunker.

Other speakers emphasized the opposition of Dunellen and Greenbrook to the location of the disposal works on the Cramer farm and Mayor Moy expressed surprise when called upon, as he said that he and others had been led to believe that the site was acceptable to these communities. This turned the attention to the Zvolneck farm and its availability, Dunellen and Greenbrook giving assurance that that site would not meet with opposition from them. Charles P. Sebring and Oscar Potts rushed to the defence of residents of the Sebring's Mills section and Bound Brook. Both of them stated that their people are prepared to put up just as stubborn a fight as last summer when they prevented the plant being located there.

Mayor Moy said that by listening he head learned more about the feelings of the different communities than he had known before but said that every improvement worked a hardship on somebody. The thing to do then in his opinion was to put the plant where it was objectionable to the least number. He mentioned the cost of a sewer to tidewater and the possibilities of legal obstacles thrown in the way of one, but concluded by saying that "if necessary to run it to tidewater it is reasonable."

Each speaker had concluded by expressing his opinion on the advisability of a trunk line. Mr. Reger and Mayor Steele had told of their towns dumping the raw sewage into the Raritan river and of having been notified to cease the practice by the State Board of Health. The time limit when this method must be discontinued is rapidly drawing near, they said, and in order to bring the matter properly before the meeting Mr. Reger made a motion that each municipality represented should appoint a committee and empower it to authorize the expenditure of the town's prorata share for having plans and estimates made of a suitable trunk line schemed.

Former Mayor Swackhamer recalled that all this had been done several years ago and the maps and plans with the cost estimated are still in existence. The estimated cost as near as he could remember was $800,000 exclusive of a disposal plant, which was to have been located on the salt meadows between Bound Brook and New Brunswick.

These plans are to be procured and will be discussed at the meeting of the whole committee in Plainfield. Another public meeting will then be called to which this committee will report. This will be done prior to Tuesday, February 27, which date the State Board of Health has set for the hearing.

BRODHEAD MAY GET TAX BOARD PLACE

Governor Wilson Will Fill Vacancy Caused by Expiration of Andrews' Term.

MEMBERS WANT MORE PAY

Seek Salary of $2,000 a Year, But Their Chances Are Slim—Would Devote Entire Time to the Office Work.

The Union County Board for the Equalization of Tax Assessments will organize in April with two Democratic and one Republican members. The officers to be elected are a president and a secretary. The present salary of each member of the board and of the secretary is $1,500 a year. The positions occupy but part of the time of each official under the present system.

It is reported that an effort will be made during the present session of the Legislature to increase the salary connected with the offices to $2,000 a year and require that the incumbents spend all of their time in the performance of their duties. It is not generally believed that this proposition will be considered seriously, however, as it would no doubt be troublesome for the occupants of the offices to keep busy unless they had outside employment.

Governor Wilson will have the appointment of a Democratic member of the taxation board between now and April, to succeed F. H. Andrews, of this city, whose term expires. There are several candidates for the position, among them former Assemblyman Calvin E. Brodhead, of this city; Councilman Patrick J. Reville, of this city; Leroy J. Ellis, president of the Plainfield Democratic Club, and former vice-chairman of the county committee; and former Assemblyman Hugh J. McLoughlin, of Elizabeth. The last four mentioned were active in the farcical attempt to organize a Woodrow Wilson League in Elizabeth several days ago, but Mr. Brodhead was not present on that occasion. Mr. Reville declined election to any office in the league because he was a candidate for office and Mr. McLoughlin also announced that he was in a position that would not permit him to accept office in the league.

Mr. Brodhead and Mr. McLoughlin were both close to Governor Wilson when they were in the Assembly, and the appointment now seems to be between them, with the chances favoring the former.

The members of the board who hold over are C. C. Pollard, of Elizabeth, Republican, and now president, and Mulford M. Scudder, of Westfield, Democrat. Sidney W. Eldridge, of Elizabeth, is now secretary. It is expected that when the board reorganizes in April Mr. Scudder will be elected president. Little has been heard of any candidates for the secretaryship, but it is expected that several of them will bob up before long.

"FELLOWSHIP SUPPER" FOR M. E. BROTHERHOOD.

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church is arranging for a "fellowship supper" to be given in Vincent chapel, Friday night, January 26. The Ladies' Aid Society will have charge of the supper, preparing the turkey and trimmings. The principal speaker of the evening will be Col. Elijah W. Halford, U. S. A., who will give his famous talk on "The Man and His Church." Col. Halford was private secretary to the late President Harrison and was formerly editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean. In addition to the colonel there will be another speaker, whose name will be announced later.

The affair will be informal and there will be good music, instrumental and vocal by the Queen City Quartet. Those interested in the affair can secure further information and tickets from members of the Brotherhood.

NO LIABILITY FOR SERVANTS' BOSSES

AFFECT 'HELP' AND CLERKS

At Monday night's session of the Legislature, Assemblyman William deL. R. Anderson, of Watchung, will introduce a bill to amend the Employers' Liability Act. The proposed amendment will remove farm laborers, domestic servants and clerical workers from the scope of the law.

The bill is virtually a companion measure to that already introduced into the upper house by Senator Gaunt, but goes a step further in including clerical workers in the elimination. The Senate amendment affects only farm laborers and domestic servants. Assemblyman Anderson said today that Senator Gaunt was in favor of his amplification of the amendment, and would accept it when the bills came up for action.

"The amendments are designed to make the law what it was really designed to be," said Assemblyman Anderson. "The measure was meant to protect employees of corporate industries. The American home is not a cold-blooded corporation, and it is something bordering on insult to the householder to class him with soulless corporations. Aside from the sentiment of the amendments, it is a fact that the classes of employees eliminated from the provisions of the law are not engaged in hazardous callings. Everyone knows just about what chances there are of injury about a household, and the average clerk's opportunity to figure in a catastrophe incident to his work is confined to the collapse of his desk chair."

Supporters of the amendments expect a fight on them by the accident insurance companies. It is pointed out by the friends of the measures that the insurance companies have a rich field for business among the very class of employers the amendments seek to relieve. They will have to pay a sizeable percentage of the policies taken out by shop and factory heads, which will cut down their earnings, but, the bills' supporters say, the premiums paid by employers of domestic labor and clerical help will be so much "velvet," because of the scarcity of accidents among the class of risks covered. It is said that representatives of the accident insurance interests began to show their hand very soon after the Gaunt bill was introduced.

COURT PLACES THREE YOUTHS ON PROBATION

Edward Murphy, of Arlington avenue; Edward Hamilton, of Watchung avenue, and Albert Vail, of East Second street the three youths who pleaded non vult to indictments for burglarizing the tailor shop of Benjamin Estrin, on Somerset street, early last month, were arraigned for sentence before Judge Clarence Case in the Somerset county court at Somerville this morning. Murphy and Vail were fined $20 each and placed on probation for two years and Hamilton was fined $25 and placed on probation for three years.

Judge William G. DeMeza represented the prisoners and made a plea for clemency on the grounds that this was their first offence and owing to the ages. Murphy and Vail are each sixteen while Hamilton is two years younger.

Cramer Option Conference.

Owing to the injury received by a fall Tuesday night, Mayor Clark, of North Plainfield, is remaining at his home and the conference between himself and Councilman Woolston regarding the paper giving the selling rights of the Cramer farm to the latter's son, Howard Woolston, was not held yesterday. When seen this morning, Mr. Woolston stated that there was no necessity for haste and the conference would be held at the convenience of himself and the chief executive of the borough.

CHIEF DOANE IN PERIL AT DESTRUCTIVE BLAZE

Scorched Leading Volunteers in Saving Furniture From Flames That Destroyed old Randolph House in So. Plainfield this Afternoon.

Chief T. O. Doane is minus eyebrows, eyelashes, a portion of his moustache and some hair, as the result of a narrow escape from serious injury at a fire which totally destroyed the old David Randolph farm house on Maple avenue shortly after noon today.

A telephone message to the chief while he was a lunch brought the information that the landmark was in flames. It is out of the city limits but the South Plainfield firemen asked him to come out and direct the fight to save the building.

When Chief Doane arrived at the scene nothing had been done to save the household furnishings, and a glance showed him that the old dwelling was doomed. There was no means of getting water in sufficient quantity to be effective.

Leading a number of volunteers, he hastened inside. They succeeded in getting out considerable furniture including a piano and other costly articles.

The flames were licking up things in all directions. The chief dodged tongues of fire and went where he didn't feel he ought to order the volunteers. He didn't dodge quickly enough a few times, and had to pause now and then to beat out fire on his clothes, and in his hair. Once or twice it looked as if he was to suffer serious injury but the veteran firefighter escaped with a singeing.

"It was hot work while it lasted," was all he would say in reply to the admiring and solicitious remarks by the volunteers.

The building was burned to the ground. It was occupied by John Reeve. The fire was caused by an upset stove.

The department was summoned on a still alarm last night to the home of Miss E. B. Hartridge on Plainfield avenue. Hose Company No. 3 was sent by Chief Doane, who also went out and hunted an hour and a half without discovering what caused the smell of smoke. It has since been learned that it was caused by the furnace.

Early this morning the people living in the flat above Greer and Greenwood's store on East Front street smelled smoke and 'phoned for the firemen. An over-heated piece of wood caused the smoke. There was no fire.

'D.J.C.' ORGANIZES BORO ANANIAS CLUB

MAKES FORMAL STATEMENT

Tints, insinuations, rumors, reports of rumors and rumors of reports that David J. Carney's North Plainfield "Review" is not David J.'s own undivided possession received attention from Editor Carney today on the editorial page of "The Review."

Innuendos as to municipal patronage from Mayor Smalley were also dealt with. So was gossip as to the ownership of Mr. Carney's Monarch Printing Company.

Mr. Carney's denial of all the whispered reports respecting his business ventures was not printed as an editorial. It appeared under a boldface "NOTICE" surrounded by reversed rules, and hints strongly of a restrained impulse to put some folks in the short-and-ugly category.

"NOTICE!

"There are a few irresponsible persons here in the borough who persist in attempting to place the real ownership of The Review on others than to whom it belongs. We want to say here, with all the frankness at our command, that this paper belongs solely to one individual and he only voices its views. Another word in this connection. During the entire administration of former Mayor Smalley—just closed—there never was a printing job of any description done by the present owner of The Review for the Borough of North Plainfield.

"D. J. CARNEY.

"Owner of The Review.

"This also applies to the Monarch Printing Co."

"What about it?" queried Mr. Carney when sought by one seeking comment. "Nothing more about it! It speaks for itself. Why, essence-of-unrestrained-putrid-and--soulless-prevarication! let the double-be-glorified admirable citizens who feel the shoe pinch read what I have printed and guess what I think of 'em."

And Editor Carney's carnation was still quivering with indignation as the seeker after comment went away.

A non-suit was granted James H. Carson in the District Court yesterday afternoon by Judge William Newcorn in the suit brought by Edward Dacey to recover a safe formerly owned by the National Mining and Leasing Company.

Both Mr. Dacey and Mr. Carson had bargained with officials of the concern at the time of its reorganization for the purchase of the safe and money for it had been taken from both owing to a misunderstanding between Jasper Cadmus and L. L. Loveland, the two directors of the company having in charge the selling of the safe.

RANSACKS HOUSE; THIEF'S LOOT LITTLE

Otis E. Hovey's Residence is Entered For Second Time Within Six Months.

FAMILY WAS IN NEW YORK

Trinkets and Jewelry Valued at $100 the Only Loss—Burglar Jimmied His Way Through a Front Window.

Taking advantage of the family's absence from home, a thief jimmied his way through a front window into the residence of Otis E. Hovey, 204 West Seventh street, Wednesday night and stole trinkets and jewelry valued at $100. This is the second burglary the Hoveys have suffered within six months. Mrs. Hovey discovered the theft on her return from a stay in New York yesterday afternoon.

The thief turned the second floor of the house upside down in his search for plunder. He was evidently after money and small articles of jewelry only, and made no effort to gather what the sideboard or clothes closets might offer in the way of loot.

Mrs. Hovey and her daughter left the house Wednesday afternoon, to be gone overnight. Mr. Hovey had already left. Mrs. Hovey and Miss Hovey returned home shortly after noon yesterday.

They met evidence of the burglary on the front porch in the form of broken glass from the jimmied window. The lower rooms showed no trace of the thief, but every room on the second floor carried his trail. Contents of closets, drawers and boxes were scattered everywhere. Mrs. Hovey said today that the thief must have spent at least two hours on the raid.

Mrs. Hovey hasn't been able to tell yet just what is missing, but is sure that $100 will fully cover the loss. The members of the family had on them when they went away most of their valuable jewelry.

The chief things missing are a gun metal watch, a gold watch fob, a cameo brooch; a gold bar pin, a string of pearl beads; a coral brooch, a bangle bracelet made up of Turkish silver coins and a gold bracelet. The coin bracelet was unique and a pawnbroker will be able to "spot" it readily if it is offered to him.

From the nature of the theft the police are convinced that it was committed some time Wednesday night before 12 o'clock. They have a strong suspicion that the man who executed it was the one who robbed the house of H. S. Phillips, of 62 Duer street, Tuesday night.

Whoever he was, he was not a nervous workman. The window he pried open fronts on Seventh street, in the radius of a street lamp, and is in full view from the sidewalks on both sides of the thoroughfare. Two policemen passed the house several times during the night, but saw nothing to rouse their suspicions.

A sneakthief got into the Hovey house one night last August. He also made a slim haul.

MRS. CHRISTIAN KELLER DEAD IN HER 75TH YEAR.

After a long illness with a complication of diseases, Mrs. Christian Keller died this morning at her home on Harrison avenue in her seventy-fifth year. She was one of the most highly respected German-American residents of the borough, where she had resided a number of years.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Herman Klinsman and Mrs. Elizabeth Kreutzfelt; also six grandchildren and two nephews, Marshal Charles Keller and Herman Keller. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

Willing Workers Elect.

The Willing Workers, comprising the Sunday school class of Trinity Reformed church of which Horace J. Martin, Sr., is the teacher, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hansen, 615 East Seventh street, last night, when these officers were elected for the year: President, Miss Jean Lindsey; vice-president, Mrs. Woolley; secretary, Mrs. Lafayette Rosensteihl; treasurer, Mrs. Howard Allegar. A social hour followed, games were played and refreshments were served.

Two Suffer Strokes.

Word was received here yesterday of the serious illness of two prominent residents of Flemington, who are widely acquainted in this city. They are former postmaster William Boss and Tax Collector J. V. Smith. Both snuffered strokes of apoplexy early in the week and are in a critical condition.

HERO MEDAL AND CASH FOR ELIZABETHAN'S WIDOW

Pittsburgs, Jan. 19.—New Jersey is represented in the list of awards of "Carnegie heroes" made public yesterday. The widow of Edward S. Saunders, of Elizabeth, who was killed April 16, 1911, trying to save two women from death by a train, gets a silver medal, a pension of $40 a month and $5 per month additional for each of three children until each reaches the age of sixteen.

Edward S. Saunders, of Elizabeth, was nearly sixty years old when he lost his life in a heroic, but vain, attempt to save Ann E. Stone, seventy-seven, and Hannah C. Colyer, sixty, from being run over by a train. He was baggagemaster at the Elizabeth Avenue Station of the New York and Long Branch Railroad. The women had started to cross the tracks to board a local train when an express dashed through. Saunders saw their peril and ran to help them. He had seized one by the arm and turned her about when the train struck the group. All three were dead when picked up.

TAKE A BOUQUET TO YOUR COW AND GET MORE MILK.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—"There's nothing worse than a dejected cow," remarked Albert Manning, a scientific farmer of Otisville, in addressing the New York Agricultural Society Wednesday. "When a cow isn't in the right frame of mind she doesn't give nearly the quantity of milk that she ordinarily would."

Manning paused, evidently surprised to see several rural delegates smiling incredulously.

"It's a fact," he resumed rather heatedly. "I've known of farmers up in Orange county who find it profitable to put flowers in their cow stables. Such pleasant surroundings cheer the cows up and cause them to give more milk."

Might Be Horse Heaven.

Rahway, Jan. 19.—That there might be a heaven for the faithful, patient, abused horse was stated last night by Rev. Dr. Frank Moore, superintendent of the Rahway Reformatory, in addressing a meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Rev. L. Y. Graham, of the First Baptist church, reported on the work of the society. The printing of "The Horse's Prayer" in quantities, was oredered, together with instructions to place them in every stable in Rahway. Mrs. Ainsworth, the president, stated that during the past year more than 200 horses, dogs, cats, pigs and other animals had been cared for.

Ore Train Hit by Drill Engine.

A drill engine crashed in the rear end of the High Bridge branch ore train west of that place Wednesday and delayed traffic two hours on the main line of the Central. The ore train was on the eastbound track awaiting orders to enter the branch tracks when the collision occurred. Brakes on the drill failed to work, it is said. The drill engine, caboose and one car were damaged. No one was injured.

Glove Retains Severed Thumb.

When Victor Topkins, twelve years old, son of Dr. and Mrs. Isidore Topkins, grasped a rope used at the Demorest creamery, Califon, Wednesday to hoist ice, his right hand was jerked into a pulley and the thumb was cut off. The severed member was found in his torn glove when that article was picked up.

Califon Roads Blocked.

The continual high winds have closed many of the mountain roads about Califon with snow. Rural mail-carriers find it difficult to make their trips. Dairymen also experience difficulty in getting their product to the local creameries. It will cost the township several hundred dollars to remove the snow.

Rev. Theodore Francis, of Jersey City, will continue his series of Bible readings this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church at Duer street and Craig place. The subject will be the 13th chapter of Revelations.

STEAMER AND 53 OF CREW LOST IN STORM

Glasgow, Jan. 19.—Fifty-three members of the crew of the Hall line steamship Wistow Hall were drowned when that vessel was wrecked on a group of dangerous rocks off Northaven, Aberdeenshire. Captain Stoddart and three other members of the crew of fifty-six were rescued. Most of those drowned were Lascars.

The life saving crews of the Peterhead and Peterroll stations also did their utmost to save some of the crew of the doomed vessel, which was being driven rapidly on the rocks. Some of the crew were seen clinging to the rigging and other parts of the ship, but they were washed overboard one after another and swept into the sea.

Numerous bodies were washed ashore in a terribly battered condition. The mission house on shore was improvised as a mortuary chapel and is full of ghastly corpses.

Captain Stoddart says he ran into the storm on Monday night. His funnel went overboard on Tuesday, killing two men. The fires were swamped and the ship became unmanageable. She tossed helplessly in the sea on Tuesday and Wednesday. He used his rocket and distress signals continuously, but got no response from the shore until the vessel was nearing her doom.

STILL ON DYNAMITE TRAIL.

Los Angeles Prosecutor Says Evidence Was Easy to Gather.

New York, Jan. 19.—Captain John D. Fredericks, district attorney of Los Angeles county and prosecutor of the McNamara brothers, has been in New York several days on a trip through the east recuperating from the effects of his labors in connection with the McNamara trial. At the request of the National Association of Manufacturers Captain Fredericks spent several hours at the association's offices, where a hundred or more members of the association dropped in long enough to shake his hand and thank him for his efforts in bringing the dynamiting cases to a successful conclusion.

"The trail left by the dynamiters is so clear and easy to follow that I for one prefer just to keep on picking up this trail let it lead to whatever door it may than to start out in advance and try to implicate any one person," he said. "In that case the work becomes more artificial and more or less mechanical, but when you just follow the trail blazed before you it is exceedingly simple."

BROWN OUTFIGHTS ATTELL.

Featherweight Champion Escapes Knockout by Cleverness.

New York, Jan. 19.—Although Knockout Brown outfought and for that reason had the better of Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, in a ten round glove fight at the National Sporting club, he did not cover himself with glory.

Attell did not show his usual cleverness and seemed unable to keep away from Knockout's rushes, but the latter, strange to say, could not hit with enough power to secure a knockout and also missed many chances to win more decisively.

EUGENE KELLY DIES.

New York, Jan. 19.—Eugene Kelly, the banker, is dead at his apartments at Madison avenue and Sixtieth street. He was the oldest son of the late Eugene Kelly, the banker, and was born in New York fifty years ago.

Mr. Kelly was one of the oldest papal chamberlains, having been appointed early in the reign of Pope Leo XIII. and confirmed by Pope Pius X. immediately after his elevation to the papacy.

SIR EDWARD GREY.

British Foreign Secretary May Be Forced to Resign.

MAY FORCE GREY OUT.

Liberals Already Discussing Successor to Foreign Secretary.

London, Jan. 19.—The Liberals' discontent with Sir Edward Grey has reached a point where his successor is being discussed, and it is suggested that Ambassador James Bryce be brought from Washington and be put in charge of the foreign office.

Sir Edward Grey's policy is being severely criticised. He recently felt it necessary to deny through his secretaries that his policy is "aggressive or inspired by antagonism to Germany.

HEYBURN ATTACKS GOMPERS IN SENATE

Idaho Member Would Not Receive His Petition.

Washington, Jan. 19.—A sharp attack on President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was made in the senate by Senator Heyburn of Idaho, who protested that a communication from Mr. Gompers should not be received by the senate. He said that no communication should be accepted from that source after the revelations made in the McNamara case.

Mr. Heyburn had a colloquy with several senators who insisted that any citizen had a right to address a communication to the senate. The Idaho senator demanded to know if any senator could vouch for Gompers' citizenship.

There was no reply, but when it was explained that the letter was simply to transmit a protest against power presses in the bureau of engraving and printing Mr. Heyburn withdrew his objection.

STILL EVIDENCE OF DISCORD.

Cuban Veterans Are Believed to Be Sparring For Time.

Havana, Jan. 19.—The restoration of harmony between the various warring factions and of peace and order throughout Cuba seems to be assured unless it should turn out that the veterans are merely sparring for time. Veteran leaders declare that they would continue the patriotic work of ousting the "guerrillas" from office and purifying the government. After a meeting of the veterans, however, General Nunez, the president of that association, and Colonel Coronado, one of the leaders, visited the palace and had a long conference with President Gomez, at the conclusion of which the president gave out a conciliatory statement.

Despite the promises of the veterans, however, and the alleged harmony following the conference at the palace; there is plenty of evidence of discord and a belief prevails that the conflict has not been settled.

BIG EAGLES FIGHT.

Hastings People See Birds In Fierce Struggle.

Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., Jan. 19.—A fierce battle between two large eagles occurred here. The eagles were first noticed near the frozen river in South Hastings. They swooped down upon each other, rose to great heights and plunged back and forward.

The battle kept up for nearly an hour, until at last one of the combatants rose almost perpendicularly in the air and sailed off over the Palisades, while his antagonist, after floating about for a few moments, made a bee line for Nyack.

Mr. Yeager was returning from Glen Gardner with George A. Schuyler when their sleigh struck a snowdrift, throwing the occupants out. Mr. Yeager's knee was wrenched. Mr. Schuyler kept the frightened animal from running away and escaped injury.

Frozen to death, the body of Samuel W. Coad was found Wednesday near a spring on his property just south of Whitehouse. He was fifty-four years old.

Mrs. Coad, who is a nurse, left home Sunday to take charge of a case and Mr. Coad was keeping house alone. He had evidently gone to the spring to get a pail of water, became bewildered in the drifting snow and was overcome by the intense cold.

For a long time Mr. Coad had daily taken the mail from the post-office to one of his neighbors and when he did not appear Wednesday a search was instituted for him. The horse in the barn was nearly starved and three dogs in the house were in a pitiful condition.

STATE VILLAGE AT SKILLMAN.

There is no better institution in this country than the Village of Epileptics at Skillman in this State. The board of managers of that institution and Dr. David F. Weeks, its superintendent, are faithful and efficient. The epileptic is a most unfortunate person and the disease difficult to cure or even to improve. In speaking of the inmates Dr. Weeks in a late article says:

"Out of a hundred epileptics, studied at random, either in or out of institutions, from 5 to 10 per cent. will be found to be of unsound mind; 18 to 20 per cent. to be insane; 70 to 80 per cent. to have a mental disablement to some degree. Fully 80 per cent. of them will acquire the disease before they reach the age of twenty years."

This is a sad and serious statement. What does the State owe to such unfortunates? The answer is: Just such an institution as New Jersey maintains. Many suggest that education is wasted upon these defectives. But is it? Certainly not if it is of the right kind. It must be simple of course for these simple-minded people. Fifty per cent. of the inmates are able to work and are greatly benefited by employment, but they never can become self-supporting.

Dr. Weeks estimates that 50 per cent. of those admitted are able to do renumerative work; 25 per cent. are able to do house work only, and the remainder nothing at all. It is a great charity. It is a difficult and in some respects a dangerous work. It is one of the great institutions among the splendid system of public charitable institutions supported so generously by the people of this State. New Jersey has cause to be proud of all her penal and charitable institutions. No State has better.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

It is strange but true that the United States is far behind European countries in its exports to South America, though because of its closer proximity it should receive the great bulk of that trade. To remedy this unfortunate condition manufacturers in Philadelphia have organized to increase the trade with our Southern neighbors. The new company is at work obtaining a list of manufacturers and exporters to represent through its agents in South America and the plans are being perfected on no small scale. One hundred representatives, familiar with the languages and business conditions and demands in the various countries south of the Panama canal will be put in the field to work up business.

Up to this time the South American market has been left largely to the control of English and German firms, and American houses wishing to transact business with firms there were forced to do so under the unsatisfactory catalogue method, as the cost of maintaining a sales force is so great that few firms will risk it. The new company, we are told, plans to do business along a commission basis and no conflicting lines will be handled. The opening of the Panama Canal, it is considered, will add impetus to the trade between this country and its South American neighbors, and if the venture proves successful a steamship line with Philadelphia as the headquarters will be opened between this country and South American ports. Offices will be established in the principal ports at which the line will touch.

CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING

The Republican majority in the Legislature should approach the redistricting of the State for Congressmen with absolute freedom from an attempt at partisan advantage. Counties should be formed into districts by their contiguity and each district should be given the same population, as near as possible, without any regard to political results. No one can tell how any district will vote, politically, even next fall. No one cares much about politics and political differences these days, and the future is going to see more, rather than less, of non-political action. Whether a district is Republican or Democratic will depend upon the candidate and what legislation he says he will support, rather than how the vote was cast in its territory at any previous election. So the thing for the Republican Legislature to do is to convince the people that it made the districts on a fair and just basis. That will help the party more and give greater assurance of carrying each district for its candidate than any "juggling" will do.

While it is said that Postmaster General Hitchcock put out his plan to acquire the telegraph lines as an adjunct of the postal system of the country without the approval of the President, it cannot be truthfully said that his suggestion meets serious public objection. The movement for municipal ownership of water, gas and electric light is almost universal. A parcels post meets with almost universal approval, and the telegraph under Government management would probably prove popular. All that is needed to assure this is a certainty that civil service will prevail and political control, if they come under the Government, be eliminated, and the people will welcome public ownership of such utilities as those mentioned.

It is the belief of the Philadelphia Record that doctors will soon come around to newspaper advertising. "When ethics run counter to common sense," says that bright paper, "the are bound to be eventually revised to accord with the thought and spirit of the age."

If Plainfield really seriously objects to using Mr. Carnegie's money for library purposes it might turn it over to Elizabeth for a downtown branch building.—Elizabeth Journal.

Elizabeth always did have the "itching palm" and one not confined to politics alone.

In releasing Charles W. Morse from prison, President Taft has performed a merciful act. The ends of justice have been served and the dying man may spend his last hours on earth with a wife whose devotion to him has attracted the admiration of a nation.

We'll wager a red apple that the language employed by "Jim" Nugent in expressing his opinion of the Wilson-Harvey episode was not exactly as it appears in print.

The crisis in Cuba has passed and intervention is extremely improbable, but that should not deter the yellow journals from getting out a few war scare extras.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

The young men of Holy Cross church met at the parish house last night in response to an invitation from the rector, Rev. Wm. S. McCoy, and effected an organization by electing officers and appointing various committees. Mr. McCoy first outlined the purpose and aim of the organization, emphasizing the religious as well as the social side and adding that no man is properly developed unless he has both.

The club started with a charter membership of twenty-five and the list will be kept open until Thursday night, January 25. After that an initiation fee will be charged. These officers were elected last night: President, W. S. O'Brien; first vice-president, William Little; second vice-president, John Wilson; secretary, Russell Vail; treasurer, Earle Moran. These committees were also named: By-laws, Rev. W. S. McCoy, chairman; Philip Street, John Law, James Vail; entertainment, Eric Van-Norden, chairman; Earle Moran, William Coyle; membership, William Little, chairman; Clement Bechtel; Ray Kline, William Coyle, William VanHoesen; athletic, Clement Bechtel, George Morrison, Arthur Blazier, Victor Tillotson.

GRANTS PARDON TO BANKER MORSE

RUINED IN PANIC OF 1907.

President Frees Financier, Whose Health Is Broken and Whose Death Is but a Few Months Off—Was Convicted of Misapplying Funds.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Taft has granted a pardon to Charles W. Morse, the New York banker, serving a fifteen year term in the Atlanta federal prison.

Brigadier General George H. Torney, chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery of the army, gives Mr. Morse less than six months to live, and in General Torney's opinion death would come within thirty days if the former financier's confinement as a federal prisoner continued.

It was on this report by the army surgeon that President Taft finally decided to end Morse's confinement, which has extended over practically two years. Attorney General Wickersham concurred in this action and the commutation of the sentence.

Charles W. Morse was convicted in the federal court in New York city on Nov. 5, 1908, of having misapplied funds and made false entries in the books of the National Bank of North America, of which he was vice president. He was sentenced the next day to fifteen years in the federal prison at Atlanta.

Before the panic of 1907 Morse's operations were subject of comment in the financial district. The conservatives feared he was over extending himself. When the panic came he had a string of four important New York banks, the American Ice company and the Consolidated Steamship company, which was a merger of the coastwise companies. In the panic he was eliminated from everything and then came the criminal prosecution. In passing sentence Judge Hough said that Morse had used the bank and the depositors' money for his own speculative purposes. "If such schemes did not entail severe punishment the public is at the mercy of adventurers rich enough to buy up the control of a bank," he added.

MRS. C. W. MORSE.

In 1901 Morse married the divorced wife of Charles F. Dodge. In 1904 Dodge asserted that he had never been served in the divorce proceedings. The case got into courts. The validity of the Dodge-Morse marriage was upheld and Abe Hummel, Dodge's lawyer, was in jail for a year for perjury.

Morse made millions out of boosting the price of American Ice securities stock from 34 to 93 in less than a year.

NEAR END OF BANCROFT CASE

Sensational Divorce Trial May Be Decided Tonight.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 19.—The case of John Bancroft, Jr., who is suing his wife, Madeleine Dupont Bancroft, for a divorce on sensational statutory grounds, is nearing an end.

The husband has rested his case. The defense then began. The testimony must all be in by tonight, the court having ruled to this effect last week when the case started.

If the husband's application shall be denied, the counter suit for a divorce of the young wife will be tried also in chambers at the March term. This is likewise on statutory grounds.

Activities.

"In the religious work department the following activities have been promoted: Six street meetings held in June and July with an attendance of 2,000; Bible classes for men and boys, shop meetings in two shops attended by an average of seventy-five men per week.

"The association's educational classes include mechanical drawing, English, and orchestra. Health talks are given regularly at one of our factories. The extent of our educational work has been greatly increased by the motion picture entertainments, began in October last and given on every Saturday afternoon and evening.

"The work of the boys' department during the past year has been the most effective boys' work that it has been my privilege to review.

"During June, July and September the secretary gave a great deal of time to playground promotion. For two years the secretary has served the Playground Commission as its secretary, assisting in the selection of supervisors, acting as custodian of apparatus, conducting correspondence, preparing reports, etc. The possibilities of a work for colored men and boys are being investigated.

"Under the head of financial support I wish to make two statements: (1) We are not receiving the support that would be granted us if we sought for it; (2) We now raise as much as it would be necessary to raise if we were receiving the proportion of our budget that we would receive from a modern building.

"Length of service enters into the value of the service that an employed officer can give an association. He cannot do his best work until he has become a part of the community in which he lives and works. This association is in a position to do better work because it has on its force several men who have been with it for a term of years. I have nothing but praise for my associates.

"I am convinced that administratively financially, qualitatively, quantitatively, our work cannot be placed in a satisfactory basis in our present building, regardless of the amount of money spent upon it. In fact, it is an economic sin to continue to spend upward of $10,000 a year on a work of the volume that can be done here.

"Nearly two years ago, I submitted our building problem to C. S. Ward, the foremost association expert on building problems. I quote from his letter: 'It has invariably been found better to sell the old building and secure new ground and erect a completely new modern building. Ordinarily it is best to raise the money and erect the new building before selling the old one, as a well-located building increases in value every year.'

"We will not be numbered among the progressive associations of the State until we provide adequate equipment for our work."

Appointed Morgue Keepers.

Judge E. S. Atwater in the Court of Common Pleas at Elizabeth, today appointed the following as morgue keepers: George W. Cole, Plainfield; John E. High, Rahway, and John S. Martin, Elizabeth.

LITERARY SOCIAL HELD BY THE FIRST BAPTISTS.

Under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the First Baptist church, a "book and author social" was held in the lecture room, last night, each person representing the title of a book or the name of an author. Those who did not take part were supposed to guess the names and this afforded much amusement. Miss Carrie Coombs with thirty correct answers was awarded first honors. Some of the impersonations follow:

"Pirates," O. B. Leonard, a pie plate with the prices of different pies written thereon. Miss Ruth Martin as "The White Sister," dressed as a nun with large red embroidered crosses. Robin Brown as "The Man in Black," Miss Beeching as "Martha Washington," Miss Gertrude King as "Pocohontas," Cory Adams as "The Match Maker," Miss Carrie Coombs as "The Lady in the Red Robe," Sidney Mackey as "Fair but False," Miss Elizabeth Nash as "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," Miss King as "Old Rose and Silver," Mr. Briggs as "The Scarlet Letter."

After the guessing contest and the playing of several games, each matched cut cards for partners and then sat down to a salad luncheon served in the individual class rooms by the committee in charge. The refreshments were prepared by that culinary artist and chef, Charles Lee, and several assistants. The committee in charge comprised Miss Elizabeth Nash, Miss Carrie Demler, Sidney Mackey, Randolph Chandler, Harold Robins and Harry Woodland.

"Gee, but it's tough to have to tell a bight, pretty, attractive, fascinating girl, the fervor of whose proposal shows how undying her affection is, that you can only be a brother to her!"—Boston Globe.

INSTITUTION FOR BLIND OF STATE IS PROPOSED

Trenton, Jan. 19.—Provisions for an institution for the blind residents of New Jersey will be made in a bill to be introduced in the Senate next Monday night by Senator Harry D. Leavitt, of Morris county. The purpose of the institution will be to provide a place where the blind people may find work which they can do, or be trained to do, and through which they may earn money to support themselves.

Senator Leavitt said today that there was need for such an institution as there were many blind people willing to earn their own living if the State would provide the way. Under the Leavitt measure the State would provide the institution and pay suitable wages to the blind for whatever work they did, the income from the labor to be paid into the State treasury to help maintain the institution.

Having no institution for the blind of its own, New Jersey for several years has sent its blind children to institutions outside of this State, and has paid for their instruction and maintenance. During the last fiscal year the payments from the State treasury on this account amounted to $14,412.46. Of this sum $8,575.15 was paid to the New York institution for the blind; $4,338.03 to the Pennsylvania Training School for the blind, and $1,489.25 to the Arthur Home for the blind.

REGULATE FARE RATE ON A P. S. C. CAR LINE.

Trenton, Jan. 19.—The State Public Utility Commission issued an order yesterday afternoon regulating the rate of fare which the Public Service Railway Company may charge upon its trolley line between Paterson and Hoboken. The order fixes four fare zones between the two cities, and directs that the company shall not charge more than five cents in each zone. The order takes effect February 6.

The issuing of the order is the outcome of the complaint filed with the Utility Commission by F. A. Jones and the townships of Wallington, Carlstadt, Woodbridge and East Rutherford. The complaints were consolidated with that of East Rutherford, and a joint hearing took place. The zones fixed are as follows:

Westwardly, the first zone from the Hoboken terminal to the Hackensack River; second zone, from the Hackensack River to the Bergen county short cut; third zone, from Carlstadt station to Highland avenue, Passaic; fourth zone, from the Passaic River to Paterson.

Running eastwardly, the zones are the same, except reversed, and the fare is to be five cents in each zone.

Apartment Fire at Garwood.

The triple apartment house on Spruce street, Garwood, owned by Max Gordon, and occupied by five families, was considerably damaged by fire and water at 4 o'clock this morning. The loss is estimated at $1,000. The fire started in Mr. Gordon's apartment in a mysterious way. Before the Garwood and Westfield departments arrived, the tenants formed a bucket brigade and held the flames in check. The tenants are located elsewhere until repairs are made.

H. H. Pond secretary-treasurer of The Plainfield Trust Company, who has been detained at home with an attack of bronchitis, expects to be out tomorrow.

NO BASEBALL LEAGUE HERE NEXT SUMMER?

Although there has been no official announcements of the fact, the prospects for a Central New Jersey Baseball League this year, are slim according to the reports received from the various teams represented in last year's organization. It is a well known fact that the Plainfield club was the only one that made money last year and was able to break more than even. The other clubs lost money.

Manager Cawley, of Somerville, is reported as saying that that town will not put a team in the league, claiming that it had to put up money last year to make up the league's deficit. Manager Newhouse, of Bound Brook, stated a few days ago that as the grounds used last year have been sold, plans for having a league team would be abandoned. Word has also been received from High Bridge that that town will not have a team in the league, while today it was learned that the Roselle magnates have withdrawn from the management of the Westfield team and the fans there are trying to persuade either George Mallen or Phil Daab to assume the managerial reins.

Manager Ernest Dorflinger of the local team has not yet been heard from and his plans are not known. It is a safe prediction, however, that Plainfield will have a representative team, even though there is no league and the fans will have the opportunity of seing some good baseball during the summer.

Seventh-Day Baptist Services.

There will be no topic for the prayer meeting at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, tonight. Each person is expected to bring a testimony or some lesson suggested by an event in his or her life of the past week. A representative of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League will speak at the regular morning service tomorrow, and an offering will be received for the work. Dean Worden will lead the Junior C. E. Society meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the topic being, "The Angels and the Shepherds." The Men's Club will provide an entertainment Sunday night for the women of the church.

Home Department Social.

The visitors of the Home department of Trinity Reformed church enjoyed a social in the lecture room of the church, yesterday afternoon, following a short business session, and refreshments were served. Mrs. Winfield Scomp, Mrs. George Freiday, Mrs. Alburtus Swalm, Mrs. S. E. Randall, Mrs. W. F. Oliver, Mrs. Joseph Angerbauer, Mrs. L. C. Sheppard and Mrs. John Ross were appointed as a lookout committee, and Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, Mrs. H. B. MacDonald, Mrs. Allen Coddington and Mrs. Henry Heidloff a committee on a cake sale.

Westfield Board of Trade Elects.

The Westfield Board of Trade at its annual meeting, last night, elected these officers: President, Arthur N. Pierson; vice-presidents, James E. Grape, H. M. Mooney, Clifford Pearsall, F. H. Shaffer; secretary, Wallace Doying; treasurer, George Frutchey. It was voted to spend $300 in advertising Westfield in New York newspapers.

Scottish Band to Appear Here.

WARSHIPS TO BRING THE MAINE'S DEAD.

Armored Cruisers, Convoyed by Scout Cruisers, Will Carry the Bodies.

Although definite plans of the navy department for bringing back the bones of the men who perished aboard the battleship Maine will not be announced until word comes from the war department that there remain no more bones to be recovered, a tentative plan has been drawn to have two armored cruisers convoyed by scouts bring back the Maine's dead. The armored cruisers the Washington and the North Carolina and the three scout cruisers the Birmingham, the Chester and the Salem may be assigned to this duty.

The suggestion that the battleship Maine be given this assignment for sentimental reasons was made to Secretary Meyer, but difficulties have been encountered in putting this plan into execution. The Maine is now in reserve at the Philadelphia navy yard, and to send this ship to Havana would necessitate considerable rush work.

The suggestion that the battleships the Florida and the Utah, the two newest super-Dreadnoughts, be selected has the disadvantage of keeping these vessels away from the fleet formation, and the navy department's winter program calls for keeping the battleships as much as possible together for the tactical exercises which Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commander in chief, wishes to put the fleet through.

FOR CENTENARY OF PEACE.

Bill Appropriating $7,500,000 For a National Commission.

A plan for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the treaty of Ghent is pending before the senate committee on foreign relations in the shape of a bill appropriating $7,500,000 for that purpose. Senator Burton of Ohio framed the measure. It proposes that a commission of seven members, all citizens of the United States, one of whom shall be a retired engineer, shall be appointed by the president, to be known as the peace centenary celebration commission. The members of this commission shall serve for not more than four years without compensation. The duties of the commission would be to aid in the formulation and execution of a plan to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of peace among English speaking peoples in conjunction with any citizens' association of recognized standing either in the United States or in the British empire.

An invitation to the nations of the world to join in celebrating the Ghent treaty anniversary will be extended by the commission through the state department should the measure be favorably acted upon.

TO PRINT SULTAN'S RECORDS.

The authentic records of the terrible thirty-three years' reign of the deposed sultan of Turkey, Abdul Hamid, are to be given to the world.

The minutest search had failed to reveal their whereabouts until Abdul Hamid himself disclosed the secret chamber where every written record has been kept.

The Constantinople correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle declares that it has now been decided to publish the documents, which are complete, as Abdul Hamid never destroyed a letter or paper. Strangely enough, not a single line of these records was written by the sultan, who had a strong aversion to writing even his own name. His signet served to authorize the official documents, even death sentences.

ALL ST. HELENA TO AMERICA.

Plan to Bring 3,000 Residents of Napoleonic Isle to California.

When Napoleon surrendered to the British he asked permission to come to America. It was refused, and he was taken a prisoner to the barren island of St. Helena, 1,200 miles west of the African coast. If he were alive today he might have his wish to be brought to America granted.

Alfred Mosely, the English philanthropist, has been in consultation with immigration officials about a plan to bring the 3,000 poverty stricken residents of the rocky island to California. The British government withdrew its military station several years ago, and since then the residents have had a desperate struggle for existence.

MRS. CLEVELAND HONORED.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland, whose husband, the late President Cleveland, signed the original bill providing for the creation of national forests, was elected a life member of the American Forestry association.

Among those chosen as vice presidents were former President Roosevelt, former Forester Pinchot, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, Secretary of the Interior Fisher, Curtis Guild, American ambassador to Russia, and Governor Johnson of California.

John McDonough, of Randolph road, and Miss Hannah Bray, of Plainfield avenue, North Plainfield, were married yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Louise Bray, and the best man was Andrew McDonough a brother of the groom.

TAFT APPROVES TRUST INQUIRY

Believes "Atlantic Pool" Violates Sherman Act.

MONEY COMBINE PROBE TOO

Developments In House Committee on Rules Foreshadows Investigation of Three Great Commercial Interests. Stanley May Direct Harvester Inquiry Along With Steel.

Washington, Jan. 19.—That congress is to order inquiries into the inner workings of the foreign shipping interests—the "Atlantic pool"—the International Harvester company and the so called money trust is foreshadowed in late developments in the rules committee of the house.

It became known that President Taft approves, or at least does not disapprove, the proposed investigation into the activities of the foreign shipping combine, which, according to Representative Humphrey of Washington, a Republican, violates the Sherman act and the railroad rate law and imposes restrictions on American commerce that tends to a restraint of trade.

The president's attitude toward the shipping combine was disclosed at a hearing before the committee on rules. Mr. Humphrey made the statement that it was Mr. Taft's belief in case action was held to be desirable that any inquiry undertaken in the case of the foreign shipping combine should be made jointly by the house and senate. Mr. Humphrey declared that it was the president's opinion that as an investigation of the shipping combine would to some extent have a bearing on our international relations, the senate as a part of the treaty making power should have representation in such inquiry.

From what was learned the Democratic leaders of the house intend to follow the suggestion of the president. In fact, Representative Hardy of Texas, a Democrat, introduced soon after the committee meeting a resolution providing for a joint inquiry into the affairs of the shipping combine. There is good reason to believe the resolution will be reported favorably.

Statements indicate that the house leaders do not believe a special committee should be created to probe the affairs of the harvester company. This concern has directors who serve in a like capacity with the United States Steel corporation. There is a strong probability that supplemental legislation will be passed directing the Stanley committee to bring the affairs of the harvester company within the scope of the steel probe. For all practical purposes the triangular plan to bring the shipping trust, the harvester company and the money trust within the scope of one inquiry has been abandoned. Present indications are that the shipping combine and the harvester company will be treated as indicated and a resolution passed authorizing a special inquiry into the activities of the various banks and corporations that comprise what is known as the money trust.

FAVOR BERGER PENSION BILL.

Miners Indorse Movement to Aid Civil Service Employees.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—The United Mine Workers indorsed the bill introduced in congress by Congressmon Victor L. Berger, the Socialist member from Milwaukee, providing for government pensions for men and women who have reached the age of sixty years and invited Congressman Berger to come here and address the convention.

The report of the tellers was submitted and John P. White was shown to have been elected president over Tom Lewis by a majority of 42,424. Lewis received 58,591, and White 104,015 votes.

HOPE FOR AMERICAN LOAN.

Chinese Republicans Offer Wuchang Property as Security.

Shanghai, Jan. 19.—It is stated here that the republican leaders have reason for believing that they will succeed in getting a loan in America, which will be secured by the properties which they hold at Wuchang.

The republicans here have apparently settled favorably the question of guaranteeing promises of pensions to the members of the imperial clan with President Sun Yet Sen. Other movements in the direction of peace, both by Sun Yat Sen and the Peking government, are advancing favorably, and there is a more hopeful view all around.

ONLY FRIENDS SEE GIFTS.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, who became the bride of E. T. Stotesbury, permitted only her most intimate friends to view her wonderful collection of gifts and her trousseau, which is one of the most elaborate ever prepared for a Washington bride. The trousseau included a bewildering array of evening gowns, afternoon gowns, street gowns, evening wraps, tea gowns, boudoir gowns, negligees and lingerie, all the product of her own designs.

The wedding gifts, which took up an entire room in the Cromwell house, included a diamond and sapphire necklace, some wonderful strands of pearls, a large diamond bar pin, a corsage ornament in the shape of a bowknot of small pearls outlined with diamonds, a gorgeous diamond and pearl tiara set in a framework of platinum, a tiny platinum locket watch set with a large diamond and hung on a platinum chain, a curious oblong watch of gold on a black velvet wristband held in place with small diamond buckles, and a solid gold toilet set, all the gifts of Mr. Stotesbury.

BUTTER TO GO HIGHER.

New York Wholesalers Predict It Will Reach 65 Cents.

New York, Jan. 19.—Fifty cent butter within a few days, with the chances that it will go higher still, is what New Yorkers have to look forward to, say wholesalers, who are asking 42 cents a pound. This means that butter at retail in the stores will be 60 to 65 cents a pound.

G. W. Martin, president of the Mercantile exchange, agreed with other wholesale dealers that butter would reach the half dollar mark within a short time and even go higher. He says the supply is exhausted, and butter is being imported from Canada.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Ambition in itself is not unworthy. It is only when that which we earnestly desire and strive after is unworthy that ambition becomes a sin. There are unworthy ambitions and ambitions that are indeed worth while. We are warned in the Scripture against coveting that which cannot rightfully be ours; but, on the other hand, we are exhorted to "covet earnestly the best gifts"—that is, spiritual gifts. Shakespeare referred to base and ignoble desires when he said, "Beware ambition." But there are noble ambitions well worth the effort of any man. The desire to make the most of life in the truest and highest sense is worthy of any man, but we must make no mistake in deciding what is true success. Ruin has inevitably come when men have dedicated their lives to objects unworthy of beings created in the image of God.

Christian unity is a worth while ambition. In His intercessary prayer Christ besought His heavenly Father that all His disciples might be one, even as He and the Father were one. To be one with all the disciples of Christ! What a laudable ambition. In such a unity all strife and contention among Christians would cease and the church would present a united front to the world and its influence for the promulgation of good and the destruction of evil would be immeasurably increased.

What ruination Christian discord has caused! No outside barrier to Christianity has retarded its progress like that of the lack of harmony among Christians themselves. Such unity does not mean sameness of opinion concerning forms of church government or similarity of view in the interpretation of Scripture, but oneness in Christ, and oneness in Christ will insure a spiritual unity that will surpass in efficiency any and all attempts at organic ecclesiastical unity. It will mean fraternity, co-operation in service and universal Christian charity, things in which the church and the world stand in the greatest need.

Eternal glory is a worth while ambition. The difficulty with too many human ambitions is that they are limited by time. They are temporal rather than eternal. Masses of men have but one contrasting ambition—the accumulation of wealth. Yet what is more uncertain than wealth? Riches too often have wings, and nothing can be taken beyond the grave. As with desire for wealth, so it is with every merely temporal ambition. He only is wisely ambitious who desires eternal glory and seeks it at whatever cost for the present. No price is too great to pay for the raptures of heaven. "The sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us."

Christian Endeavor Outing.

The annual field day of the District Christian Endeavor union was held on the afternoon and evening of Labor day at Falls Church, Va., where the spacious grounds of the Presbyterian church were secured for that purpose. Representatives from the various Endeavor societies of the district, with their friends, assembled Monday afternoon at the south end of Aqueduct bridge, where special cars were in waiting to convey the party to Falls Church, a pleasant half hour ride. In the contests and games on the grounds teams representing various societies competed.

At 6 o'clock the box and basket lunches brought by the Endeavorers were opened, the contents spread upon the grass and the delights of a generous picnic lunch realized.

The program of the evening began at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church. After a song service by W. E. Braithawaite and devotions led by Rev. R. A. Davison, pastor of this church, President H. M. Gillman of the District union made announcement of plans for winter work of the union. There followed an inspirational address by Rev. N. O. Gibson, pastor of the North Carolina Avenue Methodist Protestant church.

The Christian Endeavor union's missionary department is planning as a feature of its educational work this winter a denominational reading contest among Endeavorers and will soon announce the details of the competition.

Endeavorers In Japan.

The new president of the Japan Christian Endeavor union, Rev. Tokiyoshi Osada, is one of the veteran pastors of Japan, one of the most successful and one of the three pastors that have toiled with unremitting love and consecration for Christian Endeavor from the very beginning of its history in the country.

Mr. Osada was president of the Japan Home Mission society of the Kumiai (Congregational) church, resigning to take the pastorate of the Temma church, Osaka, one of the largest and most influential Congregational churches in Japan.

WILL FIGHT PIERCE BILL AT HEARING IN TRENTON.

Mayor Frederick W. Donnelly, of Trenton, has sent notices to all of the Mayors of New Jersey of the hearing to be given by the Senate committee on railroads and canals next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the State house on the Pierce grade crossing bill. It is the purpose of the Mayors to oppose the bill.

At the meeting of the Mayors of the State several days ago Mayor Donnelly, who is the president of the State association, was delegated to name a committee to draw a new bill.

The Mayors are in favor of the abolition of the grade crossings, but not as provided for in the Pierce bill. They find particular fault with the provision of the bill which forces the municipality, if it applies for abolition of a grade crossing, to pay twenty-five per cent. of the cost of the elimination. There are other features of the Pierce measure with which they find fault, and they refer to it as a railroad bill.

Mrs. Alfred K. Willett, of Craig place, who was operated upon at the hospital nearly four weeks ago, returned home cured yesterday afternoon.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The boys' basketball team will play Bound Brook High at Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon. The result will decide the county championship.

The freshmen class met at the High School today to decide upon a song and yell. The class has just received its insignias.

Blind Man Begged for Them.

Four men, three of them young and one over sixty years old and nearly blind, were arrested in Rahway Wednesday night for begging. The young men's plan was to send the blind man into a house to beg for food, clothes or money while they waited outside. Judge Buckley fined them $5 each, in default of which they were to spend thirty days in jail. Later he suspended sentence on the condition that they leave town. They skipped.

DIES OF JOY WHEN HUSBAND WINS

Rare Disease Brought on by Worry of Charges.

PASTOR REVEALS A SECRET

Wife of the Rev. A. J. Vandenheuvel of Passaic Christian Reformed Church Became Ill When Husband Was Expelled For Violating a Confidence. His Church Stands by Him.

Passaic, N. J., Jan. 19.—Worry over the long continued fight of her husband to be restored to his pulpit in the North Side Christian Reformed church here brought Mrs. Vandenheuvel to her bed with a rare disease, by which the white corpuscles of the blood are increased. News that he had won a victory brought her such transports of joy that in her weakened condition her heart was overtaxed and she died.

While her death was directly due to happiness, her physician blames the church war for the illness, medically known as leuknaemia, which almost invariably results in death and is practically past the aid of medical science, and says the deep concern she manifested in the case undoubtedly hastened her death.

The charge against the Rev. A. J. Vandenheuvel attracted general attention on account of its unusual nature Mrs. H. Hettema, a member of his congregation, was the complainant. Her husband had obtained a divorce, and the case was decided against her chiefly on account of an affidavit made by the Rev. Mr. Vandenheuvel, divulging some statements Mrs. Hettema had made to him in confidence. She brought the matter to the attention of the triannual session of the Hudson classis of the Christian Reformed church last August.

Mr. Vandenheuvel's action was compared to that of a priest who should divulge what had been told him in the confessional. The decision of the church tribunal was that Mr. Vandenheuvel erred in making the affidavit, but that it could not be regarded by the church in the same light as divulging the secrets of the confessional. He was ordered to make a full confession before his congregation of his errors and to make peace with the consistory of his church.

This verdict was not accepted by Mr. Vandenheuvel, and a long and bitter fight resulted.

Recently the members of the church elected a new board, withdrew from the classis, declared themselves free and independent and restored Mr. Vandenheuvel to the pastorate.

HOLD M'CONNELL FOR TRIAL.

Magazine Writer Must Answer For Shooting Wife.

Freehold, N. J., Jan. 19.—Andrew McConnell, a magazine editor and lecturer, who shot and wounded his wife, Marion, at Ocean Grove on the evening of Dec. 23, was arraigned before Judge John Foster here on a charge of atrocious assault and battery with intent to kill and remanded for trial. McConnell was not represented by counsel.

On the evening of Dec. 23 McConnell, who has been separated from his wife for some years, called at her mother's home at 39 Olin street, Ocean Grove, and asked to see his wife. Mrs. McConnell met her husband and after they had engaged in a short conversation he drew a revolver from his pocket and fired one shot. The bullet penetrated Mrs. McConnell's breast, but did not injure her seriously.

GETS $10,000 FOR SLANDER.

Jersey Woman Teacher Wins Suit Against School Board Members.

Morristown, N. J., Jan. 19.—A verdict for $10,000 was handed in Miss Lucy Hulbert's slander suit against Willis C. Arnold. He had told stories reflecting upon her character and linking with her name the names of Harry L. Glover, former Morris Township school supervisor, and Frederick L. Armstrong, a member of the school board.

Arnold's defense was that he, as a member of the school board, had acted in his official capacity in an endeavor to have the young woman removed as teacher of the Washington Valley school.

Glover's suit against Arnold for damages, due to the same stories, was begun before Judge Black yesterday.

WOMEN FIGHT LIABILITY ACT.

Summit Fortnightly Club Calls It Discreditable to Civilized People.

Summit, N. J., Jan. 19.—The Woman's Fortnightly club of Summit is circulating a petition for the repeal of the employer's liability act of the last legislature, which affects domestic servants. The petition asserts that the act endeavors "by an unworthy trick" to force upon the employer an implied consent of liability without regard to negligence or failure of duty on the part of the employee.

"Little insight," continues the petition, "is required to discern what a field is here opened for fraud, malice and unmerited hardships. Such a law is discreditable to a civilized people."

PEOPLE WILL SMOKE.

The most puissant rulers of the earth have tried their hand in vain at staying the worship of the goddess whom Mr. Barrie has nominated My Lady Nicotine. Fifty years after Columbus first saw the natives of Guahani or San Salvador, smoking their little "firebrands" or "tabaccas," Jacques Cartier discovered the first pipe in the mouth of a Canadian Indian; and in less than twenty-five years through the mediation of a queen, tobacco was deemed one of the wonders of the New World, was credited with magic virtues and greeted with a chorus of superlative praise. Catherine de Medici's passion for snuff developed instantly when Jean Nicot presented her with some leaves of the weed; Cardinal Santa Croce, the pope's nuncio, returned to Rome from Lisbon with a packet of tobacco in his portmanteau; Sir Walter Raleigh, in the green arbor of his home near Youghal, immersed himself in a famous cloud of smoke. Then, in 1619, the unlovable King James began the "counterblaste."

Other crowned heads followed suit. Pope Urban VIII. launched a bull of excommunication against all who took snuff in church. Ten years later, in 1634, the Czar of Russia at the dictation of his clergy, forbade his subjects to smoke under penalty of losing their noses. In the same year Sultan Amaroth exalted smoking to the rank of a capital crime. In 1661, a revised edition of the decalogue was issued at Berne, wherein the authorities sandwiched a brand new commandment between the seventh and eighth planks—"Thou shalt not smoke." Alas for our stiff-necked and unregenerate human nature, none of these reformatory measures had the slightest effect. they all ended in smoke.

WEAR FOR LEISURE HOURS.

The joy of slipping into a comfortable, and at the same time good looking, negligee is appreciated by all well-dressed women. This season we can be more comfortable and more attractive than ever, for fashion has designed to throw over madam's shoulders veritable dreams of loveliness.

How do you like the idea of a panne velvet lounging robe? Made with kimono sleeves that reach to the elbow, and topped off with broad shawl collars, this style is undoubtedly beautiful. The simple trimming of a large button at the side is the touch of an artist.

Brocaded silk negligees, with large directoire revers cut in one with the bodice and turned back from the front over the chemisettes of colored net, are gorgeous, yet can be developed along the same lines in less expensive fabrics. Crepe, challis, soft silk and figured cotton goods and cashmere are the materials most used. Trimmings of cord, net, satin and velvet give distinction to the negligees of the moment. Your own individuality, that departs from the pattern just enough to give a personal touch, is always good. Black, by the way, is seen to a great extent in lounging robes and in traveling negligee. The practical, serviceable and inconspicuous elements are the important for you to disregard, while the urgent need of one of these garments cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The imperviousness of the modern safe deposit vault to fire was conclusively demonstrated by the great calamity which occurred this week in New York City, and no stronger argument for the effectiveness of such vaults in protecting property can ever be presented than the millions of securities which survived the Equitable fire.

The Plainfield Trust Company's vaults are not only of the most modern and approved construction but are further protected by a fireproof building. Boxes for rent at $5 a year and upwards.

In a fire such as that of the Equitable building, what would happen to the office safe that the average business man puts so much faith in?
A word to those who are willing to profit by others costly experience; rent a box in the fire and burglar proof vault of The State Trust Company and thus insure your valuables against the day when a similar catastrophe may visit the building in which your office is located. Our Manganese Steel Vault is supported on its own concrete foundation and is surrounded by concrete and even though our building should burn to the ground, the vault and contents would stand intact.
The cost is but $5.00 per year, little enough for the protection and peace of mind that it will afford.

DISMISSES COMPLAINT AGAINST P. S. C. RATE.

Trenton, Jan. 19.—Upon the ground that the additional fare imposed by the Public Service Railway Co. upon all passengers riding from Camden and passing beyond Merchantville, is not unjust and unreasonable, the State Public Utility Commission has dismissed the complaint filed by the Maple Shade Improvement Association against the Public Service Co.

In its memorandum dismissing the complaint, the Public Utility Commission says that the territory along the line of the Moorestown Pike is quite thickly built up as far as Merchantville, but that after leaving Merchantville, for a distance of about two and one-quarter miles, there are not more than twelve houses. A comparison of suburban street railway fares, the commission says generally shows that the average distance for which a person may travel on a five cent fare is approximately four miles.

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

The "Bunty Pulls the Strings" company, imported from Scotland expressly for the Chicago run, had its try-out in Elyria, Ohio. No advance agent was sent to pave the way, and the performance was intended to be a more or less confidential matter between the management and the inland city named. The receipts were in excess of $1,000, showing that mouth-to-mouth advertising carries weight in the amusement business.

The members of the "Bought and Paid For" company at William A. Brady's Playhouse in New York are said to be growing restive from an unusual cause—worry about their next summer vacation. The opening of the advance sale up to next June has met such an eager response that there seems an active possibility of the play's running straight through the hot weather term and well into next season.

"The Wedding Trip," Regniald De Koven's latest comic opera, has made the greatest hit of any musical play produced this season, and word has been passed from the Shubert headquarters that the company is so good that it will be kept intact. It will likely be called the De Koven Opera Company, and the cast, as now, will include Dorothy Jordon, Christine Nielsein, Dorothy Morton, Fritzi von Busing, Gwen Dubary, Grace Emmons, Edward Martindel, John McCloskey, Arthur Cunningham, Chas. Angelo, Joseph Phillips and George Madison. Vocally the company is without an equal. In fact Mr. De Koven declares that not since the days of the famous and original "Bostonians" has he heard such voices in a light opera, and Mr. De Koven should know, for he wrote most of the successes of this opera organization, and is also one of the best known music critics in America.

Madame Simone is appearing at the Hudson theatre, in an English adaptation of Maurice Donnay's celebrated play, "The Return from Jerusalem." This play was the most successful of the many notable dramas Madame Simone has produced in Paris, where it attained a run of over 450 performances. Its first presentation, and several of the succeeding performances were greeted by demonstrations not unlike the recent Irish Player disturbances. These riots were instigated by factions created by the feeling over the Dreyfus affair, and were not the result of the attitude of the author on the Semitic problem, as has generally been supposed. The theme of the play involves the inherent nature of race-prejudice, but the drama itself is not a polemic, nor is it partisan. With the exception of several pieces in the French repertoire of Madame Rejane on her last American tour, "The Return from Jerusalem" will be the first of Maurice Donnay's plays to have a hearing in this country. By many eminent critics in his own and other countries, Donnay's name is placed foremost in the great contemporary school of French dramatists. "The Return from Jerusalem" was written especially for Madame Simone shortly after her sensationally successful Parisian debut. It is essentially a modern play, dealing with problems as vital to this country as to France. The English version is by Owen Johnson.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The committee on "Friday socials" presented an attractive program in the auditorium this afternoon. In addition to the dance and musical there was a minstrel show with solo parts by Roy Titsworth, Valentine Goldsmith and Edson Woodhull.

The senior English class held its last debate of the present series Wednesday afternoon. Later there will be inter-class debates. The debate in one class was "Resolved, That the list of 300 simplified spelling words issued by the simplified spelling board should be adopted by the people of the United States." This was won by the negative, led by Miss Mabel Bogardus, assisted by Miss Ruth Douglas and Miss Hazel Pidington. Miss Grace Burdict, Miss Anna Lee and Miss Margaret Loiezaux argued for the affirmative side. The second debate was on the question, "Resolved, That the Indians have received more wrongs than benefits from the American Government," which was won by the affirmative side.

The boys' basketball team will play the Glen Ridge High School five on the local court, today.

Milton Fine recited "Victor Emanuel's Speech to His Soldiers," and Miss Helen Crane recited "The Survivors of Bunker Hill," before the assembly Wednesday.

The hockey team of the High School is practising regularly at the Cedarcroft rink. Among the members of the team are Walter Harrington, Warren Butler, Fred Harrington, Robert Gavett, Felix Janke, Edward Jenkins Seward Lyon, Fred Stevenson, Frederick Mygatt, Inon White, Harold Sharkey and Frank McKenzie.

The girls' basketball team will go to Montclair tomorrow afternoon and play the girls' five from the High School at that place.

ANNUAL FARM YIELD WAS $67,715,872

HOLD SESSIONS AT TRENTON

Trenton, Jan. 19.—At the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture, which commenced a three days' session here Wednesday, Secretary Franklin Dye submitted his report, showing that the total yield for the farms of the State for the last year exceeded that of the previous year by nearly $4,000,000, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather conditions. He said that in 1910 the yield was estimated at $63,811,520 and last year it reached to total of $67,715,872. This increase, Mr. Dye said, was due to the fact that higher prices more than made up for the short crops.

The average yield and value of various farm products last year was shown in the report as follows: Corn, 290,000 acres, 11,310,000 bushels, $7,840,450; wheat, 111,000 acres, 2,192,250 bushels, $2,301,862; rye, 85,000 acres, 1,185,000 bushels, $1,020,000; oats, 60,000 acres, 1,680,000 bushels, $873,600; buckwheat, 13,000 acres, 247,000 bushels, $167,960;; hay, 437,000 acres, 546,250 tons, $12,301,550; white potatoes, 95,000 acres, 8,455,000 bushels, $8,753,200; sweet potatoes, 21,000 acres, 2415 bushels, $1,811,250; miscellaneous vegetables and fruits, $11,200,000; milk, $18,396,000; poultry and eggs, $3,000,000.

Secretary Dye said that the last year had been remarkable for extremes of untimely weather. The early drought, which was very severe in some sections, came at a time when growing crops were in greatest need of the normal rainfall. Much corn failed to germinate, which made replanting necessary, thus reducing the yield. The drought and extreme heat of July reduced the potato crop nearly 50 per cent. in most cases, and market garden crops were seriously injured. With the early autumn rain began to fall, and continued up to the close of the year. This excess of precipitation, though occurring late in the year, Mr. Dye said, would benefit the early planted crops, meadows and orchards next spring.

The general reduction in the yield of most farm crops reduced the general supply to such an extent that there was a marked advance in prices. Mr. Dye told the farmers that this increase had not been caused by artificial means or combinations, but was purely a case of supply and demand. The advance in price, he said, saved many farmers, though not all, from what otherwise would have been a disastrous year, for the same expense of crop production must be met whether crops are good or poor and whether prices are low or remunerative.

Former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, president of the association, said the rapid growth in population in New Jersey has made the promotion of agriculture one of the great problems of the day. He pointed out the fact that this State now ranks forty-fifth in area and eleventh in popualtion among the States and territories. According to the census of 1910, 53.5 per cent. of the total land area of New Jersey is in farms. The average value of farm land in the State is $48.23 per acre. He said there are only three counties in the State, relatively small in area, whose farm land has not an average value of more than $100 per acre. These counties are Union, Essex and Bergen.

Mr. Frelinghuysen pointed out that between 1900 and 1910 the population of the State increased by 613,498, or 34.7 per cent. On the other hand, the total number of farms decreased by 1163, or 3.4 per cent, and the area of cultivated land decreased by 267,109, or 9.4 per cent.

Senator Frelinghuysen referred to recent efforts for automobile legislation and declared automobilists who damage the roads to the extent of 80 per cent. of the cost of repair, should be assessed by increased license fees.

STATE OFFICIALS NEED NOT SIGN RAILROAD WAIVERS.

Trenton, Jan. 19.—Assistant Attorney-General Gaskill has rendered an opinion to the Fish and Game Commission in which he says the railroad companies have no right to insist that State officials legally entitled to ride free on their lines must first sign an agreement to relieve the company from damages through loss of life or personal injury in cases of accident.

The law providing that certain State officials be carried free makes no provision for imposing upon the State official an obligation to enter into any such agreement.

We make a pair of glasses as low as $1.00 with as fine a gold-filled frame as can be made.

When you are tired and sick of having your eyes fitted by the old-style way of fitting glasses, or the so-called subjective test of putting lines and letters on the wall and asking whether you can see this or that letter and line; when you have been all through this many times and have been unable to get fitted correctly, come to us and we will look through your eyes and take the exact optical focus and error of your sight and give you comfort and relief.

If you have headaches, dizziness, nervousness or any trouble resulting from eye-strain, come to us and have your eyes measured by the new system, from which wonderful results are obtained.

HIBBEN ANNOUNCES PRINCETON'S POLICY

TO MAKE NO CHANGES NOW

Princetonians who attended last night a dinner given at the Essex County Country Club, West Orange, in honor of Dr. John Grier Hibben, but every alumnus including those in Plainfield, received with boundless enthusiasm the first public pronouncement of his policy as head of Princeton University. Dr. Hibben called it his "profession of faith," pledged himself to maintain Princeton spirit and traditions, keep out pedantry in scholarship, affectation in manners, hypocricy in morals, dissimulation in friendship and religious cant.

"I do not expect to begin my administration by any shock of radical change," Dr. Hibben said. "I contemplate no changes whatsoever for the present and for the immediate future as regards the officers of the university and its general machinery of departmental and committee work. I am impressed with the fact that Princeton men expect me above and before everything else to conserve the old Princeton tradtions. I use the word 'conserve' in the sense of making progress without loss of essential values.

"It is incumbent upon me to conserve the democartic spirit of Princeton, and by that I mean the spirit that judges a man among his fellows always upon his own merit and never upon the consideration of any adventitious circumstances of birth or of wealth. It seems to me that Princeton is peculiarly the place where poverty does not count against a man nor wealth for him. I have indeed known a number of cases where a boy's wealth, or rather his attempt to use his wealth in order to advance his own interests or social standing, has worked out disastrously as regards his position in the esteem of his fellow-men here in Princeton.

"In this connection I wish to say a word in reference to the organization of undergraduate social life in Princeton. The upper class clubs have their obvious faults and defects, but these have not as yet grown into serious evils. Our social system at Princeton is not perfect. There is only one perfect system at Princeton. I refer to our honor system. It is conducted by the undergraduates themselves, rose out of undergraduate sentiment and is maintained by the spirit of the place. There should be established at the very beginning of my administration a thoroughly democratic relation between the president and the whole undergraduate body."

HOPE CHAPEL BIBLE CLASS HAS DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL.

L. Greene also made a short address in which he welcomed those present and commended the class for their efforts. Mr. Simmons presided.

Berry Marsh Injured.

Alfred B. Marsh, of West Third street, in the "Guinea Egg" section, is incapacitated from work as the result of an accident at the Pond shop a few days ago. One end of a broken belt struck him on the left hand and a piece of the wire lacing inflicted a deep gash in which blood poisoning developed later. Medical attention was given by Dr. C. A. Gesswein and no further complications are expected.

Onlookers on the sidewalks and at house windows gazed in helpless horror, or turned away sick with dread, at Jackson and Watchung avenues yesterday afternoon when a team of runaway horses bore down on a baby abandoned in their path by a panic sticken nurse. None of the men or women who saw the child's peril had a chance to go to its aid. None of them expected it to escape a horrible death.

It did escape, and the escape was little, if anything, short of a miracle. The horses themselves spared the tiny victim in the path of their iron shod hoofs.

After all danger had passed and the nurse was being taken to task by witnesses of the incident, she took the infant and hurried away without telling her name or to whom the child belongs.

The danger to which the little one was exposed was caused by a runaway team belonging to William Scarlett, of Fairvie wavenue. They ran from the stable harnessed together, but unhitched to a vehicle.

The nurse, giving the little one an airing on a sled, was pulling it across the street at Jackson and Watchung avenues when the runaways, heavy and terrifying looking, bore down upon them. The horses were galloping at top speed, and seemed to the nurse and onlookers to be in the full grip of the runaway madness.

Panic stricken as the horses drew nearer, the maid abandoned the sled and baby. She ran into a yard where she remained until the incident was over.

Directly towards the helpless child came the team at a gallop. A few feet from the baby, when it seemed as if nothing could save it, the horses separated, passing on either side of the sled. Not a hoof so much as brushed sled or its tiny passenger.

The screams of the nurse attracted the attention of nearby residents and running first to their windows and then to the door-yards, they saw the whole thrilling happening.

The team was captured after running several blocks and returned to the stable from which they had broken loose.

MISSION HELPERS HEAR OF AFRICA AND OF CHINA.

The Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel held a well attended meeting yesterday, the feature of which was an address by Mrs. John T. Kerr, of Elizabeth, president of the Woman's Presbyterial Foreign Missionary Society, on "Africa." Mrs. Gilbert Lovell, who has recently returned after seven years in China with her husband, was also present and made a short address, after which she answered a number of questions pertaining to missions in the Flowery Kingdom.

Letters from the school at Mt. Vernon, Ky., to which boxes have been sent from the society, were read by Mrs. Henry Bishop, chairman of the box committee. Following the business meeting at which four new members were elected, refreshments were served. Mrs. J. W. Gavett and Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz poured.

In the absence of Mrs. John Higgins, chairman, Mrs. Frank Burner took charge of the arrangement committee and was assisted by Mrs. E. Gibson Smith, Mrs. John T. Green, Mrs. Joseph Randall, Mrs. Theodore J. Marin, Mrs. Henry Bishop, Mrs. A. F. Brokaw, Mrs. Benjamin Moore, Mrs. William Newmiller, Mrs. George F. Hoagland, Mrs. John Johnson and Mrs. R. O. Stewart.

THOMAS CAVE, RELATED TO PLAINFIELDERS, IS DEAD.

Thomas Cave, a brother of Eugene M. Cave, of East Front street, formerly of York, Pa., where he had lived for many years, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Gibson, in Philadelphia, and the funeral and burial will take place at York today. Mr. Cave, who was a veteran of the Civil War, served as a member of Co. E, 40th New York Volunteers. He was severely wounded at the battles of the Wilderness and Gettysburg and for many years was unable to engage in business.

Mr. Cave was a cousin of former Deputy Sheriff Peter V. Weaver and a brother-in-law of Vincent W. Nash, Sr., of Prospect place. He has another brother, John Cave, of Newark, and a sister, Mrs. Mary M. Grant, of Elizabeth.

Former Deputy Sheriff Peter V. Weaver, who has been critically ill the past few days at his home in the Jackson building, had a bad night and today was reported as being very low. His death is expected at any time.

SNOWBALLING SCHOOLBOYS FINED IN BOROUGH COURT

The North Plainfield police yesterday began a crusade against snowballing by pupils of the Somerset street school who have been making targets of passersby. They started in by arresting William Warnock, of Duer street, and Clarence Garthwaite, of Chatham street.

When arraigned before Recorder Gano this morning Warnock was fined $1 and Garthwaite received a suspended sentence. Both promised not to throw any more of "the beautiful" in the future.

The police were obliged to take a hand in the boys' sport because it ceased to be innocent and confined to themselves. All efforts on the part of the school teachers to put a stop to the annoyance of passersby were futile. As a number of complaints had been made to Chief Weiss he stationed himself near the school yesterday and saw the two lads arrested take a couple of shots at passing teamsters.

"This practice will have to stop," Recorder Gano told the boys and told them to tell their chums, for he will deal more severely with these cases in the future.

GRIEF-STRICKEN MOTHER COLLAPSES IN CEMETERY

Overcome with grief while attending the burial of her son, Isaac Wimmitt, of Cranford, in St. Mary's cemetery, this morning, Mrs. Henrietta Wimmitt, caused a commotion and anxiety among the mourners by fainting away. She fell to the ground and at first it was thought that she had suffered an injury. Efforts to revive her failed, and it was necessary to remove her to the office of Dr. P. B. Cregar on East Front street, where the physician applied restoratives.

It was fully an hour before Mrs. Wimmitt was sufficiently revived to sit up. Se was still suffering from shock and it was thought best to remove her to Muhlenberg Hospital for a day or two until she recovers.

Mrs. Wimmitt's son died at his home in Cranford on Thursday, following a stroke of paralysis after which pneumonia developed. He was thirty-eight years old and was employed in New York as a marine engineer. He was a member of Cranford Council, No. 1469, Royal Arcanum, and is survived by a wife and three children. Mr. Wimmit's mother lives at Oneida, N. Y., and in response to her son's death came on to attend the funeral. The death was a great shock to her, and her grief was more than she could bear when the burial took place. Dr. Cregar believes that she will be all right in a day or two.

INDICTMENTS AGAINST FIFTY-TWO POLITICIANS.

Newark, Jan. 20.—Indictments charging each of them with violating the Corrupt Practices act which was passed last year by the New Jersey Legislature on the recommendation of Governor Wilson were returned yesterday by the Essex County Grand Jury against fifty-two candidates at the elections in Newark and Essex county last November.

All of the men indicted failed to comply with the section of the law that requires candidates, whether elected or defeated, to file with the county clerk sworn statements showing the amount of money spent in the campaign, both by themselves and others in their interest. They include members of all political parties.

Colored Churchwomen Meet.

The second quarterly session of the Women's Auxiliary of the Middlesex Central Baptist Association, of New Jersey, colored, opened at 10 o'clock this morning in the Calvary Baptist church with devotional exercises in charge of Mrs. Charles Webb, of Westfield, and Mrs. Sarah Henry, of Bound Brook. The general meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mary E. Whindleton, of this city, followed with greetings by Mrs. G. W. Bailey and a response by Mrs. D. W. Cannon, of Cranford. There were several addresses and reports during the day. The sessions will continue until tomorrow afternoon.

There will be an all day sewing meeting and box lunch at Warren chapel on Wednesday.

SEARCH FOR DRYDEN IN THE CANAL ZONE

United States Legation in Panama Asked to Prosecute Hunt For Missing Man.

GONE SINCE LAST OCTOBER

Reason, Apparently, to Believe That He is on the Isthmus—May Have Headed for South America—No Real Clue.

Information regarding the whereabouts of Meredith Dryden is being sought by the United States Legation at Panama, according to dispatches from the Canal Zone. The requested search has been made by Joseph Bucklin Bishop. There is said to be reason for believing the missing man is on the Isthmus.

Mr. Dryden's mysterious disappearance from this city several months ago, since when he has not been heard from by either relatives or friends, still remains unexplained and all efforts on the part of his family to locate him have been without avail. The mystery became still more clouded when investigation of his affairs showed them all to be in perfect condition.

The Plainfield Lodge of Elks, of which he was a member, and Chief Kiely, of the local police department, assisted the family in the search, and J. P. Nolting, a brother-in-law, recently inserted a personal advertisement in the New York Herald in the hope that it would come to the notice of Mr. Dryden and elicit from him a reply. All Elk lodges in the country received a circular with a photograph and request for information and similar notices were sent out by Chief Kiely. None of them have succeeded in bringing a response.

Just what reason there is for believing that he is on the Isthmus is not stated, but it is thought that the aid of the United State consul has been obtained in the quest with the idea that Mr. Dryden may have headed for South America.

J.A. VAN MATER BUYS AN OLD RED BANK HOSTELRY

The Globe Hotel at Red Bank, one the landmarks of that town, was sold this week by order of Vice Chancellor Garrison, at Jersey City, for $52,000, J. A. VanMater, of North Plainfield, being the purchaser. Harry T. Metzgar, of the Hotel Winthrop, Asbury Park, has leased the old hostelry and expects to make many improvements before taking hold of the hotel.

Mr. VanMater is a relative of Charles W. Jones, former manager of the old hostelry. Mr. VanMater is a brother-in-law of Garret S. Jones, cashier of the Rahway National Bank. The mortgage incumbrance on the real estate amounts to $52,000 and the total claims presented amount to $6,661.50.

The oldest guest in the country, in the person of Charles Preston, 89 years old, has lived at the Globe continuously for sixty-five years, having occupied but two different rooms since the first proprietors took charge. He says he expects to die there.

INTEREST IN MONDAY'S SUFFRAGE LEAGUE SESSION.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield will give a tea in its headquarters at the Babcock building Monday afternoon. Mrs. Caroline B. Alexander, of Hoboken, is to be the guest of the league and will speak on the subject of "Suffrage." Mrs. Alexander is so well-known throughout the State for her good work in connection with charities and for her ability as a speaker, that special interest is felt in this meeting.

Many persons who, heretofore, have given the matter of woman's suffrage no special consideration have expressed a desire to hear Mrs. Alexander. The league will hold a business meeting at 3 o'clock and the address and tea will be an hour later. All persons interested are invited.

Lewis L. Apgar.

Lewis L. Apgar, aged 55 years, for many years a resident of this city, where he was engaged in conducting a pool and billiard parlor, died on Thursday at Spring Lake, of a complication of diseases. He went to Spring Lake sometime ago in the hope that the change would be beneficial. The funeral service will be held at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Alice TenEyck, 302 East Sixth street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire officiating. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

STARVING BOY MUTELY SUFFERS AND SUCCUMBS

Cold and privation are believed to have caused the death of William Dayton, a sixteen-year-old Scotch Plains youth, who was found dead in a Brooklyn lodging house Thursday morning. If what his mother and stepfather fear is true, the boy died because he was too proud to acknowledge defeat in a bitter battle with the world.

William was the son of Mrs. Thomas Coles, of Scotch Plains. She and Mr. Coles received word of the boy's death yesterday. The message said he was found frozen to death on a pallet in a lodging house in the New York borough. Mr. and Mrs. Coles left for Brooklyn at once to take charge of the body and arrange for burial.

Mrs. Coles was also prostrated by the news, but she insisted on making the journey. It is feared by other members of the family and her friends that she will collapse when reaction sets in.

The young man lived with his mother and stepfather up to two weeks ago. During the fall he found it hard to get steady employment, and two weeks ago he announced his intention of going back to Brooklyn, where Mrs. Coles formerly made her home, and seeking a position. He was a self-reliant young chap, and there was no objection at home to the move. He went away sure that he would find a good place almost as soon as he reached Brooklyn.

Mrs. Coles received no hint that things were not going well with the boy. In the light of that, and of the place where he died, and the appearance of the body, it is not hard to reconstruct the story of the tragedy.

The lad who left home full of self-confidence and boyishly boasting of the "good job" he would be sure to get, found his pride unequal to the humiliation of writing home for assistance. And the pride that made an appeal to his mother impossible sealed his lips in the presence of strangers. It is all too easy to picture the slender 16-year-old bravely ekeing out his dwindling little store of money, eating less and less, cutting a meal here and there, until finally there were no more meals to cut, and barely money enough to buy the right to a pallet in a lodging house—one of those lodging houses where the "guest" lies down with his own clothes for covering and must keep himself warm as best he can in the niggardly heat from a single fire.

Reports that Mr. and Mrs. Coles received from Brooklyn said that a physician who examined the body found every evidence of semi-starvation. The boy was so weak from lack of nourishment, the physician is said to have reported, that the cold found him an unresisting victim.

CENTRAL ENGINEER HURT BY STEAM EXPLOSION

By the bursting of what is known as the water gate on an engine on the Central Railroad yesterday Engineer George H. Jackson, of Roselle Park, was seriously, if not fatally burned and scalded with escaping steam and water about the face, hands and knees and is now in a serious condition at his home in Roselle. The fireman on the train, who is from Jersey City, jumped from the engine at the time of the explosion and escaped similar injuries, but was badly shaken by the leap.

When about half-way between Aldene and the Roselle station, the explosion occurred without warning and Mr. Jackson, who was at the throttle, was in the midst of the escaping hot water and steam. Although almost overcome by the pain and blinded by the steam that filled the cab, he pluckily stuck to his post until he could bring the train to a standstill. He then escaped from the cab and trainmen and passengers who came to his aid, quickly summoned Dr. G. W. Strickland, who relieved the pain as much as possible and took the injured engineer to his home.

YOUNG MAN, ALL IN BROWN, IS SOUGHT BY THE POLICE

Caleb H. Mills, of 440 East Sixth street, asked the police last night to look for a young man, who, Mr. Mills says, has fifteen dollars of his money. The young man came to the Mills house yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock to hire a room.

Mr. Mills gave him one because he used the name of a storekeeper in the neighborhood as reference and acted like a perfect gentleman in that he handed over a check on the City National Bank for six dollars as a week's board in advance. Mr. Mills walked over to a drawer in full view of the young man, took out a fat-looking wallet and put the check in it. Then he put the wallet back in the drawer.

At six o'clock Mr. Mills went to the cellar to fix the furnace. When he came back the young man was gone, and so was the wallet. The fifteen dollars was all the money it contained.

In reporting to police headquarters Mr. Mills failed to state what name was signed to the check the young man gave. Detective-Sergeant Flynn, who is working on the case, said today that the name didn't matter at all, because it was undoubtedly a fake check with a fake signature, designed merely to stall Mr. Mills for the night.

The suspect is described as about twenty-eight years old, five feet six inches in height, smooth faced, with brown hair; brown-striped suit, brown soft hat, brown rain coat and tan shoes.

IT WOULD COST $2,750

And an Extra $3,000 is Already Needed by the Department to Pay for Services of "Extra" Policemen.

The councilmanic police board at its meeting last night decided, after careful consideration, that the city cannot afford to purchase a combination automobile patrol-ambulance to take the place of the horse-driven patrol wagon and ambulance now in service. It was estimated that the new apparatus would cost approximately $2,750.

In view of the fact that an extra $3,000 at least will be needed to pay for the extra men employed in the police department, the board considered it out of the question to recommend the purchase of an automobile apparatus.

During the past few months the board has put on three additional policemen and it may be decided later on to employ extra men for police duty. It is estimated that if the automobile apparatus should be secured it would mean a total increase of about $5,000 in the police appropriation, and the board does not feel warranted in recommending the extra amount just at this time.

Summer vacations for the men and the possible re-arrangement of the various posts were also discussed and Chief Kiely was requested to take these matters up and make recommendations to the board in the near future.

There was also a meeting of the councilmanic finance committee last night when there was a general discussion of the budget for the year. The chairman, F. E. Mygatt was authorized to get the budget in shape and present it to the committee, when the various items will be gone over carefully. As yet no effort has been made to determine upon the amounts needed for the various departments.

Each committee will make a recommendation for the appropriation needed and after all these figures are presented the finance committee will undertake the difficult task of preparing the budget so that there will be no large increase in the tax rate. In view of numerous things needed in the various departments this year, it is predicted that the rate will be higher, but efforts will be made to keep it as near the present one as possible.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Madame Alla Nazimova's recent New York appearance in "The Marionettes" fell upon a date exactly seven years subsequent to the day Charles Frohman first brought this actress to America as one of the small group of Russian players whom he found in the obscurity of London. Between then and now Madame Nazimova has made herself as familiar with English as any native; she has appeared under various managements, always with success. Of all living actresses Madame Nazimova enjoys the distinction of having acted more dramas and comedies of the new school of playwriting than any of her contemporaries. And yet this expert in all departments of dramatic efficiency is not yet thirty-three years of age. "The Marionettes" is drawing big crowds at the Lyceum theatre.

All the oriental splendor of the Indian Durbar, which King George V of England journeyed to India to take part in, has been brought to the doors of New York in Klaw & Erlanger's elaborate new production of "Ben-Hur" which was shown at the New Amsterdam theatre on Saturday evening last. Beautiful women, men of majestic mien, fiery horses bedecked in all the magnificence and opulent splendor of the Orient, gave life and brilliancy to the scenes of General Wallace's masterpiece, "Ben-Hur." Never before in the history of the New York stage has there been so much wealth expended on the presentation of a historical spectacle. Flashing jewels, dazzling armor, magnificent robes, superb draperies, the marvelous rugs of the Far East, the wonderful furnishings of two thousand years ago—all these things are combined and displayed in this wonderful revival. Klaw & Erlanger have established a mail order bureau during the run of this play at the New Amsterdam. Mail orders for seats, ranging in price from 50 cents to $2, accompanied by remittances, will be promptly filled in the order of their receipt.

JUSTICE GERARD.

HOLDS COURT IN PALACE.

New York, Jan. 20.—If the blindfolded Goddess of Justice that presides over Part VI. of the supreme court of the county of New York could by any chance have gotten a peek into the court presided over by Justice James W. Gerard she certainly would have thrown up her hands in surprise. Instead of the dingy walls of the Tweed courthouse the goddess would have seen a beautiful room of the period of Louis XVI. Justice Gerard had, by virtue of section 87 of the code of civil procedure, moved his court to his home at 725 Fifth avenue, fleeing with all his train from the disease breeding atmosphere that haunts the gloomy caverns of the old courthouse.

But the wheels of justice ground steadily and soberly on in spite of all these innovations. Beatty versus the Guggenheim Exploration company was called. The justice of Fifth avenue listened to details in the suit for approximately $300,000 brought by A. Chester Beatty, former engineer for the Guggenheims, for stock and commissions as his share in the formation of the Yukon Gold company, which is owned by the Guggenheim Exploration company. Decision was reserved.

MORSE OFFICIALLY FREE.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 20.—Bearing the official papers giving freedom to Charles W. Morse, the New York financier who has been serving a fifteen year sentence in the federal prison for vioalition of the national banking laws, his wife has arrived in Atlanta. She was hurried by auto to the post hospital at Fort McPherson.

When she reached the hospital Miss Jennie Morse, the sister of the banker, was the only person in the room with the prisoner, and she was the only one to see the greeting of husband and wife. Silently Mrs. Morse handed the official papers to Morse. Clutching them in his weak grasp he murmured a word or two of thanks.

No definite plans for the future have yet been made for Morse. It is expected that he will be moved into a sanitarium in Atlanta within a few days, and from that place will be moved again as soon as advisable to a sanitarium in Florida, where it is believed the climate will be of aid. From that place, provided Morse is well enough to get there, he will be taken to Bad Neuheim, Germany.

GIRL HURLS VITRIOL AT SWEETHEART

Followed Him Into a Saloon and Emptied Contents.

INNOCENT MEN VICTIMS.

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 20.—A girl pushed open the side door of a saloon at 322 Monroe street, Hoboken, and called to one of five men who were standing at the bar:

"Come here, Joe; I want to speak to you."

Joseph Hallock of 1011 Park avenue turned from the bar, but recognizing the girl, drew back instead of approaching her. Instantly the girl darted inside the door, exclaiming, "I've got you now!" and hurled toward Hallock the contents of a condensed milk can which she held. Hallock ducked, but yelled as several drops of vitriol splashed on his face and neck. There was a yell also from Marco Djeovich, proprietor of the place, who was behind the bar, and from Michael Mellage of 330 Madison street. The vitriol struck both men on the right side of their faces and entered Djeovich's right eye.

The girl fled from the place, followed by John Delaney of 120 Grand street and Timothy Ryan of 116 Grand street. Five blocks away she ran into the arms of Policeman McGervey, who grabbed her. Meantime Anthony Marcovich of 118 Monroe street, the sixth man in the bar, had telephoned for Dr. Ryan from St. Mary's hospital, and the injured men were taken there. Presently McGervey brought the girl there, too, for she was burned on the hands.

She said she was Margaret Gleason of 602 Newark street and that she would be sixteen years old next month. She declared she had thrown the fiery liquid at Hallock because the board of pardons had paroled him three months ago after he had served only a year of a three year sentence for an attack on her. The girl became the mother of twins.

Hallock, who was only slightly hurt, said the girl had followed him ever since he was liberated and must have watched him enter the saloon, afterward buying the vitriol in a First street drug store. The girl was locked up.

"VIOLIN BURGLARS" CONFESS

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 20.—George Beruzinski, thirty-five years old, and Frank Shaprino, twenty-six years old, known here as the "violin burglars" because they used a violin case to carry their burglar tools, confessed to two "jobs" in Passaic county and were promptly sentenced to not less than three and one-half years nor more than seven years in state prison on each of the two charges.

The violin case which they used as a ruse to thwart the suspicion of the police proved to be their undoing. They were in such a hurry to get away from one place that they dropped their violin case, and with this as their only evidence Detective Sergeants Turner and Crawbuck succeeded in tracing the two men.

BLUECOATS HELD IN BAIL.

Charged With Beating Bartender Who Would Not Give Them Drinks.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 20.—Roundsman John J. Kellett and Peter J. King, a patrolman of the Newark police force, were held in $1,000 bail each after having pleaded "not guilty" to assault and battery.

It is alleged that they went into a saloon while on duty, ordered whisky and started out without paying for the drinks. The bartender objected. When he appeared before Prosecutor Mott and told of the incident his head was in such shape that the prosecutor, after sending for the bluecoats and hearing their side of the case, went at once before the grand jury and had them indicted. They claim that the bartender got his injuries by falling.

MAY INTERVENE IN ECUADOR WAR

Rebels Willing to Submit to Arbitration.

FOREIGN CONSULS TO ACT.

Rumors at Washington Indicate That State Department Is Preparing to Force Peace In Neighboring Republic—Gunboat Not at Guayaquil.

Washington, Jan. 20.—From rumors current at the state department intervention by the United States in Ecuador is considered likely today.

Dispatches received at the state department give an account of the defeat of the revolutionists and their retreat into Guayaquil. The rebel leaders are reported to have expressed a willingness to have the foreign consuls at Guayaquil take charge of the situation for the sake of restoring peace and order.

The United States gunboat Yorktown is the only foreign warship in the harbor at Guayaquil. It seems likely therefore that representatives of this government will take the lead in whatever steps may be decided on toward intervention. This government has also been asked to care for the British interests in Ecuador during the revolution owing to the breakdown of the British gunboat Sheerwater at Acapulco, Mexico. The request has been acceded to. This will serve to increase the prestige of the American government representatives at Guayaquil.

Lieutenant E. E. Scranton, who has succeeded to the command of the Yorktown following the seizure of Commander Bertolette with yellow fever; Lieutenant Constant Cordier, military attache at Quito, and Herman R. Dietrick, United States consul at Guayaquil, will have charge of the situation at that city so far as this government is concerned. Evan E. Young, American minister, is at Quito, the capital, 300 miles inland, and no orders have been sent to him to leave there. Mr. Dietrick has instructions so broad as to permit him to use his discretion in the matter of any intervention in the situation.

When Mrs. W. B. Gilmore, of 431 Morris avenue, Elizabeth, returned to the street Thursday after shopping in a Broad street store, she was surprised to find that her expensively fitted baby carriage, which she had left outside, had been stripped of its furnishings, and that some of her tiny daughter's toys, which had been brought along for her amusement, were also missing. She called Patrolman Healey and reported the theft to him.

Yesterday afternoon Valentine L. Demara was arrested at his home in the rear of 624 Front street, charged with the theft. A search by the police resulted in the stolen articles being discovered in a closet.

Demara was arraigned before Judge Mahon yesterday afternoon, and when asked how he wished to plead, exclaimed:

"I am guilty, your honor."

Then followed one of the most unusual recitals ever heard in the local police court.

"Yes, I stole the things," repeated the accused man, "and I'll tell you why I did it. Three months ago I lost my job as a teamster. Somehow or other, I couldn't seem to find anything to do, and I tried mighty hard, too. Anybody around where I live'll tell you that I'm not a drinking man—in fact, I haven't touched a drop in six years, so it wasn't that which stood in the way of my getting a job. I didn't have a hundred dollars when I was laid off, and with a doctor's bill to pay and living expenses to pay, it didn't take very long for the money to go.

"Well, judge," and here he lowered his voice, "there's going to be three in the family before the end of the month. When I walked by that carriage with all of its trappings I couldn't help but think how our baby was going to be born with nothing, almost, to put on him. I said to myself, 'Anyone who can afford such swell things won't suffer any for the loss of them.' And so I took 'em. And, your honor, I'll confess here and now that if I'd thought I could get away with the carriage too, I'd have swiped that. I told the wife that I'd found the things, and it would sure break her heart if she knew I was nothing more than a thief. Honest to God, your honor, I couldn't help doing it."

When Demara had finished his story there were tears in the eyes of the most calloused court attendants, and they were not ashamed of them, apparently. Judge Mahon's voice was husky when he told the prisoner that sentence had been suspended and that he would help him secure work.

BASEBALL.

A. D. Washburn was elected president of a baseball club organized at Garwood, Thursday night. The team will plays Saturdays and holidays during the season.

The Roselle baseball magnates which managed the Westfield baseball team last season have decided to quit and efforts are now being made to secure either George Mallen or Phil. Daab as manager for a team at Westfield.

"Lou" Slocum, who is under contract with the York, Tri-State League, club, is rapidly getting into condition at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, where he practices every day. Fred Hand, a local catcher, is practicing with Slocum, and he says that the twirler has more speed than ever and can throw curves with greater accuracy. Slocum will report to York during March.

The National Commission has denied the claim of Tim. Jordan, former first baseman of the Brooklyn Nationals, which he filed with the commission April 12 1911, after the Brooklyns released him to the Toronto club. Jordan claimed that satisfactory settlement had not been made. After going over the case carefully the commission refused the player's claim. Jordan, it will be remember, played for Somerville against Plainfield in the final game of the Central Jersey League series last fall.

WHAT DOES DARROW KNOW?

Federal Dynamiting Probe May Reach McNamara Attorney.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20.—The investigation of the federal grand jury into the dynamiting cases took the direction of Clarence Darrow, the intention being to find out what he had learned about dynamiting from the investigators employed by him.

P. J. Cooney of Chicago was before the grand jury, but before being taken into the room he had been in a long conference with attorneys connected with the office of District Attorney Miller.

Just what Cooney's attitude toward the present federal investigation was and whether he was ready to divulge information he was supposed to have in his possession was not learned. From the time given to him by the government attorneys it was surmised that he had either given considerable testimony or that he had at least been subjected to long and thorough quizzing.

Cooney was one of the investigators who worked under Darrow's direction. He was taken from Chicago to Los Angeles and is said also to have worked in other parts of the country. Whether other investigators of Darrow's staff are to be before the United States grand jury here has not been learned definitely, but it is said that probably they will be.

ATTACKS DIFENDERFER.

Dalzell Says Colleague From Pennsylvania Is Biased In Shoe Probe.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Congressman John Dalzell has given notice in the house rules committee of his intention to attack the official standing and responsibility of one of his own colleagues in the Pennsylvania delegation, Congressman Robert E. Difenderfer of the Norristown district.

Dalzell's remarkable allegation is that his Democratic associate is "biased" on the subject of a pending investigation of the shoe machinery trust, which is accused of having unloaded on the war department army shoes which had previously been condemned as defective. Difenderfer is a fighter and will answer Dalzell's attack on the house floor.

NEWLYWEDS, FEARING MOTHER, HIRE GUARD

Red Bank, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Alexander Phillips, a bride of a week, has engaged a private detective, because of threatening letters received from her mother, Mrs. Emma Korb, of Brooklyn, who objected to her marriage because of her age. She was secretly wed at the Middletown Reformed church on January 3 by the Rev. Charles Rooder to Alexander R. Phillips, a prominent Middletown young man of twenty-two years.

The Korb family have been spending their summers at their cottage at Keansburg, and it was there that the young couple met last summer and fell in love with each other. They became engaged and were to be married next fall when she would be eighteen years of age. Under these conditions the bride's mother agreed to build her daughter a home at Middleton. Mrs. Korb had planned to have a large wedding for her daughter and was surprised when she received a letter announcing the wedding.

She became so indignant over the fact that all her plans had been upset that she wrote threatening letters to her daughter, it is said, stating that she was coming to take her away from her husband. Her daughter says that the mother always carries a revolver and was so overcome from fright that the bridegroom telephoned to Red Bank police headquarters for an officer. Detective Frank Estelle was sent to the house and there remained for three days, seeing that no harm became the newlyweds. While the detective was at the house the bride and groom remained in seclusion for fear that Mrs. Korb would come to the house. Meals were served by the maid in their rooms.

ENDORSE EVERETT COLBY FOR U. S. SENATORSHIP.

Republican Progressives of East Orange Thursday night unanimously endorsed former State Senator Everett Colby for United States Senator, at a meeting held at the home of Henry B. Gombers, 76 Halsted street, that city. While no official action was taken, the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt, for the nomination for President, seemed to be the sense of the meeting, as most of those present favored the former President when the matter was informally discussed.

Hearing Again Adjourned.

The hearing in the case of Martin Duffy and John Dunn was laid over for another week in the city court yesterday.

AUTOS THREATEN STATE WITH HUGE AUTO BILL.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Declaring that a system of main artery roads, which would eventually be made into State roads, must be set aside in future road building, and deploring the fact that the automobile had brought "into this State all of its serious road problems," State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles J. B. R. Smith created a sensation among the farmers at the second-day session of the State Board of Agriculture by saying that if the present rate of increased repairs is kept up, and he sees nothing to prevent it if the same plans for road repairs and building continue, then it would eventually cost $3,000,000 a year to repair the damage done roadways by the automobile.

The commissioner said that there had been spent by the State since the Frelinghuysen automobile law went into effect, $25,000,000 for road repairs, and he said that this year it would cost something like $2,500,000 paid by the State and municipalities and counties to make proper road repairs, while to put the roads back into their old shape, when New Jersey's roads were famed for their excellence, it would cost something like $8,000,000.

The commissioner told the farmers that it is becoming generally recognized that macadam is a failure for roads over which automobiles travel. He said that roads of bithulithic, wood block or some other dustless material will be built in the future to stand the wear of automobiles, keep down the enormous cost of repairs and prevent the dust from rising with every automobile passing until millions of dollars' worth of crops are destroyed.

Both on the ground of keeping down the repair charges and stopping the killing of crops by the dust of passing machines, Commissioner Smith said that a comprehensive system of State highways should be agreed upon. These roads would become State highways, paid for by the State, and taken care of by the State, and should be built of materials calculated to stand the wear and tear of modern traffic. On the ground of economy, he advocated a $10,000,000 bond issue, therewith to build these roads.

"INGRATITUDE."

In the Presidential campaign of 1888, Matthew S. Quay, of unpleasant memory, laid aside temporarily the Senatorial togo which had been placed upon his shoulders through the gratitude of his Pennsylvania henchmen and went over to New York to assume command of the Republican National forces to make Benjamin Harrison president of these United States. Shortly after Harrison was installed in the White House, the author of the famous "shake the plum tree" telegram called around and asked for a place in the Cabinet, so it is told. After the Pennsylvania Senator got his answer, the two were hardly on speaking terms. Quay called Harrison an ingrate.

It will be recalled also that the brilliant journalist, Charles A. Dana did all in his power to have Grover Cleveland elected to the Presidency and after he saw his wish fulfilled by the people, he too called around one day at the White House seeking a favor. Cleveland turned a deaf ear to his pleadings that a relative of the Sun's editor be given a job. Dana turned and from that day until his death abused Cleveland as an ingrate. Both Harrison and Cleveland had been frank and open with their friends, friends whose friendships were apparently based on shallow foundations.

These episodes of political history come back to our memory when we ponder over the reason why Col. Harvey and his friend, Col. Watterson, brand Governor Wilson as an "ingrate." An "ingrate?" Why? Was it because Governor Wilson did not "soft-soap" Col. Harvey, rather than be manly and be a real friend by telling the colonel the truth as he saw it? The Governor considered that the support of Harper's Weekly was hurting his aspirations for the Presidency and he was man enough to say so without quibbling. There are many other people in this land who would want to be delivered from such a friend as Harper's, no doubt. So, Wilson is an "ingrate" because he had the courage of his convictions.

"Ingratitude," says the New York World in discussing the incident, "is one of the rarest virtues of public life. 'Gratitude' is responsible for many of our worst political abuses. Upon 'gratitude' is built every corrupt political machine; upon 'gratitude' is founded the power of every ignorant and unscrupulous boss; in 'gratitude' is rooted the system of spoils, of log-rolling, of lobbying. Lorimer was elected by 'gratitude,' Payne-Aldrich bills are passed for 'gratitude,' Harriman campaign funds are raised for 'gratitude.' The great majority of the voices which are denouncing Wilson's ingratitude are the voices of machine politicians, chief among whose stock in trade is this 'gratitude.'

"No, what we need in public life is a great deal more of discriminating ingratitude. Such 'ingratitude' as gave Charles E. Hughes the confidence of the people when he opposed the bosslets who had helped to elect him; such 'ingratitude' as gave Governor Wilson himself the applause of the people when he defeated for the Senatorship Jim Smith, who had helped to elect him."

Not only every graduate of Old Nassau but every college man in the country can applaud the policy announced last night by the new president of Princeton, Dr. John Grier Hibben. His message to the alumni as delivered before the Essex County Country Club is the statement of a broad-minided and capable college head, one who knows what are the requisites of a successful institution of learning so far as the executive management is concerned. The doctor says first and foremost that he is pledged to maintain the university's spirit and traditions. Secondly, he declared that he will not tolerate pedantry in scholarship, affectation in manners, hypocracy in morals, dissimulation in friendship nor religious cant. We hope and expect to see the fulfillment of Dr. Hibbin's wish "that there should be established at the very beginning of my administration a thoroughly democratic relation between the president and the whole undergraduate body." To make his administration, or that of any other college president, a success, cordial and democratic relations are absolutely essential.

Two Presidential aspirants, Woodrow Wilson and Robert M. LaFollette, are scheduled to speak at the New Jersey Editorial Writers' Association banquet at Trenton next month. As they represent pretty much the same ideals there will be no china broken.

THE FORUM.

Referring to an editorial I read in your issue of January 16, I was very much encouraged to see that you are interested and so deeply appreciate the progress that the negro race is making in Durham, N. C. I feel if you endorse such progress of the race in Durham, N. C., you will also in Plainfield or anywhere else that the negro exists. Thanking you for your gentlemanly feeling for equal rights, I would to God that we had a larger number in our country possesed of such dispositions.

44 TAFT SUITS AGAINST TRUSTS

President Has Equaled Numerically Roosevelt's Record.

88 CASES IN LAST 21 YEARS

Pending Action Against the Steel Corporation Regarded as Most Important of All—Case of International Harvester Company.

President Taft has equaled the record of President Roosevelt's administrations for trust prosecutions under the Sherman law. The total number is forty-four. In Roosevelt's seven years eighteen bills in equity were filed, twenty-five indictments returned and one forfeiture proceeding begun. In the little less than three years of the Taft administration there have been twenty-two civil suits and a like number of indictments.

The Roosevelt record was equaled with the filing at Macon, Ga., of a civil suit against the so called naval stores trust and the returning of indictments against the alleged coaster brake trust at Buffalo.

From July 2, 1890, to July 1, 1911, there were eighty-eight cases brought under the Sherman act. These were divided:

President Harrison's administration—Four bills in equity and three indictments.

President Cleveland—Four bills in equity, two indictments and two informations for contempt.

President McKinley—Three bills in equity.

President Roosevelt—Eighteen bills in equity, twenty-five indictments and one forfeiture proceeding.

President Taft—Twenty-two bills in equity and twenty-two indictments.

The forty-four cases in the Roosevelt regime include the famous Northern Securities case, the suit to restrain the beef trust, two suits against the Federal Salt company, suit for the dissolution of the Jacksonville Wholesale Grocers' association, one to dissolve the General Paper company, one against Armour and other Chicago meat packers, two suits in the tobacco trust cases, one against the Terminal Railroad association of St. Louis, one to restrain the Otis Elevator company, one against the National Association of Retail Druggists, one against the American Ice company, one to dissolve the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, one to dissolve a combination among the anthracite coal carrying roads, one to prevent the operations of the powder trust, one against the Union Pacific Railroad company, charging a conspiracy in violation of the Sherman law; one against the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, alleging an attempt to combine under one common control the various steam and electric systems in New England, and a number of less important prosecutions.

Among the most farreaching cases of the Roosevelt administration was the suit against the American Naval Stores company. This was declared to be a combination in restraint of trade in selling turpentine and its products. The defendants were convicted in the lower court. Fines aggregating $17,500 were assessed, and two defendants were sentenced to serve three months in jail. An appeal was taken to the United States supreme court and is on the docket awaiting oral arguments.

In its opinion on this case the court will for the first time construe the penal clauses of the Sherman act.

The most important of the prosecutions instituted during the Taft administration were the cases against the American Sugar Refining company, against the Imperial Window Glass company, two cases against the National Packing company and one against the Armour Packing company, a suit to restrain the Missouri Pacific and twenty-four other railroads from increasing freight rates, which produced an abandonment of the plan; a case alleging a combination by the General Electric company to control the business in incandescent electric lamps, one to break up the transatlantic steamship pool, one charging conspiracy against the officers of the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association, one against the lumber secretaries' bureau of information, covering twenty-three states from Pennsylvania to the Pacific coast, and other suits of less consequence.

Since July 1, 1911, a suit has been instituted for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation, which surpasses in importance and aggregate of wealth represented the Standard Oil and tobacco cases. Evidence has been accumulated for the prosecution of the International Harvester company, but negotiations are pending for a voluntary readjustment of that concern's methods to avoid prosecution.

May Return Southern Flags.

If a bill introduced in the New York legislature by Assemblyman Cuvillier becomes a law a score of emblems will be returned to southern organizations. Among the flags there is half of the Confederate ensign which floated over the city hall at Richmond, Va., another containing thirteen stars and the names of Williamsburg and Seven Pines, taken from the Seventeenth volunteers of Virginia, and a third captured at Columbus, S. C., bearing the inscription: "Don't Stay at Home With Me. You Have Work to Do. Go Ahead."

Hospitals in History

Buddhist priests in India seem to be credited with having maintained the first semblance of a hospital, although the rulers of Persia and Arabia are known to have erected so-called hospitals in very early times.

Early Jewish history tells of Beth Holem, a house for the recovery of the sick, but the first hospital where any real semblance of continuous treatment was carried out was that one of Epidaurus in the temple of Aesculapius, the god of medicine. Here the sick came or were brought to lie in the temple court or filthy huts nearby to learn through dreams or by signs how their ills might be cured.

Later, attendants ministered to these unfortunates and must have acquired some little skill through observation of series of similar ills. The practice of these fakirs was introduced into Athens 420 B. C. and into Rome 293 B. C.

Rome is known to have had an endowed hospital, Valens, at Caesaren, 370or 380 A. D., but the earliest known Christian hospitals were the Hospitalia of the Knights Templar and the Knights of St. John at Jerusalem and other places in the Holy Land during the era of the Crusades. With these foundations we hear for the first time of compassion for the sick, an unselfish spirit of service instead of working upon the ill for gain, or to further some private interest, or merely to get them out of the way.

From this time on many a room in a monastery is set aside for the wayfaring sick; dark, damp, collecting contagion, but a step erected for hospital purposes, as an example of which Hotel Dieu, Paris, opened in 660 A. D., is the best extant. St. Bartholomew's is supposed to have opened in London in 1546 and St. Thomas' in the same city in the year 1553. However, to nearly all of these old institutions some of the customs and ancient principles still clung, wholly unfitting them as examples of the modern hospital.

The Pennsylvania General Hospital began Dispensary or Alms House work in 1731 from which the hospital grew and was opened in 1750; this, the first in the United States, was followed by the New York Hospital, which obtained its charter in 1771.

To look into these and later hospitals would indeed be interesting, but it was one continual struggle to overcome death in its various forms. Now it was thought best to place all cases of a kind in one room, no matter how large or crowded, then that the rooms should be small and contain only one or two. Again the matter of clean surgery held the attention of all interested in the hospital until the necessity of "proud flesh" was disproven. And instead of a spirit of compassion, of being sorry for the condition of a patient and ameliorating his pain as best they might, physicians, superintendents, nurses, the public now became active, progressive, the cause of the illness was sought and a cure attempted.

EX-GOV. FORT OPPOSES LICENSE FOR TOWN BAR.

Spring Lake, Jan. 20.—Charles W. Simonson, Jr., has temporarily halted the fight against the granting of a barroom license to him by Judge John E. Fostor by withdrawing his application. The withdrawal of the application is done as the result of remonstrance against the barroom privilege which was fathered by former Governor John Franklin Fort, a summer resident here.

Judge Fort and many others who were active in the campaign against the license granting were all ready to go to Freehold Thursday to oppose the granting of the license when they heard of the intended withdrawal. The withdrawal was filed this morning.

Charles W. Simonson was refused a license a few years ago because his barroom was not a part of the hotel which he then conducted. Since then his son has built a new $25,000 hotel, and it was for this building that the application for license was made.

Songster of the Frigid Valley.

The Oldest Resident last week had just begun his piece to speak about the winters that he knew 'bout Eighteen Hundred Steenty-Two, and hoy, in days We and Us folks didn't know, what winter was. "Why in those days," he said, "I've seen 'em take the frozen kerosene and cut it up in handy strips and burn the stuff like tallow dips! And when a rooster crowed, his crow just froze and fell like silent snow, and lay there till a thaw came round, and then you heard the pesky sound!

Just then the merc'ry took a drop and seemingly it couldn't stop until the zero mark at last by twenty-seven points was passed. And then it kind'er gave a wink and said "That's sultry, I don't think! Hello, old hoss! How's this for cold? Why, back in 'Steenty-Two, I'm told—" But now with nose and fingers nipped the Oldest Resident had skipped to find a drop of something hot to touch him in a chilly spot, while all his brag of years ago froze silent, like that rooster's crow!

In fact it was the coldest known since many years had by us flown; though not a record-breaker quite, for memory throws a frosty light upon a February morn in Eighteen Seventy-Three, to scorn mere Twenty-Seven as slow, for then 'twas Thirty-two below. For turkey, that was cold; but say! This present scribe recalls a day, next Tuesday just five years ago, when, with a nag that wasn't slow, he drove ten miles across the hills of Massachusetts, and with thrills—or chills, if you prefer—did see the tube at Minus Forty-Three; at which the mercury was froze, as were his fingers and his toes.—Passaic Valley News.

Mrs. Olsen's Funeral.

The funeral service for Mrs. Sophia Olsen, whose death occurred at her home on Somerset street, Thursday night, will be held at Grace church Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of the church, will officiate and burial will be made in Hillside cemetery.

NOT A LIVELY FISH.

One of the porters on the train out of Salt Lake City was an impassive-looking negro, who had a ready, if inaccurate, answer to almost any question put him by the passengers. It was hard to tell whether he believed all that he said or whether he was having fun with his questioners.

One man, on first catching sight of the lake, asked him if there were any fish in it.

"No, sah," said the porter, "dere ain't no fishes in dat lake, sah. Dey done tried to see if dey couldn't have fishes in dere, but dey wouldn't stay alive. De fishes dat stayed alvie de longest was salt mack'r'l, sah, but dey wa'n't very pros'rous, sah."—Youth's Companion.

IN DOUBT.

"The late Bishop Mackay-Smith," said a Philadelphia clergyman, "didn't believe in pulpit exaggerations. He didn't believe, I mean, that a divine had any right to take an old anecdote and tell it as though it were a true episode that had happened to himself.

"He once illustrated what he meant by telling about a minister who was entertaining a guest with an account of a fishing excursion in California when his little daughter said:

"'Is that true or are you preaching, papa?'"—Washington Star.

When he can borrow $1,500 and turn it into $400,000,000 we must admit Andrew Carnegie is some wizard.—Baltimore Sun.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

FREE OF CHARGE—The most thorough and accurate examination of the sight that is possible and there is no chance of any error in being fitted to glasses by the

We make a pair of glasses as low as $1.00 with as fine a gold-filled frame as can be made.

When you are tired and sick of having your eyes fitted by the old-style way of fitting glasses, or the so-called subjective test of putting lines and letters on the wall and asking whether you can see this or that letter and line; when you have been all through this many times and have been unable to get fitted correctly, come to us and we will look through your eyes and take the exact optical focus and error of your sight and give you comfort and relief.

If you have headaches, dizziness, nervousness or any trouble resulting from eye-strain, come to us and have your eyes measured by the new system, from which wonderful results are obtained.

SENATOR PRINCE TAKES UP REINS OF GOVERNOR

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Senator John D. Prince, who will be acting Governor until Governor Wilson returns next week from his trip to Michigan and other points West, said yesterday that the session of the Legislature will be continued along the vigorous business-like lines that characterized it this week. He thought that the Congressional redistricting bill would be ready to be introduced probably next week or the week after, as the measure is now being prepared.

Acting Governor Prince thought that the district lines in South Jersey would remain as they now are as there is a general feeling among South Jersey Republicans that the districts there should not be disturbed. Senator Prince said that the South Jersey districts are safely Republican and the increase in population there has been small compared with North Jersey, so that there does not seem to be any necessity of remodeling the districts in South Jersey.

Senator Prince came to Trenton and took the oath of office as acting Governor on the first day of the absence of Governor Wilson upon the belief that as President of the Senate the constitution made it his duty to come to Trenton and offer his services as acting Governor as soon as the the Governor left the State. The oath was administered to him by Assistant General Nelson B. Gaskill, and after Senator Prince had signed the oath it was filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

Acting Governor Prince's first official act after being sworn was to issue a requisition upon Governor Dix of New York for the return to this State of Lem Becker and Aschen Furman, who are under arrest in New York city and are wanted in Bergen county on the charge of stealing $300 from William Ruppecht, of Overpeck township.

FIRST OF SERIES OF P. O. A. PARTIES MUCH ENJOYED.

Mrs. Andrew McDowell entertained at her home, 825 Berkeley avenue, Thursday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock a n umber of officers of Camp 1, Patriotic Order of America. Similar affairs are to be held once a month at different member's homes.

A patriotc recitation was given by Mrs. Theodore VanPelt and a very interesting reading was given by Mrs. Brantingham. At 4 o'clock Mrs. McDowell assisted bw Mrs. VanPelt served luncheon, after which Mrs. Eickart and Miss Grace McDowell entertained the company with piano selections.

Those present were Mrs. William Clawson, Mrs. Eickart, Mrs. Theodore VanPelt, Mrs. Passmore, Mrs. H. Frieman, Mrs. L. Smith, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Brantingham, Mr. and Mrs. McDowell and the Misses McDowell

With the thermometer at eight below, ten below, and, by Cracky! way down to 14 below, we envy the plumber who is called out to fix the burst steam pipe or the burst water pipe.

We envy the coal dealer in his harvest.

Ye editor would gladly exchange places with any of these horny-handed fellows, would he not?

Yis, he would not.

Ye editor much prefers ye hot steampipes and ye eight o'clock breakfasts and ye steaming dumplings at 12 o'clock noon.

Out-door life and ripe old age for ye milk man, yet mail carriers and all ye others with great chests, but with the thermom at 14 below, ye editor wants none of it in his. He much prefers ye stuffy room, ye narrow chest and ye ding dong at fifty. —Washington (N. J.) Star.

Mother Deserted Children.

The King's Daughters of Woodbridge are trying to have the five children of Martin O'Grady, of Port Reading, provided with comfortable homes, Mrs. O'Grady having deserted them several weeks ago. According to the authorities, she left them without fire or food. Mr. O'Grady discovered their plight when he returned home at night. Mrs. Bonn Hoagland has interested herself in the case and has taken the youngest child, aged three years. The oldest is twelve years of age.

ARMY OFFICERS ROUTED FROM THEIR EASY BERTHS.

Twenty-two Ordered by Secretary of War to Join Troops.

Twenty-two army officers who have been stationed in Washington for years, including one of the rank of brigadier general, have been ordered by the secretary of war to join troops.

The order came as a great surprise, because there had been no hint that such a move was contemplated. The rule is that every four years an army officer must serve two years with troops. However, there have been various ways of eluding the four year rule. In some instances the presence of certain officers has been deemed necessary at the capital because of their efficiency in the lines of executive work to which they have been assigned.

In other instances "pull" has been able to keep officers in Washington who preferred the social and club life there to some post not having most of the joys for a pleasure loving soldier. Some of the men assigned to join troops have been in Washington twelve years and have well established homes there, while most of the others have been away from troops five to seven years. Here is the list of those ordered to troop duty:

PASSING OF REVERE HOUSE.

Boston Hotel Had Housed Many Celebrated Personages.

No hotel in Boston and few in the United States are richer in associations than the Revere House, which was recently destroyed by fire. Here stayed in the heyday of the hotel's popularity visiting royalty, famous statesmen and soldiers and some of the prima donnas who charmed a generation of Bostonians now dead.

The Revere House was named after the famous Boston patriot Paul Revere. It was opened on May 19, 1847, as the most sumptuous hotel Boston had had up to that time. The ballroom and the banquet halls were regarded as models of splendor and of convenience. Paran Stevens, one of the best known hotel men of the time and the landlord of the Tremont House, was at its head.

It was patronized by Webster, Cleveland, Adelina Patti, Christine Nilsson, Emperor Pedro of Brazil, King Kalakaua of the Hawaiian Islands, Admiral Mohammed Rasha of the Turkish navy, his imperial highness the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia and Generals Grant, Sherman and Sheridan.

Here, too, in 1860, stayed Prince Albert of Wales, the future King Edward VII. of England. One of the rooms in the hotel had ever since been set aside, faded in its decorations, but rich in its associations. It was the room Prince Albert occupied.

EACH GOLD PLATE AN ALARM.

New Burglar Device Protects Hotel's Famous Service.

The owner of one of the big New York hotels, who is an electrical engineer and the inventor of several electrical burglar protection devices now in use, has perfected and installed in his hotel a new device for protecting the gold service of the hotel.

This service is valued at several thousand dollars and consists of various pieces of glass and gold filigree work, as well as solid plate. It is inclosed in numerous cabinets, which up to this time have had but the protection of lock and key.

The device installed is so arranged that the lifting of any single piece will ring an alarm bell in the housekeeper's room in the main office and in the rooms of all the watchmen. The shelves upon which the goldware rests are balanced upon a sort of spring, which is set to a certain weight. The removal of any of the weight, however slight, connects the alarm circuit and sets the warning gongs ringing.

SHE'S A SCULPTOR AT 82.

Although she is eighty-two years old, Mrs. Delilah J. Cox of Montclair, N. J., is at present making two plaster of paris casts of busts that she has sculptured. One of the casts is of Lincoln.

Mrs. Cox began her work as a sculptor at the age of sixty. She is the mother of Robert Lynn Cox, who succeeded Grover Cleveland as general counsel and manager of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. Recently Mrs. Cox made several Indian dolls and a Santa Claus three feet high, the face and hands being of porcelain cement and the bodies of thin rope. Every article of clothing, including leather boots, was her work. Another doll in her collection was carved from chestnut wood.

JAMES BUTLER.

Second American to Be Honored as Knight of St. Gregory by Pope.

POPE HONORS BUTLER.

Confers Order of St. Gregory Upon New Yorker.

New York, Jan. 20.—The papal order of St. Gregory of the first class was conferred today by Cardinal Farley upon James Butler of this city.

There is only one other knight of St. Gregory of this high rank in the United States. The honor is in recognition of charitable deeds.

TURKS AND ITALIANS IN DESERT BATTLE

Losses Heavy In Engagement Near Tripoli.

Rome, Jan. 20.—Dispatches from Tripoli tell of a severe battle between the Italians and the combined Turks and Arabs near Ghirgarish, a small oasis about ten miles from Tripoli, in which at one point of the engagement the Turks succeeded in turning the Italian right, but were finally forced to retreat.

The intrenchments had not been completed when a large force of Turks and Arabs charged up and poured in a galling fire on the Italians. The Italian artillerymen got their guns going, and the Turks retired. The Turks returned with heavy re-enforcements and this time succeeded in turning the Italian right. The Italians seemed to show signs of yielding, but the commander rallied his men, and after several hours' hard fighting the Turks were driven back.

No estimate is given of the losses on either side, but they are believed to have been heavy.

NO COUNTRY OWNS HIM.

Congress Asked to Grant Eugene Prince Citizenship.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Relief for a man without a country is sought in a resolution presented in the house of representatives.

The case, which is regarded as the most remarkable of the kind ever brought to the attention of the government, is that of Eugene Prince, who was born in Russia, his father being the son of an American and his mother an Englishwoman. Eugene Prince is disowned legally by Russia and, under American laws, he is denied the right of citizenship in the United States. Prince has no standing in the eyes of any government in the world. He cannot secure a passport as an American citizen or as a Russian subject, although he has lived in Russia practically all his life.

TURKS ON SEIZED VESSEL.

Italian Government Explains Arrest of French Steamer.

Rome, Jan. 20.—The government has issued an explanation of the arrest of the French steamer Manouba in Tunisian waters. It says the vessel was seized because the government had learned there were twenty-nine Turkish officers and men leaving Marseilles for Tripoli via Tunis, with a large sum of money for the Turkish army.

The men, it was learned, were under the guidance of two men who deal in contraband of war. A search of the vessel, after she had been seized, verified this report. The twenty-nine men were taken off the Manouba, and the vessel was then released.

2,500 HEAR WILSON.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 20.—At least 2,500 people listened to Governor Woodrow Wilson when he spoke in the opera house here.

In his speech on "Opportunities in Democracy" he said the time for private interests in politics had passed, the day of the gumshoe is over, the time for washing off of the party label had come, and the time had also arrived for a man to express himself for the good of the nation and not for any particular party.

APPLY TO POWERS FOR RECOGNITION

United States Will Not Reply to New Republic.

BRITISH ARMY IS ACTIVE.

Sending of Troops to Peking, It Is Learned, Followed Suggestion of English In Effort to Keep Railway Line Open From the Capital.

Washington, Jan. 20.—A copy of the appeal of the Chinese republic to the foreign powers for recognition has been received by the state department. The text of the appeal follows:

The Manchu government having entered negotiations with the republic of China for the purpose of abdicating its entire sovereign rights, powers and privileges, we fervently pray for recognition in order to avoid a disastrous interregnum.

WANG CHUNG WEI,
Foreign Minister.

Recognition of the republican government of China is not even contemplated at the state department at this time for reasons that have already been explained. No answer to Minister Wang's telegram will be sent.

From an authoritative source it was learned that it was the British legation from which the suggestion came that the United States send troops to join in the work of keeping open the railroad from Peking to Chinwangtao. Troops were sent from Manila as a result of this intimation from the British. The British are taking the lead in the military activities of the powers by reason of the seniority of the commander of the British troops in China.

Though the situation in Peking is acute, owing to the expected abdication of the throne, there is no fear of an antiforeign uprising, according to dispatches received at the state department from the American legation. An edict has been issued warning the populace against any attacks upon foreigners. The streets of the capital are being patroled by the selected troops of Yuan Shih Kai. Chinese officials are panic stricken and are sending their families away.

SEND ULTIMATUM TO YUAN.

President Sun Demands Abdication of Manchu Rulers.

Nanking, Jan. 20.—The republican government took decided action toward bringing about a quick settlement of the question of the future form of government of China and recognition by the powers of the provisional government. The dilatory tactics of the imperialistic clan at Peking in the matter of the abdication of the throne is not at all satisfactory to the leaders, and an ultimatum was sent to Premier Yuan Shih Kai making a number of specific demands.

The ultimatum, which was the direct result of Yuan's demand that Sun Yat Sen resign the presidency of the republic and allow Yuan to exercise sovereign powers until the proposed national convention has met and adopted a form of government for China, began by demanding the immediate abdication of the throne and the surrender of sovereign powers. No Manchu is to be allowed to participate in the provisional government of China, and the capital cannot be established at Peking.

It is asserted in republican circles that Yuan's change of attitude has been brought about by the fact that one, and possibly two, of the foreign powers are probably urging him to insist that he be made the head of the entire government. Yuan, it is alleged, has received assurances of assistance from these powers.

NEAR ANARCHY IN MACEDONIA

Turkish Board of Inquiry Report Not Encouraging.

Constantinople, Jan. 20.—Conditions in Macedonia, according to a report made by a Turkish commission of inquiry, are desperate. Everybody is discouraged over the outlook, and even the officers of the Turkish army are pessimistic. The people are dejected and have prepared a secret petition to the foreign powers asking for intervention.

The commission which was sent to Macedonia after the recent dynamite outrages report that the country is in a state of anarchy. Dynamite outrages are everywhere on the increase, and murders are increasing in number daily. A general uprising of the people is looked for in a short time.

With the war between Turkey and Italy going on, semirevolutionary conditions in Macedonia, Bulgaria and Albania and the country without a parliament, matters appear very blue for the porte at the present moment.

MERCHANT ILL, ENDS LIFE.

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—Several hours after escaping from a sanitarium, Eugene Dalsimer, a member of a family prominent in the clothing business of Philadelphia, shot and killed himself in a room at a hotel.

Mr. Dalsimer, who had been suffering from a nervous breakdown, purchased a revolver and asked the clerk whether the weapon could be returned in case it was not used. He was forty-five years old.

SECRETARY KNOX.

ROOT DENOUNCES RECALL OF JUDGES

New York Bar Association Also Hears Knox.

New York, Jan. 20.—The recall of judicial officers was denounced as subversive of the principles of free and enlightened government by Senator Elihu Root in a speech at the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the New York State Bar association.

Senator Root presided, and his defense of the judiciary was warmly applauded by some 500 or more lawyers from all parts of the state. But his speech was only one event in the program of the annual meeting, which will continue today and wind up with a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria, at which President Taft is expected to speak.

Secretary of State Philander C. Knox delivered an address at Carnegie hall on "The Monroe Doctrine and Some Incidental Obligations In the Zone of the Caribbean."

He faced a crowded hall, which listened intently to his historical recital of the evolution of the Monroe doctrine and applauded his plea that the pending treaties with Honduras and Nicaragua, popularly known as part of the secretary's "dollar diplomacy" plans, should be ratified by the senate as necessary corrollaries of our obligations under the Monroe doctrine.

GERMANS ALARM ENGLISH.

Naval Activity In West Indies Unprecedented.

London, Jan. 20.—Somewhat startling reports of German activity in the British West Indies have just been received in London. According to a correspondent of the West India committee in the island of Barbados, that island recently has been overrun by Germans from the cruiser Hertha, who have made surveys and taken soundings at the site for the proposed coaling station.

The Trinidad correspondent of the committee reports that German vessels have been practicing night firing in the gulf of Parta and doing target shooting in Kingston harbor.

These reports show that a number of German warships are at present cruising in the Caribbean sea, but with what object is not known publicly.

DANISH SOCIAL SEASON ON.

Copenhagen, Jan. 20.—King Frederick opened the Danish court winter social season by attending a dinner given in his honor at the American legation. His majesty was received by Maurice F. Egan, the American minister.

Members of the legation staff, prominent court officials and society leaders were present. After the dinner there was a reception.

SOLD GENUINE RUBENS.

Poor Man, Pressed For Money, Parted With Valuable Pictures.

Brussels, Jan. 20.—A poor man living here was sadly pressed for money and decided to part with two pictures which had been in his family for generations. He took them to a dealer, who bought them for $20 apiece. It has now been discovered that the pictures are genuine Rubens and are of great value. One is the "Holy Trinity" and the other "Lot Fleeing From Sodom."

The WORLD'S MOST PERFECT EAR of CORN

PLANS FOR THE GREAT NATIONAL CORN SHOW IN 1913

"Just a countryman—that's all," is the way the grower of this remarkable ear of corn, Mr. Fred C. Palin, styles himself. Though he is admitted to be one of the leading corn experts in the country—one whose services are greatly in demand as a judge of corn exhibits, Mr. Palin asks for no greater honor or distinction than to be known as a plain Hoosier farmer, and while he openly professes a reasonable pride in the achievement of growing the famous ear of corn which was adjudged the most perfect ever grown, it is without a shadow of ostentation.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST EAR OF CORN.

A HYBRID—The seventh year production.
PARENT PLANTS—Male—Reid s Yellow Dent. Female—Alexander's Gold Standard.
DIMENSIONS—Length, 10⅛ inches. Circumference, 7¾ inches. Number of rows, 20. Length of kernels, ¾ of an inch. Width of kernels, about ⅜ of an inch. Thickness of kernels, 1-6 of an inch. Arrangement, very uniform, kernels running in straight rows the entire length of the ear without a misplaced grain, holding their length well to the ends of the ear, tip being well covered with dented grains. Weight, 20 ounces. Estimated proportions—corn, 92 per cent; cob, 8 per cent.

The champion ear of corn was not an accident. There can be no greater lesson in the value of careful study and painstaking selection of seed and breeding than the experiences of this same Palin. The farmer who thinks he stands a chance to go into his corn field and by a piece of luck pick out an ear which Nature has fashioned even more perfectly and with it wrest the honors from this Indiana man, cannot do better to disabuse his mind of this fallacious notion than to read the story of Palin and his champion ear.

Fred C. Palin.

In the first place, Palin knows corn. If there were no more proof of this fact than the bare story of the development and discovery of the champion ear, it would be enough. And in proof of this fact, here is the story as he told it himself:

"It was in November, 1910, and we were just harvesting our crop. The weather had been good, but we were a little late with the harvest. The men were going through the fields with the wagon in the usual way gathering the corn, and the harvest was a promising one.

"We have a sort of corn show at my farm all the time, and there is always an award for exceptionally good ears of corn—ears sufficiently true to type to permit of their being exhibited. There is a small box on every corn wagon in which the most perfect ears are thrown. These, when properly selected, constitue the seed corn, and among these more perfect ears we occasionally find an ear that we are willing to exhibit in a contest.

"On the day the champion ear was found, I was at the house and at dinner time one of the men brought it in and laid it, with a number of other ears, upon the window sill in the well room for me to take and put away in the seed house.

"'Well,' I said, 'do you think you have got a good ear there?'

"'It looks to me like a good ear,' he said. 'What do you think of it?'

"I picked it up and looked it over. 'Well,' I said finally, 'I think it is the most perfect ear of corn I ever saw. It's good enough to win the W. K. Kellogg $1,000 trophy this year at Omaha.'

"And I was confident the moment I saw it, and looked it over, that I held the trophy winner in my hand. So much so that when I left for Omaha to exhibit the ear, I took it out of my grip and showed it to the station agent with the words, 'That's the ear I'm going to win the $1,000 trophy with.'"

So there's the story of the champion ear as Palin told it himself. And on the strength of it who will say that Fred C. Palin doesn't justly merit the title, "The Man Who Knows Corn?"

But that's not all of Palin's story. He tells it willingly, though modestly, for he knows that his story whenever told is a source of great encouragement of the thousands of farmers who never had a better chance than he had himself. Palin was born and brought up on a farm near Newtown, Ind. He has never owned a foot of farm land in his life, and the 360-acre farm on which the champion ear of corn which won the Kellogg Trophy was grown is a rented farm.

Mr. Palin's real experience as a farmer began about sixteen years ago. He had been on the road as a grocery specialty salesman, when he took a notion that he would rather be an agriculturist, so he took a few short courses at Purdue University and rented a portion of the farm he now occupies. Nine years ago he began carefully breeding this new variety of corn. For two years he planted two rows of Reid's Yellow Dent, then two of Alexander's Gold Standard, detasseling the Gold Standard. From the detasseled rows he picked for seed only the ears carrying the characteristics he wanted to reproduce, planting these in breeding plots and maintaining careful selection, so that in nine years' time he had developed a well-settled type.

The Palin champion ear was the first winner of the W. K. Kellogg National Corn Trophy, a handsome silver and enamel cup made by Tiffany, of New York, at a cost of $1,000. Mr. Kellogg as the originator and manufacturer of Toasted Corn Flakes naturally has a deep interest in the development of the higher grades of corn, for the company of which he is president, the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co., requires ten thousand bushels of corn a day for the making of its product. The Kellogg trophy was offered to be awarded in annual competition for the best single ear of corn until won twice by the same producer. The fact that the Kellogg product is made only from selected white corn, while the winning ear was of a pronounced yellow type, was a peculiar feature.

The Kellogg trophy was won in 1910 at Columbus, Ohio, by R. A. James, of Charleston, Ill., with a magnificent ear of Reid's Yellow Dent, but not so perfect an ear as that which originally won the trophy and which has become known as "the best ear of corn ever grown."

The next award of this trophy will be made at the next National Corn Exposition, which will be held in February, 1913, at Columbia, S. C. It is planned to make this exposition much broader in scope than any held in the past, and consequently a longer time will be required for preparation. Special buildings are being erected for the exposition, the main building to be 400 by 167 feet ground measurements. The show will last ten days. The State of South Carolina has appropriated $40,000 for the expenses of the exposition and the prospect is that Dixie will "do herself proud" in an effort to make this exposition the greatest of its kind ever held.

GAVE BRIDE $5,000,000 IN SECURITIES AND PRESENTS.

Edward T. Stotesbury, the Philadelphia banker and partner of J. P. Morgan, who recently married Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, showered $1,000,000 worth of gifts on his bride in addition to giving her securities worth $4,000,000 to be hers absolutely.

The most marvelous of Mr. Stotesbury's presents is a pearl necklace which cost more than $500,000. It is one of the finest collections of pearls in the world. When Mrs. Stotesbury clasps the long string around her neck it reaches the floor at her toes. Mr. Stotesbury, who was born in 1849, has passed years collecting the pearls, which are of wonderful luster and perfectly matched.

He has also given his bride tiaras, necklaces, brooches, rings glittering with diamonds, emeralds, rubies—all the costliest gems.

J. Pierpont Morgan gave her a diamond chain with a superb pear shaped diamond as a pendant. The gift is valued at $25,000.

Mr. Stotesbury's business partners in Philadelphia sent three dozen service plates of rare design and great value, which belonged to Queen Adelaide and often adorned the royal table.

Mrs. Stotesbury received an astonishing number of watches and clocks. They are intended to remind her of her lack of punctuality, she says laughingly. One tiny watch is set on the base of a tremendous diamond which hangs from a long platinum chain set with diamonds. Another is a curious oblong watch, its queer little face looking out under a row of diamonds. This trinket is mounted on narrow black ribbon, which has two diamond slides.

WANTS BIGGER ARMY.

General Carter Urges Increase to Guard Philippines.

In a discussion of the provisions of the Hay bill for the reorganization of the military establishment Major General William H. Carter, U. S. A., startled the members of the committee with his statements regarding the defense of the insular possessions of the United States.

General Carter said that an increase in the army was absolutely necessary if this country did not care to give up its insular possessions in the Pacific ocean.

Thousands of trained soldiers of Japan are in the Philippines now, he said, and most of them were sent in there immediately after the Russo-Japanese war. Army officers are convinced that their presence is a menace to American authority, as they are ready to act the moment that any accident should cause a realization of the control of the United States.

The United States is endeavoring to control a population of 18,000,000 in the far east with a force of 14,000 soldiers, General Carter is reported to have told the committee. This force the army believes entirely too small. Difficulty was experienced in filling the Fifteenth infantry up to war strength in preparation for a call to go to China because of the scarcity of men and the small number of regiments available for service in the Philippines.

LETTER SIX YEARS LATE.

Girl's Acceptance of Proposal Goes Astray, and Each Weds Another.

Because of the snail-like manner in which Uncle Sam sometimes delivers mail Mrs. James Wormser is not the wife of Cecil G. Morris, both having married since that day six years ago when the present Mrs. Wormser wrote a letter from her home at Webster Springs, W. Va., and accepted the proposal of Morris, who resided at Rivesville, W. Va. The letter was six years traveling 200 miles, and when it finally reached Morris it was too late. The letter was mailed in 1906. It reached Rivesville, Morris' former home, two days after it was mailed, as the postmark shows. Where the letter has been all these years cannot be ascertained.

Supposing the failure of the woman to answer was a rejection of his proposal, Morris married another. The woman, believing he had changed his mind after receiving her acceptance, also married another.

He's Bally Right.

"Are you taking swimming lessons, Cadby?"

"No, old fellow. It's too much bother. My valet is learning, and, as I never go anywhere without him, if I fell in the watah he could rescue me."—Tit-Bits.

THE RELEASE OF C. W. MORSE

Ex-Banker Had Served Two Years of Long Sentence.

FIGHT FOR HIS FREEDOM.

One of the Petitions to President Taft Had Half a Million Signatures—Another Was Signed by Two Hundred Congressmen.

Charles W. Morse, whose sentence has just been commuted by President Taft, was indicted by the federal grand jury on Feb. 12, 1908, on the charge of violating the national banking laws in his management of the affairs of the National Bank of North America, New York, and was arrested upon his arrival from Europe on April 30. He pleaded not guilty, and on Oct. 15 his trial was begun in the United States district court and lasted until Nov. 3. Three days later the jury brought in a conviction, and the following day he was sentenced by Judge Hough to serve fifteen years in the federal prison at Atlanta.

From that time he has made an unrelenting fight to obtain his freedom, aided by his wife and thousands of friends. Through his counsel, Congressman Martin W. Littleton, who entered the case on Jan. 17, 1909, Morse obtained his release on $125,000 bail pending the outcome of an appeal to the circuit court of appeals. This was on June 16, 1909. He lost his appeal and was returned to the Tombs on Oct. 12. Still the fight was kept up, and on Dec. 6 the circuit court denied an application for a writ of certiorari.

CHARLES W. MORSE.

Morse lost practically his last chance to escape his sentence of fifteen years on Dec. 29, 1909, when Judge Hough, before whom he was tried, handed down a decision in the circuit court holding that the court had no jurisdiction to pass upon a motion for a new trial based upon allegations of improper influence upon the jury which convicted Morse and also that the motion "lacked merit."

Morse began service of his term on Jan. 3, 1910. He had been confined in the Tombs for ten months before he was taken to Atlanta.

While out on bail pending decision on his appeals Morse was an active figure in the financial district, and on Oct. 2, 1909, he stated that he had made approximately $7,500,000, which he had applied to wiping out his debts and then had but $500,000 more to pay before the old scores were all settled.

Not many weeks after Morse was taken to Atlanta his wife started petitions asking President Taft to pardon the banker. One of these petitions, containing 500,000 names, was sent to the president on Dec. 14, 1910. Prior to that, in May, 1910, Mrs. Morse had obtained the signatures of 200 congressmen to a petition, but received a cold reception in the senate. Morse had characterized himself as a "victim" in an interview, and Mrs. Morse, in what was conceded to be one of the most remarkable documents of the kind ever sent to Washington, declared that the sentence imposed upon her husband was "outrageous." President Taft, however, refused to pardon him.

On May 24 last President Taft again denied applications for clemency, declaring that the "record shows moral turpitude of that insidious and dangerous kind to punish which the national banking laws were especially enacted." The spirit of Morse was apparently broken by these fruitless efforts.

Friends again appealed to President Taft, but the president, relying on the opinions of three government physicians, for the third time refused a pardon. It was said then, however, that the president was reluctant that a dying man should be kept in close confinement and that if his condition was later declared hopeless he would set the prisoner free.

Bubonic Plague at Amoy.

Bubonic plague is reported to have appeared again in Amoy, China. No cases had been reported since October, last year, but before that the city had suffered severely, nearly 500 persons dying in the first nine months of 1911 from the disease.

LOCAL OPTIONISTS PLAN A RENEWAL OF FIGHT

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Following the second annual State convention of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League in the State Street Methodist church here yesterday, the fight to get a local option law on the statue books will begin next week or the week after. The bill is now being prepared and will be introduced at an early date.

The measure will be similar to the one introduced last session. It will make the municipality the unit of voting on the question, instead of the county as in the bills introduced in the first year or two in the campaign in this State. It will provide that upon petition of thirty per cent. of the voters in any municipality an election shall be ordered to determine the question whether the saloons shall be banished. If the majority of the votes shall be cast against retaining the saloons they shall be barred. The measure will provide that after an election on the question another election shall not be held in the same municipality for three years. This provision differs from the bill of last year, in which this limit was two years.

Edwin I. Stearns, the new superintendent of the New Jersey League, said last night that it was not known yet who would introduce the measure. It will be introduced into each branch of the Legislature and then a joint hearing will be requested upon it.

The local optionist leaders who were at the convention seemed undeterred by the defeats of the past few years and claimed that the fight for the bill this year would be conducted more vigorously than ever before. They are also conducting a fight in favor of the passage by Congress of the Kenyon-Sheppard bill to prevent the shipping of liquors into "dry" territory through inter-state commerce.

AGRICULTURE BOARD FOR LIABILITY AMENDMENTS

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Claiming that the new employers' liability act is working great injury to the agricultural interests of the State, the State Board of Agriculture at its annual meeting in the State House yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution endorsing Senate bill No. 16, introduced by Senator George W. F. Gaunt, of Gloucester county, exempting domestics and farm laborers from the provisions of the law.

If the bill shall become a law farmers will be exempt from damages for accidents to their laborers except the damages be recovered in court under the old statutes. In the lower House Monday, Assemblyman Anderson, of Watchung, will introduce a measure similar to Senator Gaunt's.

The State Board also adopted a resolution abolishing limited trolley franchises on the contention that the law limiting such franchises to twenty years has prevented trolley extensions and thus has interfered with the development of the rural sections of the State. Another resolution adopted declared for legislation permitting trolleys to carry freight.

Still another resolution adopted declared that the farmers are suffering from excessive taxes caused by extensive road repairs made necessary by automobile traffic and provided for the appointment of a committee to examine specifically the report of State Motor Vehicle Commissioner J. B. R. Smith and wait upon the Legislature for relief. The members appointed on this committee were former Assemblyman J. Warren Fleming and H. H. Hutchinson, of Mercer county, and Senator Gaunt.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, re-elected; vice-president, John T. Cox, White House station; secretary, Franklin Dye, Trenton, re-elected; treasurer, A. J. Rider, Hammonton; executive committee, George E. DeCamp, Roseland; Theodore Brown, Swedesboro, and J. Harvey Darnell, Masonville.

BREAK TIE FOR SECOND PLACE IN ELKS LEAGUE

By taking two games from the Paterson Elks' five at that place, last night, the local Elk pinners gained undisputed possession of second place in the league. It was only by rolling sensational ten pins at the finish of the second game that they annexed the pair. In the ninth frame Paterson lead by 20 pins. The following scores from the frame nosed them out by 17 pins: Nash, 20; Kiely, 30; Stout, 40; Blatz, 30; Campbell, 29. In the last game Blatz made the 4-10 split, one of the most difficult and seldom made in bowling.

The largest delegation yet accompanying the team made the trip to the Silk City and following the session on the drives were royally entertained. Although the visiting knights knew that the Paterson quintet stand second from the cellar, the two games taken were all that the most optimistic could have hoped to win owing to the strangeness of the alleys and thhe fact that they are asserted to be the most difficult on the circuit. Users of different sorts of balls have all made the same complaint regarding them

The scores:

GLEN RIDGE QUINTET DEFEATS P. H. S. TEAM.

The Plainfield High School basketball five was defeated by the Glen Ridge High School team on the local court yesterday afternoon, in the most exciting contest of the season here. The visitors were victorious by a score of 17 to 16. The teams were evenly matched and the score was close enough throughout the game to keep everyone on edge.

Both teams played a close guarding game which prevented accurate shooting. In this way P. H. S. missed many chances to score in the first half. Nash was the only player on the local five to score from play in this period. Woodhull made the rest of the score for P. H. S. by throwing three baskets from the foul line. At the end of the first half Glen Ridge was leading by a score of 8 to 5. At the end of the second half Nash and Grisley both scored points for P. H. S. The lineup:

Glen Ridge H. S.—Forwards, Powerst, Wilson; center, McClure; guards, VanCourt, Matter.

Between the halves of the above game, the senior class team defeated the freshmen by a score of 22 to 12 for the class championship. The victory gives the seniors second place in the series. The upper classmen had the best of the play in both halves, outplaying the freshmen in every department. The lineup:

Seniors—Forwards, Rosenson, McNamee; center, Dealaman; guards, Ryder, LaRue, Gray.

CALKINS' HOT REPLY STIRS THE GOLFERS

He Says Higgins Possesses no Understanding of the Half Stroke.

HAS HOPES FOR WESTERNER

President of the Plainfield Country Club Has Some Caustic Things to Say of the Chicago Man's Statement.

From the role of a disgruntled disturber to a champion of the cause of the United States Golf Association seems to be the latest and most amusing act on the part of Crafts W. Higgins, the Western agitator. His attack on the Metropolitan Golf Association, its par system and incidentally Leighton Calkins, president of the Plainfield Country Club, appears rather odd to those who still have vivid recollections of entirely different views forcibly expressed by Higgins only a few months ago. Calkins, in a reply to the Higgins attack, says the Chicago man clearly possesses no understanding of the half stroke in handicapping. The Plainfield golfer adds that he has not entirely given up hope that some day Higgins will see the light. Calkins' reply is as follows:

"I have read what Mr. Higgins, of Chicago, has to say in the current number of his magazine about the Metropolitan Golf Association, but I cannot satisfy myself that he intended to be taken seriously, because he was too funny. His first grievance appears to be that the Metropolitan Association had no business to abolish the Graham half-stroke device and heartily endorse it in the same breath; or to express any hope that the National Association may some day come to recognize its value and adopt it. This, says Higgins, was not sportsmanlike. The Metropolitan Association, if it could not honestly say anything bad about the half-stroke, might at least have preserved a modest silence.

"In the second place he appears to be hurt because the Metropolitan Association, at its recent meeting, di-directed its officers, before actually abolishing the Metropolitan half-stroke and par distances, to inquire of the United States Golf Association whether it really desired to have us do this. 'Why,' declares Higgins, 'should the National Association belittle itself by asking the Metropolitan Association to agree with it? Why should it take any notice of the Metropolitan Golf Association resolution?'

"It is just possible that Mr. Higgins does not know that at the meeting President Wheeler and some of the delegates thought that, inasmuch as the United States Association had not requested local associations to conform to the national method, it was possible that it did not intend to go into handicapping for any other purpose than to limit the field for the amateur championship. Some of the delegates thought that it would be a pity to take final action in abolishing the half-stroke and then find out afterward that the National Association was not interested in having local organizations conform to the national method.

"The loyalty of the Metropolitan Golf Association needs no defense. In fact, the United States Association has always relied upon the Metropolitan and other eastern associations for its strongest support. Our local associations in the East will not even admit a club to membership unless it has joined the National Association. Can the Western Golf Association say as much, or point out in its record any of that unqualified support now the policies of the United States Golf Association in which Mr. Higgins now imagines that he finds us lacking?

"As Mr. Higgins has referred to my fondness for statistics perhaps he will forgive me if I take a parting shot and remind him of his lacerated feelings a year or so ago when the Western Golf Association addressed a letter to the United States Association and got no reply—at least so it was said. But I suppose he was then seeing things through a glass darkly. Now apparently a new light has come to him, and he trembles for the dignity of the United States Golf Association if it stops to answer an inquiry from provincial New York.

"However, we gladly welcome Mr. Higgins as an out and out supporter of the United States Golf Association and willingly offer up our little Metropolitan Association on the altar of his wrath. Besides, I have not entirely given up hope that he will some day catch on to the half stroke. So far he has shown no sign of understanding in the least how it is used."

The ordinance of believer's baptism was administered at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last to several candidates.

WAITER AND HIS BOSS' FOSTER DAUGHTER ELOPE

Adolph Hoerst, Jr., Discloses Secret Marriage When Fired by Proprietor of Queen City Hotel---Rich Man's Son, He Says.

Adolph Hoerst, a waiter in the Queen City Hotel, was discharged Saturday night, and the dismissal brought to light a romance between himself and Miss Wilhelmina Miller, niece of Mrs. Peter Floersch, wife of the hotel proprietor. The young couple eloped to New York, Wednesday, January 10, and were married in the city hall at that place after securing the necessary license by an alderman.

The announcement so upset Mr. Floersch that he did not note the alderman's name on the certificate. Mrs. Floersch is said to be prostrated over the news.

The bride has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Floresch for the past nine years and was regarded in the light of a daughter. She is attractive and accomplished. Her pleasing personality won for her a good many friends among the patrons of the hotel during the comparatively short time it has been her home.

Two months ago need of another waiter developed in the hotel dining room and through an employment agency in New York, Hoerst was engaged. Miss Miller assisted in the dining room and she became acquainted with the new man. They promptly fell in love. They met clandestinely and finally planned the elopement. They carried it out on one of Hoerst's days off. They kept their secret after returning to Plainfield, and it wouldn't be known now if they bridegroom hadn't been discharged. He disclosed it to establish his right to take his bride with him.

Hoerst says he is the social equal of his bride. His father, Adolph Hoerst, Sr., of Berlin, Germany, he says, is one of the most wealthy leather manufacturers in Europe, and he is a graduate of Heidelberg University. After serving his term in the German army, he asserts, he decided to see the world before engaging in business with his father and was "roughing it" for the sake of adventure. The world tour has now been abandoned, and while letters are being exchanged between himself and father, he will remain in a flat in West 156th street, New York, with his bride.

He says he expects to return to Berlin to engage in the leather business as his father wanted him to do. Mrs. Hoerst's parents are also residents of Germany. She visited them during the summer of 1910, and seemed well pleased over the prospects of going there to live.

Mr. Floersch said today that he had no objection to the union, but did object to the manner in which it was brought about. Both the bride and bridegroom are twenty-five years old, he said, and had they made known their affection for each other arrangements would have been made to properly bring about the result accomplished.

MORMONS BELIEVE IN A FEMALE GOD, SAYS PASTOR

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, in the prelude to his sermon, last night, vigorously attacked the Mormon church. Quoting verbatim from Brigham Young's sermons delivered in 1852, he assailed the doctrine expounded by the Mormon leader, as well as by those who have assumed the role of leadership since that time.

The preacher declared that among other things for which the Mormon church stands are a plurality of gods; a female diety, the belief that Jesus was a married man, had several wives and looked upon his own children the same as parents do today; and for baptism for the dead.

In adition to quoting from Brigham Young's sermon, he also read extracts from the sermons of Apostle Oren Hyde to prove his statements. The peracher told his congregation that if any one permitted the Mormon elders to enter their homes, they did so at their own peril, and he openly denounced the religion as infamous and blasphemous and contrary to the teachings held by all evangelical churches.

POLITICIANS AT SEA OVER THE SITUATION

GOV. WILSON AND ROOSEVELT

Shift in Events Relating to the Availability of the Two Progressives Has Everyone Guessing as to the Outcome.

Trenton, Jan. 22.—Politicians of this State have been made almost dizzy in the past few days owing to the rapidity with which important political events have happened and their attempts to figure out how these events may affect the Presidency on both big party tickets. It is doubtful if ever before in the political history of New Jersey there was a single week which made the State so much the cynosure of Republicans and Democrats of the whole country and which was so pregnant with portent for two Presidential candidates.

The Wilson-Harvey and the Taft-Roosevelt controversies, with the talk of former Governor Franklin Murphy, of Newark, and near-Governor Frank S. Katzenbach, of this city, as vice-presidential possibilities on the respective tickets have brought New Jersey squarely into the centre of the national political stage. The situation as to both Republicans and Democrats gives promise that matters will be unusually interesting from Sussex hills to Cape May sands right up to the two national contions next June.

Varying opinions are heard among State House politicians as to the probable effect of the Colonel Watterson letter upon the Presidential boom of Governor Wilson. Friends of the Governor profess to view the matter lightly and insist that the whole question is being exaggerated expressly to defeat Governor Wilson for the nomination. They say that Colonel Harvey asked for an opinion as to the effect of his support to the Governor and got it, and that is all there is to it. The anti-Wilson Democrats, on the other hand, declare that the controversy has shattered the Governor's chances of winning the Presidential nomination.

In the Republican camp the matter has been actively discussed and though no very positive opinions have been expressed on the theory that it would be premature to talk before Governor Wilson had replied to the Watterson letter, the general view seems to be that as the situation now stands a considerable obstacle has been put in the way of the Governor's hopes.

While the Watterson letter was still being hotly discussed there came from former Governor Fort his declaration in favor of Colonel Roosevelt for President and his statement that he had a personal interview with former President Roosevelt and his intimation that the Colonel would soon declare himself on the question of his candidacy. The visit of former State Senator Everett Colby, George L. Record and former Governor Fort to Colonel Roosevelt has started political tongues wagging very actively.

It is known that the regular Republican leaders, including State Chairman Briggs, Vivian M. Lewis, former Governor Murphy, State Treasurer Voorhees, Alfred N. Dalrymple and others are working hard to give President Taft the delegates from this State to the national convention. It is no wonder, therefore, that the activity of New Jersey Progressive Republicans in the direction of the office of the Outlook's contributing Editor is being viewed with some concern by the regulars.

Much interest has been added to this situation by the statement from a New York source that the declaration of former Governor Stokes for Roosevelt some time ago had back of it the move of the "interests" to exploit Roosevelt expressly to defeat Taft for renomination because of the President's crusade against the trusts. This New York statement pointed out that Mr. Stokes is president of the Mechanics National Bank of this city, and that Ferdinand W. Roebling, Sr., is a director of this bank.

The women of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold an all-day sewing meeting Thursday.

REV. A.C. NICKERSON RESIGNS PASTORATE

FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Congregation Expresses Keen Regret Over Minister's Retirement—To Move Away But All Plans For Future Not Settled.

Rev. Alfred Chase Nickerson, who has been pastor of All Soul's Unitarian church on Park avenue for the past fifteen years, has resigned on account of failing health. The resignation is to take effect on May 31 next.

The resignation came before the church at a special meeting yesterday afternoon and resolutions of regret were adopted. The members expressed deep feeling over their pastor's coming retirement, and their heartfelt sympathy and affection for him in his illness. They voiced earnest wishes that he may soon be restored to health and strength.

Rev. Mr. Nickerson when question about the resignation today said that his plans for the future were not settled. He said that he would remain here until May 31, after which he and his wife will leave Plainfield and make their home elsewhere.

Mr. Nickerson was born at Nantucket, Mass., and was graduated from the Harvard Divinity School in the class of 1871. He has been in active pastorate, with the exception of an interval of two months, for forty years. His first pastorate was at Dorchester, Mass., where he remained seven years. He then went to Templeton, Mass., where he served the Unitarian church for seven and a half years. From there he went to Exeter, N. H., where he serva church for eleven years. He came from Exeter to Plainfield fifteen years ago, succeeding Rev. Hobart Clark, who was the first pastor of All Soul's church. Rev. W. P. Tilden preceded Mr. Clark, but only as a temporary pastor. Mr. Clark, who served the local church six years died December 26, 1910, at his home in West New Brighton, S. I.

During Mr. Nickerson's pastorate here he has made many friends both in his church and outside. He has always evidenced a lively interest in city affairs, and for a time was especially active in the work of the Charity Organization Society, making a study of the condition of the poor.

At a special meeting of the First Unitarian Society of Plainfield, held in the Church at 3 p. m. on Sunday, January 21, 1912, the following resolution was adopted as an expression of esteem for the pastor and regret for the illness which necessitated his giving up his work after a long and successful pastorate:

WHEREAS, our Pastor, the Reverend Alfred Chase Nickerson, after many years of faithful service, has resigned his pastorate, the resignation to take effect on May 31st, 1912, because of failing health. Be it

RESOLVED, That in reluctantly recommending to the Board of Trustees the acceptance of this resignation; the members of All Souls' Unitarian church of Plainfield, assembled in special meeting, hereby express their sincere regret for the cause of their minister's resignation, their heartfelt sympathy and affection for him in his illness, and their earnest desire that he shall soon be restored to health and have many years of useful activity.

Also, that we express our appreciation of his fifteen years of service as minister of this parish, as pastor and friend, and of his efforts in behalf of the church and its people, and of his activity in bettering the condition of the people of this city and State.

We further wish to convey to him and Mrs. Nickerson the best wishes of the Society for their future happiness and welfare.

Also, that this resolution be spread upon the minutes and a copy thereof be sent to Mr. Nickerson.

MEMORIAL TABLET FOR BELOVED PASTOR

Bronze Unveiled in New York Church a Tribute to Rev. Dr. Wm. R. Richardr.

LONG A PLAINFIELD CLINIC

For Nineteen Years He Had Been Minister of Crescent Ave. Church, Leaving to Accept Call to the Brick Presbyterian Church.

Special services were held at the Brick Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue and Thirty-seventh street, New York, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when a large bronze tablet, in memory of the Rev. Dr. William Rogers Richards, pastor of the church from 1902, when he retired as pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church here, where he served for nineteen years, until his sudden death on January 8, 1910, was unveiled. The Rev. Dr. Robert E. Speer, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, made the address, in which he paid high tribute to Dr. Richards.

"We have now and always shall have the blessed memory of this man, who loved God and truth. Let us thank God for that," he said in concluding.

The Rev. Dr. George S. Webster read the scripture, and the foreword was said by the Rev. Dr. William P. Merrill, pastor of the church. "It is a beautiful custom we have of placing a monument at the grave of the dead," he said, "but I think it is even more beautiful that we should place a tablet here where his spirit is. The genial warmth of his companionship will always be with us."

The tablet unveiled at the services yesterday is placed at the right of the pulpit. To the left of the pulpit is the tablet in memory of the Rev. Dr. Maltbie Davenport Babcock, pastor in 1900 and 1901, who died suddenly in Naples, Italy.

The tablet was designed by Dr. J. Cleveland Cady, elder of the church, and bears in the centre a portrait of Dr. Richards in bas relief modeled by Albert G. Newman, the sculptor of the peace monument lately unveiled at Atlanta, Ga. The inscription, which was written by Dr. Henry Van Dyke, says:

"A shepherd of souls; a preacher of the word; a servant of the Lord; William Rogers Richards, D. D., beloved pastor of this church, 1902-1910."

Home Land of Moses.

—Neuman Bros. will have for tomorrow's trade a large and choice assortment of fruits and vegetables.

As the result of a collision with an automobile while coasting yesterday afternoon, Richard Perrine, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Perrine, of Fritz place, is in Muhlenberg Hospital with a fractured skull. John S. Douglass, of Rockview avenue, owner and driver of the machine, is being held under $1,000 bonds to await the outcome of the boy's injuries. It was thought at first that he had been killed outright, but at the hospital today it was said he had an even chance for recovery.

The accident occurred on Somerset street at Interhaven avenue and according to eyewitnesses was unavoidable. The hill on Interhaven avenue, with the long flat entrance to Johnston's drive directly across Somerset street from the foot of the incluine, is the best coasting place in this section. Although considered the most dangerous, children in great numbers always make use of the hill regardless of the risk of being run over while dashing across Somerset street.

Lying flat on the sled, young Perrine slid down the smooth grade at express train speed. Mr. Douglas with his wife and Robert C. Woodhouse, of East Seventh street, in the car were returning to town from a ride over the mountains and reached the Somerset street crossing for the sled at the same time.

Head foremost, the lad dashed into the rear wheel of the machine. His skull was fractured by the hub and his caip and face badly lacerated and torn. The sled was not damaged.

Mr. Woodhouse jumped from the car before it came to a stop and lifting the youth in his arms carried him to the auto. Holding the unconscious victim in his arms he told Mr. Douglass to drive to Muhlenberg Hospital. While the car raced to the institution Mrs. Douglass endeavored to stop the flow of blood from the lad's wound with her handkerchief and strips torn from her skirts.

Upon reaching the hospital and being relieved of their still unconscious burden, the party asked that the police be notified and remained there until an officer arrived to place them under arrest. They were brought to city police headquarters and later were taken t othe borough by Chief Weiss.

Recorder M. F. Gano was notified and with Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver, as counsel, accepted a complaint against Mr. Douglass by Chief Weiss. Councilman M. C. VanArsdale signed the bail bond and the hearing was down for next Monday morning at wihch time the extent of young Perrine's injuries will be known.

The place where the accident occurred is just across the North Plainfield line in North Plainfield township. Efforts have been made by both the borough and township authorities to prevent coasting there and this accident has long been expected and prophesied, but until an officer is stationed at the point, heedless youngsters will disregard the danger to life and limb.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleaves Surprised.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cleaves, of Kansas, who are visiting relatives here, were given a surprise party Saturday night at the home of David Mundy in the borough. There were about twenty-five relatives and friends present from Bound Brook, Watchung, Dunellen, the borough and this city. A musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Cleaves are also visiting Mrs. Harriet Tingley of East Second street.

Mr. Kipsey if now supervisor at South Somerville, which position he will retain, while Edmund Sage, who is the present school supervisor in Warren township, will continue in that position.

Hurt by a Fall.

HOUSE AND MONEY DESTROYED BY FIRE

VAIN EFFORT TO SAVE CASH

Fire destroyed the home of John Hogan on South Plainfield avenue, South Plainfield, yesterday afternoon. It started at about 3 o'clock from an overheated stove on the second floor. Property damage is put at $3,500 and $510 in cash was destroyed.

Mr. Hogan and his family were sitting in their dining room when one of them discovered smoke coming down the stairs. When Mr. Hogan went up to investigate he discovered the whole second floor ablaze.

The South Plainfield volunteer fire company was summoned, but the lack of hydrants made them all but helpless, although they got to the fire quickly. Two men on horseback were passing the fire house when the alarm was given, and they obligingly hitched their mounts to the apparatus, and hustled the hose cart to the blaze in time that established a record for Piscataway. They went away without giving their names or waiting to receive the thanks of the grateful firemen.

The firemen couldn't get a stream on the blaze because the nearest hydrant was 2,000 feet away, and the company only had 1,000 feet of hose. Foreman Robert Horn, who was acting chief, saw that it was useless to call for assistance from Plainfield as the whole top floor was virtually gone when the company arrived.

The loss on the building is $2,500 and on the furniture $1,000. Mr. Hogan carried only $1,500 insurance on the house.

William Hogan, a brother, who made his home at the house, lost $350 in cash in the fire. The money was paid him Saturday afternoon too late to bank it. He intended depositing it today.

John Hogan lost $160 in cash which came into his hands Saturday. The money was in a bureau drawer in his bedroom. He made several attempts to get in the room, but was driven back by the flames.

In the cellar of the house was the winter meat supply, which consisted of five dressed hogs and a quarter of beef, together with several sacks of potatoes. Meat and potatoes were ruined. Pretty much all the village extended sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Hogan in their loss. They are staying at the home of Thomas Savard.

This is the second destructive fire in the village within three days, and the spread of the flames is laid in both cases to the absence of hydrants. The combined loss is over $7,000.

Charged with violating the corrupt practise act, nineteen Republicans and fifteen Democrats, all candidates for office at the November elections, were arraigned Saturday in the Common Pleas Court in Elizabeth before Judge Atwater. Among them was J. Logan Fay, defeated candidate for sheriff. They failed to file a statement of their election expenses.

The defense of a majority was that not having received any money or spent any they did not think it necessary to file a statement. Judge Atwater, however, could not see it in that light and gave them until January 29 to file their sworn statements.

City Clerk John F. Kenah, treasurer of the Elizabeth Democratic exexutive committee, stated that after the election he turned over to Judge J. Williams Crane, treasurer of the Democratic county committee, $1,149.25. Ths was money, however, that had been contributed in 1910, and he thought this let him out. The court agreed that it did, but ordered Treasurer Crane to file a supplementary report embodying this statement.

From what can be learned she was bending over the stove when the flames caught the sleeve of her cotton dress and in a moment she was enveloped in flames. Mrs. Smith ran screaming down stairs, where Albert Anderson smothered the flames with blankets.

POULTRY TRUST BEING FORMED?

NEW YORKERS ORGANIZERS

Article From West In New York Produce Paper Says That Concerted Effort is Being Made to Control Entire 1912 "Crop" of Fowl.

New York, Jan. 22.—The New York Produce News prints a dispatch from Chicago, in which it is stated that New York members of the National Butter, Egg and Poultry association are planning to obtain control of the 1912 output of poultry in order to raise the price higher than it has ever been.

According to the Chicago dispatch the entire season's "crop," to use a trade word, with the exception of a few small blocks still in the hands of speculators, has been bought up by a group of a half dozen New York dealers, and the price of dressed fowl will go beyond 30 cents a pound as the result of their activities.

"Quite a number of eastern buyers and packers have been here for the past ten days," says the Chicago dispatch, "buying and trying to buy dressed poultry. Sales are said to have been the heaviest ever known in the trade. The buyers are especially anxious to get fowls and are said to have paid 14 to 17 cents, in some cases higher. On account of the short crops in the west, Texas shipments in the fall and this winter have been the heaviest known, and much of the crop has come to Chicago."

The dispatch states further that one New York firm has bought 250,000 pounds of Texas turkeys to hold in cold storage; that in all 1,000,000 pounds are removed from the market by being held up in cold storage to await expected higher prices. The purchasers paid from 17 to 18¼ cents to the producers for the turkeys.

FIGHT BUTTER PRICES.

Housewives' League Asks All Women to Join Campaign.

New York, Jan. 22.—Letters have begun to arrive in sheaves at 6 West Ninety-first street, the home of Mrs. Julia Heath, president of the Housewives' league, and they are expected to come along in increasing quantities during the week from those who either intend to deny themselves buttered bread and buttered toast or from those who can only bring themselves to cutting down their supply one-half.

"The appeal of the Housewives' league to consumers to abstain from butter seems to have taken a firm hold," Mrs. Heath said. "Reports indicate already a heavy falling off in the purchases of butter. We want all women to join the movement. One of the duties of a member is never to buy from any retailer until she has discovered whether his prices are fair."

GERMANY REACHING OUT.

Purchase of Belgian Kongo a Part of Expansion In Africa Scheme.

London, Jan. 22.—Information from a reliable quarter is that Germany is making overtures for the purchase of the Belgian Kongo. Coupled with this is the assertion attributed to a German diplomatist that the British foreign office was approached on this subject and intimated that it would sanction such a transfer of territory.

The German diplomatist who disclosed the project expected that the negotiations would take a year.

While the United States is a party to the Kongo treaty, the interest of that country is not regarded as sufficient to give her the right to participate in the negotiations except in a perfunctory manner.

There were 112 men in the property at the time of the explosion, and those who were not killed or injured rushed to the aid of their stricken companions.

The men on top quickly organized for rescue work, but despite their most desperate efforts all of the dead and injured were not removed for several hours.

WOULD MAKE DOG OWNERS PAY BILLS OF THE BITTEN.

Bearing in mind the fact that when some dogs start to biting folk they don't use any discrimination, a committee of representatives of boards of health of the State is preparing a bill for introduction in the Legislature that, it is declared, may revolutionize the dog business from the ground up. It is pointed out that it freuentlqy costs money, in the way of doctor's fees, medicine, etc., to be bitten by dogs. Sometimes, it is explained, it costs a whole lot of money. And there are folks who cannot afford to be bitten, it is asserted. The proposed bill will place the privilege within the reach of everybody.

If the measure goes through the county in which a person is bitten will have to foot the bill of the doctor and the druggist. That's the proposed tenor of the board of health's proposed measure. The county will do the paying and then the county will collect—or try to collect—the money from the person who was unfortunate enough to own the dog that did the biting.

Rev. Dr. C. B. Lippincott.

Ocean Grove, Jan. 22.—Rev. Dr. Benjamin C. Lippincott, one of the oldest members of the New Jersey Methodist Conference, died Saturday at the Methodist Home, 63 Clark avenue, of general debility. He was eighty-four years old and had served charges in this State and on the Pacific coast. Dr. Lippincott joined the Baltimore Conference in 1859, and the following year became president of the Cumberland Valley Institute. He then joined the Oregon Conference, and was made president of the Puget Sound Wesleyan Institute. He was pastor in Portland in 1865 and '66. In 1886 Dr. Lippincott was transferred from the Oregon Conference to the New Jersey Conference, and while active filled charges at Glassboro, Cape May, Cedarsville, Keyport, Pennington, Salem, Asbury Park, Camden, Long Branch, Woodbury, New Brunswick, Vineland, and Blackwood. In 1906 he became assistant to the president of Pennington Seminary. Dr. Lippincott leaves a widow and four children. The latter are Dr. Jesse Lippincott, of Newark; Rev. B. C. Lippincott, Jr., of Matawan; Bradley Lippincott, of California, and Mrs. Clarence McQueen, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Mrs. Herman Weber, of West Front street, who has been quite ill, is able to be about the house again.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS DEFEATED BY N. Y. NORMAL QUINTET.

An interesting and exciting game was played between the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team and the New York Normal School girls' five at New York Saturday resulting in a score of 17 to 5 in the New York girls' favor. The first half was played with lines and girls' rules, and ended in a score of 4 to 3 in the Normal girls' favor. Helen Hummel made the first goal and scored all through the game. The second half was played under regular boys' rules which accounted for the defeat of the borough. N. P. H. S. never had practiced boys' rules.

Clara B. Smith and Elsie Debele played a very fast game, while M. Mair did much to aid the score.

The lineup:

N. P. H. S.—Forwards, Helen Hummel, Marion Mair; center, Bessie Carson, Mildred McAuliffe; guards, Clara B. Smith, Elsie Debele.

Branchville, Jan. 22.—Unconscous from cold and starvation, George Snavel, an aged man, was found by a neighbor, Urban Abers, a few days ago. Snavel, who lived alone in the back country on the border of Sandyston and Mantague townships, was in a serious condition, but responded to treatment. In the barn a horse was dead from cold and lack of food. There was no fire in Snavel's house and evidently there has been none for days.

After Snavel had recovered sufficiently to stand the trip, he was removed to the home of his son-in-law, Linn Conkling, of Sandyston, where he is rapidly getting better.

Trenton Sewage Plant.

Trenton Jan. 22.—The city commission has taken the first steps toward the actual construction of its sewage disposal plant, for the construction of the first unit of which City Clerk Salter has been instructed to advertise for bids. The plans for the first unit, which is designed to dispose of 1,000,000 gallons of sewage daily, have been prepared by the Water and Sewage Filtration Company. It is estimated that the cost will be between $40,000 and $50,000.

—Miss Carolyn S. Ramsey and Miss Ella V. E. Ramsey will give a dance next Thursday night to the members of Miss Carolyn's dancing class and their friends, at Debele's Hall.

FILE REASONS AGAINST DRINKING CUP RULING.

Reasons in the appeals filed by the New Jersey and New York Railroad, the Erie and the Susquehanna to the order of the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners requiring railroads to furnish drinking cups on their trains were filed with Supreme Court Saturday.

The railroads say that the board is without jurisdiction in the matter and that the furnishing of an adequate service does not include the furnishing of drinking cups or glasses. Other reasons are that there is no legal duty on common carriers to furnish drinking cups; that there is no requirement to furnish drinking water; that the order does not show that drinking water is required to be furnished; that the demand of the board is unreasonable and void because it is made without regard to distance traveled by trains or time occupied in making trips.

Further contentions advanced against the order are that it makes no distinction between passenger trains engaged in interstate and intrastate commerce, and that it attempts to regulate such commerce and is therefore invalid.

SHORT WEIGHT CHARGES AGAINST COAL DEALERS.

Elizabeth, Jan. 22.—Charged by the city sealer of weights and measures, William J. Bender, with giving short weight to their customers, ten Elizabeth coal dealers were arraigned Saturday in the City Criminal Court. The prisoners were each held in $100 bail for hearings tomorrow, Wednesday and Friday.

The prisoners were Jacob and Samuel J. Gold, of 118 Pine street; Jacob and Oscar Blum, of 529 Livingston street; Samuel Chodash, 352 Bond street; Mrs. Moneyk, 600 Elizabeth avenue; Henry Reinfield, 41 Washington avenue; Selig Goldberg, 554 Elizabeth avenue; Louis Percella, 574 Third avenue; Thomas J. Beale, of 64 West Jersey street, agent for the Lehigh Coal Company.

Favor Municipal Lighting.

Paterson, Jan. 22.—Convinced that the Public Service is charging exorbitant rates for lighting of the county roads, officials of the cities and townships in this county held a conference with the freeholders on a proposed municipal lighting plant. A resolution was passed recommending that the freeholders appropriate $1,000 for the purpose of making an investigation. Mayor McBride was chosen chairman of the meeting and declared that he believed the Public Service was overcharged the county for lights.

LAWRENCE STRIKERS TO MEET EMPLOYERS

Commander of Militia Expects Peace In Near Future.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 22.—With the organization of strikers' committees to arrange for conferences of employees with the mill agents a feeling is prevalent today that a great step had been taken toward ending the strike of 16,000 textile operatives, which has been in progress in this city for the last ten days.

Colonel E. Le Roy Sweetser, commander of the regiment of militiamen which is camped in the mill district, and Dudley M. Holman, Governor Foss' secretary, both of whom attended conferences with the strikers, express their belief that peace was probable in the not very distant future. Colonel Sweetser said that the attitude of the strikers appealed to him as very favorable.

No further search is being made for dynamite, three lots of which were found in different parts of the city Saturday.

ARRESTS COUSIN OF T. R.

New York, Jan. 22.—Eugene Van Schaick, lawyer and cousin of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and nephew of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, was in Yorkville police court on a complaint of disorderly conduct made by Traffic Policeman Kogel.

It was charged that Van Schaick and his companion in an auto did not stop when Kogel held up his hand and blew his whistle at Madison avenue and Forty-third street and that the lawyer used abusive language to him when a policeman at the next corner stopped the automobile.

"I did say he was a liar," the lawyer said to Magistrate Kernochan. "When I informed him that I had not seen his uplifted hand or heard his whistle he said I did. How could he know what I had seen or heard?"

"You are discharged, Mr. Van Schaick," announced the magistrate

KING'S UNCLE IS NEW YORK VISITOR

Ambassador Reid Entertains Governor of Canada.

WILL MEET NEW CARDINAL

Duke of Connaught, the Duchess, the Princess Patricia and Their Party Are First Members of British Royalty to Come to America Since Visit of Late King Edward Fifty-two Years Ago.

New York, Jan. 22.—For the first time in more than fifty-two years British royalty are visiting in New York. Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid are entertaining the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada; the duchess, and their daughter, Princess Patricia. The party arrived here this morning from Ottawa. None of the English royal family has visited America since the then Prince of Wales, the late King Edward, toured the country from New York to the west, where he hunted buffalo.

Except for the dinners which had been planned, and for which arrangements had to be made ahead of time, nothing has been planned to occupy the time of the royal party. The visit is not a parade, it was explained. It is simply a personal visit and there is nothing official or semiofficial about it.

In the party besides the duke and duchess and Princess Patricia are AMBASSADOR REID.

Lieutenant Colonel Lowther, military secretary to the duke; Captain Beaupre, comptroller of the Rideau Hall household, the duke's Ottawa residence, and Miss Pelly, a lady in waiting.

The royal party are free today to do as they desire until the dinner tonight at the Whitelaw Reid's. There will be music afterward, but no general company is planned. Cardinal Farley will be at the dinner, and so will Bishop and Mrs. David Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Lincoln and Major General and Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant.

DOG GOES FOR HELP.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Vincent de Paul Crennan, commissioner of charities of New Rochelle, was interrupted at his home by the whining and scratching of a big Newfoundland dog at his kitchen door. The dog carried in his mouth the following note, scrawled in a child's handwriting:

"Dear Mr. Crennan, please, Mr. Crennan, if Rover brings this to you, won't you please come and help us. Mamma and papa and Willie are all sick, and now I am sick, too, and we have no coal or nothing to eat."

The note bore the name and address of a family on Union avenue, West New Rochelle, whom the commissioner had helped a few days ago. When Commissioner Crennan reached the house carrying a bag of coal, meat and groceries from his own cellar the little girl told him she did not know how to get the unusual message to him.

"Rover understands everything you say to him," she said, "but I didn't know he would remember your name or where you lived. But he did, and he is a good dog."

GUARANTY OF TITLE

A Guaranty protects the owner against the possibility of undiscovered or undiscoverable defects or flaws arising at any time in the future. It is the PERFECT PROTECTION, placing back of the purchaser all the strength and resources of a great financial institution. A Guaranty is often of great advantage in reselling property.

ENTHUSIASM

We believe that it was Emerson who said: "Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

This is true. The underlying principle of every wonderful accomplishment is enthusiasm. If the inventor is not enthusiastic, his invention usually falls flat. If the actor does not throw enthusiasm into his lines the play fails. A writer must enthuse over his theme else his book will not sell. A merchant must enthuse over his business in order to succeed.

This is one of the most enthusiastic stores we know of. EVERYBODY ENTHUSES HERE, from the youngest junior employe to the highest-priced executive. Enthusiasm is the very life blood of the Bamberger organization. It is what makes the wheels go round.

Enthusiasm backed by good, sound business principles and LIBERALITY is what has made this store the great national organization it is today.

We BELIEVE in enthusiasm.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

(From noon today to noon tomorrow.) Sun sets 5:06, rises 7:18; moon sets 8:14 p. m.

It seems a hopeless task to move the City Council to provide for a municipal system of garbage collection and disposal notwithstanding that there is a strong sentiment in favor of the scheme and little if any opposition. It is generally admitted, even among the city fathers, that such an improvement would mean a great saving to householders and at the same time end a most unsanitary and unsatisfactory condition. There is no great hardship experienced by the governing body in appointing commissions and committees for consolidation, municipal ownership or sewage disposal but for some reason or other it appears too big an undertaking to name one to suggest a suitable scheme for garbage disposal. The situation in the borough is practically the same as in the city, except that the North Plainfield Board of Health has not for ten successive years pleaded with the governing body there to cause an improvement to be made. Believing that the majority of boroughites would like to see some steps taken along these lines, we respectfully suggest to Mayor Clark that he give the subject his mature consideration. Let the borough take the initiative and put the city to shame—if that is possible.

Thanks to State Forester Gaskill, State Roads Commissioner Stevens has decided to insert in his bill to the Legislature a provision for shade trees to be placed on sides of all State roads. Highways are made doubly attractive by a row of trees on either side and when a State has such beautiful roads as New Jersey has it would be money well invested to plant the trees along them. The first thing that catches the visitor's eye and causes a favorable comment when he is in Plainfield is the very same thing. In this city are more than sixty miles of macadam roads and along them, except in the business section, are stately trees, which are under the protection of the shade tree commission. They constitute one of the prides of Plainfield.

The aggressiveness of practical politicians is the source of the chief opposition to women obtaining place on school boards the Elizabeth Journal thinks. Discoursing on the agitation for that innovation, the Journal opines that "it is really quite remarkable that so much progress has been made during the past year in the movement to impress our public officials with the large opportunity which an education board has for a female member. The Journal looks for a broader view than that of the politician to be taken by the people at no distant date.

In Allegheny county, the bailiwick made the banner Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania by such men as Magee, Oliver and Flynn, a postal card canvass on choice for President was taken by an enterprising newspaper. The result was 458 votes for Roosevelt as against but sixty for Taft. The more surprising part was that LaFollette received more votes than Taft, ninety-seven being recorded for him. That's about eight to one. How is it in other districts?

The action of the railroads in resisting the order of the Public Utilities' Commission to install individual drinking cups in passenger cars does not tend to promote the best of feeling between the companies and their patrons. Surely when the net earnings of a railroad soar to nearly thirty millions of dollars, it can well afford to provide this comfort, and it appears to the average patron that to fight the order in the courts is short-sighted policy.

Referring to the G. O. P. vice presidential booms, the Sunday Call said yesterday: "As all men should know, Mr. Murphy would make a strong candidate for his party, a creditable representative of the people in the second office of the Republic, and a sagacious counsellor in national affairs."

The answer to this is "a short and ugly word."

Every true American will give hearty endorsement to the declaration of United States Senator Boise Penrose in a speech delivered last night in New York when he said: "No new treaty should be agreed to by this country, which does not place all American Jews, citizens of this Republic, on an absolute equality with all other American citizens."

When you make your will bear in mind what splendid work is being done both by Muhlenberg Hospital and by the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis Society. And govern yourself accordingly.

The more Governor Blease pounds away at the newspapers, the more respect the North Carolinians should have for them. Such enemies are really assets of newspaperdom.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

He Likes Our Library.

(Somerset Democrat).

I had never before attempted an examination of the Plainfield Public Library until one day last week, having first taken care to secure an introduction, I went to the library and met the very capable librarian, to whom, as such the success of every library is closely related. Then I found myself in the midst of a systematized plan of cataloguing and physical arrangement of books that cannot be surpassed. It was obvious that no committee on specialites can take the place of an educated librarian, who loves and knows books and who has become familiar, by constant association, with their organization and classification as taught in schools for librarians or learned by association with them. Here was a library which interests and which makes you feel that, if you had books to give away, you would wish them to go to such place where you would be sure of their proper treatment and do the most good possible. Then the purpose of the Plainfield Library to enlarge their building (beginning very soon) and take in much of their open ground upon a wise and comprehensive plan, gives a confidence that in our neighboring city will be found, in the near future, a really excellent library for all purposes and like all other libraries of hope and promise, showing its chief capacity in its reference department. By reference value, I do not mean merely the dry tomes of National and State interest, showing the daily progress of our people and absolutely necessary, but science and poetry—interests as divergent as the poles—need the same methods in treatment.

COLBY SAYS ROOSEVELT IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Former State Senator Everett Colby is of the opinion that Roosevelt does not want the Presidential nomination and is in no sense seeking to be a candidate. Returning from a conference with the former President, Mr. Colby spent Sunday at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Hyde, on East Front street, where he was interviewed by a reporter for The Press. The Progressive Republican leader, enthusiastic as ever as to the success of his party, declared that in his opinion the Progressives will control New Jersey this year.

When questioned as to Roosevelt's position, Mr. Colby asserted with emphasis that he does not believe that the former President wants a nomination. "I am not at liberty to tell of the conversation I had with Mr. Roosevelt," said Mr. Colby, "but I am convinced that the former President does not want the nomination and absolutely is in no sense seeking to be a candidate. The matter was discussed as well as the general political situation, but as I said, I cannot tell what transpired at the conference."

Turning from the discussion about Roosevelt, Mr. Colby spoke hopefully of the political outlook in the State from the viewpoint of a Progressive. "I think the Progressive Republicans will control New Jersey this year," continued Mr. Colby. "There is no split in the ranks and you will find that the New Jersey crowd will hang together. The members of the party in the northern part of the State are a unit and those in South Jersey will be found standing shoulder to shoulder with us in the campaign, presenting a solid front."

Referring to himself as a candidate, Mr. Colby said: "I would not think of being a candidate for the United States Senate if there was any dissention, and there won't be any dissention."

Mr. Colby was pronounced in his views regarding the Progressives, and in response to a question contrasted the "regulars" with the Progressives, showing the former to be passive, while the latter are full of action. He said that the same condition exists throughout the world. He noticed it while abroad last year, where the Liberals were men of action and the so-called "regulars" appeared as though they were hypnotized. Mr. Colby seemed optimistic as to the future political situation, believing that the Progressives will triumph in the campaign.

FAMOUS NASSAU HALL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Princeton, Jan. 22.—Nassau Hall, one of the most famous college buildings in America, after a lapse of over a century, has again become the administrative centre of Princeton University. With the beginning of the new year all the administrative offices of the university, which had been scattered in five different buildings throughout the campus, moved into spacious and comfortable quarters in Old North as Nassau Hall is known to Princeton men.

This means that Nassau Hall, for years rarely frequented by undergraduates, will once more become the centre of activities in the colleg community. The cost of carrying out the scheme was somewhat in excess of $15,000, which sum was raised from the alumni interested in seeing the old building restored.

Although in 1756, when Nassau Hall was built, it not only served as the administrative centre of the Colleg of New Jersey, but also as the sole dormitory and recitation hall, the executive offices outgrew their quarters, and sought room elsewhere in 1803. Twice almost destroyed by fire, once riddled by bullets, in turn a peaceful institution of learning, a soldiers' barracks, a hospital, and the seat of the Continental Congress, it is no wonder that for Princeton men more sentiment and tradition are centred about the ivy-covered walls of Old North than almost any other building in the country. It was here that Washington received thanks from Congress for his services during the war, and the first foreign Ambassador to this country was received in the same room.

Mrs. Olsen's Funeral.

The funeral service for Mrs. Sophia Olsen, of Somerset street, was held this morning at Grace church and was attended by a number of relatives and friends. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of the church, officiated. Burial was made in the Plainfield avenue cemetery.

"D. and D." Fined $2.

Lee Young, of Harmony street, was arraigned before Recorder M. F. Gano in the borough police court this morning charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was arrested by Chief Weiss on Somerset street Saturday night. A fine of $2 was imposed and paid.

Frank Wagner, the North avenue newsdealer, was called to Grenlouch, near Camden, yesterday by a telegram informing him that his mother was dying. Mr. Wagner's father, who was a prominent Civil War veteran, died last summer.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

As one of the large taxpayers of Plainfield and those called upon to pay large sums to support the saloon and the criminals it produces I beg to present to your readers and other taxpayers the following facts, which prove that we are called to pay out of our pockets a large sum of money to support a business, which, if the people had but the opportunity given them, they would wipe out. Nevada, Pennsylvania and New Jersey are the only three States in the Union that have been refused local option by their Legislatures. What is the result in New Jersey? The cost of dependency and crime due to the liquor traffic in New Jersey, 65 per cent. (see dependency and crime commission report) was $4,701,261.72; number of families in New Jersey, 507,433; tax to each family caused by liquor traffic, $9.30.

The Chicago Tribune says that the 3,000 saloons of Chicago contribute 75 per cent. of the criminals and cost that city $5,125,000 for the care of the saloon product. New Jersey has 8,000 saloons and Essex and Hudson counties alone with a population of 2,233,127 cost the taxpayers $12,780 more than all the prisons and penitentiaries of the six New England States together with a population of 6,352,681. New Jersey has one liquor dealer to every 214 people. All New England has one liquor dealer to every 632 people. New Jersey has one convict to every 1,834 of population. All New England has one convict to every 3,162. We are constantly paroling prisoners for want of jail space and our insane asylums are full to overflowing. Life insurance tables give abstainers at 25, 44 years of life and heavy drinkers but 15.

Drink is a serious handicap to labor. New Jersey breweries and saloons, allowing 100 feet to each, would line a highway 210 miles long from Paterson to Atlantic City. Local option hurts the jail business. In Kentucky the jail doors in nearly every county in which local option prevails are wide open and the jailers have been compelled to engage in other pursuits to support their families. Kentucky now has but two wet counties in its State. The brewers and wholesale and retail dealers have an immense fund at their disposal for advertising ,etc., and it is hard to get these facts before our people.

All we ask of the Legislature is the right to vote on the question. At present we are disfranchised and are not freemen. I have been City Judge twice of this city and am now corporation counsel. I only speak of this to emphasize my position in this matter. I think fully nine-tenths of the work of the city court is taken up with liquor cases and cases of destitution in which liquor was the prime cause. As a business proposition the taxpayer is paying an enormous bill and this could all be stopped should our Legislature give us the right to vote on the question and emancipate us from our present thralldom. Taxes would be reduced business quickened and an enormous waste of life and strength and health stopped if we were permitted to vote on this question.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM M. STILLMAN.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I read with considerable interest your views on municipal ownership of public utilities. I think if you will look back over the files of the Press for the last twenty years or more, you will find many communications over my signature advocating this policy. I deem it the coming policy of our country. Permit me to congratulate the Press on the splendid position it has taken, and also on the general appearance of the paper under the new management. With best wishes, I am,

Sincerely,
JAMES E. MARTINE.

FREE OF CHARGE—The most thorough and accurate examination of the sight that is possible and there is no chance of any error in being fitted to glasses by the

We make a pair of glasses as low as $1.00 with as fine a gold filled frame as can be made.

When you are tired and sick of having your eyes fitted by the old-style way of fitting glasses, or the so-called subjective test of putting lines and letters on the wall and asking whether you can see this or that letter and line, when you have been all through this many times and have been unable to get fitted correctly, come to us and we will look through your eyes and take the exact optical focus and error of your sight and give you comfort and relief.

If you have headaches, dizziness, nervousness or any trouble resulting from eye-strain, come to us and have your eyes measured by the new system, from which wonderful results are obtained.

Conception of Hospitals---

New and Old.

The sick were waste material to the ancients, and as such were thrust one side as much out of the way as possible and allowed to recover or die as fate should ordain. They were filthy because ill, and anyone who touched them was unclean. Later, when some care was given the outcast sick, those women or men who were unfit for honorable pursuits were compelled to minister to them.

But with the awakening of the great eighteenth century, and even before in some measure, by individuals, the sick began to be considered with compassion and not merely as a necessary evil. It was believed that a person ill was a misfortune and that the well and strong owe such a fellow-being all the care and comfort which will restore him to his normal condition in life, in the shortest time possible. Recognizing as well, that the humanitarian side was well supported by the economical view; that it paid to save the life of a person for what he could do for the community, and so if the period of illness could be shortened, a corresponding saving to the community would be assured.

Instead of crowding a hundred or more patients into a single dark room, with little care, diseases were segregated in large, well ventilated, well lighted rooms, to be cared for by trained attendants.

No longer outcasts, the patients were given every known consideration.

CEDARCROFT'S SEVEN DEFEATS P.H.S. TEAM

The Plainfield High School hockey team was defeated by the Cedarcroft seven Saturday afternoon, the score being 16 to 2. The game was played on the Cedarcroft rink. The P. H. S. players did not have a look in at any stage of the game, and one of the two points scored was made on a lucky shot by Wilmerding in the last few minutes of play. Butler made the other goal for the high school boys by a clean shot in the first period, which ended with Cedarcroft leading by a score of 6 to 1.

Craig and Rowland both played a steady game for Cedarcroft and took turns shooting the sphere at the high school goal. Schoonmaker also played well. The lineup:

HIGH SCHOOL'S GIRLS LOST TO MONTCLAIR

The girls' basketball team of the Plainfield High School met its second defeat of the season Saturday afternoon when it met the Montclair High School five at Montclair. The final score was 19 to 3. The local five was defeated by the same team last season, by a much larger score. Although the Plainfield girls played a strong game in both halves they were handicapped by the large gymnasium. There was little scoring in the first half. The Misses Moy and Phillips did good work in this period, holding their opponents to only two baskets.

The Montclair girls also threw two foul goals in this half, while they held P. H. S. to no score. The half ended with Montclair leading by a score of 6 to 0. In the second half the home five showed the results of professional training and by snappy playing and accurate passing, they kept the ball at their end of the court during the quarter part of the half. Miss Mehl did all the scoring for P. H. S. when in the last half she threw a basket from play at a difficult angle and again near the end of the period. The lineup:

Referee, Miss Daisy Day.

Laborer Charged With Theft.

Michael Cabuchio, an Italian laborer in the employ of Ernest Hand, of Mountain avenue, was arrested this afternoon by Chief Weiss, of the borough, on complaint of his employer, who has been missing hay, corn, cord wood, and lumber in large and small quantities for some time. A watch was kept on the accused man and Saturday night he was detected driving away with a load of hay. Cabuchio will be arraigned before Justice Thomas H. Snape tomorrow morning.

Wants Fifty Men Present.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the stated supply at the First Baptist church, announced at yesterday's services that he would like to have at least fifty men present at the midweek prayer service on Wednesday night as there will be something of special interest which he wishes to bring to their attention. Or course, all members of the church and congregation are invited, but a special request is made that the men attend.

The Columbus Club will give a "ladies' night" reception at the clubhouse on West Front street, Wednesday night, it being the second affair of the kind this winter. All of the privileges of the club will be extended to the women guests, and euchre will be a feature, other attractions of the clubhouse are sufficient to entertain those who do not wish to play cards. The evening promises to be an enjoyable one for all.

In consequence of the accident to Richard Perrine while coasting on the Interhaven avenue hill yesterday, the borough and township authorities have taken steps to prevent further coasting on the hill in the future.

A Chimney Fire.

A chimney fire in the home of John Kitchen, 123 Lafayette place, yesterday required the services of the fire department. The damage was slight.

THIEF CONTINUES WORK IN CITY AND BOROUGH

The homes of Dr. George L. Megargee, of 6 Willow avenue, North Plainfield, and Halstead Compton, at 18 Compton avenue, this city, were entered last night during the absence of the families and in each case jewelry and money as taken. The jobs appear to be the work of the same man who broke into the homes of H. S. Phillips, of Duer street, and Otis E. Hovey, of East Seventh street, last week.

Dr. Megargee with his wife and son spent yesterday in New York and returned home at 8:30. They noticed lights burning in the house as they approached and thought something amiss. Upon entering they found the contents of bureaus and dressers strewn about and further investigation showed that a number of stick pins, cuff buttons, a child's bank containing about $15 and a roll of money left in a drawer in the sideboard, were missing.

The actual value of the missing articles is impossible to estimate as many of the pieces of jewelry are antiques and heirlooms. The cash loss is less than $100.

At the Compton home much the same kind of things were taken and the loss will amount to about the same. Entrance at each house was gained in the same manner, by jimmying a rear window. The police are of the opinion that the thief has a confederate who stands outside as a lookout and gives the alarm at the approach of danger. The rear doors of each house had been unlocked and left standing open to furnish a quick means of escape. Both burglaries were committed before 9 o'clock, and after 6:30.

BOUND BROOK DEFEATS NORTH PLAINFIELDERS

The Bound Brook High School basketball team defeated the borough High School five at Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon for the county championship, and now holds the lead with three victories and one defeat, while the borough boys have won two games and lost one. Somerville is in last position with three defeats.

The game was marked by rough play and the borough boys returned home with unpleasant recollections of the treatment given them. Their officials were protested and they were obliged to accept the rulings of a referee not wholly familiar with the game. The first half ended with a score of 12 to 9 in North Plainfield's favor. In the second half it was so dark in the hall at Bound Brook that it was difficulty for the players to see the baskets.

W. Taylor led in scoring for the borough boys with two field goals and ten foul goals out of fourteen attempts. C. Taylor and Townley each contributed a basket from beyond the center of the floor. If North Plainfield wins the game with Somerville, it will be necessary to play off a tie. The lineup:

N. P. H. S.—Fowards, W. Taylor, C. Taylor; center, Dunning; guards, Townley, Burner.

Bound Brook—Forwards, Freeza, Matthews; center, Heagney; guards, Capano, Mingle.

"Jimmie, James and Jim."

Mathiews, of Scotch Plains, gave the first of a series of four lectures on the "Moral and Religious Training of Children," or "The Problems of Problems" in the auditorium of the Montclair Y. M. C. A. The second lecture in the course will be given next Friday afternoon in the same place.

Attack Indictment.

The indictment against County Register John J. McMahon was attacked in the Hudson County Court Saturday. Supreme Court Justice Swayze deferred the drawing of the struck jury that was to have taken place next Tuesday. Withdraws Complaint.

Guyla DeFestetics withdrew a complaint he made against Raymond McDonald, twelve years old, of Chatham street, charging that the youth was detaining a dog belonging to the former. The complaint was made before Justice Snape in the borough and was to have been tried this afternoon.

Lecture For Parents.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Mothers' Association, the first of three free lectures will be delivered at the High Schoou auditorium, January 26, at 3:45 o'clock. The lecture will be on "The Prevention of Disease In Infancy and Childhood," by Dr. H. D. Corbusier. Everyone is invited.

20 Cases of Turkish Towels

COME DIRECT TO US FROM THE BIG MILLS

For Our Annual Mill End Sale

Those manufacturers whom we favor with much of our trade save for us big lots of what are known as "mill ends"—those towels with slight imperfections in weaving or perhaps a tiny oil spot—such things as unfit them for selling in regular stock. These hurts in hardly any case affect the wear, so that the towels are practically as good as those known as strictly perfect, and there are many perfect towels in this lot because with them we got the remainders from the season's selling of small lots of this, that and the other kind, bound to accumulate in a big factory.

So we will place before you tomorrow an immense lot of Turkish Towels of various useful sizes, good for homekeepers, boarding-house keepers and hotel owners—hemmed towels and fringed towels—and we are going to sell them at less than half regular prices—

JAMES SPEYER.

New York Banker Receives Red Eagle Decoration From Kaiser.

KAISER HONORS SPEYER.

New York Banker Receives Decoration of Red Eagle.

New York, Jan. 22.—Official confirmation from Berlin has been received by James Speyer, the banker, that the kaiser has conferred upon him the decoration of the Red Eagle, second degree.

The honor came because of Mr. Speyer's career in national and international career and of his efforts to promote cordial relations between the United States and Germany.

CORNELL MEN HURT COASTING

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Four students are in the Cornell infirmary suffering from injuries sustained in a coasting accident Saturday night. The most severely injured student is D. C. Dawkins, a freshman from Tallahassee, Fla., who sustained internal injuries, which are regarded as serious. Others hurt are K. W. Hulbertson of Mount Vernon, O.; S. M. Quackenbush and C. H. Sickmon of Buffalo.

The accident occurred when the men came down the hill on a sled known as a flexible flier. Approaching the street at the bottom of the hill the man who was steering lost control. The sled was going very fast and crashed into the curb. All four students were hurled five feet across the sidewalk, three of them striking against the stone steps of the postoffice, while another was hurled against a tree.

TO CUT DUTY ON SUGAR.

Bill to Be Offered In House Soon Shows Big Reduction.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The terms of the sugar tariff revision bill that is to be reported to the house by the committee on ways and means practically have been agreed upon. The measure will be taken up after the passage of the bill proposing a revision of the iron, steel and chemical schedules.

If present plans are carried out, the sugar revision bill will impose a duty of $1 per 100 pounds on the raw product instead of $1.68, as at present. The reduction will be greater than appears on the surface. Under the reciprocal trade agreement with Cuba, sugar imports from the island are admitted at a rate of 20 per cent lower than that imposed on the product coming from other countries. As most of the raw sugar brought to this country comes from Cuba, the Democratic rate of $1 really means a cut to 80 cents.

TORPEDO BOATS GUARD SHIP.

Russian Steamer to Be Sunk if She Attempts to Break Away.

Sfax, Tunis, Jan. 22.—The Russian steamer Odessa, which was seized here on Jan 18 on a charge of violating the French neutrality laws, has been thoroughly searched and over 350 tons of ammunition were found under her coal. Two torpedo boats have been ordered to conduct her to Bizarta, where the munitions will be unloaded. The torpedo boats have been ordered to sink the Odessa if she attempts to get away.

TO BLOCKADE OTTOMAN COAST

Italy Warns Neutral Vessels Not to Evade Neutrality Laws.

Rome, Jan. 22.—The Italian government announces that beginning this morning Italian warships will blockade the Ottoman coast of the Red sea. The notification warns neutral vessels of the consequences of evading the neutrality laws.

Cold Makes 41,600 Idle.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Out of 62,400 building trades workmen regularly employed in Chicago, 41,600 are now idle. This great slump in building is the result of extreme cold weather since the first of the year. Plumbers are the only men not affected.

MINSTREL FUN TO CURE HICCOUGHS

Camden Girl Afflicted For Seventeen Days.

ALL OTHER METHODS FAIL

Miss Mary Shinn's Condition Became So Alarming That Her Mother Has Engaged Company of Black Face Artists to Drive Bugaboo Away With Laughter.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 22.—From the result of her hiccoughing for seventeen days Miss Mary Shinn, a most attractive girl, has been worn down considerably, and her mother and friends are doing everything imaginable so as to stop her from the most dreaded of all diseases.

There is a home tradition that if you frighten a person who is hiccoughing, scare the breath out of him or her, the hiccoughs will stop. Many and novel methods have been adopted to scare Miss Mary, and she has been dreadfully scared, but she has continued to hiccough. Now her mother is going to try to make Miss Mary laugh so heartily that she will forget the hiccoughs.

Mrs. Shinn has asked the members of the old Dumont minstrel company to come to her house and give a show. Miss Mary dotes on minstrel shows, and her mother fondly hopes she will be thrown into such convulsions of laughter that the hiccoughs will go.

Miss Mary, who lives at 125 North Twenty-fourth street here, enjoyed a hearty meal on Jan. 5 last. Immediately after it she began to hiccough.

To frighten her a relative crept up behind her and fired a revolver. She jumped and shrieked, then went on hiccoughing.

Finally her mother, almost in despair, bethought herself of the girl's fondness for minstrel shows. Often she has laughed until she cried at the jokes and antics of the black faced comedians. So the Dumont minstrel troup will go to her home and try to cure the spasms of hiccoughing with spasms of laughter.

WOULD BE SUICIDE FREEZES

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 22.—Andrew Harko attempted to hang himself to a tree. The rope parted, and he fell, striking his head on a sharp stone. He lay unconscious and froze to death in the zero weather. An autopsy by Coroner Lynch disclosed that exposure and not strangulation caused death.

Harko's body was found in a quarry a half mile from his home. He had been missing a week. The body lay under a tree, with one end of the rope about the neck and the other dangling from an overhanging limb. It was evident that he jumped from a large bowlder beneath the limb. When he fell he struck his head against the sharp edge of the bowlder.

NEW OCEAN COUNTY ROAD.

It Will Bring Toms River Nearer to Philadelphia.

Toms River, N. J., Jan. 22.—Completion of a new road that is just started between the winter resort of Lakehurst, in Ocean county, and the resort of Brown's Mills, in Burlington county, will put Toms River village but fifty miles from Philadelphia by automobile.

The Ocean county board of freeholders have now given a contract to a company to build five and three-quarters miles of the distance between Lakehurst and Brown's Mills. The contract price is $30,161. Pemberton township, Burlington county, has issued bonds to build the road through its territory. By next year the whole road will be complete.

WIDOW GETS A COZY HOME.

Proposed Leap Year Right to a Lonesome Man.

Asbury Park, N. J., Jan. 22.—When Edgar W. Morris was inspecting his remodeled home at Point Pleasant with a party of friends he lamented the fact that he had a fine home, but no wife to make it cozy. "How would I do?" popped Mrs. Clara Margerum. This is leap year, and Mrs. Margerum was entirely within her rights. At any rate they were married in Philadelphia, and news of the wedding has just become known by their friends. Rev. W. B. Chalfant of the Thirteenth Street M. E. church, Philadelphia, performed the ceremony last Tuesday. Morris is a man of almost fifty years and is said to be wealthy. Mrs. Morris is several years his junior.

SHORE POLICE SHAKEUP.

Radical Changes to Be Made In Force at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 22.—Radical changes are to be made in the resort's police department, according to Mayor Bacharach, who will have the advice of Superintendent Taylor of the Philadelphia department, during February, when the official of the latter city will spend the greater part of the month here.

The force is to be modeled after the plans put in execution in Philadelphia since the advent of Mayor Blankenburg.

Let Jack Frost do his worst—the man who is inside of an overcoat made to his measure by us will be warm and comfortable on the coldest days—and, also in CORRECT STYLE. WHO ARE TO BE THE OPPOSING NOMINEES FOR THE PRESIDENCY?

Taft, Roosevelt or Some "Dark Horse" on the Republican Side.

Democratic Situation Chaotic With Seven Candidates In the Field.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

WITH the Republican national convention less than six months away, the lines of battle for the nomination are becoming more clearly defined. The candidates most frequently mentioned are President Taft, ex-President Roosevelt, Senator La Follette and Justice Hughes, who says he is not a candidate. It is also possible that Senator Cummins will be entered from Iowa and that there will be favorite son movements from some of the other states.

Most of these candidacies, however, are but side issues. The real fight is Taft and anti-Taft. The backbone of the opposition to the president is the Progressive league. This is rallying about the candidacy of Robert Marion La Follette, but the insurgent strength is not confined to La Follette. If Senator Cummins should decide to permit the use of his name it is generally conceded that he can have the Iowa delegation and some scattering votes from other states. A portion of the insurgent sentiment is also behind the talk of Roosevelt. It is not believed that the colonel will take any avowed stand in the fight for the nomination, but his editorials in the Outlook against the Taft policies will have their effect. The favorite son candidacies will also cut into the Taft strength, although the defection from this source may be but temporary. As to the attitude of "big business," it is not believed that it will make an open fight on Mr. Taft, however it may feel about trust prosecutions. The most it is likely to do is to use its influence quietly against instructions.

A canvass of the situation at this time would indicate that the bulk of the southern delegates will be for Taft. Any Republican president can count on the support of this section for renomination, as was proved by Benjamin Harrison in 1892. New England will probably be for Taft, although there is considerable insurgent sentiment in New Hampshire and a sprinkling of it in Massachusetts. New York and New Jersey are still uncertain, but would be overwhelmingly for Taft as against La Follette. There is quite a little Roosevelt sentiment in both states. Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware are conceded to the president.

The Struggle For Ohio.

Despite the fact that it is the president's state, Ohio is still debatable territory. The progressives carried the constitutional convention and have recently been making an elaborate campaign, their speakers drawing big audiences from Senator La Follette down. Walter F. Brown, chairman of the Republican state committee, declares that the rank and file are for Roosevelt. On the other hand, the Taft men claim that they can carry Ohio with ease.

Chairman Lee of the Indiana state Republican committee recently was quoted as saying that the renomination of the president would jeopardize the party's chances in the state, but the committee later repudiated this interview. In Illinois politics is at sixes and sevens, though it is generally conceded that the bulk of the delegates will go to Mr. Taft. Missouri and Oklahoma are practically assured for the president. The same has been true of Michigan, but there has been a recent movement to give the delegation to Governor Chase S. Osborn. Wisconsin will, of course, be for La Follette, and Iowa will support Cummins if he is a candidate. Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas are uncertain, but these states are full of insurgent sentiment and will probably send divided delegations. The bulk of the delegates from the mountain states will doubtless be for the president, although there is insurgency in Montana and Idaho, with some feeling growing out of the statehood fight in New Mexico and Arizona. The Pacific coast states are progressive and will probably vote against Mr. Taft in the convention.

Elements of Doubt.

From this brief and necessarily superficial review it would appear that there is some ground for the claim of the president's friends that he already has the nomination "cinched." Yet there are several elements of doubt. For one thing, no delegates have been actually chosen. For another, several canvasses and straw votes taken by newspapers and other agencies have generally shown Mr. Taft weak among the voters. As several states have presidential primaries and public opinion will make itself felt in all, we may as well wait until the people are heard from before counting our chickens.

Not long ago Samuel G. Blythe, a newspaper writer, made an investigation of the presidential situation for the Saturday Evening Post, visiting nearly all the states for the purpose and gaining first hand information. His conclusion was that Mr. Taft could have the nomination if he wanted it. By implication at least he held forth the idea that the president ought not to want it, as his election would be doubtful. Mr. Taft himself has settled this question once and for all; therefore, according to this canvass, he will probably be nominated. Mr. Blythe's articles were written, however, before the Roosevelt candidacy had arisen to disturb the situation.

Largest Conventions Ever Held.

The representation in the Republican convention is based on the new apportionment and, with the two new states of New Mexico and Arizona, provides for 1,074 delegates in all, requiring 538 to nominate. New York will have ninety delegates, Pennsylvania seventy-six, Illinois fifty-eight, Ohio forty-eight and Texas forty. Massachusetts and Missouri will have thirty-six each; Indiana and Michigan thirty each; Georgia and New Jersey twenty-eight each; California, Iowa, Kentucky and Wisconsin twenty-six each; Alabama, Minnesota, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia twenty-four each; Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Oklahoma twenty each; Arkansas and South Carolina eighteen each; Maryland, Nebraska and West Virginia sixteen each; Connecticut and Washington fourteen each; Colorado, Florida and Maine twelve each; North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota and Rhode Island ten each. Idaho, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Utah and Vermont eight each; Arizona, Delaware, Nevada and Wyoming six each, and Alaska, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico two each.

The state conventions and primaries start in February, Florida leading the way, so that it will not be very long before we can get a definite line on the situation. The one big question of doubt at this time is as to the Roosevelt candidacy. There have been recent intimations that an active canvass would be made for him throughout the nation. If that is true no man can tell the outcome.

On the other hand, President Taft is reported as saying, "Nothing but death can keep me out of the fight now." This has a fight to the finish sound.

To sum up the Republican situation, my own view is that with Roosevelt out of the way President Taft would certainly be renominated, although Senator La Follette will have more delegates than is generally believed at this time. Nothing will take Roosevelt out of the field, however, except his own positive statement that he will not accept the nomination, which he is not likely to make. Under these conditions the outcome is very much in doubt, with the possibilities in this order: Taft, Roosevelt or a dark horse such as Justice Hughes.

Harmon and Wilson.

The Democratic situation is even more chaotic than the Republican. Seven candidates are already in the field, with the possibility of more. These seven are Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Governor Harmon of Ohio, Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, Majority Leader Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, former Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, Governor Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts and Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana.

The fight is now between Wilson and Harmon. Bryan is opposing Harmon, and his attitude toward Wilson is not entirely clear, although many Bryan men are supporting the New Jersey governor. Inasmuch as a two-thirds majority is required to nominate in the Democratic convention, and inasmuch as no one candidate is yet developing a decided lead, it is impossible now to make any forecast that is worth the paper it is written on. Because of his fight against the bosses and his advocacy of various progressive principles, Governor Wilson is strong with the rank and file. The fact that he was born in Virginia and practiced law in Georgia also in a sense makes him a southern candidate, which is helping him in that section and not hurting him in the north. His career as a political economist, as a historian and as a college president is an asset. There are many elements in the Wilson candidacy that appeal to the American people. The reverse in New Jersey in 1911 and the Carnegie pension story were too small to have much influence on the final result. Wilson would poll an immense vote among progressive Republicans.

Governor Harmon's strength is that he has twice carried the president's own state of Ohio, the last time by an enormous majority, and has given a splendid administration. His weakness is the reiterated assertion that he is a reactionary and is supported by the interests. However much or little truth there is in this claim, it has made an impress on the public mind. Yet Governor Harmon has to his credit a long list of progressive accomplishments in Ohio. It is this record that has given him his popularity. Among those who know him he is immensely liked. Harmon is the sort of executive who does things.

Clark and Underwood.

The worst handicap in the way of Champ Clark is the Folk candidacy in Missouri. It appears that Mr. Clark presided over the state convention that indorsed Folk. This is an unfortunate complication, as both are good men and have elements of availability. Missouri herself must eliminate one or the other. One of the strong points in Clark's favor is that the Democratic campaign will be made largely on the record of the house, and Champ Clark represents the house majority.

The same argument is urged in favor of Mr. Underwood. Both Clark and Underwood were born in Kentucky. The chairman of the ways and means committee is the only simon pure southern candidate. Like Harmon, he has the opposition of Bryan.

Governor Foss, a former Republican, who was elected to congress as a Democrat from an overwhelmingly Republican district and who has twice been elected governor of Massachusetts, will undoubtedly receive much of the New England support. Governor Marshall will have the Indiana delegation and some votes outside. It is possible that New York may put forward either Governor Dix or Mayor Gaynor.

In such a multiplicity of candidates a deadlock is possible. In such a situation my own view is that a dark horse may appear, and he may be none other than our old friend William Jennings Bryan. There is a strange undercurrent of Bryan talk these days. Like Roosevelt, the peerless is not a candidate, yet he has never said that he would not accept the nomination. Whether chosen or not, he will have a voice in naming the man. The two colonels are the disturbing factors in both parties.

Another interesting possibility is the nomination of a third ticket. The Progressive league is still doing business. There is very definite talk about Washington that if Taft and Harmon are the candidates the progressives of both parties will launch an independent ticket. However that may be, the campaign of 1912 is going to be the hardest fought since 1896.

BARREL OF DEAD DOGS LEFT ON JENNINGS' LANE

Complaint has been made to the North Plainfield Board of Health of the manner in which dogs killed by the officials, in accordance with an ordinance, are disposed of. Heretofore it has been a part of the duties of the street commissioner to see that they were properly buried, but now that the borough is without such an official the work is neglected.

Last week a number of stray dogs were found and after being kept the required length of time without being claimed their existence was ended. Notice was served on Acting Street Commissioner W. J. Hudson and he sent a man to remove them with instructions to bury the carcasses. A barrel was procured in which the dead animals were placed, loaded on a wagon and taken away. Nothing more was thought of the matter until this morning when residents of Jennings lane called the attention of Health Officer Louis Oliff to a barrel of dead dogs which had been dumped on that thoroughfare some distance in from Somerset street. Steps were immediately taken to have the remains properly interred.

TOWNSHIP IS STEADFAST AGAINST CRAMER SITE

A second petition presented to the North Plainfield Township Committee by the Borough Council requesting permission to locate the proposed sewage disposal plant on the Cramer farm was refused Saturday afternoon. The petition was presented by Councilman W. J. Buttfield, chairman of the Sewage Commission. It bore the date of Wednesday, January 10, which is one day prior to that on which the first petition presented was turned down.

Saturday's petition was almost identical with the one previously refused, except in one important particular. North Plainfield was mentioned as the only municipality to use the plant, while the other named Plainfield, Fanwood borough and township and Dunellen.

Mr. Buttfield stated after the meeting that this step was merely formal, and the refusal of the township committee was foreseen and expected.

SECOND DAY'S SESSION OF COLORED BAPTISTS.

The second quarerly session of the Women's Auxiliary to the Middlesex Central Baptist Association of New Jersey was continued at the Calvary Baptist church yesterday morning and afternoon. The service began in the morning at 10 o'clock with devotions led by Mrs. Edward Brown, of this city, and Mrs. P. H. Sallie, of Trenton, followed with a missionary sermon by Rev. R. M. Johnson, of Pennington.

Dinner was served at 1 o'clock to the delegates after which Rev. L. L. Croom, of this city, and Rev. D. Y. Campbell, of New Brunswick, took charge of the devotional exercises opening the afternoon session. Rev. E. W. Roberts, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church, made the address of the afternoon on the topic, "The Power of Organization," which was followed by a platform meeting in which several ministers took part.

Gave a "Ladies' Night" Affair.

Under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Seventh-Day Baptist church a "ladies' night" entertainment was given at the church last night. The affair was informal. There were vocal solos by Charles P. Titsworth and Roy Titsworth, and Assemblyman George L. Babcock entertained the company with a number of selections on his phonograph, after which refreshments were served. Dr. O. B. Whitford was chairman of the program committee in charge of the affair. The club presented the Women's Society for Christian Work its annual contribution in support of the society work.

The Hope chapel basketball five will play the Ajax team of the Y. M. C. A. on Hope court tomorrow night.

30 TOWNS MAY ESCAPE PERSONAL REGISTRATION

One of the proposed amendments to the Geran law introduced by Senator Leavitt eliminates municipalities of less than 15,000 inhabitants from the section of the law requiring personal registration. If that amendment goes through North Plainfield is one of the municipalities where voters will not have to register personally. The old order of things will be re-established as far as getting the voter's name on the polling list goes.

That one amendment, if carried out, would eliminate from personal registration the voters of thirty municipalities throughout the State. The places where registration is now required, and which would be relieved of that requirement by the proposed amendment, are North Plainfield, Westfield, Rahway, Asbury Park, Bridgeton, Burlington, Dover, Englewood, Garfield, Hackensack, Hammonton, Harrison, Irvington, Long Branch, Milville, Morristown, Nutley, Princeton, Red Bank, Ridgewood, Roosevelt, Rutherford, Salem, Somerville, South Amboy, South Orange, Summit, Vineland, West New York and West Orange.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL TALK SAY TWO EX-GOVERNORS

Trenton, Jan. 22—There has been some little talk the past week of either former Governor Stokes or former Governor Fort as the Vice-Presidential candidate in case Colonel Roosevelt should be the nominee for President. Both ex-governors characterized the talk as absurd on the ground that they had no desire for the office and besides, the tail end of the ticket would surely go to a Western Republican if Roosevelt were nominated.

The visit of President Taft to Newark February 12 as the guest of former Governor Murphy will be used by the regular Republicans to aid the move to land the New Jersey delegates for the re-nomination of the President. Doubtless, too, it will add to the boom of Mr. Murphy for Vice-President. President Taft will be the guest of Mr. Murphy at luncheon previous to speaking in New York city that day. It is expected that about 75 prominent leaders will be at the luncheon.

FLAG WILL FLY 1,000 FEET IN THE AIR AT MONTCLAIR.

Montclair, Jan. 22.—From a lofty staff in Eagle Rock Park near here "Old Glory" will be flung to the breeze, 1,000 feet above tidewater to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the writing of the "Star-Spangled Banner," on Feb. 14, 1914, according to the plans of Eagle Rock Park Flag Association.

The entire cots of a steel lattice staff and substantial foundation is estimated at $9,000. The lodges of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in Montclair, Orange and Newark have offered to provide an eagle of gilded copper plate with a wing spread of ten feet to surmount the flagpole at a cost of $500. The immense flag will, it is expected be contributed by the lodges of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in Essex county, which will also pay for the sixty-foot steel pole. It is part of the Eagle Rock Flag Association's plans that the Masonic bodies of the county provide the ornamental base of the flagstaff and dedicate it with Masonic ceremonies.

The flag, when mounted on the tall flagstaff, will be visible from all parts of New York Bay, from Brooklyn Heights, the high buildings of Manhattan, and portions of Essex, Hudson, Bergen, Passaic, Union and Morris counties of New Jersey.

Mrs. Frank Mika.

After a lingering illness of tubercular trouble, Mrs. Frank Mika died yesterday at her home on Manning avenue in her thirty-third year. The funeral will be held from her late residence at 8:30 and from St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery. Her husband and several children survive.

RAILROADS OPPOSE SEN. PIERCE'S BILL

And So Do Organized Mayors, Who Don't Like 25 Per. Cent Clause.

AUTHOR EXPLAINS MEASURE

Percentage of Expense Put On Municipalities, Only the Fee For Hurrying Improvement Out of Regular Turn.

Trenton Jan. 22.—The public hearing this afternoon on the Pierce grade crossing bill opened another busy week for the Legislature. The hearing took place before the Committee on Revision of Laws, of which Senator Pierce is chairman, the other members being Senators Reed and Silzer. Senator Pierce presided and explained the main features of his measure..

Representatives of several railroad companies opposed the bill. Opposition was also lodged against it by the organized Mayors of the State, headed by Mayor Donnelly, of this city. Their chief objection was to the provision requiring the municipality, if it applies for abolition of a grade crossing, to pay twenty-five per cent. of the cost.

Senator Pierce explained that in the ordinary elimination of grade crossings the entire expense is put upon the railroad companies.

"They are obliged," he said, "to abolish yearly, at their own expense, in the order of danger, one crossing for every twenty miles of road operated."

Continuing, Senator Pierce showed that there is an additional provision giving municipalities not willing to await their turn in the order of necessity, the privilege of securing immediate relief by paying a sum not exceeding a fourth of the cost, but this is a privilege, not a burden, he insisted, and affects only those municipalities choosing to take advantage of it.

Both branches of the Legislature will meet tonight and will take up active consideration of new laws. It is expected that many more bills will be introduced in each branch. The number of measures already in is 114. One bill will be introduced this week which will be sure to meet with strong opposition. This will be a measure to raise the standard for druggists. It will provide for a more rigid State examination for pharmacists and will encounter fierce objection from many druggists.

Another bill to be introduced this week will be one providing that the county must pay all the expense for medical attendance, etc., when a person is bit by a dog. Then the county is authorized to collect the amount from the owner of the dog. The measure will aim to make the owner of the dog and not its victim stand the cost.

Y. W. C. A. GYMNASTS TO GIVE ANNUAL EXHIBIT.

The new year burgs, the annual exhibition given by the gymnasium classes of the Young Women's Christian Association, with its program of marching, drills, dances and "Yale-Princeton" basketball game on Friday night, at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A..

Miss Bradshaw has planned a grand march by members of all classes, both junior and senior, to be followed by a dance of welcome and several drills. The tiniest juniors of all, dressed in gay holiday attire with flying veils, will do two Swedish dances and the old juniors will dance "Coming Through the Rye;" the Scotch plaids will whirl in the Highland Fling and the shamrock wave to the strains of the "Irish Washerwoman."

The new feature of the exhibition will be the presentation of degrees won in the "Health and Honor Lague." Dr. Anna Brown, national secretary of the physical department of the Y. W. C. A. will award the chevrons to those who have won them.

Mrs. Marianna Sturtevant.

Mrs. Marianna Sturtevant, aged 74 years, wife of the late Isaac Sturtevant, and mother of Charles A. Sturtevant, died yesterday at her home at Myrtle and Clinton avenues, following a short illness from complications. She was born at Hanover, Mass., and belonged to one of the oldest New England families. She had been a resident of this city about twenty-one years. She was a communicant of Grace church and a regular attendant at the services. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and the burial will be in the family plot at Hanover, Mass.

L. L. Apgar's Funeral.

The funeral of Lewis L. Apgar, of Asbury Park, who died in Spring Lake Hospital Thursday, was held this afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. P. TenEyck, of East Sixth street. The interment was in Hillside cemetery in the family plot. Mr. Apgar retired from business on North avenue some years ago. He was a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church and had many friends here.

NUMBED BY ICY WATER, WOMAN IS DROWNED

Husband's Efforts at Rescue Seen by Skaters.

Saratoga, N. Y., Jan. 22.—After clinging to her husband more than fifteen minutes, while he fought to drag her to safety, Mrs. Roy Barringer, who had plunged through the ice while skating, was swept to her death. She had been numbed by the icy waters and could not longer retain her hold on Mr. Barringer's shoulders.

The young couple had gone far beyond the other skaters on Loughberry lake, when they broke through the ice. Mr. Barringer swam to the aid of his wife and called for help, but could not make himself heard.

With Mrs. Barringer clinging to his shoulders he struggled to get to thicker ice and had just succeeded when she let go her hold and sank. Rescuers who had seen the struggle reached the spot just at that time. The husband suffered from exposure, but will recover.

SOCIALISTS GAIN IN GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 22.—Seventy-seven results in the second ballot in the reichstag elections indicate that the Socialists and Liberals are gaining at the expense of the Conservatives, but it is impossible, with 113 contests still to be determined, to predict the final standing of the parties in the reichstag.

The present government bloc has 141 seats, the opposition 118.

ALL WOMEN WILL VOTE FOR REFORMS

NO WOMEN'S "SALOON VOTE"

Speaker Expects the Unfortunates to Be the First to Ballot Against the Evils That Created Their Class—Meeting Largely Attended.

Representative women of Plainfield attended the meeting of the Equal Suffrage League in such large numbers yesterday afternoon that the League couldn't accommodate them in its own headquarters in the Babcock building. The meeting was transferred to the Masonic hall on the same floor, which the lodgemen gallantly threw open.

Mrs. Caroline B. Alexander, of Castle Point, Hoboken, was the speaker of the occasion, and she was listened to with eager interest by the hundred and twenty women present. Mrs. C. L. Riley, president of the League, in introducing Mrs. Alexander, spoke of the pleasure it gave her to note the number of people prominent in active reform and philanthropic work who are coming out for equal suffrage.

Mrs. Alexander began by saying that she wished to speak of equal suffrage from the angle from which it most strongly appealed to her; that the movement was no longer called the "Woman's Rights" movement, but that its slogans now are, "Equal Franchise," "Political Equality" or "Votes for Women;" that instead of demanding the ballot merely as an individual right, women are asking for it in order that they may enter upon a wider field of social service.

When they see women and girls, the circumstances of whose lives are much harder than their own, suffering injustice and discriminated against by the laws, their natural wish is to help them, and when forced to realize that they can do nothing without the ballot, the logical outcome is that women should wish this mighty weapon to use in their fight with oppression and greed. The realization of what women could accomplish, with the ballot, said Mrs. Alexander, came to her very strongly when she saw how much other united classes of voters can and do accomplish. There was no question but that when women do have the ballot, there would be on occasion a united and very powerful women's vote.

Continuing, Mrs. Alexander said that while the Federal government was the admiration of all foreigners and the State government was also pretty good, no one could possibly admire America's system of county and city governments. It was in municipal affairs that women's influence would be most strongly felt. Every woman, and particularly every mother, was bound to be specially interested in the inspection of milk, the work of the school boards and the health boards, and in having clean streets.

A large factor in deciding her to be an equal suffragist, said Mrs. Alexander, was the personality of the women who are against equal suffrage. She knew a great many of them, and to a woman they belong to the sheltered class of women, the class which pays twenty cents a quart for the best certified milk, and has no interest in milk inspection, the class which does not live in tenements and has no personal interest in such buildings being equipped with fire escapes.

Not one of these women had ever come near the great problems which touch the lives of her poorer sisters. On the other hand, who were the women who wanted equal suffrage? Women like Jane Addams, whose whole life is devoted to helping other women, and Melinda Scott, who is at the head of the only successful body of organized working-women in this State, the Hat Trimmers Union, of Orange.

Mrs. Alexander considered the fear so often expressed that the vicious and unintelligent voters among women would more than offset the intelligent vote. She took exception to this, saying that in the opinion of many eminent reformers, the so-called vicious vote, where it was exercised at all, would be on the right side.

The women whose lives had been wrecked by dance halls and vicious places of entertainment, would be more likely to vote for their abolishment than for their continuance. As for the uneducated voters, they were not necessarily unintelligent.

The women whose husbands spent the money they and their children needed for food at the corner saloon, were very well informed as to the workings of the liquor evil, and the women who lived in tenement houses were vitally interested in having their homes safe-guarded from disease and fire. Those who suffered from the abuses of the laws would be the most eaker to improve the laws.

METHODISTS MAKING READY FOR CONFERENCE

All Three Local Pastors Are Expected to Continue In Their Charges For Another Year---Session at Montclair.

Although the annual session of the Newark Conference of the Methodist church is about two months away, ministers and laymen are already busily engaged in preparation for that important event. As a rule it means much to the majority of the ministers and their flocks, for they are generally not in a position to know where the former will be sent for the following year.

The conference will be held for one week beginning March 27, in the M. E. church, Montclair, of which Rev. Herbert Randolph is the pastor. This is one of the important churches in the conference and the wealthy congregation is preparing for an elaborate entertainment of the delegates.

Bishop Earl Cranston, of Washington, will preside at the sessions, which are expected to be full of interest. One of the important events of the week will be the meeting of the Laymen's Electoral Conference, when six delegates will be elected, with a corresponding number of ministerial delegates, to attend the general conference to be held in Minneapolis in May.

This body of laymen will draft resolutions to be presented to the general body looking to future legislation of the church. Their meetings are usually attended with lively debates. So far as known there are no radical changes proposed in the government of the church.

As far as can be learned there will not be any great number of changes among the ministers in this part of the conference. Rev. C. C. Cain, who is now completing his first year at Grace M. E. church, is expected to return another year. In fact it is not customary to change a minister during the first year, unless there are unusual circumstances.

Nothing definite has been learned regarding the continuance of the pastorate of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson at the First M. E. church and Rev. Charles S. Kemble at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. The fourth quarterly conference will be held at the latter church tonight, while the last conference of the year will be held at the First church on Tuesday night, January 30. At these meetings some action may be taken.

Dr. Anderson is completing his third year here, during which time he has served well. Under his leadership the church has grown and prospered. The same is true at the Monroe Avenue church, where Mr. Kemble is completing his fourth year. Last year there was some talk of Mr. Kemble being transferred, but his people made an urgent request for his return and the Bishop concurred.

There appears to be no doubt but that both Dr. Anderson and Mr. Kemble will be invited to return, although there has been no official announcement of the fact.

FIREMAN SAVED HIM FROM SERIOUS INJURY

Presence of mind on the part of Vincent Carroll, tillerman of the hook-and-ladder truck, saved Peter Dooley, the city lineman, from serious injury last night. The apparatus was speeding down Second street in response to an alarm and Dooley made an attempt to catch on the running board of the vehicle. He miscalculated and was thrown heavily to the roadway, directly in the path of the rear wheels.

Tillerman Carroll witnessed the fall barely in time to swing the big truck so the prostrate lineman was safely passed by a few inches. Several strips of cuticle were torn from his head by contact with the roadway and he suffered a slight gash over one eye. Dooley has charge of the fire alarm wires and is always on the job when a box is pulled.

MAYOR MOY THRILLED BY LAFOLLETTE SPEECH.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy was among the Plainfielders who heard Senator LaFollette, a Republican presidential nomination aspirant, speak at the big mass meeting in New York last night. "It was a most wonderful speech made by a most wonderful man," said the mayor today, who added that he approved La Follette's belief that the recall should even extend to judges.

No Drawbridge Plans.

A report that the Central Railroad would elevate the drawbridge across Newark Bay within a year could not be confirmed today when the office of General Manager W. G. Besler was communicated with. It was stated that the report was probably confused with the elevation work being done at South Amboy and along Second and Third avenues in Elizabeth.

BILL WOULD AMEND LIABILITY STATUTE

MANY MEASURES INTRODUCED

One Provides for Ice Water and Cups for Passenger Cars—Another Abolishes Freeholders in Second Class Cities.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Domestic servants, farm laborers and office employes are eliminated from the provisions of the Employers' Liability Act, by the bill introduced in the Assembly last night by W. de LaR. Anderson, of Somerset.

All passenger cars are to be equipped with iced water and proper appliances for its use by travelers under the bill introduced by Mr. McAllister, of Cumberland. The penalty for non-compliance is $100. The same member has a measure requiring all insurance companies to adopt a uniform rate of commissions for agents and one to regulate the government of second class cities having a population of from 12,000 to 20,000. It provides for a mayor, seven councilmen and a treasurer, all to be elected, and contains a referendum. It is intended for the smaller cities of South Jersey.

Mr. Groves, of Union, has a bill intended to allow Westfield to improve its sewer system and permits it to issue bonds for the purpose, and Mr. Stevens, of Bergen, would limit the number of stenographers to city district courts when engaged in trials.

Boards of Freeholders in second class counties are abolished by the bill of Mr. Hennessy, of Bergen, and a commission of five members is to replace them. The measure, which has a referendum, gives the commissioners terms of three years, subject to recall and also has the initiative and referendum features. He also has one to exclude from the annual budget, the amount necessary for the construction of sewers, grading, curbing, etc., and providing for the raising of such money by assessment on all lands within such taxing district. Mr. Hennessy's other bill would amend the Public Utility Act, by requiring subways, protective devices, etc., at railroad crossings where there is imminent danger to human life.

Mr. Stnetwolf, of Middlesex, again has a bill defining the property by rights of husband and wife, giving each one the right to convey real estate from one to the other.

WILSON APPOINTMENTS SENT TO THE SENATE

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Completing the ad interim appointments made several months ago, Governor Wilson sent to the Senate least night the names of the State Commissioner of Education and the members of the State Board of Education. The appointments were made under the new school law and were as follows:

Commissioner of Education, Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, of Indianapolis, salary $10,000 a year. Members of the State Board of Education, John P. Murray, of Hudson; former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset; Professor Henry J. Ford, of Princeton University; Dr. William G. Schauffler, of Ocean; Colonel D. Stuart Craven, of Salem; Edmund B. Osborne, of Essex; John S. Van Lyke, of Middlesex and Melvin Rice, of Monmouth. With the exception of former Senator Frelinghusyen all of the men named have been serving several months and have entirely reorganized the State school department. Senator Frelinghuysen was also named some months ago but did not then qualify as it was held it would be illegal, he having helped to create the office.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT WILL MEET TAFT

King's Uncle and Late Queen's Son to Visit Washington on Thursday.

SEES SIGHTS IN NEW YORK

Canada's Governor-General Mingles With Crowds on Fifth Avenue—He First Saw United States 41 Years Ago As Prince Arthur.

New York, Jan. 23.—New York city has changed amazingly in forty four years, according to the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada and uncle of King George, who is visiting Ambassador Reid here. His previous visit here was nearly half a century ago, when as young Prince Arthur he was shown the sights by William Butler Duncan.

His stay in this country will include after all, a visit to President Taft on Thursday. The announcement of the change of plans was made somewhat unexpectedly, after the duke had ascertained that the president would be in the White House next Thursday afternoon and that the visit would not upset any of the president's arrangements.

The governor general was solicitous as to that. At the time he accepted Ambassador Reid's invitation to come here informally the duke had in mind also the possibility of a call on the president of the United States, but, being familiar with the unelastic programs of chief executives and having in mind especially President Taft's frequent absences from Washington, the duke did not desire to tie the president to the White House if the president had made other arrangements for any particular day.

On arriving he learned from Ambassador Reid, however, that the president would be free to receive him on Thursday and that the president had expressed an earnest wish that he find it convenient to extend his visit to Washington. So Colonel H. C. Lowther, the Duke of Connaught's military secretary, arranged the details, acting through Courtenay W. Bennett, the British consul general. At the same time the colonial office in London was notified that the governor general would call on the president.

Accompanied by Colonel Lowther, the duke will leave New York on Thursday for Washington. The British ambassador, James Bryce, will be the duke's host at dinner that evening. The duke and Colonel Lowther will leave Washington for New York on the midnight train. The visit to the president lengthens by one day the duke's stay in this country. He will start for Ottawa Friday evening.

Those acting for the duke in arranging the visit to the president dismissed as absurd any comment that the change of plan was caused by any feeling in Washington that the duke should not leave the United States without calling on the president, or that there had been a suggestion from London that a call on the president would be advisable. The reason was simply as stated—that the duke learned that the president would not be inconvenienced in the slightest degree.

BORO RECORDER WANTS WHIPPING POST RESTORED

Regrets Lash Isn't Available For Brutal Husband Who Goes Free Because Jail Sentence or Fine Would Punish Wife.

In disposing of his wife's complaint against August Verveat, of Somerset street, in the borough court this morning, Recorder M. F. Gano expressed regret because the whipping post was not available in such cases. Mrs. Verveat accused her husband of beating her with being an habitual drunkard, and with failing to provide her with proper support.

The couple have resided in the borough only two months. They came here from Paterson, where they both were employed in a silk mill. They are similarly employed here.

Last Saturday night the husband brought home a quantity of beer and whiskey with several companions to help drink it. In the course of the evening, Mrs. Verveat asserts, she was subjected to all kinds of verbal abuse by her husband because she protested against the party. Last night he came home intoxicated and hostilities began anew.

Marshal Kellar was called and placed Verveat under arrest. This morning his wife pressed the complaint against him and stated that while they lived in Paterson it had been necessary to have her husband arrested several times. He was sentenced there, she said, to six months for blacking her eyes.

Recorder Gano said that a fine would work a hardship on the wife, as it would deprive her of money needed for food and if a jail sentence was imposed it would result the same way. He turned to the prisoner and told him he was lucky the whipping post was not in existence. Verveat, said the court with emphasis, was a fit subject for the lash.

The recorder warned the prisoner that if he was ever arrested in the borough again on the same charge, the severest penalty permitted would be meted out and the borough would take care of the wife and eight-year-old daughter. Verveat was allowed to go under suspended sentence.

BORO HIGH CLINCHES INTERSCHOLASTIC

CITY TEAM IS OUTCLASSED

Team Work and Accurate Shooting of "Across the Brook" Five Superior—Victors Steady Throughout the Exciting Contest.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team clinched the interscholastic title yesterday afternoon, on the Y. M. C. A. court, by winning the second game in the series with the Plainfield High School five. The score was 35 to 19.

The game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever seen in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Both teams were out to win and every minute of play was fast and exciting, with many fouls. Although the P. H. S. boys played a strong game they were outclassed by the superior team work and accurate shooting of the boys from across the brook.

The N. P. H. S. five got the jump and kept up a steady pace all through the first half. "Bill" Taylor made the first score for North Plainfield by throwing a well directed foul goal from a foul. This goal was quickly followed by a basket by his brother "Curly" Taylor, and another by "Dunning." The spell was broken for a few minutes by a foul by Woodhull for P. H. S. This half ended with the borough boys leading by a score of 19 to 11.

The same line up was kept by both teams at the beginning of the second half. In the last few minutes of play, however, "Joe" Widoson, who is new at the game, was replaced by Carty at center. Sattels soon took the place of Carty, who made way on account of an injured knee.

P. H. S. started off at a rapid pace at the early part of this half. Nash made the first score by throwing a basket from a fast formation. Woodhull followed with another goal and after W. Taylor had made a basket from a free shot, he scored a foul goal.

This brought the score within four points of a tie, but W. Taylor and Dunning proved too fast a combination for the P. H. S. boys to handle and they threw baskets from all angles while Burner chimed in with a field goal. Dunning made four baskets in this period and W. Taylor threw two baskets and two foul goals.

Woodhull did the rest of the scoring for P. H. S. by ringing a basket and two foul goals. Townley played a strong game at guard for N. P. H. S. and made a basket from the middle of the floor. The playing of Nash and VanZandt at guard for P. H. S. was also a feature. The summary follows:

SALVATION ARMY HALL FILLED BY WORSHIPPERS.

A large audience filled the Salvation Army hall last evening to its seating capacity for the closing service of the special campaign being conducted by a quartet of visiting officers. The service was in charge of Major George F. Casler and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. He was assisted by Captain and Mrs. Goodchild and Envoy Evans. The program consisted of ocarina, cornet and vocal solos by Captain Goodchild, vocal and instrumental selections by the quartet, piano solo by Maud Jackson and a cornet duet by Captain and Mrs. Goodchild.

A harmonica and "Little Joe" duet by Major Casler and Captain Goodchild were features. The "Little Joe" is a novel instrument and was entirely new to a Plainfield audience.

Services are announced for this evening also for Thursday and Saturday nights. On Sunday evening the service will be conducted by Captain Herbert B. Saunders assisted by the Young People's Society of the Scotch Plains Baptist church.

D. C. IVINS SEEKS PLACE ON TAX BOARD

ONE OF FIVE IN THE FIELD

Councilmen Reville and Endress Said to Have Urged Former's Appointment By Governor Wilson at Conference Yesterday.

DeWitt C. Ivins, of Watchung avenue, is the latest candidate for Frederick H. Andrews' place as a member of the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes. This makes the fifth candidate for the office in this city alone the others being Councilman P. J. Reville, J. V. F. Dilts, LeRoy J. Ellis and Calvin E. Brodhead.

It is said that Councilman Reville and Endress were in Trenton yesterday conferring with Governor Wilson regarding the vacancy caused by the expiration of Mr. Andrews' term. They are understood to have urged the appointment of Mr. Reville. Neither councilman has made a statement regarding the reported talk with the Governor.

Mr. Ivins has been a consistent Democrat and prominently identified with the fortunes of the party in the county for many years. He attained considerable prominance locally a year ago last fall when he was boomed as mayoralty candidate to oppose Mayor Moy, but withdrew from the the fight although he had excellent backing. His reason for withdrawing was that he did not seek the honor.

During Governor Wilson's campaign Mr. Ivins was his staunch supporter and since his inauguration has defended the reform legislation the executive fostered and had enacted. He is at the had of th Manhattan Lighterage Co., having retired some years ago from the coal business which he conducted here. The Plainfield Democratic Club has not indorsed any of the local candidates as all of them are members.

GIRL CHEERED SO HARD A BLOOD VESSEL BURST

While helping celebrate the clinching of the Interchoastic basketball championship by the N. P. H. S. basketball team, which defeated the Plainfield High School five yesterday afternoon, Miss Mildred McAuliff, herself a member of the girls' N. P. H. S. team, cheered so hard this morning that her nose began to bleed.

The cheering broke out in chapel after Superintendent H. C. Krebs had complimented the team on its fine work, and especially commended the players on their cleanness and sportsmanship in the contest.

Miss McAuliff was obliged to retire from the room and it was a long time before the hemorrhage could be stopped. It was thought at first that she had been accidently struck on the nose by one of the other young women who were beating time to the team yell with her hands. That didn't happen, she said.

Several weeks ago while playing she sustained an injury to her nose and it bled excessively but nothing more was thought of the incident after it was over. She will get medical attention now to find out whether her nose has suffered more serious injury than was at first thought.

Turn Verein Dance Committee.

The following committee has been appointed by the Gesang and Turn Verein to complete all arrangements for the society's annual masquerade dance on Washington's Birthday eve, February 21: John Alster, chairman; John Ritzer, Charles F. Meyer, Jr., Fred Koller and Eugene Renz. The program this year will embody a number of new features, one of which will be the awarding of a door prize. The committee will announce other innovations later.

Men's Club Entertains.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church entertained the women of the congregation last night. George Carre, of New York, and Mrs. Laura Adkins Bogle, of Westfield, appeared in a program of solos and readings. Charles H. Waring, secretary of the association, gave two numbers. Following the entertainment refreshments were served.

SOON TO NAME THE LINES OF PROPOSED NEW BOROUGH.

Within a few days, it is expected, the committee appointed at a public meeting of citizens of the Lyons Farms section of Union township to take the necessary steps for the incorporation of that place as a borough, will announce the proposed boundary lines. President John Leysey, of the Union Board of Education, who is also chairman of the committee, made a statement to that effect Saturday night.

Mr. Leyser issued the statement at a public meeting of the residents and property owners in the section of Lyons Farms south of the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks, held in Lookers' hall, Hillside avenue.

A petition signed by nineteen property owners, said to be the largest number south of the railroad, was presented by Raymond T. Crane, protesting against the movement and asking to be left out of the proposed boundary. Mr. Crane said the nineteen signers were contented to remain in Union township.

When the committee decides on the boundary lines for the proposed new municipality a meeting of the citizens within the bounds will be called and the decision of the body will be announced. The committee will then have a bill for a borough government prepared and introduced in the Legislature.

WOULD RECALL JUDGES.

La Follette Opposes "Legislation by Supreme Court."

New York, Jan. 23.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, the progressive Republican candidate for the nomination for the presidency, made his maiden speech in New York as the guest of the Insurgents' club at Carnegie hall.

He delighted an audience which seemed to comprise many Socialists, by declaring that the recall of judges, which he advocated, should apply to the supreme court of the United States as well as to other courts.

He did not make this as an admission. He boomed it out in reply to a question from the gallery and said that when the federal supreme court "attempted to read into the Sherman law words that congress itself had refused to put into the law the supreme court there departed from its province as a court and attempted legislation." He said that it was to protect the courts against such transcending of bounds that the recall of the judges was designed.

"I would see the judiciary kept so clean," the senator continued, "that never a breath of suspicion could be cast upon it. Deny the people the right to apply the recall to the judiciary and you confirm their suspicions against the judiciary."

You had one water faucet in your house, you wouldn't run upstairs or downstairs for water. You would install another faucet, wouldn't you?! How about the telephone—do you have to go upstairs or downstairs to answer it? An extension telephone will cost less than 2c a day. It's so convenient, and costs so little.

FARRELL, TOO, HAS REMEDY

Chairman Stanley and Head of Corporation Finally Agree, and Statistician Is to Be Given Access to Cost Sheets. Proposes Board of Supervisors For Big Corporations.

Washington, Jan. 23.—"It is most vital that the committee get this information and, come what will, we will know it. There is power enough in this government to find it out!"

This announcement was made by A. O. Stanley, chairman of the special steel investigating committee of the house, to James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, who had been served with a subpoena asking for the books of the company and all of its subsidiaries, cost sheets and various other documents of importance in an examination of the steel industry of the country.

During the course of his examination by the committee Mr. Farrell said it would be grossly unfair for the committee to place on its records the cost of production of the steel corporation.

Like all the witnesses of the steel corporation who have appeared in this inquiry, President Farrell was led into the field of speculation and conjecture and was finally invited to give his views as to what laws had been passed to correct alleged evils in corporate management.

The upshot of the proceedings was an agreement that the steel corporation would submit to the committee compilations showing general average costs and that the committee statistician should have access, if he so desired, to the original records from which these compilations were made.

President Farrell took issue with other corporation officials who have appeared as to the kind of laws that should be passed to regulate corporations. He disagreed with the view of Judge Gary, Andrew Carnegie and others that the government should fix the prices for industrial concerns. He said the exercise of such a power would prove impracticable. Mr. Farrell recommended the creation of a board that would give publicity to the affairs of corporations and suggested that such a board should have the power of forfeiture if it were shown that an industrial corporation sold at unreasonably high rates.

BLAME HARAHAN WRECK TO LABOR TROUBLES

Illinois Central Begins Probe of Kinmundy Crash.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Investigation of the wreck of the Illinois Central's two crack trains near Kinmundy, Ill., in which James T. Harahan, former president of the Illinois Central; Frank Otis Melcher, second vice president of the Rock Island; Edward B. Pierce, general solicitor for the same system, and Eldridge E. Wright of Memphis, Tenn., were killed and others maimed and wounded, will be the most thorough ever undertaken by a railroad.

With the bodies of the dead railroad men lying in a Chicago morgue the city is filled with rumors that the accident was not only avoidable, but that it was directly attributable to the labor troubles in which the Illinois Central and the Harriman systems have been involved for several months.

The four men killed were sleeping in the rear end of a private car of wood attached to the New Orleans express, and this was telescoped by the engine pulling the Panama express, running fifty miles an hour.

ONE WAY TO CURB TRUST.

Commissioner of Corporations Makes Report on Steel Prices.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The segregation of the United States Steel corporation's great railway holdings from the corporation itself is the radical recommendation thrown out by Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, in the second installment of his report to the president on the steel industry of the country.

The report contains material of a more vital bearing on the dissolution suit undertaken by the government against the steel trust than the report which Mr. Smith made public several months ago. This second report deals with the costs of production. In it the commissioner of corporations holds that the United States Steel corporation is making a decidedly excessive profit on its ore deposits. The profits on ore, Mr. Smith charges, have not been based on competitive conditions, but have been established by agreement among the large interests holding the ore properties. These excessive prices, the commissioner adds, have put the iron and steel market of the country on an "inflated cost and price basis, to the probable disadvantage of the consumer."

"This situation," says Commissioner Smith, "clearly raises the question whether the interests of the public may not require the segregation of those railroad properties from the steel corporation. It might be argued that such a segregation would simply mean that the control of these railroads would remain in the hands of the interests who dominate the policy of the steel corporation. Such segregation, however, at least would prevent the transfer of the profits from these railroads to the treasury of the steel corporation. It would thus stop what is unquestionably an evil, and that is the imposition of high rates upon competitors' shipments, which puts them at a great disadvantage, while at the same time forcing them, by reason of this very fact, to contribute unduly to the profits of the steel corporation on transportation. If the connection between these railroads and the steel corporation were dissolved there would be no inducement to the steel corporation as such to make unreasonable rates. On the contrary, there would be an inducement to keep these rates at a reasonable level. Under this arrangement, moreover, the iron and steel making concerns using these railroads would be substantially on an equal basis so far as transportation is concerned."

WOMEN VOTE FOR REFORMS

Mrs. Alexander then told of what is being done to secure the vote for women, mentioning the test case which Miss Philbrook now has before the Supreme Court of the State, for a decision as to the legality of a legislative enactment which was passed in 1897, taking from women the right to vote, which right had been theirs ever since New Jersey was a State. The Supreme Court decision in this case will be given in February, and if it should be favorable, the women of New Jersey will have the right to vote at the elections next fall.

If it should be decided adversely, that is, if the Supreme Court holds that it was legal for the Legislature to take the franchise from half the citizens of the State without their consent, when they had been actually exercising this right for many years, it is planned that a committee composed of representatives of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, the Equal Franchise Society, the Woman's Political Union and the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, shall work to have a joint resolution passed by both houses of the State Legislature, to submit the question to the voters at large at the next election at which amendments to the constitution may be voted upon, which is in 1914. Such a resolution must be passed by two sessions of the Legislature before it can be submitted to the voters.

Mrs. Alexander laid particular stress upon the necessity of women realizing the duties as well as the privileges which the vote will confer upon them, and she urged all earnest women to prepare themselves to be good voters and to teach their fellow-women the opportunities which will accompany the ballot.

After Mrs. Alexander's address coffee and cake were served by the entertainment committee in charge of Miss Harriet French and Mrs. A. B. Jones.

Plainfield, N. J., January 23, 1912.

The progress of the fight being made by women in New York to reduce the cost of living will be watched with interest throughout the country for the success or failure of the boycott of high priced living necessities will work either a boon or a blow to the small wage earner particularly. A start has been made by a concerted action of housekeepers in doing without butter and the effect is already visible for one of the largest creameries in the country yesterday restored the old prices. Eggs and poultry are also on the lists of the women for a boycott within a few days, but the butter trust is the one big combination that the women propose to see abolished first. A pound of butter and a dozen eggs, at their present retail prices, represent more than half of the daily wage of the laborer. That there is something wrong and that the consumer is being robbed by some one is admitted on all sides. The majority of people are blaming the middleman for the condition of affairs, hence the cry in New York, "Down with the middleman!"

Senator Pierce's bill, which to the layman seems to present the proper solution of the grade crossing problem, was the subject of attack at Trenton yesterday afternoon, when a hearing on its merits was given by the members of the Legislature. Members of the recently formed Mayors' Association, and the legal representatives of the railroads all united in attacking it, but from different view-points. The mayors do not think the cities should pay twenty five per cent. of the cost of abolition of the grade crossings, and the railroad people think they should not have to pay seventy-five per cent. It is probable that both sides will never get together, and the only way to solve the problem will be for the Legislature to take the matter into its own hands, pass a law and make it so strong that the cities and railroads cannot avoid carrying out its provisions.

Governor Wilson yesterday ordered a reporter for a New York newspaper out of his office for sending out a fake interview. This is the second time he has been compelled to call down members of the newspaper profession for misrepresenting him. Last year another New York paper printed a highly colored tale about the Governor's experience with James R. Nugent, when Nugent was requested to vacate the office of the executive and the reporter who wrote that was put under the ban. Newspaper men who will write and send to their papers such stories as these are a disgrace to the profession. There is always enough news for the reading public in straight-forward statements of fact, without ringing in things that never happened. The newspapermen's fraternity abhors this kind of work as much as the people directly affected by fake stories.

And now it developes that the enemies of tuberculosis are behind the bill which has been introduced in the New York Legislature requiring the hotels to provide bed sheets nine feet long. The theory is that the extra length of sheet is intended to be turned down over the other bed covering, so that when the sheet is washed the possible exhalation of germs from tuberculosis persons will be destroyed, while otherwise they would remain on the outside coverings indefinitely. It is argued that it is a companion measure for the individual drinking cup and towel laws, and under the circumstances there is good argument for the passage of the act. The New Jersey Legislature might do well to pass something of the same kind.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette says that he wants no limit on the recall, even extending it to the judges. From the way he has been trotting around the country nursing his political ambitions, one is almost inclined to believe that the people of Wisconsin would be glad to have a recall for United States Senators. However, it seems to be the style nowadays to neglect the duties of offices to which politicians have been chosen, for the laudable purpose of trying to land something better, and incidentally a higher salary.

Senator Gaunt last night introduced at Trenton a bill providing for a consolidation of the State Road Department, the present Highway Commission and the Department of Motor Vehicles, into a new department with three heads, which is to be known as the department of State Highways. The close relationship necessary between these three departments is such that the enactment of the law would probably work for economy and efficiency in their conduct.

Dr. Wiley, the nation's pure food expert, has again been vindicated, in the case of charges which were instigated, according to rumor, by the manufacturers of certain patent medicines whom he made toe the mark. No matter what charges may be brought against the man, the people as a whole realize that he is zealously working for their best interests and that the health of the nation is well looked after by him and his assistants.

CONVENTION OF WORKERS WHO WAKE UP CHURCHES

The climax of the "Men and Religion" campaign now under way throughout Passaic, Essex, Morris, Hunterdon, Somerset, Monmouth, Middlesex and Union counties will be the great convention of Tuesday and Wednesday, January 30 and 31. This will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, Newark. Delegations will attend from the various churches of this city, Newark, Montclair, Elizabeth, the Oranges and neighboring towns and cities.

All the experts of the special team will speak. Among these are J. Campbell White, missions; Paul Moore Strayer, social service; C. C. Robinson, boys' work. Besides these Dr. Homer Stuntz and others will take part. There will be much definite discussion on such themes as The Bible, the boy, the world call, community extension, individual evangelism, work in shops, public schools.

For weeks committees and volunteer workers have made this campaign their particular business. Unusual methods of advertising have to be devised and meetings planned and carried through.

The Men and Religion Forward Movement for men and boys is a union of the Sunday-schools, Men's Brotherhoods and Young Men's Christian Associations to wake up the sleepers in the churches, guide and encourage the workers and serve them all at the job of finding the missing millions of men and boys outside.

Five themes will be discussed in platform meetings, studied in institutes and dealt with in convention. Boys' work, social service, evangelism, Bible study and missions. Fred B. Smith, national campaign leader, will speak on the evening of January 25 at the First Presbyterian church in Newark and the National Association Male Quartet will sing. This meeting is for those that are in earnest about helping in the work. Mr. Smith will outline the plan of campaign and tell how it has worked elsewhere.

One of the big weeklies kept a trained writer busy for weeks investigating the movement. He found such visible results as improvements in factory conditions. One employer tore off the roof of his dark workshop and put in glass.

STOP COASTING ON HILL WHERE BOY WAS HURT

A large painted sign prohibiting coasting on the hill at Interhaven avenue, the scene of the serious accident Sunday afternoon when Richard Perrine was injured by colliding with an automobile, was placed on a tree at Somerset street and Interhaven avenue this afternoon by Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough.

This was done under instructions from Mayor Clark and the North Plainfield street committee. The North Plainfield Township authorities are co-operating with the borough as the dividing line between the two is in the centre of Interhaven avenue.

It has also been suggested that Ephraim Acker, who conducts a refreshment stand at the terminus of the Somerset street trolley line, be appointed a special marshal to keep children off the hill. This matter will be suggested to the Township Committee to see if they would share a part of the expense, Mayor Clark and the other councilmen being willing to make the appointment.

Boonton, Jan. 23.—As a result of a coasting accident Saturday night, Edwin Eckstrand is laid up at his home. Mr. Eckstrand was picked up in a semi-conscious state.

"FULL CREW" BILL CALLED TOO RIGID

State Board of Public Utility Commissioners Disapproves Leavitt Railroad Measure.

NEED OF A LAW INDICATED

Present Powers Permit it to Order More Men, Commission Says, But Legislature May Have to Increase Its Authority.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Disapproving of Senate Bill, No. 83, of last year, the "full crew" measure, as defective and erroneous in principle, but holding that some legislation is needed to regulate the matter of the size of crews on railroad trains, the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners submitted to the Senate today its report of the investigation conducted by it into the subject of full crews, as directed by the Senate of 1911. The report holds that last year's bill, which was introduced by Senator Harry D. Leavitt, of Mercer county, is too rigid, mechanical and drastic and not framed so as to insure the most economical attainment of the end in view.

While disapproving the Leavitt measure, the Commission does not assent to the contentions of the railroad companies that adequate crews are always provided on every train. The board declares that its inspectors have discovered instances in the case of certain railroads where economy has been pushed beyond the limit consistent with safe service to the public, and it asserts that while this bill does not meet the conditions properly, there are certain instances, real impressing, where train crews ought to be increased.

The commission takes the view that under the Public Utility law it has full power to "order an increase in the size of a train crew where such increase is necessary for the carrier to furnish safe, proper and adequate service;" but it shows that obstructionist tactics through court appeals may be resorted to by the railroad companies when regulation is attempted by administrative orders. On this account the board reports to the Senate that while it believes that a preferable policy is to allow the commission, under its present powers to order an increase of a train crew, when found necessary to afford safe and adequate service, a more expeditious proceeding may have to be provided by statute for orders of this character, if experience demonstrates that administrative regulation in this matter is not effective.

Senate bill 83 was introduced Feb 3, 1911, and made it unlawful to operate any passenger, mail or express train of not less than five cars unless the train had a crew composed of an engineer, fireman, conductor, baggage master, one brakeman and one flagman. There was a proviso that on a train where no baggage was handled no baggagemaster need be employed. This provision added one man to such crews. The provision for freight trains was that the crew should be composed of an engineer, fireman, conductor, one flagman and two brakeman. The penalty was made a fine of from $100 to $500 for each viclation. While the bill did not specify the number of freight cars in a train that might be operated without the extra hand it was practically agreed that the limit should be set at thirty cars.

The introduction of this bill followed a fight which has extended through several years to get such a law on the statute books. The companies have always successfully blocked passage.

The Board says that it is extremely significant that at the two public hearings held the advocates of the measure were unable to cite any serious accident resulting from the employment of insufficient train crews. On this point the commission says:

"In our opinion this is significant; and while, as will be indicated later, a real shortage of trainmen's service is in some instances probable, the test of experience does not negative the allegation that train crews at present are on the whole competent to afford safe and adequate service, both passenger and freight.

Instances are cited by the commission where it has been discovered that trains were being operated with insufficient crews. One danger, the report says, on a short crew train that is sometimes incurred is that the real trainman by reason of collecting tickets or some other work is found too far forward on his train, so that in case of a sudden stop he is not in place to protect the rear of the train with flag or lantern, and this delay might result in an accident.

In concluding the report the board says: "An order affecting the requisite number of train crews should be promptly complied with, and if carriers were to interpose frequent or unreasonable delay to the effectuation of such orders of the board, explicit legislation in this matter may well be anticipated. Under these circumstances, while this board disapproves of Senate bill No. 83, as defective and erroneous in principle, and while it believes that a preferable policy is to allow this board, under its present powers to order an increase of a train crew, when found necessary to afford safe and adequate service, it suggests that a more expeditious procedure may have to be provided by statute for orders of this character, if experience demonstrates that administrative regulation in this matter is not effective."

To Witness Motor Engine Test.

Chief T. O. Doane, Sigfried Arens and Robert H. Woodhouse will go to Paterson tomorrow morning, where at 10 o'clock there will be an official test of the Knott motor-driven steam fire engine, which has been purchased by the city. This is an exact duplicate of engine No. 58 in use in New York, and is the largest one of the kind made. Chiefs of fire departments throughout the northern section of the city have been invited to be present. Mr. Woodhouse represents the Knott company in this part of the State.

To Improve "Kenney's Corner."

John J. Kenney, the shoe merchant, is about to make extensive improvements at "Kenney's Corner" by replacing the present old-fashioned front with one made almost entirely of glass. The entrance to the store will be located next to the Hayle Hardware company store, and when the improvements are completed the corner will be a greater attraction than ever. The interior of the store will also be changed.

SARGENT'S SUGGESTION.

Joseph E. Widener, being congratulated in New York on the excellence of his father's pictures, smiled and said:

"Yes, my father has been a discreet collector. He is not like the New York millionaire whom Sargent visited.

"Sargent was taken by this millionaire through a huge gallery of dubious Rembrandts, Titians, Raphaels and Murillos.

"'Mr. Sargent,' the millionaire said, gazing pompously at the long lines of vast, dingy canvasses, 'I have decided to leave my pictures to some public institution. What institution would you suggest?'

"'I suggest,' said Mr. Sargent, 'an institution for the blind.'"

The Code of Honor.

Dueling is a survival from the ancient judicial combats which were at their height in the middle ages. The first formal duel among English speaking peoples was in 1096. France seems to have been the land in which the "code" had its most flourishing times. From France the practice passed over to England, and from England it came over to America. In the early days of our country duels were quite common, but since Burr killed Hamilton the practice has been steadily on the decline. It is today a very rare thing for a duel to take place in any civilized land, and in the United States the foolish custom is practically extinct.—New York American.

A FRIEND.

There are two elements that go to the composition of friendship, each so sovereign that I detect no superiority in either, no reason why either should be the first named. One is truth. A friend is a person with whom I can be sincere. The other element of friendship is tenderness. When a man becomes dear to me I have touched the goal of fortune.—Emerson.

Dammers'

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

FREE OF CHARGE the most thorough and accurate examination of the sight that is possible and there is no chance of any error in being fitted to glasses by the

We make a pair of glasses as low as $1.00 with as fine a gold filled frame as can be made.

When you are tired and sick of having your eyes fitted by the old-style way of trying glasses, or the so-called subjective test of putting lines and letters on the wall and asking whether you can see this or that letter and line, when you have been all through this many times and have been unable to get fitted correctly, come to us and we will look through your eyes and take the exact optical focus and error of your sight and give you comfort and relief.

If you have headaches, dizziness, nervousness or any trouble resulting from eye-strain come to us and have your eyes measured by the new system from which wonderful results are obtained.

He has become a famaliar and welcome sight at all these functions.

COMPLAIN OF ICE BORO THROWS OVER ROADWAY

Complaints are being made by employes of the P. S. C., teamsters and automobilists of the manner in which the ice chopped from the gutters along Somerset street is being disposed of. Heretofore it has been carted away after being cut loose, but the present plan is to spread it over the roadway, car tracks and all. This interferes with the operating of the trolleys, and the chunks cut horses' legs and automobile tires.

The present plan is less costly, as it saves the expense of teams and carts. Further argument advanced in its favor is that as the weather moderates the ice will melt and be packed down. Those complaining of the plan contend that when the weather moderates the road will be in worse condition by reason of the additional water. The work of clearing the gutters was completed this morning.

Hearing On Theft Charge.

Michael Constantino and Michael Condit, of Raymond avenue, will be arraigned before Justice Thomas H. Snape in the North Plainfield police court this evening on the charge of grand larceny preferred by Ernest Hand by whom they were employed and who alleges that they systematically stole wood, hay and lumber, using his teams to cart the loot away. A large quantity of the stolen goods were found in the men's homes.

Dinner to Their Chum.

Russell Abbott, of New Haven, Conn., is visiting his mother on Grove street. A number of his boy chums gave him a turkey supper Sunday evening. Those present were James Richerson, Millard Bellis, Charles Kruger, Russell Hand, Frank Hart, Joe McCullough, Clark Hamilton, Dan McCormick, and William Bush. A number of friends called later in the evening and music and singing was enjoyed.

Got the Watchman's Watch.

The police are looking for Howard McMullen, who is charged by Patrick Newell, night watchman at the skirt factory on Watchung avenue, with skipping on Sunday with a watch of the watchman's. McMullen is also accused of wearing the best clothes of the man he boarded with when he disappeared.

The Scrap Book

Shutting Off Competition.

Bishop Nathaniel S. Thomas of Wyoming visited the state penitentiary and endeavored to ascertain what causes had led to the downfall of the various prisoners. Almost to a man they told the bishop that love of drink had put them behind the bars. This interested him, and he asked each prisoner for his solution of the liquor problem, carefully tabulating the answers for future reference. All but one of the prisoners announced themselves advocates of prohibition.

One man, a lean, rugged, leather necked convict, not yet bleached by prison life, denounced this plan when the bishop suggested it to him.

"The trouble with prohibition is it don't prohibit," he said vigorously. "What you want to do is to close up the distilleries. They're the boys to go after."

"A sensible idea, certainly," said Bishop Thomas, making a note of it. "Your plan is to stop the traffic at its source. Excellent! You seem like a very intelligent man. May I ask who you are—what you are here for?"

"Oh, me," said the prisoner. "I am a moonshiner."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Anger.

Bridle thy passion. Anger is the sin
Of all the greatest. It leads up to deeds
Known only to the darkest hours of night.
It tempts the upright man to throw aside
His cloak of reason and go forth to dip
His hands in human blood. It covers up
The path where duty walks with steadfast feet.
It will not listen to the soft appeals
Of maiden loveliness or turn aside
From its fierce purpose when the dimpled hands
Of mercy are held up before its gaze.
It will not falter in its stubborn course
When old age counsels with great swelling words.
It is the curse of youth and middle age,
Of gray haired men and women. It benumbs
The sensibilities of all alike.
'Tis only fit to live where madness live,
Safe stalled behind the strongest prison bars.

—Herbert E. Day.

Misnamed.

An old lady was going over the London zoo, and after some time she went up to a keeper and tapped him on the shoulder with her umbrella.

"Well, mum?" said the keeper.

"I want to ask you," explained the old lady, "which of the animals in the zoo you consider the most remarkable."

The keeper scratched his head for awhile:

"Well, mum," he replied, "arter careful consideration, as you might say, I've come to the conclusion as the biscuit goes to the laughing hyena!"

"Indeed!" said the old lady in surprise. "And why do you consider the laughing hyena so remarkable?"

"Well, mum," answered the zoological expert, "he only has a sleep once a week, he only has a meal once a month, and he only has a drink once a year. So what he's got to laugh about is a blessin' mystery to me!"

CROWD SEES AVIATOR FALL TO HIS DEATH

Rutherford Page Loses Control of Machine at Los Angeles.

Page landed within a few hundred feet of the hangars in full sight of the horror stricken spectators in the stand. He was taken to the field hospital, but died just as he arrived there.

Page was twenty-five years of age. He was given his pilot's license at Dayton, O., less than a month ago.

Page had left his hangar to ascend for an altitude flight. He had ascended but 300 feet when it became evident that he had lost control of his machine. Suddenly the craft turned turtle. At an elevation of 150 feet it seemed to stop and hover, then it shot down to the ground at a sickening speed.

Los Angeles, Jan. 23.—Rutherford Page graduated in 1910 from Yale and lived at 37 East Thirty-eighth street, New York. His death is the first aviation fatality in this country in 1912 and is the one hundred and fourteenth in the world since actual flying began nearly four years ago.

WILL STOP REBATING.

Government May Prosecute Transpacific Companies.

San Francisco, Jan. 23.—The department of justice contemplates the prosecution of certain transpacific steamship companies on a charge of giving rebates to favored shippers. This was admitted here by A. H. Dickinson, special agent of the department, whose presence in San Francisco became known after he had spent a week investigating local shipping conditions.

Dickinson admitted he was interested in learning why freight rates to Salt Lake City and the western towns are lower from foreign countries than from eastern cities of the United States and said rebating on the Atlantic coast not only was an established fact, but was being used to keep American goods out of South America.

FOR RUNNING DOWN A BOY.

New York Architect Held as Accessory by Police.

New York, Jan. 23.—Frederick Heyl of 1679 Lexington avenue was arrested as the chauffeur of the automobile which ran down and killed ten-year-old Patrick Fay, Jr., of 12 West End avenue, while he was playing near his home last Friday afternoon and then speeded away.

Several hours afterward Simeon B. Eisendrath, an architect, of 500 Fifth avenue, who was in the car, the police say, at the time of the accident, was arrested charged with being an accessory after the fact.

CAN'T BAR BEER AS FREIGHT.

Supreme Court Rules Against Contention of Prohibition State.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Beer is a commodity and railroads must carry it when offered for transportation from one state into "dry" counties of another state, regardless of the laws of the latter state.

The supreme court of the United States made this ruling regarding a proposed shipment from Indiana into "dry" Kentucky counties.

BY WIRELESS 3,000 MILES.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 23.—Breaking all former records for distance overland, a wireless message was received at the Norfolk navy yard from Mare Island naval station. The message was received by Operator Dempsey of the government wireless station direct from Mare Island. The message read: "Wireless communication with the coast and west coast is improving. Sig. Mayo."

This message is the first the government ever received direct from Mare island, a distance of 3,000 miles. The message was sent entirely overland, and the distance is greater by several hundred miles than any other message ever sent.

CENSURE FRENCH OFFICIAL.

Constantinople, Jan. 23.—Before the closing of the chamber of deputies the president, who became angry at the interruptions of a Greek, Bussios, during the reading of the conscript law, threatened to throw him out of the chamber. Bussios threatened to retaliate if any such action was taken against him.

The dispute was settled before anything happened, but the opposition passed a vote of censure on the president for his actions.

Furniture 10 to 50 Per Cent. Cheaper this Month

Ever thought of what this January Furniture Sale of ours means to the people of Northern New Jersey.

If you will imagine for a moment that there is opened up to the people a possibility of a saving of upward of $50,000, you will comprehend the real importance of this truly great trade movement.

If we were to offer to donate to any charity, or to the municipality, or to the county, for any worthy purpose, $50,000, the announcement would doubtless cause a great sensation, and when we offer to save to the people on the savings that are necessary to their well being we are doing practically that thing—donating $50,000 to the public.

Upward of half a million dollars' worth of furniture, embracing our entire magnificent stock, is reduced in price—the reductions running from 10 to as much as 50 per cent.

There is no such preparation made for our furniture sales as is commonly done in other houses—we do not go to manufacturers and have them build for us, in more or less careless fashion, lots of furniture for special selling.

Instead, we pick the most dependable furniture in every line that we can find, scouring the country for the best, and using what we think is intelligent discrimination in selecting it. With this splendid furniture we stock the store, and upon it we depend for our furniture reputation. We do not have to apologize for any piece we sell you because it is "special selling" stuff. What you buy during the sale is just as trustworthy, just as dependable as what you can buy any other day of the year.

Surely this fact stamps our January Sale as different and apart from the ordinary, and makes it far more worth your while buying furniture here and now than to buy it in stores whose sales are differently conducted.

Besides enjoying the savings now possible, you are enabled to buy here on the Easy-Payment Club Plan at the lowered prices, and you can participate in a further reduction of 2½ per cent. from the prices by accepting "Surety Coupons."

Here are some heavily reduced Sample Pieces that are embraced in this sale—only one of a kind of many, and of others just a few—all of which we would like to dispose of quickly in order to secure more space.

OLD JOKES CURE GIRL'S HICCOUGHS

Disgust at Exhibition Drives Away Disease.

DEMANDED SOMETHING NEW

Plan of Miss Mary Shinn's Mother to Displace Medicine by Laughter Is a Success Except That Merriment Is Absent—Cure Seems to Be Permanent.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 23.—Miss Mary Shinn has stopped hiccoughing. She had hiccoughed almost continually for eighteen days, and she has grown thin, pale, intensely nervous. Domestic remedies, such as frightening her half to death and prescriptions ordered by learned physicians were equally impotent to stop her hiccoughing. So her mother determined to try to cure her with convulsions of laughter.

The minstrels' songs and jokes so infuriated Miss Mary, who is up to date in blacked face minstrelsy, that she told the minstrels what she thought of them in plain language, unimpeded by a single "hic."

In her rage, Miss Mary forgot all about her hiccoughs. Mrs. Shinn, who gave the minstrel show contrary to the doctor's orders, is very happy. So was Miss Mary before she fell into a peaceful slumber, the first she has enjoyed for seventeen days.

Harry C. Shunk, Edgar Akin and Charles Boydin of a Philadelphia minstrel company, arrived at Miss Mary's house, 125 North Twenty-fourth street. Quickly they "made up," then Mrs. Shinn showed them into Miss Mary's room, where she lay in bed. The minstrels seated themselves in a semicircle.

All the surroundings embarrassed the minstrels; they got stage fright; if they had any new songs and jokes they forgot them. For the opening chorus they sang "Old Black Joe."

This and their jokes was too much. Miss Mary flew into a towering rage.

"My old nurse told me those jokes ten years ago," she cried, fluent as a teacher of elocution. "Did my mother ask you to come here and make me laugh? If she did, just tell a few new ones. And Old Black Joe—if you are paid for this sort of thing you are robbing your manager."

The minstrels fled.

The cure seems to be complete.

CLIMBED TREE FOR PROOF.

Bicycle Policeman Proves Athletic as Well as Vigilant.

Jersey City, Jan. 23.—Under a new ordinance no teamsters with heavy loads are allowed on the North Bergen boulevard in Jersey City except under penalty of a fine of $10. Notices to that effect are supposed to have been conspicuously posted.

Motor Bicycle Policeman Patrick Tolan arrested Frank Perna of Paterson, who was driving three mules attached to a load of pianos, and took him to court. The old fine used to be $5, and the teamster was preparing to pay that amount when the policeman appeared with a copy of the new notification. He had been obliged to shin up a tree trunk to secure the evidence, the notice having been posted on the tree high up from the ground.

"TURKEY TROT" AT "PROM."

Even the "Grasshopper Hug" Will Be Permitted at Trinity College.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 23.—The lid is off, and any one that attends the Trinity college "prom" next month can go the limit with the "turkey trot," the "grasshopper hug" or any of the other new Boston and Spanish glides and skims that have been put up to the prom committee to adjudicate. The committee declared for an open course for all entries, believing that any advance restrictions would only make matters worse than they are. They say they will not stand for any dancing that will evoke criticism, but do not believe that any of the guests will venture any weird fantasies.

$500 FOR BRIDE HE BEAT.

Jerseyman, Arrested For Cruelty, Rewards Her For Withdrawing Charge.

Bloomfield, N. J., Jan. 23.—Rejoiced that his bride of six weeks had withdrawn a complaint of cruelty against him in police court, Joseph Salcoe, an employee at the Westinghouse plant in Watsessing, handed his wife $500 and took a pledge never to drink again.

When arrested by Patrolman O'Neill Sunday night, the man became indignant that his bride should have him arrested. "When I married her," said Salcoe, "she became my property, to do with as I pleased."

SICK MAN A SUICIDE.

Grieved Over His Disease—Tried to Kill Youngsters Also.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 23.—Being so ill with tuberculosis that he could not work and grieving over the fact that his wife had to go out to work to support him and their children, Thomas J. Bradley sought to end his own life and those of his two younger children by gas. He succeeded in killing himself, but his two children are being nursed back to life at the City hospital.

Miss Violet Holtz, of Philadelphia, returned home yesterday after spending a wek with Mrs. I. H. Neff, of Grant avenue.

TWO NEW CONGRESSMEN.

George Curry and H. B. Fergusson, Who Represent New Mexico.

George Curry and Harvey Butler Fergusson have the distinction of being the first representatives in congress from the new state of New Mexico.

Representative Curry is forty-nine years old. He was born in Bayou Sara, La. After receiving a country school education he removed to New Mexico, where he worked on a sheep ranch. His first public office was that of deputy county treasurer of Lincoln county, N. M., in 1888. He held office practically continuously thereafter and in 1907 was appointed governor of the territory of New Mexico. He is a Republican.

Representative Fergusson was born in Alabama in 1878. He was graduated at Washington and Lee university in 1873 and for a year afterward was instructor of Greek and modern languages at that institution. He was admitted to the bar in 1874 and practiced law at Wheeling, W. Va., until 1882. He has resided at Alburquerque, N. M., since 1884. He was delegate from New Mexico in the Fifty-fifth congress and was formerly a member of the Democratic national committee.

MRS. CHARLES W. MORSE.

Her Untiring Efforts Won the Release of Her Husband From Prison.

The action of President Taft in freeing Charles W. Morse may be said to be directly due to the efforts of Morse's wife.

When the efforts of Morse's friends proved unavailing Mrs. Morse herself, who has stood faithfully by her husband from the beginning, undertook a personal campaign in her husband's behalf. She solicited signatures to a monster petition which, as it was finally presented to the White House, bore the names not only of well known men in all parts of the country, but many senators and members of the house of representatives. This petition, it was said at the time, contained thousands of signatures. President Taft's own son, who was a classmate in Yale university of Mr. Morse's son, was reported to have signed the petition and to have entered a personal plea in Mr. Morse's behalf.

MR. AND MRS. A. G. VANDERBILT

When Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and his bride, who was Mrs. Smith Hollins McKim, return to New York from London in the spring they will make their home in the most luxurious apartment ever designed as a private home. It will consist of the two top floors of the new Vanderbilt hotel, Park avenue and Thirty-fourth street, which Mr. Vanderbilt owns. It has been estimated that similar accommodations, reckoned upon a floor space basis, would cost approximately $40,000 a year, not including meals.

MR. AND MRS. A. G. VANDERBILT.

The main dining hall is two stories in height and occupies the space of four rooms. It can be altered by a special arrangement of doors to make either a small informal dining room or a large room for elaborate dinners. Bedrooms, breakfast room and tea room are from two to four times the size of ordinary rooms of similar character.

From the windows eastward in clear weather can be seen the buildings of Coney Island and even the sea beyond, while to the west one can see far beyond the Hudson.

Mr. Vanderbilt's father, Cornelius Vanderbilt, left an estate estimated at $200,000,000. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt received more than $10,000,000 when the division of the property came in 1896. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the eldest son, received only $1,000,000 in the will, but Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt transferred to his brother $5,000,000 to equalize the fortune of Cornelius with the other brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, before her marriage to Mr. McKim, was Miss Margaret Emerson, a daughter of Colonel Isaac H. Emerson of Baltimore, and was popular in Baltimore, Washington, New York and Newport.

LADY LITTLE.

She Is Nineteen Years Old and Only Twenty-three Inches Tall.

Lady Little, nineteen years old and only twenty-three inches tall, is one of the sensations of London. She is believed to be the smallest woman who has ever lived.

At a novel surprise party given recently by Sir Edward Moss two waiters carried a pie to the place of honor. When the pie was opened the midget,

She tripped among the wineglasses and coffee cups and sang songs.

The little lady's jewels are said to be valued at more than £100,000 sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hendrickson, of Keyport, have been guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Duer street.

CONVENTIONS OF MANY YEARS HAVE BEEN HELD IN BALTIMORE

City Was Scene of Struggles Between North and South Before War.

History For the Democratic Party In the Past Was Made There.

BALTIMORE, where the next Democratic national convention is to meet, was the city in which assembled the first national convention of the Democratic party, the city in which a national convention first gave forth the party's formal platform and that in which the first Democratic dark horse was nominated for the presidency.

At the wish of Jackson, the first Democratic national convention, which met at Baltimore, May 21, 1832, eight months after the anti-Mason party had set the fashion of such conventions by meeting in the same city, formally nominated Van Buren for vice president, but merely ratified the nomination of Jackson for president already made by many state legislatures. Jackson's candidacy and the nomination of Van Buren marked the well defined quarrel between Jackson and Calhoun and prepared the way for the factional struggle between the northern and the southern Democrats.

The convention adopted no platform, but expressed confidence in Jackson and his policies. The man and his policies really constituted the party platform.

The national Democratic convention that nominated Van Buren for president met at Baltimore in May, 1835, having been called thus early to offset the candidacy of Senator Hugh L. White, already nominated as an anti-Jackson Democrat by the legislature of Tennessee.

In this convention the vote of each state, though not its actual representation, was in proportion to its strength in congress. The convention was largely made up of federal officeholders, as was that of 1832.

Party platforms were embodied in letters written by the several candidates in answer to inquiries addressed to them by means of an understanding among the leaders, an awkward contrivance that subsequently brought disaster to Clay.

A Democratic convention representing twenty-one states met at Baltimore in May, 1840, and nominated Van Buren, though it forebore to make any nomination for vice president.

The interest of the convention came from its being the first to adopt a definite platform of Democratic principles. This platform, which served for many years as the basis for Democratic doctrinal utterances, urged a strict construction of the constitution, denied in the name of such construction the power of the federal government to make internal improvements, to assume state debts, to charter a national bank or to legislate as to slavery in the states, condemned by implication the policy of protection, denounced the propaganda of the abolitionists as dangerous to the Union, disapproved any abridgement of the naturalization privilege, called for rigid economy in public expenditures, for a revenue limited to the needs of such expenditures and for the divorce of the treasury from the banks as indispensable to the safety of public funds and to the preservation of popular rights.

Upon that platform the Democrats met their first disastrous defeat, though it was brought about rather by conditions than by the party utterance.

The southern Democrats, who had had it in for Van Buren since 1832, obtained their revenge upon him at the convention of 1844, which met at Baltimore in May. Annexation of Texas was the question over which Van Buren was defeated for the nomination.

Jackson had been misled into writing a letter that was used against his friend and protege, and Virginia, which had chosen a delegation instructed for Van Buren, had reinstructed against him. The two-thirds rule adopted in 1832 was reaffirmed in the early hours of the convention, and Van Buren's friends, controlling a majority of votes, vainly strove until the ninth ballot to force his nomination.

The name of James K. Polk had appeared on the eighth ballot, and on the ninth, when Van Buren's name was withdrawn, Polk received more than the necessary two-thirds and was hailed as the first "dark horse" to win a Democratic nomination.

The historian Bancroft, who became Polk's secretary of the navy and the father of the Naval academy, did much to further the nomination.

At this convention for the first time were seen those waves of passion and excitement that have marked many later conventions. The dignified Benjamin F. Butler of New York jumped up and cracked his heels together in his excitement at the struggle with the southerners over Van Buren, and members stood upon benches in the vain effort to hear or to make themselves heard amid the babel.

The real work of the convention was contrived, as usual, in the recesses. Silas Wright, who was nominated for vice president because of his known friendship for Van Buren, telegraphed his declination, being the first to use the telegraph for such a purpose. While the convention sat another convention, mostly of federal office holders, nominated Tyler for president and tried to force him upon the Democrats.

Baltimore proved again an unlucky convention town for the Democrats in 1848, in which year the fruits of Van Buren's defeat by the southerners four years earlier were seen in his acceptance of the Free Soil nomination. Luck returned, however, with the nomination of Pierce as the second dark horse at Baltimore in June, 1852.

The next Democratic national convention met at Cincinnati, exactly four years later, when for the first time in a quarter of a century Baltimore was skipped. To Baltimore was transferred from Charleston the faction quarrel of the Democrats in 1860. The factions northern and southern at Charleston adjourned to meet, the former at Baltimore, the latter at Richmond. There had been at Charleston in April 606 delegates, with 303 votes. The quarrel over the platform, which brought about the secession of many southern delegates, left the convention with a majority, but unable to agree upon a nominee. It adourned to meet at Baltimore June 18, requesting the southern states to fill the vacancies left by the seceders.

The latter, with a few delegates from the border states, adopted resolutions against the issuing of two party platforms or any change of party name and adjourned to meet at Richmond June 11. Some of the Richmond delegates were also accredited to Baltimore. A complicated row over the seating of southern delegates in the regular convention led to a new secession, and the seceders, with re-enforcements from the adjourned Richmond convention, nominated one national ticket, while the regulars nominated another, and the party went forth to defeat.

Baltimore again brought the Democrats bad luck in July, 1872, when the regular Democratic convention ratified the proceedings of the Liberal Republicans.

As a convention city Baltimore was crowded and uncomfortable from 1840 onward. An extant letter from a delegate to the Whig convention of 1840 describes conditions as almost unendurable. Men were sleeping three in a bed and half a dozen or more in a room. The writer of the letter thought himself lucky to be entertained by a friend, who was able to give him a room, which he shared with but one other person.

At convention time in 1860 the city was fairly choked with delegates and others, and it was crowded even in 1872. Since that time the hotel accommodation of the city has greatly increased and the time by rail between Baltimore and Washington has been so reduced that it is easy to sleep in Washington and attend convention sessions in Baltimore.

MAY HELP MRS. HARLAN.

Pensions Also For the Widows of Admirals Schley and Evans.

Representative Swager Shirley of Kentucky will offer an amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill appropriating a sum equal to one year's salary of an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States for the relief of Mrs. Harlan, widow of Justice John Marshall Harlan. The salary at the time Justice Harlan died was $12,500. On Jan. 1 it was increased to $14,500. The same provision that Representative Shirley asks for Mrs. Harlan was made for the widow of Associate Justice David J. Brewer.

In the senate Senator Rayner of Maryland introduced a bill allowing pensions at the rate of $150 a month to the widows of Rear Admiral Schley and Rear Admiral Evans. Under the general pension law each woman would be entitled to $30 a month, but this sum is regarded as inadequate, as it has been discovered that neither of the officers left any considerable estate.

POPE'S CIPHER CHANGED.

Published Book Reveals Secrets, With Code Messages Translated.

The Vatican has been compelled to change the cipher or code in which the pope's secret instructions are telegraphed to nuncios and delegates abroad.

It consisted of a series of numbers disposed according to a prearranged system, assuring perfect secrecy. Repeated efforts to solve it proved unsuccessful, and it was considered the best in the world. Even when the French government seized the archives of the papal nunciature in Paris the secret was not divulged. Mgr. Montagnini succeeded in hiding the key.

Marquis Crispolti, however, has published a book dealing with the Vatican's negotiations with Berlin in 1878 and reproducing the original cipher telegrams and their translation.

Deeply grieved that the secret documents have been published and realizing the futility of legal proceedings, the pope has decided to change the system for the first time in 200 years.

LABOUCHERE A FAMOUS EDITOR

Member of Parliament For Almost Forty Years.

HIS CAREER LIKE A NOVEL.

Once Came to America With a Circus. Returned Later as Attache of the British Legation at Washington. Created a Riot In Parliament.

Henry Labouchere, the noted English editor who died recently at the age of eighty, was born in Windsor in 1831. He had a varied career, filled with amusing incidents and political triumphs.

He was educated at Eton and Trinity college, Cambridge, but left before he received his degree. His days at college furnish several amusing stories that he delighted to tell. One day, feeling especially rich after having received a remittance from his father, he decided not to call in his friends to help celebrate. He wanted to see how it would feel to celebrate alone, so he went to a hotel, engaged a room, and when the waiter asked for his order he demanded a big bowl of punch.

The waiter asked for the order to be repeated several times before he would take it. He couldn't imagine what was wanted with a whole bowl of punch. The story wound up that Labouchere did away with as much of the liquid as he possibly could and then he was forced to send for his friends to finish it.

A circus that passed through Cambridge contained among its performers a beautiful woman, a bareback rider. Labouchere became enamored of the woman, and when the circus came to America Labouchere came with it. While he was never really a performer, he was sometimes allowed to hold the hoops through which the rider would jump.

The circus went to Mexico and Labouchere with it. There he traveled about the country, finally connecting himself with a band of revolutionists. He advised the revolutionists, and they did well while under his instruction. The circus rider wrote him, however, and he left the revolution to join her. He passed through the central western part of the United States and finally found himself in St. Paul. There he took a jaunt into the country and met with a band of Blackfeet Indians, with whom he remained for several months. Later he returned to England.

At the age of twenty-three, through the influence of his uncle, Lord Taunton, he was appointed to the diplomatic corps and was sent to Washington as an attache to the British legation. It was at that time Sir John Crompton was minister to the United States.

The whole time of Sir John was taken up with his efforts to escape the unmarried ladies of Washington who were seeking him. Labouchere soon found this weakness of his superior, and from that time on he took great delight in calling upon Sir John with several carriage loads full of the prettiest women and girls he could find in the capital.

Sir John finally had to ask to be taken back to England, and when this was done Labouchere found no more interest in Washington. He, too, asked to be removed, and for the next ten years he spent his time at the legations in Stockholm, Frankfort, St. Petersburg, Dresden and Constantinople. A book of his diplomatic escapades and doings would be very interesting reading.

While in Washington he went to New York upon business and found that his ready money was almost gone. He went into a saloon on a crosstown street just off Broadway. It was a second class place, and lined up against the bar were several Irish Americans who mistook him for a truculent patriot called "The O'Meaghen." Labouchere, not having much money, ate dinner with them at their expense. Then they discovered their mistake and wanted to beat Labouchere. That gentleman slipped out and went into the house of a perfect stranger, asking to be allowed to remain until the crowd outside got tired of waiting.

The owner of the house was delighted to think that he had a diplomat under his roof, and from that time on there was a friendship between the two that was broken only when the New Yorker died some years ago.

Labouchere was elected to parliament in 1866 from Windsor. The following year he was returned by Middlesex. He was a member from that time on until 1905, when he refused to be a candidate for re-election, giving as a reason his advancing age.

His speeches in parliament were wonders, and his constant wit was a source of pleasure for members and visitors for nearly forty years. He created one of the greatest riots in parliament when he suddenly arose from his seat one day and moved that the house of lords be abolished. He was a particular enemy of Lord Rosebery.

STAGGERING COST OF CROSSINGS CHANGES

DON'T FEAZE THE MAYORS

Organized Municipal Heads Want Railroads to Bear Expense of All Elevations or Depressions Wherever Ordered by Authorities.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Differences of opinion that developed lively arguments featured the hearing yesterday afternoon on the Pierce grade crossing bill before the Senate Committee on Revision of Laws, of which Senator Pierce is chairman, and the House Committee on Railroads and Canals.

Representatives of the Association of Mayors and others who favored grade crossing abolition, insisted that dangerous grade crossings should be removed and that the entire expense should be borne by the railroad company. Representatives of the railroads declared that the municipalities in the east had been unfair in their grade crossing demands, that the Pierce bill was too drastic.

The railroad men said the measure would entail an expense of $250,000,000 and that the provision in the bill requiring the removal of one grade crossing for every twenty miles of road, if enforced, would be impracticable and would throw a serious obstruction in the way of the operation of trains.

The hearing was very largely attended, not only by the mayors from many cities and towns, but by members of the Legislature and scores of interested citizens. Senator Pierce presided.

Mr. Pierce explained the bill. He asserted that it met fully the pledges of both political parties.

Mayor Julian A. Gregory, of East Orange, the first speaker, asserted that the sentiment of the organized mayors was unanimous; that all the expense of the reform should be borne by the railroads.

"Elizabeth grade crossings are as dangerous, if not more so, than any in the State," declared Mayor Stein of Elizabeth. "We want a real remedy," was his slogan.

TWO IMPORTANT BILLS GET SENATE APPROVAL

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Two important measures were passed by the Senate last night, making a record for the quick handling of bills at the opening of the third week of a session. The two measures passed were those by Senator Edge, providing for better protection in factories of this State. Senate No. 1, the first bill passed, provides for the suitable ventilation of factories and the prevention of the dust evil by the installation of dust collecting devices. It provides a penalty of $10 a day for failure of employers to comply with the statute within twenty days after notice has been given by the State Commissioner of Labor.

Senate No. 2, the other measure passed, empowers the Commissioner of Labor to order safety devices attached to all vats, pans, saws, planers, power presses and other machinery of every description, and to stop the use of machinery not properly guarded and to require the proper lighting of any portion of a building where machinery is operated.

THROWN FROM BOBSLED, GIRL COASTER INJURED.

Another victim was added to the list of the season's unfortunate coasters, last night, when Miss Jane Muir, of Grant avenue, was seriously injured while enjoying the sport with a group of companions on Johnston's drive. The young woman was thrown from a bob as it sped down the incline and landed on her shoulder, breaking the collarbone and sustaining numerous severe contusions.

Miss Muir was assisted home, where the injury was attended to by Dr. W. H. Murray. She was confined to her bed by the shake-up today and will be incapacitated for several weeks.

PROMINENT WESTFIELD RESIDENT IS DEAD AT 57.

After an illness of ten days, Joseph S. Ferris, one of the most prominent residents of Westfield, died this morning at his home on Embree Crescent in his fifty-seventh year. He had been a resident there since a lad, and at the age of fourteen began work with the Colgate Company in Jersey City as office boy. At the time of his death he was head of the sales department.

He was a member of Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum, and of the Methodist church. Surviving besides his widow are two sons, Seymour and Herman and a daughter, Miss Marian Ferris, all residing at home. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The Plainfield Ice and Supply Company has finished cutting ice on the lake in the Valley, and the company's big houses are filled to capacity with the finest ten and twelve inch ice.

Vanderbilt Model Tenements

At a cost of $1,500,000 Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt has erected in New York a group of apartment houses, to be known as East River homes, for persons having slight tuberculosis and those who are delicate. Mrs. Vanderbilt's idea is to "bring the sanitarium to the tuberculosis patient instead of sending the patient to a sanitarium."

The East River homes are four large six story fireproof buildings erected on a site comprising eighteen city lots, and they will house 383 families in flats of from two to five rooms. There are courts for light and air, to which access is had through passageways extending from street to street.

Outside staircases in each of the four corners of the large interior courts afford separate entrance to each flat or suit of rooms. There are no interior halls or staircases. These outside open stairs are provided with safety treads set in concrete and are protected from rain and snow by layers of wire glass projecting from each story. At each turn of the stair a seat is let into the iron railing to provide a resting place for children and invalids.

The entire roof area is utilized for outdoor life and fresh air treatment. The roofs are fitted with loggias, open and partially inclosed, retiring rooms and comfortable seats, and upon an upper deck are spaces for drying the wash. Mrs. Vanderbilt will provide flowering plants and shrubbery to intensify the roof garden effect.

There are individual balconies on every floor communicating with the bedrooms by three sash windows so that the tenants can sleep on the balconies if they prefer.

The East River homes is not a "charity" in any sense of the word. Each person or family will pay rent for his room and bath or apartment, and it is hoped to make about 4 per cent on the investment. But every cent of this income will be spent to fight tuberculosis.

The rents are from $1.25 to $2 a week for each room, according to size and location. No charge is made for the bathroom, and electric light, heat and hot water are included.

The roomers may have their own physicians, cook their own food and do anything else they would be permitted to do in a well regulated flat house.

The buildings are under the management of this board of trustees: Henry L. Shively, M. D., president; Walter B. James, M. D., vice president; William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., treasurer; Henry B. Anderson, counsel; Frederic L. Merriam, secretary, and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt.

For the purpose of educating tenants as to the most hygienic and economic methods of furnishing their homes an apartment of five rooms and bath furnished in a manner approved by eminent medical authorities will be available for inspection at all times.

More than half of the suits were contracted for within one week after the homes were opened.

years been one of the most popular members of the faculty. This sentiment is expressed in a verse in the famous "Faculty Song," which is sung on the steps of Nassau hall by the seniors in the spring evenings. It is one of the few surviving verses of the original song as it was first sung sixteen years ago, and it runs:

Here's to Hibben—we call him Jack—
The whitest man in all the pack!
The Princeton spirit he does not lack,
Here's to Hibben! We call him Jack!

FREDERICK WEYERHAEUSER.

Millionaire Who Has Rules on How to Get Rich.

Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the St. Paul multimillionaire, gives the following rules on how to get rich:

Make up your mind to work at something really worthy of work and work hard.

The surest way to make money is to save money and to use what you have.

Work can be made a joy, an economy, a pleasure, if you combine an object worth while with the determined ambition to win.

Work where the interest of the man who works is centered becomes a source of real gratification, of honest pleasure and accomplishment.

F. WEYERHAEUSER.

Any young man can get rich, can succeed in business, if he saves, if he has a definite and honest purpose and is so filled with the purpose that work ceases to be a hardship.

Look at things with optimism in your heart.

TEACH CHILDREN HOW TO USE EYES

New Methods Being Tried In the Public Schools.

TO AVOID NEARSIGHTEDNESS.

System Was Used For Eight Years In North Dakota With Much Success. Improper Use of Eyes, Not Study, Cause of Defective Vision.

Teaching the children how to see and thereby conserving eyesight and preventing many of them from going through life with spectacles is the newest development in the public schools.

Statistics of the board of health indicate that about 17 per cent of the pupils of the public schools are shortsighted. It is the latest theory that this myopia frequently develops from straining of the eyes by the pupils in their efforts to see distinctly.

In the experiments now under way the eyes of the children are trained by exercises in correct seeing by means of optical test cards. The pupils are asked daily to test their eyes by reading the cards, which are placed on the walls of the schoolrooms. It has been found beneficial to rest the eyes from study by looking up occasionally and reading the cards. This has a tendency to eliminate eye strain and to give normal vision.

The system was tried for eight years in the public schools of Grand Forks, N. D., and there is a record of 10,000 cases of pupils who have tried the system under the direction of their teachers. An article in the New York Medical Journal sets forth that after eight years' work the examination of 2,000 pupils in the public schools of that city revealed that less than 1 per cent were myopic. The previous percentage had been 6.

Books and much study are not what cause shortsightedness, according to this theory, but the improper use of the eyes. The myopia is often due to a miscalculation of distances and to unnecessary straining. It is found that the keen sighted eagle of the air when placed in a cage will often so little adjust his eyes to his new surroundings that he becomes nearsighted within a few months.

There are many cases in the schools of other defects of vision, such as astigmatism. The present experiments, however, are undertaken for the sole purpose of correcting shortsightedness.

It is believed that pupils often are thought to be stupid or obstinate, when, as a matter of fact, they are merely shortsighted. Educators are much interested in the present experiments, and special attention also is being given to lighting, the size of type and other details which concern the preservation of normal vision.

PLAN JOAN OF ARC STATUE.

A movement has been started to erect a statue in New York to Joan of Arc, the Maid of Orleans, by means of popular subscription. The memorial will cost $30,000, and the committee in charge of the project consists of Dr. George F. Kunz, chairman; John D. Crimmins, McDougall Hawkes and Dr. Edward Hagaman Hall. The committee already has $2,000 toward the fund. In a statement the committee says:

"In doing honor to her memory we are honoring one of the noblest of women and one of the grandest manifestations of patriotism in the world's history. Her fame is not confined to the boundaries of her native land. It is world wide, and all who wish to render homage to a bright and pure type of womanhood and to true patriotism can find no more fitting occasion than this."

Dr. Kunz said a large collection of medals of Joan of Arc, including twelve in gold, ninety-three in silver and ninety-seven in bronze and intended by their purchaser, J. Sanford Saltus, for the American Numismatic society, is now on its way to the United States.

HOBBLE SKIRTS DOOMED.

Style Congress Dictates What Women Shall Wear the Coming Season.

This is what American women will wear the coming season, as disclosed by the style congress held by the Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers' association of America at Chicago:

No hobble skirts. Dresses must be two and a half yards wide, three-fourths of a yard wider than the hobble. They must be short—three inches from the ground. Blue and white are the colors and the materials whipcords.

Jackets must be twenty-six or twenty-eight inches long and close fitting. Empire effects must be forgotten. If any waist line is affected it must be "at the waist or lower." Revers and sailor collars will be tabooed, but collars will be different colored from the coats. No changes are ordered in plain tailored gowns or suits.

A Guaranty protects the owner against the possibility of undiscovered or undiscoverable defects or flaws arising at any time in the future. It is the PERFECT PROTECTION, placing back of the purchaser all the strength and resources of a great financial institution. A Guaranty is often of great advantage in reselling property.

Westfield's Park.

The Westfield Park Commission last night took initial steps towards creating the public park project advocated for some time, by making an appropriation of $100 to E. S. F. Randolph for the purpose of cleaning the land on the proposed site of all brush and other vegetable growth, which can be done while the frost is in the ground. The work will be started immediately. The park when completed will represent an expenditure of $10,000.

Danish Lutheran services will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Swedish Pilgrim church, West Sixth and New streets, with preaching by Rev. N. H. Nyrap, of Brooklyn.

NEW DISCOVERY IN WIRELESS

Made Accidentally by Marconi While in Tripoli.

OF IMPORTANCE IN WAR.

Found He Can Send and Receive Messages Without Masts by Laying Wires on Sand, Which Experiments Showed Was a Nonconductor.

"During some experiments in the desert, which he took the opportunity to make," he said, "we were surprised and gratified to find that wireless messages could be sent with absolute security over the desert without the usual masts. Instead of poles, wire is laid on the sand in the direction in which the message is to be sent. It goes and is received without any interruption, exactly the same as though the usual system were employed.

"This is made possible by the fact that the sand is an absolute nonconductor, so electric waves are not disturbed in any way. The sand being dry, neither rain nor tempest can affect the waves. The advantages of this are so evident it seems almost ridiculous to enumerate them.

"Every one knows the difficulties of setting up, especially in time of war, a wireless station with masts, while in Africa a simple and small case is sufficient.

"Masts in time of war constitute a grave danger because they can be seen by an enemy from a great distance. It is like saying to them, 'Here we are, at such and such a distance, and our camp is near.'

"Another feature of great importance in the new modification is that the enemy cannot interrupt or intercept messages when we have changed the register of our air waves. It would be impossible for others to guess our register. Thus we take a step in advance, and a long one."

CHOCOLATE BAD FOR EYES.

So Says Medical Association Speaker. Beer Also Optically Harmful.

Dr J. Scott Wood read a paper before the Medical Association of the Greater City of New York upon diseases of the eye caused by imprudence in eating or drinking.

In the discussion that followed Dr. North said that much of the eye troubles of children were caused by excessive eating of chocolate. Many parents forbid their children to eat candy, but allow them to eat chocolate in large quantities, and this poisons the system. Similar troubles, he said, were often caused by beer. There was something in the composition of beer that was injurious to the eyes, the speaker added.

President R. Webb Wilcox of the association said the eye troubles were caused by a chemical substitute for hops sometimes put in beer.

Dr. Ernest Gallant said that most people did not eat properly and so brought the trouble upon themselves, in eating grapes they throw away the skin, the best part of the fruit.

Bran should be taken by humans, the doctor claimed, as well as by horses.

POSSUM CLUB IN U. S. SENATE

Will Meet Regularly Subject to Call of Taylor of Tennessee.

There is a "possum" club in the United States senate. The organization was formed at the conclusion of a "possum" lunch given by Senator Taylor of Tennessee to a few of his colleagues in the senate office building. Two fat opossums, sweet potatoes and corn bread were the basic features of the feast, and there were ornate and succulent trimmings.

The cooking had been done by a genuine old negro "possum cook." Those attending the lunch were Senators Crane of Massachusetts, Bradley of Kentucky, Fletcher of Florida, Johnston of Alabama and Williams of Mississippi. The club will meet regularly, subject to the call of President Taylor.

HARLAN LEFT NO WILL.

His Son Appointed Administrator of the Estate of About $13,000.

The late Justice John Marshall Harlan of the United States supreme court left no will. His son, James S. Harlan, of the interstate commerce commission, was appointed administrator of the estate. The administrator's bond was fixed at $5,000.

According to the son's petition for administration, his father owned no real estate. Life insurance payable to the estate amounts to $7,200, and the personal estate is estimated at $5,700. In addition to this, there is due the late justice $486.11 for his salary from Oct. 1, 1911, to the date of his death, Oct. 14.

Deaths of Physicians.

During 1911 the deaths of 2,145 physicians in the United States and the Dominion of Canada have been noted in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Reckoning on a conservative estimate of 140,000 physicians, this is equivalent to an annual death rate of 15.32 per 1,000.

UNITED STATES WILL BE AT WAR IN 1930.

And the Aggressor, Too, Brander Matthews Predicts.

Professor Brander Matthews of Columbia university in a lecture delivered before a class in American literature predicted that the United States was due to have another war about 1930.

"If the law of the succession of events holds and if the American people have not changed in their national character another great war is apt to take place about the years 1920 to 1930," he said. "I derive my conclusions for the possibility of such an event from the repetition of wars as they have occurred in American history during the past 150 years. History repeats itself, and the logical inference is that another war will take place about 1930."

Professor Matthews believes that if such a war should occur the United States is apt to be in the wrong. "With the rapid increase of wealth and population," he said, "our nation is likely to take the part of the bully. The people, in recognition of their strength, may display a public opinion in favor of war, and unless the work of the arbitrators is effective unnecessary slaughter may result."

GOVERNMENT OWNED SHOPS.

Victor Berger Urges Them For Government Employees.

Government owned department stores for the use of Uncle Sam's 50,000 employees at Washington are advocated in a bill introduced in the house by Victor L. Berger, the Socialist representative from Milwaukee. The bill calls for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the establishment of a number of stores organized and operated on the general lines of the commissary stores in the canal zone, isthmus of Panama.

Representative Berger asks "that the secretary of the interior at the earliest practicable time establish in the city of Washington at suitable places stores for the sale at cost price of staple commodities to all employees of the federal government." A clause in Berger's bill provides for the extension of facilities already at hand until such time as the chain of stores is completed. This clause reads:

"That the privilege of purchasing at cost prices commodities from the department stores at Washington barracks and at navy yard station, District of Columbia, now restricted to officers and enlisted men of the army and navy be and the same is hereby extended to all employees of the federal government."

REAR ADMIRAL POTTER QUITS.

Captain Potts to Succeed Injured Officer as Aid For Personnel.

Rear Admiral W. P. Potter, aid for personnel, has been detached from that duty and granted leave of absence for four months, at the expiration of which time he will retire from active service in the navy.

This came as the result of the injuries received on New Year's day, when Admiral Potter fell down the steps of the navy department building. Though he was not seriously injured, his recovery has not been as rapid as was expected.

Admiral Potter will be succeeded by Captain Templin M. Potts, chief of the office of naval intelligence. Captain Thomas S. Rodgers, supervisor of New York harbor, will succeed Captain Potts as head of the intelligence office. It has been understood for some time that Captain Potts would succeed Admiral Potter as aid for personnel upon the retirement of the latter on May 10 next.

ENGINEERS MAKE BIG SIPHON

One Fourteen Miles Long Nearly Half Done In Colorado.

A great feat of American engineering now being performed in Colorado by the engineers of the United States reclamation service, was 39 per cent complete on the first of the year, according to a report by the service. This work is a great siphon under the Colorado river, which will carry water from Laguna dam, fourteen miles under the Colorado river, to irrigate 55,000 acres of land in the Yuma valley.

The top of the tunnel under the river will be twenty-five feet below the lowest known bed of the river, and the tunnel will be 1,000 feet long. Concrete lined shafts, one on each side of the river, were sunk to a depth of about 100 feet.

TRAINING FOR JUDGES.

Massachusetts Legislator Proposes Unique Preparation For Office.

Judges and legislators will be required, as a preliminary to taking office, to spend five nights in jail, one month in the slum district of Boston and five nights in the ten cent lodging houses of Boston, if a bill introduced in the Massachusetts legislature by Representative Morrill of Haverhill becomes a law.

The law provides that present officeholders must take the prescribed course of training at once or retire from office.

MORGAN GETS TWO RARE BOOKS

Copy on Paper of the Famous Gutenberg Bible.

FROM THE HUTH LIBRARY.

Other Book Is Also a Bible on Vellum and the First Printed With a Date. Treasures Cost Him Nearly Fifty Thousand Dollars.

Two of the three highest priced books in the Huth library sale recently held in London, are now in J. Pierpont Morgan's library in New York. Bernard Quaritch, the rare book dealer of the English metropolis, brought these two treasures and gave them to Mr. Morgan's librarian. It was Mr. Quaritch, acting as Mr. Morgan's agent, who obtained the books at the Huth sale.

One of them is a copy on paper of the famous Gutenberg Bible. For this Mr. Quaritch had to pay $29,000 at the Huth sale. Adding his commission to the purchase price makes the cost to Mr. Morgan about $31,900.

The other treasure was also a Bible printed by John Faust, or Fust, and Peter Schoiffher, or Schoeffer, at Mainz, or Mayence, in 1462. This copy is on vellum. It is the first Bible printed with a date. Mr. Quaritch paid $15,250 for it. With his commission added, it costs Mr. Morgan about $16,775.

The Huth paper copy of Gutenberg's Bible is said to be the finest in existence. It is the editio princeps of the Latin Vulgate, commonly known as the Mazarine Bible from the fact that the copy in the library of Cardinal Mazarin was first recognized as a Bible to be specially distinguished as the production of Johann Gutenberg. At a later period another copy was found in the national library at Paris, bearing a manuscript subscription by the illuminator, which approximately fixes the date of the book 1453-55. Some fragments of the grammatical treatise by Donatus and a letter of indulgence, both, like the Bible, printed with movable types by Gutenberg, are in existence, but the Bible is beyond dispute the first important effort of the great inventor of the art of printing.

A note by Bernard Quaritch on the cover reads: "This is the finest copy I ever beheld, or anybody else." It is bound in blue morocco and has double columns of forty-two lines to the page. There are several fine decorative borders in blue and red penwork, large pen letters, with marginal decorations, and painted capitals in blue and red. It is a perfect copy, clean and for the most part uncut.

An interesting point about it is that it contains manuscript memoranda of signatures and numbers of chapters at the foot and on the margins of pages, and these are presumed to be in the handwriting of Johannes Gutenberg himself. The association value of the Bible is therefore great. About 180 copies were probably printed on paper by Gutenberg, and of these only about twenty-seven copies have been traced. Twenty-three are complete sets of the two volumes. Nearly all are in public libraries. The four sets in private hands are the Huth-Morgan, the Hoe, the Duke of Devonshire and the James Elisworth. Among the public library copies are two in this city, the Lenox or New York public library and the General Theological society. New York, therefore, has six of the known twenty-three complete sets, more than any other city in the world. The price paid by Mr. Quaritch for the Huth copy is the British record for an early printed book.

The first dated Bible is also the Latin Vulgate. It consists of two volumes, folio, double columns of forty-eight lines to the page. There is a finely painted and illuminated decorative border to each volume, a fine large painted decorative initial, with marginal elongations, to each book and painted capitals in blue and red. It is in thick, boarded brown morocco, extra covered with elaborate blind and gilt tooling by F. Bedford. This Bible was printed by Fust & Schoeffer after Fust had taken for a debt nearly all the machinery, types, etc., of Gutenberg and with Schoeffer continued the printing business at Gutenberg's old shop.

This Huth-Morgan vellum copy appeared in Paris in 1863. The fact that it was on sale there was reported to Henry Huth by the late F. S. Ellis of London, who thereupon was sent to Paris by Mr. Huth with drafts for $3,000 to obtain the work. He returned to London with it. Only about five copies on vellum have been sold during the last forty years, and those five included one which was successively in the Watson Taylor (1823, $1,075); Dent (1827, $865); H. Perkins (1873, $3,900), and Earl of Crawford (1887, $5,125), sales. The Sunderland copy in 1881 sold for $8,000 and the Thorold copy in 1884 for $5,000. The price paid by Mr. Quaritch for the Huth copy was far in advance of any previous one.

There was also in the Huth sale a copy on paper of the first dated Bible, and Mr. Quaritch paid $9,500 for it. It cost Henry Huth in 1863 $1,375. On the Gutenberg and the two first dated Bibles alone the profit to the Huth estate was something like $45,000.

Fireman James Fitzpatrick, of Hose company No. 3, has been detained at his home by a severe attack of lumbago.

CRANE LEFT $2,135,000 TO CHARITABLE WORKS.

Homes to Be Provided For Families Deserted by Husbands.

From the fortune of the late Richard T. Crane, wealthy iron manufacturer of Chicago, $2,135,000 will be devoted to charitable works.

One striking and original feature of the will is the establishment of a fund to provide homes in the country and means for sustaining them for families deserted by husbands.

The will disposes of property estimated as high as $20,000,000.

The charities planned by Mr. Crane are:

One million dollars endowment for a pension fund for the benefit of Crane company employees.

One million dollars for homes for dependent widows, to be established near Chicago, together with manual training schools for the children of the dependents.

One hundred thousand dollars to the United Charities as an endowment fund for the Mary Crane Day nursery.

Twenty-five thousand dollars to the Visiting Nurse association.

NEW ENVOY TO BRAZIL.

Edwin V. Morgan of Troy, N. Y., United States minister to Portugal, has been named by President Taft as ambassador to Brazil to succeed the late Irving B. Dudley.

Mr. Morgan, who was born at Aurora, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1865, is a graduate of Harvard and of the University of Berlin. From 1892 to 1895 he was instructor in history at Harvard and at Adelbert college from 1896 to 1898.

In 1899 he was secretary to the United States commissioner to the Samoan islands, in 1900 deputy consul general at Seoul and in 1901 second secretary of the embassy at St. Petersburg. The following year he was made confidential secretary to the third assistant secretary of state. He was appointed consul at Dalny in 1904 and minister to Korea in 1905. From the Korean post he was transferred to Cuba, where he served as minister until 1909, when he was transferred to Uruguay. He was appointed minister to Portugal by President Taft May 24, 1911.

CARNEGIE GOT $28.60.

Will Frame Voucher For His Fees For Testifying In Steel Inquiry.

When Andrew Carnegie, who admits that he is worth $500,000,000, left Washington after having testified before the Stanley steel investigating committee he carried a voucher for $28.60 drawn on the treasurer of the United States. This is the amount Mr. Carnegie received from the government for testifying. The laird of Skibo was entitled to 5 cents a mile from New York to Washington and return and, in addition, was paid $2 for each day he appeared before the committee.

The steel king requested the secretary of the committee to make him out a voucher for the whole amount due him.

"No; I am not going to get the voucher cashed," Mr. Carnegie replied when it was suggested that he might add the money to his fund for establishing libraries. "I am going to keep it as a souvenir. I intend to have it framed and hung up in my library."

HOME FOR BRITISH WOMEN.

Plans for the establishment of the first American nonsectarian home for aged women of British birth have been projected by the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire. The object of the order is to open a home that will accommodate at least 100 women and to which additions can be made.

The Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, was founded in England in 1900. The first branch in the United States was organized nine years later. Mrs. James Bryce, wife of the English ambassador, is the honorary president, and Mrs. W. Courtenay Bennett, wife of the British consul general in New York, and Lady Purdon Clarke are honorary vice presidents. There are branches of the order now in practically all the larger cities of the country, and the membership has grown rapidly.

PLANS COMMISSION FOR THE HIGHWAYS

A BOARD OF THREE MEMBERS

Other Bills Provide for 1,500 Miles More of Thoroughfares and for Ending Motor Vehicle Department.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—An issue of $10,000,000 in bonds, the establishment of 1,500 miles of State highways, the abolition of the present State Road Department, State Highway Commission and the State Motor Vehicle Department and the creation of a new State Highway Commission are all provided in a series of bills introduced in the Senate last night by Senator Gaunt, of Gloucester county, making them among the most important measures introduced into any recent session of the Legislature.

Under the first Gaunt measure the new highway commission is to consist of three members, term four years, salary $5,000 per year, to perform all the duties of the abolished offices. Another bill provides for the system of State highways, not to exceed 1,500 miles in length, connecting the principal cities and the shore resorts with the Delaware River boulevard, no highway to extend through a town or city. The third bill authorizes the State Comptroller and the State Treasurer to borrow the necessary money to rebuild the roads of the State under the direction of the State Highway Commission. Under the constitution this will have to be submitted to public vote before it becomes a law.

After the Senate had adjourned last night the Republican Senators had an informal conference on the measures, owing to their great importance. No definite conclusion was reached, but as both parties are pledged to good road extension it is practically certain that some legislation along this line will be enacted. The need of new road laws has been emphasized by the declaration of State Motor Vehicle Commissioner J. B. R. Smith before the State Board of Agriculture last week that it will require $2,500,000 this year to keep the improved roads from being ruined.

Mr. Gaunt also introduced a bill giving non-resident motorists who have complied with the auto laws in their States, a fifteen-day motor privilege in any one year in this State without pay, upon application to the State Highway Commission.

Senator Fielder introduced a bill regulating the holding of building and loan stock by minors of sixteen years of age. He also put in Senate Joint Resolution No. 6, providing for a commission to confer with a New York commission and to investigate the project of providing for interstate communication across the river at Jersey City. It appropriates $25,000 for borings, soundings, etc., and applies to a tunnel plan as well as a bridge.

Senator Johnson, of Bergen county, put in a bill excepting counties havin a population between 135,000 and 140,000 from the provisions of the act of 1902 providing for small boards of freeholders.

Senator Edge introduced a bill prohibiting the employment of females in stores, factories, restaurants, laundries, etc., more than ten hours a day or eight hours a night. Look at them in the windows—try them on—put them to any test you will—and then you will realize why the entire VanArsdale organization is so enthusiastic about them. All leathers—lace, button and blucher—round, roomy toes, freaks and medium narrow last, and the modified, recede toe, and low broad heel—a conservative style that is strongly favored in New York.

FLORENCE SMALLEY WAS SECRET BRIDE

Marriage to Dr. Edward A. Herr on November 11 Disclosed to Parents Last Night.

ENGAGED FOR TWO YEARS

Harry Smalley, Bride's Brother, and a Brother of the Bridegroom Witnessed Ceremony—Go to Waterbury, Conn., to Live.

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Smalley, of East Front street, got a surprise last night, when their daughter Florence disclosed the fact that she was married to Dr. Edward A. Herr, of Waterbury, Conn. The marriage was performed in New York city on November 11 last by Rev. E. L. Baxter.

The bride's brother, Harry L. Smalley, and the groom's brother, Dr. Frederick W. Herr, of Waterbury, Conn., attended the couple. Since the marriage the bride has been making her home, as usual, with her parents. They had no intimation of the marriage until last night, although they did know that the two were engaged.

Dr. and Mrs. Herr have gone to Waterbury, where they will reside. The bride is a graduate of the Plainfield High School and was more or less prominent in athletics while in school, being a member of the basketball team.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Dartmouth College, Class '06, and of the University of Vermont Medical School, Class '09. He is a practicing physician in Waterbury and was formerly city physician in that place. Dr. Herr was captain of the Dartmouth football team in '06, the year that the eleven defeated Princeton.

SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL LEADS SCHOOL IN CHEERS

During the morning exercises at the North Plainfield High School today Supervising Principal H. C. Krebs spoke with enthusiasm of the two victories the school basketball teams have won in two days. Monday afternoon the boys defeated P. H. S. and clinched the interscholastic championship and yesterday the girls triumphed over the P. H. S. lassies for the first time since they have been playing the game.

Mr. Krebs referred to the cup the boys will receive, the fourth won in five years. He led the school in cheering for the two teams, for Mr. Webster, the boys' referee, and for Miss Stahlberger, the girls' referee. The boys topped off the cheering with the school yell.

HOPE CHAPEL QUINTET TRIUMPH OVER AJAX.

The Hope chapel basketball five defeated the Y. M. C. A. Ajax team on Hope court, last night in one of the fastest games of the season. The final score was 28 to 17.

The Ajax five started in with a rush and was in the lead during the first ten minutes of play, but after that the home team picked up and held the lead for the rest of the game. Both teams played a fast passing game and it was seldom that shots were wasted.

After the game refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed. The lineup:

UNEXPECTED CELEBRATION OF WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Quite unexpectedly, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Stahl, of Maple avenue, celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of their wedding last night. They were passing the evening quietly at home, when sixty friends, bearing gifts and good wishes took away their breath by appearing all together with well planned suddenness.

After Mr. and Mrs. Stahl had had time to adjust themselves games and music were enjoyed. Supper was served at midnight.

Would Send Boy Away.

Miss Katherine Ball, the city truancy officer, appeared in the city court this morning to ask that steps be taken to have Sidney Burton, colored, twelve years old, committed to a reformatory. The boy lives with his father on East Fourth street. He has been in the "exceptional" class at the Irving School for two years, and the teacher says he needs stronger restraint than a public school affords.

GIRL, SHAKING OUT RUG, IS BADLY HURT BY FALL

Miss Ellen Crook Suffers Broken Wrist and Ankle When Railing of Second Story Porch at Her Home Gives Way.

Miss Ellen Crook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Crook, of 656 South avenue, is in a serious condition, the result of an accident at her home this morning, when she broke an arm and a leg. The young woman was standing on a second-story porch in the rear of the house shaking a rug, when, without the slightest warning, the railing, over which she was leaning, gave way, and she was pitched forward, falling a distance of fifteen feet to the ground.

In making the descent, Miss Crook turned a complete somersault, and when she landed one arm and a leg, the ones fractured, were doubled up beneath the body. The victim's father, who was engaged in his grocery close by, heard the sound of his daughter striking the ground and he rushed to ascertain the cause. He found her in an unconscious condition.

The injured woman was carried into the house, where, after an application of restoratives, she was quickly revived. Dr. Marcus L. Clawson was summoned at once and his examination showed that the arm was broken near the wrist, while the break in the leg was at the ankle. Miss Crook in addition sustained a severe shock to her whole system from which it will take her some time to recover.

Miss Crook is twenty-two years of age.

MR. FELMLEY'S FUNERAL ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The funeral service of Moses Felmley, who was well known here, will be held at the Felmley homestead, at Lebanon, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Felmley died suddenly at his home on Monday in the ninetieth year of his age. He was born at Lebanon and always lived there. He was one of the best known residents of Hunterdon county, and for many years was a successful farmer. Mr. and Mrs. Felmley celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding about a year ago. Mrs. Felmley died last June.

Mr. Felmley was well-known here by reason of the fact that many Plainfielders were accustomed to spending their summers at the Felmley farm, and his daughter, Miss Ella Felmley, has been a frequent visitor in this city. Mr. Felmley was a life-long member of the Reformed church at Lebanon and was an officer of the church for many years. A large family of sons and daughters and grandchildren survive. Carriages will meet the train arriving at Lebanon at 12:10 Friday afternoon.

Mr. Drew is accompanied by the same distinguished cast that supported him throughout his metropolitan engagement, including Mary Boland, Thais Lawton, Louise Drew, Carroll McComas, Clara T. Bracy, Ivan Simpson and Thomas Kelly.

DISTRICT JUDGESHIP FOR HETFIELD, SR.

He Seems to be the Likliest Candidate For Berth that Judge Newcorn Must Vacate.

HIS STRONG ENDORSEMENT

City Democrats Said to Be Virtually Solid Behind Him—Name Presented to Governor Wilson As the Proper Appointee.

Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., seems to be the most likely possibility for appointment as district court judge to succeed Judge Wilbur Newcorn. He has received the indorsement of the Plainfield Democratic Club and is being strongly backed otherwise for the position which will become vacant Saturday, January 27, by the expiration of Judge Newcorn's term.

George Anderson, of the law office of William A. Coddington, is the only other candidate mentioned for the place. It is understood that he has not made a very energetic effort to land the berth, although willing to accept the appointment.

Mr. Hetfield has been a practicing lawyer in this city for the past thirty-three years. He has served terms as councilman having been one of the "Big Six," who came into power in 1894. He was city clerk for two terms, but continued his law practice meanwhile.

It is understood that when he was first mentioned for the place there was some opposition to him, but all of it appears to have been overcome and the Democrats of the city are united for his appointment.

His name has been laid before Governor Wilson with proper endorsements and it is expected that the executive will make announcement of his selection in a day or so.

PROPOSES THE C. E. UNION FOR NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

Boston, Jan. 24. The World's Christian Endeavor Union has been proposed by Congressman Samuel W. McCall, of the 8th Massachusetts District, for the Nobel peace prize in recognition of the services of the organization in the interest of world peace, according to an announcement made at the headquarters of the union here last night.

The proposal has been seconded by prominent persons in many lands, including the president of the Norwegian parliament, the Chief Justices of that kingdom, the highest general in the Norwegian army and the Norwegian Postmaster General, says the announcement.

Truant Loses Sympathy.

Small Anthony Chirrello has lost the sympathy that enabled him to escape school. He has been a persistent truant, and because he is a hunchback the officials have been lenient with him. Miss Katherine Ball, the truancy officer, appearing in court today to receive the customary order that leads unwilling small boys to school, said Anthony's picnic was over. Anthony lives on Plainfield avenue near Third street.

FOR A PROBE INTO ALL STATE AFFAIRS

Democrats Preparing Bill That Will Call For a Sweeping Investigation.

IN INTEREST OF ECONOMY

Just a Move Looking to Modernizing and Standardizing of All Departments and Institutions, Says Senator Silzer, Chief Sponsor.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Every State department and every State institution in New Jersey will be investigated with a view of determining how the methods of conducting them may be made more business-like and effective, as well as more economical, if a bill to be introduced into the Legislature by the Democrats can be passed. The measure will be drafted as the result of a conference yesterday afternoon between Governor Wilson and the Democratic legislators.

The bill will be in line with the recommendations in the Governor's annual message and the Democratic platform. The platform spoke for the immediate reorganization of the administration of all the State institutions.

The drafting of the measure will be largely in the hands of Senator Silzer, of Middlesex, who has given considerable study to the subject. After the conference he said the bill would provide for the appointment by the Governor of a non-partisan commission of nine men to investigate all the institutions and departments along the lines referred to. The commission will report to the Legislature of 1913.

"There will be no politics whatever in the move," asserted Senator Silzer. "It will be a non-partisan plan to modernize and standardize all State departments and institutions according to the up-to-date methods that are being applied to all big business enterprises."

State Comptroller Edward I. Edwards laid before the Legislature yesterday afternoon his annual statement under the joint resolution of 1911, estimating that the State government will cost $7,432,252.94 including the supplemental appropriation bill for this year which runs until November 1 next and for which $1,333,751.61 will be asked and the annual appropriation bill to be passed by this Legislature for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1913. Comptroller Edwards' estimate for this is $5,978,501.33. These estimates are based upon estimates submitted to Mr. Edwards by the various departments and institutions.

At the conference yesterday afternoon it was decided to have bills passed on grade crossing abolition and the other Democratic platform pledges and have them introduced and pushed in both Houses without regard to the Republican measures, some of which are on the same propositions.

UNITED STATES REVENUE AGENTS QUIZ LIQUOR MEN

Two United States Revenue officers inspected the wholesale and retail liquor stores here today to see that each one had the proper license and also investigated the supply of bonded whiskey on hand to see that all were properly stamped.

Particular attention was paid to the condition of empty whiskey and spirits barrels on hand. According to the law the stamp and all lettering on the end where the stamp is placed must be destroyed as soon as the contents are removed.

If the stamp on a bottle of spirituous liquor is broken and the bottle is not in the bar-room, the proprietor is likely to be made just as uncomfortable explaining as he would be in telling why the law had not been complied with as regards the removal of the lettering and stamp from the head of empty barrels.

Several boys living in the vicinity of West Front street and Oxford place, have organized a club which they call the Oxford A. C. Boys about sixteen to eighteen years of age wishing to join the club are requested to communicate with Walter Glaentzer, 736 West Front street. Guy Snyder, Willard McAfee, Walter Glaentzer and Harold E. Storr comprise the committee on organization.

BURGLARS AND HOLD-UP MAN AT WORK IN BORO

Burglars and a hold up man attempted to work at the same time in the borough last night. In both cases they were frightened away without securing anything and managed to escape capture.

There was a thrilling feature to the attempted hold-up, in which a woman and a girl figured. The latter fled from the footpad when accosted, and were pursued for nearly half a mile along Somerset street.

Mrs. William Campbell, wife of a former chief of the North Plainfield police, and her daughter, Ethel, were the victims picked by the hold-up man. They were on their way to their home on Somerset street, when the footpad made his attempt to rob them.

He stepped from the shadow of a building at Somerset street and Greenbrook road, and gruffly demanded money. Mrs. Campbell and her daughter gasped, but instead of complying with the demand they ran. Fright lent them strength and speed but both were about to drop from exhaustion at the Somerset Street School when they encountered two young men. The young men scared the closely pursuing footpad off.

The man turned into Jackson avenue and disappeared while the young men were assisting Mrs. Campbell and her daughter to their home at Manning avenue and Somerset street.

Mr. Campbell was told of the incident and slipping hurriedly into his clothing took up the chase after the fleeing robber. His wife went to the police station but was unable to find a policeman.

When Mr. Campbell returned he investigated and learned that the man on duty at headquarters and the patrolman from the Somerset street post had been called to the home of Eben D. Bennett, on Grove street, where two men were trying to force an entrance.

Before the policemen arrived the burglars were frightened away by Mr. Bennett who they had heard walking about the house. No trace of them was found by the police.

PASTOR WILL LEAVE WEST END CHURCH

Rev. Mr. Kemble Says Four Years Term is Long Enough For Methodist Minister.

HAS DONE GOOD WORK HERE

At Quarterly Conference Congregation Passes Resolutions of Appreciation of Cleric's Services—Board of Stewards Chosen.

Convinced as he said that four years is long enough for a Methodist minister to remain in one charge, unless there are unusual circumstances such as the erection of a new church or money to be raised for a special object, Rev. Charles S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, informed his people that this would be his last year in that charge. In view of this, resolutions were adopted at the fourth quarterly conference, last night, expressing appreciation for the services of Mr. Kemble and wishing him success.

Mr. Kemble said today that he favored a four year limit until some more satisfactory period is arranged by the conference. Under present conditions a Methodist minister may remain for an indefinite period as long as he and his people are in accord. He has received an invitation to another church, but will not state where it is located.

Rev. Charles S. Kemble.

These were chosen as members of the board of stewards: N. M. Smith, Theodore VanPelt, John Stafford, Thomas W. Jacobs, E. H. Beckman, C. B. Lawson, W. H. Stine, J. W. Taub, John McCormack, Chester Cox, S. H. Fisher, Jr., W. C. Lawson, Mrs. L. P. LaRue, Mrs. Frederick Wenzel, Mrs. Nicholas Brouard and Mrs. J. C. Pierson.

Morris Warrick, as president of the Epworth League, and Mrs. Theodore VanPelt, as president of the Ladies' Aid Society, were approved as members of the quarterly conference. Mr. Kemble presented a review of his four years' work, showing that 175 members had been received and fifty-eight lost by death and removal, making the net gain in membership one hundred. It was also reported that within a short time it is hoped to have the new pipe organ installed in the church. Thus far $1,000 has been secured by Mr. Kemble and the balance is expected soon.

GIVE SUPPER IN HONOR OF NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS.

A supper was given by the members of the Gesang and Turn Verein Society last night in honor of the newly elected and installed officers. Instead of celebrating the installation when it takes place, it has been made an annual custom to give a supper for the members and their families.

Last night close to a hundred members' families were represented. During the supper the singing section gave several selections and after the tables had been cleared dancing and general sociability were enjoyed.

Mrs. Wimmitt Not So Well.

Mrs. Henrietta Wimmitt, of Oneida, N. Y., who fainted away in St. Mary's cemetery on Saturday while attending the burial of her son, Isaac Wimmitt, and who has been under treatment at Muhlenberg hospital since that time, was reported today as not being so well. Her condition is such as to give her family much anxiety.

TWO HELD UNDER BAIL CHARGED WITH THIEVING

Michael Constantino and Michael Condit, of Raymond avenue, were held under $250 bail each, yesterday afternoon, by Justice Thomas H. Shape to await the action of the Somerset County Grand Jury, on a charge of larceny preferred against them by their employer, Ernest Hand, of Mount Vernon avenue.

Mr. Hand alleges in his complaint that the men have been systematically pilfering cordwood, corn, hay and lumber. Sunday night Constantino, Mr. Hand avers, went to the barn, hitched a team of horses to a load of hay and drove off with it.

Witnesses residing in the neighborhood of the Hand farm and Watchung testified to having seen two men load the loaded wagon passed a large quantity of the alleged loot was found in the homes of the men according to the police.

BUT ONE SCHOOL BID IS WITHIN APPROPRIATION.

Bids for the building of a new school were opened Monday night for the second time by the New Providence Board of Education. No contract was awarded, however, the proposals being referred for further consideration. Although there were eight bidders, only one came within the appropriation of the board, $14,000.

The lowest bid in the list was that of J. Westlecraft & Son, of Bernardsville, which was $13,694. The special committee to consider bids will meet next Monday and will report its recommendations at the first regular meeting in February.

It is feared by some that if the board clings to the eight-room school idea it will be necessary to go to the people for an additional appropriation to secure the plan of structure picked.

Men and Religion.

It is expected that men representing nearly all Plainfield and North Plainfield churches will attend the rally meeting of the men and religion movement in Newark Presbyterian church, Thursday, February 1. The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock and will be addresses by Fred B. Smith, national campaign leader of the movement. He will outline the plan of the Newark campaign.

Cup Law Not For Senators.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—The common drinking cup law has no terrors for the members of the Senate. On President Prince's desk sets a large pitcher filled with ice-water. Alongside is one glass—and everybody uses it. "What's the law between Senators?" queried Senator "Bob" Hand when the matter was called to his attention.

CAN FIREMEN HOLD JOBS ON THE SIDE?

Keiderling's Express Business Comes up For Discussion at Council Committee Meeting.

QUESTION GOES TO COUNSEL

Committeemen Inclined to Think Regulars in the Department Can't Legally Engage In Any Other Business—Consider Auto Wagon.

The question as to whether a paid member of the fire department can engage in an outside business while engaged in work for the city, was discussed at the meeting of the councilmanic fire committee, last night. The case is that of Daniel Keiderling, who is driver for Chief T. O. Doane.

It had been brought to the attention of the committee that Mr. Keiderling conducts an express business in the city. There appears to be a question as to whether this is permissable.

It seemed to be the sense of the committee that such work might be contrary to the wording and spirit of the city ordinance, which states that an employe shall give his whole time to the work in which he is engaged. Some of the members expressed the opinion that if outside business ventures were permitted, an employe might engage in extra hazardous work, that he might become ill and then expect the city to care for him, or he might become a beneficiary of the firemen's pension fund.

These points were discussed thoroughly, and it was finally decided to refer the matter to Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman for advice. Mr. Keiderling did not appear before the committee.

Among other things discussed by the committee was the question of purchasing a combination automobile hose and engine; and the purchase of another automobile for Chief T. O. Doane, one that would meet his needs more fully than the one now in use. In this connection the annual appropriation was considered, and it was estimated that if the two automobile apparatuses were secured the committee would be compelled to ask for $15,000.

Last year's appropriation was $10,000. It was decided to get estimates on two machines such as are needed here, and the matter will come up again before the committee.

Estimates on an extra 1,000 feet of hose for the department will be secured. The new hose is needed very much at present.

PHARMACISTS TO OPPOSE BILL AFFECTING PRACTICE

Trenton, Jan. 24.—The bill regulating the practice of pharmacy was introduced in the Senate yesterday afternoon by Mr. Colgan, of Essex, and it is sure to meet with strenuous opposition from many druggists throughout the State. In fact, it has already been intimated to some of the Senators that the measure will be strongly opposed.

It regulates not only the compounding of drugs and all medicines; provides for the prevention of the adulteration of drugs, their misbranding, etc., but goes further and creates a new State Board of Pharmacy and raises the standard of the present examination required for pharmacists. It is this feature which will be opposed. A public hearing will be demanded upon the bill, and it is sure to be a lively one.

Senator Leavitt, of Mercer, introduced a bill permitting municipalities of the State to regulate the pay of firemen and policemen. It provides that the pay of such officers shall be fixed by a schedule adopted by the board of finance and the scheule shall be submitted to a popular vote. If the schedule be adopted by this vote, it shall be in force.

Under the measure the pay of firemen and policemen could be lowered if the people so voted. Present laws provide only for increasing such salaries. The object of the bill is to give municipalities control over such pay in one general law.

LIFE SAVERS ICE BOUND 4 WEEKS

Cut Off From Outside World Since Christmas.

TO ATLANTIC CITY FOR FOOD

Crew at Little Beach, Desperate After Three Weeks on Half Rations, Breaks Through Ice—Leave Two Men at Station — Captain Returns With Provisions.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 24.—Members of the government life saving crew at Little Beach, after subsisting on half rations for three weeks, managed to reach here for a new supply of provisions. Although only twelve miles distant it took the crew nearly twenty-four hours to make the trip because of the ice through which they had to break their way.

The crew was iced in on Christmas day, and since then has been cut off from the outside world. When the ice started to break up a few days ago attempts were made to get out, but these proved failures. On Sunday night their food was about exhausted and prompt measures were necessary. Leaving the station with four men Captain Bennett started for Atlantic City. It required twelve hours to break through the ice to the outside channel. Axes and boathooks were used to cut a lane through the foot of salt ice.

After reaching the outside inlet the crew took the ocean route to this city. The surfmen started on the return trip to carry back food to two men who had been left behind.

GIRL LOSES DOG AT SEA.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 24.—Gertrude Somers, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Somers of this city, was an unhappy little girl when she arrived in New York alone on the Oceana. She had started from Bermuda with her St. Bernard dog Wolf, and Wolf had tumbled overboard while engaged in tossing crackers off his nose and was miles astern before Gertrude could dry her tears and tell the officers what had happened.

With her parents she went to Bermuda a month ago. Her father and mother were called back hurriedly by their elder daughter, who fell ill in Buffalo, so Gertrude came back alone in charge of the ship's doctor and stewardess.

MURDERER GETS 20 YEARS.

Mays Landing, N. J., Jan. 24.—Fidel Perone, who shot and killed his wife Katrina last June at Hammonton in a jealous rage, withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded non vult, receiving a sentence of twenty years in state prison at hard labor.

Falling on her knees, the aged mother of Perone implored Justice Samuel Kalisch for mercy and pointed to four small children left destitute. In imposing sentence Justice Kalisch said: "I believe the interests of humanity will be fully served by accepting this plea and extending mercy."

FORCED TO KISS OWN WIFE

Bayonne, N. J., Jan. 24.—In the police court Mrs. Frances Levendusky testified her husband, Frank, had beaten her several times. When questioned by Recorder Mara, Levendusky professed penitence, but this did not satisfy the recorder, who ordered Levendusky to kneel at his wife's feet and ask her pardon.

This the husband did, and then the court ordered Levendusky to kiss his wife. He obeyed, giving her a loud smack on the lips. Levendusky was then permitted to go.

COW BREAKS RECORD.

Produces 1,277 Pounds of Butter In One Year's Official Test.

Newton, N. J., Jan. 24.—The world's record for butter production in a single year, held so long by Colantha, a Wisconsin Holstein cow, has been broken by Clothilde II., an eastern cow of the same breed.

The new champion has just completed her year's test and, according to the official figures, produced in 365 days 1,277 pounds of butter from 25,000 pounds of milk. It takes an exceptionally good cow to make 100 pounds of butter in a month.

Fifty men are wanted at the midweek prayer meeting at the First Baptist church tonight, when matters of importance will be considered.

BORO GIRLS' QUINT DO AS THE BOYS DID

Defeat the City High School Lasses by a Score of 10 to 4.

MISS HUMMELL THE STAR

The girls' basketball team of the North Plainfield High School followed the example of the champion boys' team yesterday afternoon by defeating the girls' five of the Plainfield High School at Debele's Hall in the hardest game of the season. The score was 10 to 4.

The contest was unusually fast for a girls' game with many fouls on both sides. Although both teams have good records, the P. H. S. girls were at loss on the large slippery floor, and could not keep firmly planted for accurate basket throwing. Many fouls were caused by sliding over the lines.

A return game will be played in the P. H. S. gymnasium February 21. The city girls feel confident of a victory on their own court. Both teams yesterday were supported by a large cheering section.

For the first few minutes of play neither team made any score, and although the ball hovered in the North Plainfield territory during the greater part of the time neither Miss Hummel or Miss Mair could make their chances count. Miss Helen Hummel was the individual star of the game and made all of the points for N. P. H. S. Her foul shooting especially was a feature and six of the ten points for N. P. H. S. were made in this way. Nearly every time she stepped to the foul line a point was registered for North Plainfield.

This was particularly the case in the second half when she only missed two chances to score from fouls made by P. H. S. Both teams played fast and exhibited their best team work in the first half, but North Plainfield proved superior in both passing and basket making. In this half N. P. H. S. scored two foul goals and on baskets which were all made by Miss Hummel at forward while they held the city girls to only one point.

That goal was made just at the end of the period by a clean shot from the foul line by Miss Stewart. The half ended with P. H. S. leading by a score of 4 to 1.

At the beginning of the second half Miss McAuliffe relieved Miss Carson at center while the P. H. S. girls entered the game with the same lineup. In this period the Plainfield five started with a new spirit and for the first four minutes of play managed to keep the ball moving in their territory by a series of fast passes.

A number of goals were attempted without material results. From this point until the end of the half by their steady playing the N. P. H. S. guards kept the local forwards separated from the ball except at short intervals. Miss Smith played an exceptional game for the borough girls at guard and was largely responsible for keeping the ball in North Plainfield's territory by hurling the ball the full length of the court out of the hands of her opponent. Miss Hummel played a winning game again in this half by throwing a well placed basket in the early part of the half and following it with four foul goals in succession before time was called.

Miss Jessie Stewart took the first honors for P. H. S. by scoring the four points made by her side. Although she was closely guarded by her heavy opponent, she made connection with the basket from a difficult shot at the beginning of the period and made the last score of the game by throwing a foul goal. In the first half she also took advantage of a foul by throwing a basket which did not touch the rim. Miss Moy, of P. H. S., played a snappy game at guard for P. H. S. and held her opponent to no score.

P. H. S.—Forwards, J. Stewart, A. Mehl; center, R. Douglas; guards, M. Moy, E. Phillips.

N. P. H. S.—Forwards—H. Hummel, M. Mair; center, B. Carson, M. McAuliffe; guards, C. Smith, E. Debele.

Referee, Miss Daisy Day; umpire, Miss Stahl; linesman, Misses Mehl and M. Woolston; timers, R. Veghte and B. Taylor; time of halves, 15 minutes.

Kuehnle's Grip Loosens.

Atlantic City, Jan. 24.—That "Boss" Kuehnle is losing his grip on City Council is taken from that body's action last night in turning down Howard R. Cloud and electing John B. Worthington, a Fourth ward hotel man, to the Board of Freeholders. Mr. Worthington suceeds Freeholder J. Harry May, recently convicted of grafting. Cloud, who was a former tax assessor, had been indorsed by the County Republican League, Kuehnle's club. The seat vacated by the resignation of Freeholder John Unsworth, also convicted of grafting, was filled by the election of Bernard C. Selber, of this city.

The Scrap Book

Jolted His Dignity.

"One of our division superintendents had received numerous complaints that freight trains were in the habit of stopping on a grade crossing in a certain small town, thereby blocking travel for long periods. He issued orders, but still the kicks came in. Finally he decided to investigate personally. A short man in size, very excitable, he went down to the crossing, and, sure enough, there stood, in defiance of his orders, a long freight train anchored squarely across it. A brakeman who didn't know him by sight sat complacently on the top of the car.

"MOVE THAT TRAIN ON!" SHOUTED THE "SUPER."

"'Move that train on!' sputtered the little 'super.' 'Get it off the crossing so people can pass. Move on, I say!'

"The brakeman surveyed the temperamental little man from head to foot. 'You go to blazes, you little shrimp!' he replied. 'You're small enough to crawl under.'"—Cosmopolitan.

The Abiding.

Pain and pleasure both decay,
Wealth and poverty depart
Wisdom makes a larger stay
Therefore be thou wise, my heart.

Land remains, nor do they
Who the lands today control.
Kings and princes pass away
Therefore be thou fixed, my soul.

If by hatred, love or pride
Thou art shaken, thou art wrong.
Only one thing will abide —
Only goodness can be strong.
—Richard Henry Stoddard

A Mixed Drink.

A cafe in Peoria which was famous for its beer was owned by a Bohemian and conducted actively by his son and nephew. The old man seldom had occasion to go behind the bar or to deal directly with the public in other ways.

One day, however, all hands were out of reach when a man came in to get a drink. To make the situation acute, he ordered a cocktail.

The proprietor knew of such things vaguely, but in a place where everybody came to drink Bohemian beer a cocktail had no place.

"DRINK IT!"

First he took a lemonade glass and put some ice in it. Then he poured from every bottle behind the bar and set the mixture before the customer.

"There," he said. "You have everything but the license. Drink it."—Chicago Post.

Moliere and the Doctor.

Moliere had written many plays to ridicule doctors and medicine. Louis XIV. heard that the author had, however, a doctor at his service since he became famous and well to do, so the king one day called upon Moliere and said to him:

"I have heard, Moliere, that you have a physician. What is he doing to you?"

"Sire," answered the author of the Malade Imaginaire, "we chat together, he writes prescriptions for me, I don't take them, and I am cured."

Unexpected Candor.

In court martial trials in the United States army the attorneys are selected from among the officers at the post regardless of their lack of legal training or their inability to handle a case.

One young officer, a surgeon, whose ignorance was less so far as the law was concerned, found himself appointed "counsel for the defense" at his new post, and when he entered the court his only legal knowledge was that he had a right to "object" to the tactics of the other side. Accordingly, when one of his witnesses began to be cross questioned, he sprang to his feet and shouted in a voice of thunder:

"I object!"

"On what grounds?" demanded the prosecuting attorney.

"On what grounds?" echoed the surgeon. "On mighty good grounds. Why, if my witness tells the truth when he answers that question it will ruin my case!"—Lippincott's.

The Archdeacon's Slip.

In his "Reminiscences" the bishop of Rhon tells of an archdeacon who was speaking at a temperance meeting and who adorned his speech with several humorous anecdotes. At length it seemed to strike him that he had perhaps been a little frivolous, so he pulled himself together and endeavored to close his speech in a fittingly serious vein. "But, my friends, to be serious, the sum total of all I have been saying may be told in a single word—'Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.' Train up a child to avoid the bottle, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

A Case of Economy.

Mrs. Johnson, the wife of the new minister in a New England town, asked a neighboring farmer's boy to bring her a dozen eggs and a roasting chicken when he brought the vegetables the next day. The boy appeared promptly, but in his basket were only eleven eggs. "Ma says she will send over the other egg after a while," he explained.

"But what about the chicken?" Mrs. Johnson asked. "That does not seem to be here either."

"She will send that, too," was the answer.

"But," complained Mrs. Johnson, "I want to cook the chicken for dinner. Why didn't you bring it over with you this time?"

"Because," replied the boy, "the hen isn't killed yet. You see, ma's waitin' till she lays the other egg."—Lippincott's.

Scared Him Off.

Ralph R. Bradley, a Chicago lawyer, had a client who had some differences with a farmer down state. Mr. Bradley wrote in the interest of his client on a letterhead showing the address of the lawyer's firm in the Rookery. He received no reply and was obliged eventually to make a trip to close the litigation. Meeting the farmer, he asked him why he had not shown him the courtesy at least to acknowledge the receipt of the letter.

"Well," said the down stater, "I noticed 'The Rookery' on your letterhead, and it bothered me. I am not an educated man, so I had some one look 'rookery' up. He told me it meant a den of thieves, and I concluded not to have anything to do with you."

One Use For Steam.

"Of course I can," said papa, proud and relieved to find that there was at last something he could tell his offspring. "Natural philosophy is the science of cause and reason. Now, for instance, you see the steam coming out of the spout of the kettle, but you don't know why or for what reason it does so, and—"

"Oh, but I do, pa," chirped the hope of the household. "The reason the steam comes out of the kettle is so that mamma may open and read your letters without scorching them."—London Answers.

FRANCE AND ITALY NEAR BREAKING POINT

Envoy to Rome to Be Recalled if Demands Fail.

Paris, Jan. 24.—Should Italy refuse to accede to France's demand that the Turks arrested on board the Manouba shall be turned over to the French authorities, France is prepared to call her ambassador from Rome and designate French warships to escort and protect French steamers in the Mediterranean.

Camille Barrera, the French ambassador to Italy, arrived in Rome. He has been instructed to reiterate firmly France's demand. The French government expects that Italy will cede.

France's words of warning to Italy on the subject of the seizure of the French steamers Carthage and Manouba and the arrest of a number of Turkish nurses were partly influenced by an interview which it was alleged Tomaso Tittoni, Italian ambassador to France, gave to the Paris correspondents of Italian newspapers, intimating that Italy would not surrender the Turks she had taken from on board the Manouba nor abandon her right to capture vessels carrying contraband.

Ambassador Tittoni denies that he gave any interviews.

SAYS RICHESON IS DYING.

Sheriff, However, Thinks Slayer Can Be Kept Alive Until May 19.

Boston, Jan. 24.—To an inspection committee of the city council Sheriff John Quinn, Jr., declared that Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the slayer of Miss Avis Linnell, was in a dying condition, although by giving the prisoner sustaining food it was expected that he would survive until the day set for the execution, May 19.

Richeson was introduced to the members of the committee. The councilors said that Richeson looked very weak and emaciated. His cheeks were sunken and very white.

"I am feeling better than I did," said Richeson in reply to a query of one of the council.

SEES CITY OFF SKYSCRAPER

New York, Jan. 24.—The visit of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia in New York becomes even more strenuous as the days pass. They viewed the city and surrounding country, under special atmospheric conditions, from the top of the Metropolitan tower, visiting later the private art gallery of J. Pierpont Morgan, Grant's tomb, Columbia university and the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was one of the guests at the luncheon at Ambassador Reid's home, followed by a dinner and small dance given in honor of their royal highnesses and the Princess Patricia by Mrs. Reid, the function being one of the most brilliant of the season.

On their tour of the city the camera men trailed them, insisting on "poses."

One who hurtled from the mob twitched the princess' cuff while he pantingly directed her to wait until he fixed a fresh plate.

The duke's attendants were little less than horror stricken. The faces of Colonel H. C. Lowther and of Captain Rivers-Bulkely were a study in amazement. But the duke roared with laughter, and Princess Pat, her eyes bright with fun, turned this way and that as orders pelted from the camera brigade. It is not so certain that Whitelaw Reid, their host, was equally diverted, but the unconquerable good humor of his guests left Mr. Reid no reason to interfere.

Early and late the royal party were collecting impressions of New York. They first obtained from the Metropolitan tower a notion of how the city and the surrounding country looks to a bird. They spent some time in J. P. Morgan's library inspecting his collection of art objects. Of his sightseeing trip, the duke most enjoyed his sweeping view from the Metropolitan tower. The princess was enchanted with her glimpse of Mr. Morgan's art treasures. The duchess was much impressed with the great cathedral on Morningside heights.

TROOPS FIGHT TERRORISTS.

Bulgarian Red Brotherhood Forced to Retreat by Turks.

Sofia, Jan. 24.—Another engagement has occurred between Turkish troops and the Bulgarian Red Brotherhood terrorists, which resulted in a drawn battle. A company of the Red Brotherhood took refuge in the town of Bozolovista, being driven out of their mountain headquarters by the extremely cold weather.

Turkish troops discovered their whereabouts and surrounded the town. The burgomaster was sent to demand that the Bulgarians surrender, but the terrorists refused to listen to his plea and killed him. The Turkish troops thereupon opened fire and succeeded in killing two of the Red Brotherhood. The others retreated.

New York Adjutant General Reconsiders Resignation.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24.—Governor Dix has prevailed upon General Verbeck to reconsider his announced intention of resigning.

The governor was dismayed when General Verbeck announced that he was determined to give up his national guard work.

General Verbeck gave out this statement at the governor's office:

"My resignation having been sent to Albany, Governor Dix had not as yet received it when I traveled with him from New York to Albany. After consultation with the governor in the executive chamber I was permitted to withdraw my resignation before it reached his hands."

RED CROSS FUND LOW.

Appeals For Aid to Starving Chinese Not Heeded by Public.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Officials of the American National Red Cross are hopeful that contributions will be increased for the relief of the famine stricken Chinese in the Yangtse valley. Thus far responses to the appeals sent out several weeks ago have been disappointing to the administrative officers of the Red Cross at Washingtton.

More than $1,000,000 will be needed, it is estimated, to carry through the winter the persons now suffering from desperate want in China.

Fails to Raise Half Million.

London, Jan. 24.—Charles S. Ward, the American secretary of the International Young Men's Christian association committee, has failed in his efforts to raise $500,000 in twelve days for the London Y. M. C. A. The announcement is made that the total subscribed is $333,385.

He Saw the Point.

Nat Goodwin was at the club with an English friend and became the center of an appreciative group. A cigar man offered the comedian a cigar, saying that it was a new production. "With each cigar, you understand," the promoter said, "I will give a coupon, and when you have smoked 3,000 of them you may bring the coupons to me and exchange them for a grand piano." Nat sniffed the cigar, pinched it gently and then replied, "If I smoked 3,000 of these cigars I think I would need a harp instead of a grand piano."

There was a burst of laughter, in which the Englishman did not join, but presently he exploded with merriment. "I see the point," he exclaimed. "Being an actor, you have to travel around the country a great deal, and a harp would be so much more convenient to carry."

Haste Not, Rest Not.

Without haste, without rest.
Bind the motto to thy breast.
Bear it with thee as a spell.
Storm or sunshine, guard it well.
Heed not flowers that round thee bloom.
Bear it onward to the tomb.

Haste not. Let no reckless deed
Mar for aye the spirit's speed.
Ponder well and know the right.
Forward then with all thy might!
Haste not. Years cannot atone
For one reckless action done.

Rest not. Time is sweeping by.
Do and dare before you die.
Something mighty and sublime
Leave behind to conquer time.
Glorious 'tis to live for aye,
When these forms have passed away.

Haste not; rest not; calmly wait.
Meekly hear the storms of fate.
Duty be thy polar guide.
Do the right whate'er betide.
Haste not; rest not. Conflicts past,
Good shall crown thy work at last.
—Schiller.

Her Credit Was Strained.

A young country merchant who had something of a reputation for close figuring was especially attentive to the village schoolma'am. The young woman had a sweet tooth and was not at all retiring about making the fact known. Accordingly, she hinted to her admirer that a box of chocolates would be greatly appreciated on the occasion of his next visit. Later the suggestion was repeated and again duly heeded. The third time the subject was broached, however, the dispenser of sweets turned a deaf ear to the entreaty.

"I don't know about takin' that girl any more candy," he confided to a companion next day. "She's owin' me 60 cents for chocolates already."—Lippincott's.

Jarred the Senator.

John Sharp Williams was sauntering up Pennsylvania avenue on his way from the capitol one afternoon when a friend introduced him to Major George A. Armes, who enjoys, among other distinctions, that of being the owner of the Appomattox battlefield in Virginia. It didn't take the major long to explain to the Mississippi senator a bill he had had introduced in congress for the purchase of the famous battlefield by the government for a national park. The Mississippian was much interested in the project.

"I am indeed delighted to meet you, Major—Major—I didn't quite catch the name," said the senator.

"Major Armes," said the owner of Appomattox. "I'd be glad to have your support of my bill, and, as an old soldier with Grant, naturally I want to see the battlefield taken care of."

"What!" cried Senator Williams. "Do you mean to tell me that a Yankee owns Appomattox? This is where I fall off the water wagon."

Slim Chances For Her.

A missionary who was making his way through a backwoods region came upon an old woman sitting outside the cabin. He entered upon a religious talk and finally asked her if she didn't know there was a day of judgment coming.

"Why, no," said the old lady. "I hadn't heard o' that. Won't there be mor'n one day?"

"No, my friend; only one day," was the reply.

"Well, then," she mused, "I don't reckon I can get to go, for we're only got one mule, and John always has to go everywhere first."—National Monthly.

He Found Him.

Allen Thurman of Columbus, O., and John J. Lentz, the former representative, went to a village about ten miles from Columbus one night to address a Democratic meeting. They drove over together in a buggy.

Lentz was to talk first. The agreement was that each was to make a thirty minute speech and then they would come back to town together. Lentz is a long distance orator. He forgot about the thirty-minute agreement and talked for an hour without signs of stopping. Thurman got sorer and sorer as Lentz went along, and at the end of an hour and fifteen minutes he got up, left the hall, took the buggy and drove back to Columbus.

In Columbus, ten miles away, he repented a little, thought he had been hasty and drove back to the village. As he stopped in front of the hall he asked a man:

"Have you seen anything of John Lentz? I want to get him and drive him back to Columbus with me."

"Well," said the man, "if you go up in the hall you'll find him. He's talking yet."—Saturday Evening Post.

Literal Interpretation.

A sneak thief had got into the car and made off with a fellow traveler's pocketbook. A greeny, who was evidently on his first trip to the city, had taken the episode in with a certain amount of relish and, despite his supposed greenness, apparently knew more about the identity of the guilty one than any one present when the alarm was raised.

He touched the conductor on the arm and pointed to a man who was hurrying down the block for dear life. "There's the thief," he chuckled dryly.

The conductor turned on him sharply.

"You —— fool! If yer saw 'im pickin' th' gent's pocket why didn't yer report 'im 'stead o' lettin' 'im slip off that way?"

"That sign up there scared me," returned the hayseed.

"What sign?"

"Th' one thet sez 'Beware of Pick pockets.'"—Exchange.

A Problem Solved.

He was from the country all right, but he had "gumption" enough to know that it costs "nigh all outdoors" to satisfy a healthy rustic appetite at certain city restaurants. Therefore he was slow to take advantage of the wine list which his friend and host thrust before him in the midst of the white lights. Two, three and four dollars a bottle was a heap of money, by heck.

But his face lighted finally as if he had solved the economic problem.

"Guess I'll have some o' that," said he, indicating with his finger. The line on the card read:

Corkage $1

—New York Globe.

Squelched.

Senator Ogle, a member of the Pennsylvania assembly, had been deputed to compose an address to the newly elected president, Andrew Jackson. When the bluff old warrior submitted his document to the house a fellow member, a dapper little chap from Philadelphia, observed:

"Pardon me, general; I hesitate about making any suggestion to so distinguished an individual, but I cannot refrain from saying that it is customary to write the first personal pronoun with a capital 'I' instead of a small 'i.'"

General Ogle returned a look of scorn. "Sir," said he, "when I write to so great a man as General Andrew Jackson, Democratic president of the United States, I abase myself, sir. I use as small an 'i' as I can put upon paper. But, sir, if ever I should have to write to a little snipe like you I would use an 'I,' sir, that would fill two pages of foolscap."

First American Peerage.

It is recorded in a history of the United States that an Indian chief named Mante, after baptism, was made a peer, receiving the rank of baron and assuming the title of Lord of Roanoke, so far back as the year 1587. Somewhat later, in 1609, the title of Lord Delaware was granted by James I. to the new governor of Virginia. Later still, in 1633, Charles I., among his coronation honors, conferred the title of Viscount Canada upon Sir William Alexander.

Plainfield, N. J., January 24, 1912.

Judging from the reasons given by the Lackawanna Railroad for not furnishing drinking cups to the patrons of the trains, that company will go into bankruptcy if the order of the public utility commission on the question is enforced. The railroad argues that the utility commission has no jurisdiction; that it is not their duty to furnish cups without cost, and that the order is in violation of the Constitution, in that it deprives one of property without due process of law. And all this comes from the richest railroad in the east! The attitude of the Central Railroad of New Jersey was in line with the liberal policy which that road adopts in the case of every reasonable request made of them. Drinking cups were put in the hands of the trainmen for the use of the passengers, as soon as the order was issued, and while the road may not agree that it is necessary, they are not stooping to any picayune economies. It seems to us that the order to install free drinking cups is a very reasonable one, and a thing which all fair-minded railroad officials will have done. There are plenty of other ways in which the railroads could economize, which would not directly affect the passengers. This was pretty well proven when Louis D. Brandeis offered to save several million a year in expense for the roads of the country, if he were given the opportunity.

Governor Hadley, of Missouri, one of the leaders of the middle west, and a man whom many think to be of Presidential timber, announced yesterday that he favored the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for the Presidency. This makes four executives of more than passing prominence who have declared themselves strongly in favor of the former President, the others being Glasscock, of West Virginia; Osborn, of Michigan, and Stubbs, of Kansas, each a shining light in his home State. In the meantime Mr. Roosevelt maintains a discreet silence. We rather suspect that he has about made up his mind to accede to the demands of his friends, and is waiting to declare himself after there have been enough public requests made, such as those of the four Governors. If by any chance New Jersey's present Governor and the former President should be the rival candidates for the office on the two principal tickets, the people would surely be given a frank and free discussion of the issues of the day. Incidentally, the New York Sun would be between the devil and the deep sea.

There is evidently something wrong with the law when the chauffeur of an automobile that kills a boy is held on a charge of homicide and the owner of the car, riding in it at the time of the fatality, is released in bail on a charge of being an accessory "after the fact." Such was the case in New York yesterday when a chauffeur was held in $5,000 bail, and the equally culpable owner in but $3,000 and on a minor charge. A chauffeur is a servant and in this instance he was subject to the personal and direct bidding of his master. The latter knew perfectly well at what speed and in what manner his driver was running the car and his criminal responsibility should be as great if not much greater than that of his chauffeur. Such accidents, if they are to be called accidents, have become of frequent occurrence and if the law, as it seems, does not provide for holding the owner of the car, riding in it at the time, on a charge of homicide, it is high time that the Legislatures of the various States enact statutes with such provisions.

Trenton's Chamber of Commerce is a practical body. That fact has been proven on many occasions. The body does not waste its time on picayune things but takes up big problems and works them out to a satisfactory conclusion. As a consequence the capitol city's chamber has attracted widespread attention. Just at present it is giving its attention to the proposition that the State establish and maintain a home for the blind. A meeting has been called for Saturday at which time Senator Leavitt, a member of the committee having charge of the bill in the State Senate, will speak. We mention this fact because we consider that there are many well disposed people in Plainfield who will be anxious to give their support to the proposed law the essential part of which follows: "It shall be lawful for the commissioner of charities and corrections of the State of New Jersey, if an appropriation therefor is provided in the annual or supplemental apropriation act, to provide for an institution where the adult male and female blind may be provided with employment, the earnings of such persons to be paid to the State."

Over in New York is a man, a subdued little man we are told, whose income goes to allow his wife to gratify her vanity in tea rooms, at dances and in being handsomely gowned. The meek little man put up with it all but when he became tired using all his money to pay debts she had contracted, divorce proceedings started. In court yesterday his lawyer summed the case up in this way: It's the case of the tamed little man trying to keep up with the society strides of his American wife with the luxurious ideas and inclinations of the up-to-date American society lady. After he gets through paying the bills she contracts he has about enough left to buy a few drinks and have a solitary smoke, and—well, that's what she is kicking about."

Senator Edge has introduced a bill in the State Senate which provides that no woman can be employed in any mercantile establishment or factory for more than ten hours a day, or eight hours at night. This will meet serious objection from store-keepers in Plainfield, and in the cities, where it is found necessary to keep open on Saturday nights, as was outlined in interviews published in the Press a few days ago. It seems to us that the principle of the bill is good, but it should be arranged to provide for a certain number of hours in a week, rather than for a specific number of hours each day.

One of the first bills passed by the Senate was that of Senator Colgate, which will permit the use of chains on automobile tires in wet weather. Under the present law it is illegal to have chains on wheels except when there is snow on the ground. Many automobile accidents have occurred in wet weather in the past because of the failure to use chains on slippery pavements, and this act will obviate the necessity for such accidents. It has yet to pass the House of Assembly, and be approved by the Governor, but the general impression at Trenton is that the act will go through promptly.

New York's aristocracy of American dollars will have the opportunity tonight to make its bow to the Duke of Connaught, the Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada. He is the son of a Queen, brother of a late King, uncle of a king and emperor, grand-nephew of a king, father of Sweden's prospective queen, and the grandfather of Sweden's coming king, whose father is now the Crown Prince. Better than all he is a man of whom England can well afford to be proud.

The Prudential Insurance Company has established a method of sharing the profits of the company with their employes in a way which other big corporations would do well to copy. Hereafter the lowest salaried girl in the employ of the company will receive seven dollars a week, which is admitted to be splendid pay. Taking a step of this kind will undoubtedly develop a loyal set of employes for the company.

William Jennings Bryan says that Governor Wilson did right when he broke with Colonel Harvey, but it is noticed that he makes no reference to a certain instance in which it was recommended by the New Jersey Executive that one of our very best would-be presidents be "knocked into a cocked hat."

When the National Piano Dealers' Association meets at Atlantic City in May, they will build a bonfire of some 300 old square grand pianos. Would you call that musical comedy?

Yes, Senator LaFollette favors the recall, but when the Republican party gives its verdict on his candidacy for the Presidential nomination he's apt to revise his views.

Essex county assemblyman says he lost his job because he made laws. Whether the punishment fits the crime depends upon what type of a legislator he is.

JERSEY CITY STREETS IN NEED OF CLEANING.

Jersey City, Jan. 24.—Property owners and citizens are complaining of the unclean condition of the streets and unless there is an improvement of conditions within the next few days the Grand Jury will be asked to make an investigation with the view of fixing the responsibility. Frank Hague, one of the new members of the Board of Street and Water Commissioners, is chairman of the committee on street cleaning.

During last week Hague laid off eighty of the 120 laborers who do the actual street cleaning, several foremen and as many drivers and helpers. His explanation was that because of weather conditions the streets could not be properly cleaned and that the mone ysaved by the laying off of the men at this time could be used to better advantage in the spring and summer. His plan, he said, was to reinstate the suspended laborers when the warm weather set in and with the money saved during January and February put on additional men.

Labouchere's Remarkable Career

HENRY LABOUCHERE, the editor of the London Truth, who died recently, was a daring and caustic writer, a man who preferred being a political free lance to wearing the harness in anybody's cabinet and a capitalist with sufficient means to back up his daring.

He had an interesting, not to say romantic, career. Born in London in 1831, he was educated at Eton and Cambridge. On leaving Cambridge he went traveling. Mexico was a country he wanted to see. After a rambling life there he came to the United States. Finding himself at St. Paul, then only a cluster of houses, he fell in with a party of Indians and for six months spent his time hunting and working with them.

Later he secured an appointment in the British diplomatic service. He was appointed to the English legation at Washington, where he remained for two years. Afterward he served in Munich, Stockholm, Frankfort, St. Petersburg, Dresden and Constantinople.

In 1864 he contested Windsor in parliament. In 1881 he was asked to contest Northampton and was returned as an extreme radical. For many years he and his colleague, Bradlaugh, were identified with the most socialistic and revolutionary legislation introduced into parliament.

On the evening of the day he was first elected to parliament he was sitting in a grill room in London. He had been especially active against another man who was also trying for a seat from an adjacent county. He seemed more concerned about the defeat of the man than he did of his own election. This is the conversation that took place in the grill room:

"Oh, waiter, have I been elected?"

"Yes, sor."

"Really! Well, that's not half bad. But, I say, was (calling him by name) defeated?"

"No, sir; he was elected too."

"Oh, what a world!" sighed "Labby." "This is crushing me—to think I should have been sent to parliament with that chap!"

He was in Paris in 1870 during the siege. A correspondent of the Times wanted to go home, had a wife and family in London and other excuses for leaving. Labouchere offered to stay in his stead, and to this circumstance the public was indebted for the raciest and most realistic accounts of the siege of Paris from a resident's point of view.

When the London World was started Labouchere wrote the city articles. The World became profitable, and Labouchere, "having an eye to business," withdrew from it and started Truth, which was a success from the first. It was bright, personal, audacious and uncommonly well informed. People bought Truth to see who was "going to get it next." Soon the paper acquired a solid reputation altogether independent of the attractiveness of its social, political, artistic, naval and military gossip. It came to be regarded as a sound authority on financial affairs and as the inveterate foe of all impostors, quacks, betting touts, astrologers, usurers and swindlers of every kind. There was scarcely a week that it did not publish an exposure of some rascal or other, and, although it was almost continuously sued for libel, it was so sure of its facts and so well served by its counsel, the late Sir George Lewis, that it nearly always came off victorious. For many years it has published a list of suspected or convicted impostors, which is in great request.

Mr. Labouchere not only attacked abuses, but did much good in the philanthropic field. The Truth doll show for the benefit of crippled children has long been one of the prominent features of the Christmas season in London. He had an enormous acquaintance and was personally exceedingly popular even among those who most detested his political opinions. Many years ago he was married to Henrietta Hodson, a favorite actress, to whom he was devoted. Their entertainments were charming. Her death not long ago was a great blow to him, and he was also greatly shocked by the death of his old friend and ally, Sir George Lewis.

The Up-to-Date Hospital

Its Duty in Treating Patients Able to Pay.

The duty of the up-to-date hospital is to measure up to its vast opportunity; opportunity to provide aseptic, economical, continuous, careful and thorough care for the ill, both those able to pay for such treatment and charity patients; to provide nurses trained to minister in every emergency; and lastly its duty is to lead in all educational lines for a healthier community.

It should provide for those able to pay, because nearly all diseases and surgical patients can be given the best care away from home surroundings, in a hospital where every facility insures prompt and much more economical service than can be had at home. The hospital also guarantees the minimum of worry and trouble for relatives and friends, and confusion and commotion are taken from the home.

"If a patient has a commodious home and can afford to fit it up like a hospital and employ several physicians and day and night nurses, many of the objections to the home will vanish, but for the vast majority of patients these conditions cannot be obtained, and therefore it is not fair to the patient or the physician, when an emergency arises, to condemn them to the makeshifts of a private house."

Then, too, the patient is relieved of all responsibility, is not troubled by petty annoyances of the home or overtaxed by callers, as they are limited to a safe number. He or she is greatly benefited by the regularity and precision of the new life.

The Scrap Book

A Great Relief to Her.

From a story found in "The Land of Romance," a recent book about the ever interesting Scottish border, it may be assumed that the Covenanters believed that the rightful home of the highlanders was the nether regions. It is not so many years, says the author, Mrs. J. Lang, since an old woman up Yarrow way was listening to a lesson from the book of Revelation read to her by her grandchild.

"'And there appeared another wonder in heaven,'" read the little girl, "'and behold a great red dragoon'"—

"Hoots, lassie," interrupted the dame. "It's no a dragoon!"

The child persisted.

"Gie 's the book an' rax me by my specs. D-r-a, dra, g-o-n, goon. Ye're richt an' Ah'm wrang. Read on."

The child resumed, "'And the great dragoon was cast out.'"

"I kent that wad be the upshot o't!" the old dame cried triumphantly. "It's the wunner tae me hoo he ever wan in!"

His Fruits Shall Follow.

The books say well, my brothers. Each man's life
The outcome of his former living is.
The bygone wrongs bring forth sorrows and woes;
The bygone right brings bliss.

If he who liveth, learning whence woe springs,
Endureth patiently, striving to pay
His utmost debt for ancient evils done
In love and truth alway—

If he shall day by day dwell merciful,
Holy and just and kind and true, and rend
Desire from where it clings with bleeding roots
Till love of life have end—

He, dying, leaveth as the sum of him
A life count closed whose ills are dead and quit,
Whose good is quick and mighty, far and near,
So that fruits follow it.

Owned Everything.

An Irishman crossed to Canada on a Canadian Pacific steamer, took the Canadian Pacific train for Vancouver, ate at C. P. R. eating houses, stopped at C. P. R. hotels, was shown C. P. R. land and finally got to Vancouver, much impressed with the greatness of that institution.

He went to a hotel, registered and asked the clerk how soon breakfast would be ready.

"Breakfast is over," said the clerk.

The Irishman looked at his watch. "It isn't time for it to be over," he answered.

"Oh, yes, it is," said the clerk. "You see, your watch isn't right. We run our dining room on Canadian Pacific time."

"Good Lord!" said the Irishman in an awed voice. "Does the Canadian Pacific own the time too?"—Saturday Evening Post.

Barry the Persuasive.

It was said of Barry, the player, that he had a voice which might lure a bird from a tree and at the same time and address and manner the most prepossessing and conciliating. The Dublin theater, of which he was proprietor, failed, and he was considerably indebted to his actors, musicians, etc. Among others, the master carpenter called at Barry's house and was clamorous in demanding his money. Barry, who was ill, at the time, came to the head of the stairs and asked what was the matter.

"Don't be in a passion," said Barry. "Do me the favor to walk upstairs, if you please, and we will speak upon the business."

"Not I, Mr. Barry," said the carpenter. "You owe me £100 already, and if I come up you will owe me £200 before I leave you."

A Brilliant Retort.

After dinner speaking is an art, and, like many other arts, its excellence has much to do with the mood of the artist. Some of the best of our after dinner speakers sometimes fail, but it is not often that failure results in the enrichment of the world's store of epigram, as it did in the case of Lord Erskine many years ago.

When Lord Erskine was made a member of that highly honorable body, the Fishmongers' Company of London, he made an after dinner speech on the occasion of his first appearance among them as a member. Upon his return he said to a friend:

"I spoke ill today and stammered and hesitated in the opening."

"You certainly floundered," was the reply, "but I thought you did so in compliment to the fishmongers."

Just Like the Navy.

At Fort Monroe some time ago, where one of the vessels of the navy was temporarily awaiting orders, a delegation of army officers stationed at the fort came aboard. There is a set naval regulation that nothing can be so on board ship until the commanding officer orders it. While the army party were looking over the ship 12 o'clock arrived. A junior officer approached the captain and said, with a salute, "It is 12 o'clock, sir." "Make it so," responded the captain, and eight bells were struck. The army officers suspected that the navy men wanted them to ask some questions and get sold or that this was a bit of foolery got up to joke the land warriors. Some time after a party of the army officers invited the officers of the warship to dine with them. The dinner was progressing when a lieutenant entered and, saluting the senior officer present, said gravely, "Colonel, the major's blind horse is dead." "Make it so," responded the colonel, with the greatest gravity, and the dinner proceeded. Nothing was said at the time, but the navy officers tell the story.

NEW AID FOR SURGERY CASES

Safe Method of Giving an Anaesthetic Found.

BAD AFTER EFFECTS AVOIDED

Patients Saved From Nausea and the Danger of Pneumonia—How the Ether Is Administered—Discovered at Rockefeller Institute.

A new method of administering anaesthetics, evolved by Dr. S. J. Meltzer of the Rockefeller Institute, with the co-operation of Dr. Carrel and Dr. Elsberg, has now been tried in some of the New York hospitals, and its success has demonstrated, the surgeons say, that it is a valuable adjunct to surgery and will soon be in general use.

Stripped of the medical terms, the system employed is simply putting a tube down the windpipe of the patient and forcing air with a bellows into the lungs. The return current of air passes through the space between the tube and the wall of the windpipe, thus keeping up a system of ventilation. Thus artificial respiration is established, the supply of oxygen replenished and the carbon dioxide removed.

Ether is mixed with the air and administered in practically unlimited quantities if required and without serious after effects during operations which have lasted from four to twelve hours. The organs of respiration need not act during the pumping in of the air, and the danger of an insufficient supply of oxygen is eliminated. In every way the danger to the patient is lessened by the new method, for, as there is a more direct application of the ether, it takes less to anaesthetize than in the old way of application. It has been proved that respiration can be efficiently maintained by means of the tube without the aid of muscular action.

The new method is not only in use in several of the New York hospitals and those in other cities, but it has been successfully employed by prominent physicians in private practice. It has become the routine method of anaesthesia at the Rockefeller institute. At the Mount Sinai and Roosevelt hospitals no fatalities have attended its use, and the surgeons say that one of the great benefits it gives to humanity is a great diminution in the danger of pneumonia developing from the use of ether.

In several hundred experiments made on animals before the system was applied in practical surgery this question of pneumonia was one of the questions which at the start of the experiments confronted Dr. Meltzer and his collaborators. After many trials had been made, some of which lasted two hours and longer, Dr. Meltzer said that not in a single instance did an animal die from the effects of the insufflation, nor did the respiratory organs show any after effects. Neither pneumonia nor bronchitis ever developed, nor was there any pulmonary inflammation when the lungs were examined after the operation.

The tests proved also that the new method practically does away with the nausea that is so common in old forms of anaesthesia.

Another noteworthy fact in the use of this "ventilation" system, according to Dr. Meltzer, is the remarkable ease with which the patients become anaesthetized. A minute or two after the ether is turned on they sink into the deepest state of anaesthesia, with the body perfectly quiet and limp. They may be kept in this state uninterruptedly for two hours or more.

Another advantage is the short time it takes the patient to recover. This awakening can be hastened by sending through the tube a stream of fresh air. Dr. Meltzer noted in his experiments that the use of larger quantities of ether did not bring the animals into a deeper state of anaesthesia than when a moderate amount was used. Not many experiments were made with chloroform, but one animal died by this method when a great deal of it was used. With the use of ether not a single animal was lost.

"MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY."

Bill In Congress to Declare Eugene Prince an American.

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts has discovered "a man without a country." His name is Eugene Prince. Mr. Gardner offered a joint resolution declaring him an American citizen.

George Henry Prince, grandfather of Eugene and an American, married an Englishwoman. His fifth child, John Henry Prince, was born in St. Petersburg and still resides there as the representative of the Carnegie Steel company and other American concerns. He has retained his American citizenship.

Eugene Prince, his son, has been an employee of the International Harvester company in Moscow, but recently came to this country to enter the Chicago office of that concern. Under the statutes of the United States he cannot be recognized as an American citizen, inasmuch as his father never resided in this country. On the other hand, under the Russian law he cannot be recognized as a subject of the czar. He therefore has no standing in the eyes of any government in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hobbie, of North Plainfield, are parents of an eight-pound boy, born to them last night.

EX-PREMIER MAURO.

Who May Again Guide the Destinies of Spain.

CANALEJAS TO RETIRE.

Spain's Premier and Cabinet May Resign Today.

Madrid, Jan. 24.—The cabinet rose at midnight, after a lengthy discussion of the political situation, and it is understood that Premier Canalejas will present the government's resignation to the king unless there are unexpected developments. Senor Canalejas' health is unsatisfactory, which is given as an additional reason for his retirement from office.

The action of King Alfonso in going over the premier's head and pardoning Chato Chuqueta has changed the Cullera district from a hotbed of revolutionary agitation into a loyal part of the kingdom. Formerly revolutionary flags were displayed throughout Cullera; now royal emblems are everywhere.

Ex-Premier Mauro, leader of the Conservative party, probably will succeed Canalejas.

OPPOSES THIRD TERM.

General Agnus In Baltimore American Sounds Warning.

Baltimore, Jan. 24.—The Baltimore American, the oldest Republican paper in the United States, publishes today an editorial, signed by General Felix Agnus, advising against any attempt to foist upon the Republican party a third term candidate. It states that the hero of Appomattox once tried this and signally failed. The editorial says in part:

"Theodore Roosevelt is a presidential impossibility. The sooner this fact is recognized and the more firmly it is stated the sooner will the Republican party get its true bearings and the drivel of hysteria that invokes his name as a savior of the party and the country be checked. Roosevelt is an impossibility because no American, however eminent or esteemed, could consider the confidence of the people to the extent of having them set aside the time honored practice of the nation in this regard. Washington would not accept a third term; Grant could not secure it; Roosevelt will not have the opportunity to gain this distinction. He will not have the opportunity first and primarily because he doesn't want it and, secondly, because the people do not want him to have it."

CANADIAN NORTHERN WRECK.

Of the Twenty-seven Injured at Cote Seven Will Die.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 24.—Twenty-seven were injured, several of them fatally, when the Canadian Northern Edmonton express was ditched near Cote by a broken rail. The train rolled down the embankment and caught fire. With great difficulty the injured were rescued, many receiving burns of more or less serious nature.

The wreck is the worst in the history of the Canadian Northern, and it is feared that at least seven of the injured will die.

CAUCUS INDORSES NEW TARIFF BILL

No Change In Duty on Steel Rails.

CONSIDER ECONOMY PLAN.

Effort of Texas Member to Get Record Vote on Attempt to Put Pig Iron on the Free List Fails—Two Congressmen Refuse to Be Bound by Action of Caucus.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The house Democrats in caucus almost unanimously indorsed the iron and steel revision bill. Two congressmen were excused from binding themselves to vote for the measure in its entirety.

Representative Finley of South Carolina tried to have steel rails put on the free list. While many Democrats favored the proposition, they said that such action was inadvisable at this time in view of the activity of the Stanley committee, which is investigating the United States Steel corporation. A caucus indorsement of free steel rails would, they thought, be misunderstood by the country.

Representative Smith of Texas and some of his friends tried to put pig iron on the free list. When voted down he tried to get a record vote on his amendment. Only eleven members stood with him. It takes one-fifth of those present at the caucus to secure a roll call, and there were 155 Democrats on hand.

Indorsement of the steel bill was unanimous except that Representative Rucker of Missouri and Representative Taylor of Colorado explained they were pledged to their constituents for higher rates on zinc and lead than are fixed in the bill and consequently did not want to be bound by the caucus action. They were excused.

Representative Fitzgerald of New York, chairman of the appropriations committee, offered a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the caucus that in view of the deficit in the treasury there should be no public building bill passed at this session. The public buildings committee only last week voted for a $16,000,000 bill. After some little discussion of this subject it was decided to consider the economy program at a separate caucus to be held next Monday evening. Majority Leader Underwood and Chairman Fitzgerald are confident they will be able to choke the movement for a public buildings bill at that time.

THREE CENT FARES LOSE.

Detroit Voters Repudiate the Mayor's Street Car Franchise.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 24.—After the most bitter election fight ever held in this city the Thompson-Hally ordinance, called by one faction a franchise fathered by Mayor Thompson, was repudiated by a decisive vote. With but nine precincts to hear from the vote stands 20,936 for and 28,611 against. This average will probably be maintained in the remaining precincts.

Had the election carried in favor of the ordinance the city would have been given three cent fares with universal transfers within thirty days and the city option of taking over the car lines within six months. Women taxpayers were allowed to vote, and out of a registration of 10,000 about 7,000 visited the booths.

PLANNED TO WIPE OUT FAMILY

Suicide Pact Suggested by Father Kills All Except One.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 24.—A suicide pact contrived by the father and intended to wipe out a family consisting of father, mother and three children was said by Gertrude McVey, aged twenty, to explain the death of William E. McVey, Mrs. McVey and their five-months-old child. The bodies of the three were found in a two room shack in "Shantytown," a dismal section of Taylorville, west of Terre Haute, by neighbors who were attracted by the frantic screams of Gertrude, the daughter of the dead couple.

The girl said her father had poured the poison from a bottle and deliberately gave the children and her mother the poison and then swallowed what was left in the vial.

DENNING LOSES TO GIBBONS.

St. Paul Welterweight Outpoints New York Boxer.

New York, Jan. 24.—Was Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul welterweight, under a pall in his ten round bout with Jack Denning at the Fairmount Athletic club.

Although Gibbons managed to win by a slight margin on points, many of the spectators were convinced that he did not display his best form.

In the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds Gibbons showed marked superiority. He made Denning look like a novice, landing when and where he pleased.

Denning was visibly tired at the end, while the St. Paul boxer was as fresh as a daisy.

Doctor Goes to Jail For Life.

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 24.—Dr. Harry Webster of Chicago was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Farrand for the murder of his wife, Bessie Kent Webster, in October.

The statistician who keeps track of Woodrow Wilson's mistakes has no sinecure.—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

SENATOR STEPHENSON.

Who May Yet Be Cause of a Big Row In the Senate.

MAY CENSURE STEPHENSON.

Wisconsin Senator Not "Out of Woods" on Graft Charge.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Indications are that the senate will have a nice row on its hands before it gets through with the case of "Uncle Ike" Stephenson of Wisconsin, who has been under investigation by a sub-committee of the privileges and elections committee on charges of corrupt practices in connection with his election as senator.

It has developed that there is a sharp difference of opinion in the committee about giving Stephenson a clean bill of health. While the sub-committee investigation has not disclosed proof of corrupt expenditures this fact does not prevent a number of members of the senate from wondering just how it is that the managers of a senatorial campaign can plaster a state with $107,000 in a primary fight and use the funds with a strict regard for the proprieties.

MINERS IGNORE ADVICE AND VOTE TO STRIKE

Iowa Delegation Goes on Record For General Walkout.

Indianapolis, Jan. 24.—The first step toward a general strike of coal miners after April 1, when all contracts with the miners expire, were taken here when the Iowa delegation to the national convention met and unanimously agreed to go on strike on April 1 unless a contract with the union granting an increase in wages is signed.

President White and other officials were at the meeting and pleaded with the miners not to take any radical steps, but their advice was ignored and the resolution adopted.

Nearly all the large operators of the competitive district of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania are here for a conference over the wage schedule, and all are emphatic that conditions do not justify an increase. They say that the warm winter last year left them with a large amount of coal on hand this spring and that they mined coal during the summer simply to give their employees work and that there is now a large surplus on hand and promises to be a greater surplus when spring opens.

INTO CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Culberson of Texas Stirs Senate by Demand For Action.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Senator Culberson stirred the senate by a speech in which he demanded that the senate committee on audit and control of contingent expenses act without delay on his resolution directing the senate committee on privileges and elections to investigate and report on the national campaign funds of 1904 and 1908.

Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi introduced a drastic bill to regulate interstate commerce corporations by prescribing the conditions on which corporations may engage in such commerce.

Senator Smoot's printing bill, which proposes codification of laws in regard to public printing and provides, among other things, that hand work in the bureau of engraving and printing upon government securities shall be displaced by presses operated by power, was set aside by the senate.

FOR FEDERAL AUTO LICENSE.

Bill Offered in House Would Make "Tag" Good In All States.

Washington, Jan. 24.—A federal automobile law is proposed in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Volstead of Minnesota. It provides that for the payment of $10 a year the good roads bureau shall issue a federal automobile license to any person applying in good faith.

A provision in the federal bill makes the license good all over the United States.

BERNSTORFF ON ATTITUDE OF FRANCE AND GERMANY

Ambassador Explains Moroccan Mixup and Defends His Country's Motives.

Not Seeking Trouble In Agadir Crisis—Kongo Concessions Satisfactory.

COUNT VON BERNSTORFF, the German ambassador to the United States, in an article in the Outlook discusses the present attitude of France and Germany to ward one another, "with special reference to the Moroccan question." He represents Germany as being quite satisfied with the Kongo concessions obtained as the result of the latest Franco-German agreement and insists that at no time was Germany seeking trouble with France by her Moroccan attitude.

The action of the kaiser's government in dispatching the German cruiser Panther to Agadir and thus creating a situation which amounted at one time to a war scare, is alluded to as a simple necessity. The article follows:

"The Moroccan question has passed out of its controversial stage and is now a part of history, so that we are able to look back on it with an impartial spirit and to judge the aims and results of the German government's action with fairness—a fairness which seemed to be sometimes lacking during the heat of the discussions.

"It is well known that until 1904 England and France were contending with each other for supremacy in Morocco. Then followed the Anglo-French agreement of April, 1904, and in the fall of the same year a French banking syndicate contracted a new large loan with Morocco. Privileges of such importance were granted to this group of banks that the eventual fate of the sultan's empire seemed to be decided. Germany, however, intervened. The emperor visited Tangier, and a few months later the conference of Algeciras was held. In fair words it proclaimed the independence of Morocco and the sovereignty of the sultan. It also created a multitude of provisions and stipulated the "open door" in Morocco. At the same time, however, police powers were granted to France and Spain in eight open Moroccan ports, and, furthermore, the treaty concerning the above mentioned loan was ratified with certain amendments. Above all, owing to the long Algero-Moroccan border line, the conference could not prevent French influence in Morocco from continuing and even increasing. On account of the wholly unsettled and untenable conditions in Morocco—which it is no use denying—opportunities for the exertion of French influence could not long be wanting. In fact, the occupation of Ujda and the bombardment as well as the occupation of Casablanca soon followed.

"All this could have been prevented only if Germany had been inclined to restore order in Morocco and first to go to war, as would have been inevitable, with the powers hostile to such an act on her part. The course of events will always prove to be more powerful than the most perfectly worded treaty provisions, and the Algeciras act could not expect to alter the fact that Morocco and her inhabitants no longer in themselves possessed the strength to reorganize their country. Some enthusiasts believed that Mulai Hafid would be able to perform this task, but they soon had to recognize that, notwithstanding his skill and ability as a statesman, he did not have the power to bring about the necessary changes without foreign assistance.

"For the German government there was therefore only one way open to protect German commercial interests in Morocco—viz, by securing France's protection of these interests. This result was achieved by the Morocco agreement of Feb. 9, 1909, which expressly mentioned the Algeciras act as its basis. Clearly the object of this agreement could only be to delay French advance in Morocco as long as possible, so that German traders, farmers and manufacturers were in the meanwhile under this same French protection, guaranteed by treaty, able to consolidate their interests in Morocco to such a degree that a French protectorate could not destroy them. No one who knew the conditions in Morocco as they really were and not as one perhaps wished them to be could entertain the slightest doubt that a French protectorate must in the course of time be established.

"This would have been considered the natural course of events had the aspect of affairs not suddenly changed when M. Pichon retired from the French foreign office and was replaced by M. Cruppi. It seems that colonial fanatics who could not await the ripening of the Moroccan fruit took advantage of this change to obtain the consent of the new minister of foreign affairs for the expedition to Fez. The pretended danger of the military mission and of the European colony in consequence of the rebellion of tribes in the neighborhood of Fez formed a welcome pretext. The capital was reached, and military posts were established.

"During all this time semiofficial German newspapers had constantly reiterated that, according to communications received in Germany, the Europeans in Fez were not at all in danger. When these hints proved to be of no effect the North German Gazette on April 30, 1911, addressed a new warning to France which could not be misunderstood, declaring that a sultan, governing with the aid of France, no longer represented the sovereign sultan as defined by the Algeciras act and that Germany therefore would be entitled to resume her former freedom of action. This warning was not heeded. Events took their course, and it was soon clear that the south of Morocco would also be drawn into the growing unrest. In this case the security of the Europeans living there—among them many Germans—might indeed have been in danger, since there were no French troops in the south and no forces of the sultan which could be counted on. At any rate, several German firms feared that their interests and their officials were in danger and during the month of June asked the German government for protection. As a consequence the German cruiser Panther was sent to Agadir.

"The French newspapers published during those days prove that after having been startled at first French public opinion very soon perfectly understood the meaning of this step. For any one who had followed the course of the Moroccan question it was inconceivable that Germany should suddenly wish to conquer Moroccan territory. Even during the most critical moments of the whole affair Germany had always emphatically declared that she pursued only economic interests in Morocco, and this with good reason. For Germany the occupation of some part of Morocco—apart from the war which no doubt would have ensued—could mean nothing else than a long and continual display of military force perfectly out of proportion to the possible gain. The friendship of the Moroccans for Germany naturally would have turned into enmity as soon as she followed the example of France and took up the role of an aggressor. It is only necessary to glance at the map and to look at the sea route from Wilhelmshaven, in Germany, to Morocco by way of the British isles to understand what it would have meant for Germany to send a large military force to Morocco.

"As already stated, the attitude of Germany was soon understood in Paris. The error of the expedition to Fez having been made, there was nothing left but to bear the consequences and pay dearly for what otherwise in the course of time might have been obtained without any sacrifice whatever.

"There could be no doubt what price Germany would ask.

"On the one hand, increased and precise guarantees for the maintenance of the open door in Morocco, which would enable Germans to settle and do business in Morocco in spite of a French protectorate.

"On the other hand, a compensation in the form of colonial territory, which had already often enough been mentioned during the earlier phases of the Morocco affair. Frequently the desire had been expressed in Germany that such a step should be taken. The government, however, had hesitated, hoping that the independence of Morocco might be maintained. This hope was now destroyed by the force of events, and Germany must be considered lucky for having been able to return to the idea of compensation.

"It is well known that from the beginning this compensation was desired in the French Kongo in order to unite as much as possible the adjoining German colonies on the western coast of Africa were it only by forming an economic unity through the establishment of appropriate trade routes. This goal was reached by the recent Morocco agreement between France and Germany, which gave the latter power access to the Kongo and the Ubanghi.

"Although, of course, opinions may differ about the value of the territory ceded to Germany, it is evident that German commerce and industry, German miners and farmers, have obtained valuable guarantees for their interests in Morocco. The agreement furnishes a powerful instrument in the hands of the German government, enabling it permanently to protect German interests in spite of all contrary efforts. A careful reading of the text of the agreement will be convincing in this respect. The explicit prohibition of differential treatment of goods imported by foreign countries, which is of equal benefit to all nations, including the United States; the severe rules for controlling this, the possibility of an appeal to a clearly defined system of arbitration with regard to claims against Moroccan and French authorities, the possibility of the construction of private railways without public competition and their administration by private boards—all these provisions of the agreement cannot be too highly valued.

"On the whole, it can therefore be said that the negotiations conducted under the moral pressure of the sending of the Panther to Agadir led to a satisfactory result for Germany, because she avoided chasing phantoms and tried only to reach a goal which was possible for her to attain."

SLEEPERS ARE WELCOME AT CAMBRIDGE CHURCH.

Pastor Says They Are Harmless and Don't Criticise Sermon.

Sleeping men are welcome at Union Congregational church, Cambridge, Mass., of which the Rev. Allan A. Stockdale is pastor. Dr. Stockdale says:

"It isn't because men are afraid they will go to sleep in church that so many of them do not attend, but they hate to be nudged by their wives and are afraid of the consequences after they get home.

"Let them go to sleep if they want to. They are harmless when they are asleep. Do not poke or nudge or pinch them. Sleeping men in the pews when I am preaching do not worry me at all. On the other hand, they often cause me pleasure. The sleeping man can't find anything to complain about in my sermon or write indignant letters to me afterward.

"There are many reasons why men go to sleep. Many of them have been hustling during the week, and when they come into a warm church and restful pews they can't avoid sleeping. Heavy air and heavy sermons are also responsible. The music is soothing too. Let the man fall asleep. The rest will do him good perhaps."

Four hundred thousand dollars' worth of these seals which were purchased by the public and placed on the back of letters last December have been distributed. This means 40,000,000 seals at 1 cent each, an increase of 10,000,000, or 33 1-3 per cent, more than the amount disposed of during the holidays of 1910.

The seals were sold under the general direction of the National Red Cross and the National Association For the Prevention of Tuberculosis. These organizations reserve together 12½ per cent. The cost of printing the pasters and various charges are paid out of this allowance, and what remains of that percentage is divided between the two national organizations for their work.

FREED BY HIS PULSE BEATS.

Munsterberg Test Tried on a Prisoner in California Town.

What is believed to have been the first demonstration in a court of justice of the Munsterberg theory of criminal detection by heart pulsations was given at Los Angeles. The demonstration ended in the discharge of Arthur Smith, a metal worker from Tacoma, Wash., who had been arrested as a suspicious character.

He had consented to be a party to the experiment, and his normal pulse was found to be 79. It increased to 91 beats when he gave his name as James Smithers, and Judge Cassidy told him he was not telling the truth. His heart then beat at the rate of 95.

After a few seconds' hesitation the man replied:

"Arthur Smith is my right name, but I am an honest workingman and no vagrant. I'm sorry I lied, but I have relatives in the north."

SEWS UP SPINAL CORD.

Doctor Successfully Performs Operation on Victim of Shooting.

An operation in which a man's severed spinal cord was sewed together in a New York hospital by Dr. William L. Mulcahy was announced to have been successful. Dr. Mulcahy performed the operation on James Renzula, who had been shot in a quarrel in a store.

The bullet which struck Renzula fractured two vertebrae and cut through the spinal cord. The severed ends were drawn together and held in place by many stitches. The operation had been performed in other cases, but the spinal cord seldom grew together. In Renzula's case, however, the patient soon showed improvement, and the doctors say he will live, although his legs may be paralyzed.

NORWAY TO DEVELOP NAVY.

Cabinet Proposes to Construct Ships and Fortifications.

The cabinet has resolved to propose to the storthing that it vote an extraordinary credit of 16,500,000 kroner ($4,125,000) for the development of Norway's naval defense. The plan is to add to the present navy two armored cruisers and a flotilla of torpedo boats and includes also the construction of fortifications along the western coast.

The general feeling through the country is in favor of protecting Norwegian waters, which, it is believed, will be the battle place in a future war between great powers.

BISMARCK'S FRIEND DEAD.

Joseph M. von Radowitz Assisted in Building German Empire.

Joseph M. von Radowitz, formerly German ambassador to Constantinople and Madrid, is dead. He was probably the latest surviving colleague of Prince Bismarck in the building up of the German empire. It was he who laid the foundation of German influence in the Turkish empire while he was ambassador at Constantinople.

He retired from active service in 1908.

Cardinal Farley's Homecoming

THE return to New York of Cardinal Farley was the occasion of a welcoming demonstration which probably surpassed in magnitude and enthusiasm any similar celebration in honor of a prelate of the Roman Catholic church in this country or abroad. Hundreds of thousands of persons made him an object of deep veneration as well as unlimited applause.

The cardinal's ride through Broadway, from the Battery, where he landed, to his cathedral in Fifth avenue, with an escort of 200 automobiles, may be likened to a triumphal procession worthy of old Rome. A dense crowd of spectators lined the streets for five miles eager to get a glimpse of the venerable prelate, who rode in an open carriage, an impressive figure in the brilliant red robes of his high office with the broad hat covering his snow white hair.

At the cathedral there was an impressive and unprecedented scene when 6,000 girls and 2,000 boys, school children, some carrying the stars and

No such electrical illumination has been seen since the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo as was accomplished in the lighting of the cathedral at night. Aside from the 50,000 electric bulbs lighting up the main edifice and spires, there was a row of arc lights, elevated on poles, extending all around the building. Alternate national and papal flags, visible in the intense light of these arc lights, fluttered from high poles all about the cathedral. The large electric emblem representing the cardinal's coat of arms, a shamrock with two eagle heads on the left side and two doves on the right side, was lighted up in the arched space between the two spires of the cathedral. This was in colors.

The program for the welcome consisted of exercises and services covering a period of more than two weeks, the cathedral to be illuminated every evening during that period.

A purse of $25,000 was presented to the cardinal to help defray the expenses of his trip to Rome.

READY FOR THE WARDEN.

To make sure the youngster was not disobeying the bass fishing law the game warden took his string of fish out of the water and found only catfish, perch and suckers on the line. A few feet further down the stream he found a large black bass wiggling on a string weighed down with a stone and asked the boy what he was doing with the fish.

"Well, you see," answered the boy, "he's been taking my bait all morning and so I just tied him up there until I got through fishing."—Stock's National Monthly.

"How shall I express my sentiments toward you?" said the young man, tenderly.

Try Bamberger's First

Several times during the holiday season we made use of the phrase "Try Bamberger's first."

This is a very good phrase and a very SUITABLE one, and if you will remember it the next time you start out to shop, you will save time and patience and MONEY.

We have often had visiting merchants tell us that they were surprised to learn what complete stocks were handled at this store in such a limited space. Of course, it requires a great deal of thought and much hard work on our part to keep our assortments so complete. We have always aimed to do this, however, and you may depend upon it, we shall never leave off trying to keep what you ask for, in sufficient quantities to enable you to choose with ease and satisfaction.

When the big new store is finished we shall have much more room to display our wares, but even now, as handicapped as we are for space, there are few things indeed that you cannot find here.

By all means "TRY BAMBERGER'S FIRST."

Col. G. W. Goethals, Builder of Panama Canal

COLONEL GEORGE WASHINGTON GOETHALS has been the big boss down in the Panama canal zone for four years. He was just a lieutenant colonel in the engineer corps of the army when he was sent down there after two or three civilian civil engineers had tackled the mammoth job and found it too big for their size. Now he is chairman of the canal commission, governor of the canal zone, chief engineer of the whole works and president of the Panama Railroad company. And, most important of all, he is digging the canal, which is the job laid out for him.

A correspondent of Collier's Weekly gives a most interesting impression of the canal builder. Among other things he says:

Colonel Goethals has his headquarters at Culebra, where visitors will discover him seated in a swivel chair at a big flat desk in the middle of a spacious room that looks like the grand reception hall of a wholesale hay barn. This structure was erected by the French under the late Count de Lesseps when the European republic made its ineffectual effort to cut a canal through the isthmus.

The French engineers used it as headquarters and administration building. Colonel Goethals makes similar use of the building. His expansive office room is unfinished as to interior walls, painters apparently amateurish having daubed their woodwork with a

For four mortal years the colonel has been on the job there, clad in wrinkly white flannels or mud bespattered white duck and a creasy panama hat. He has sweated through some 1,500 days and nights of Panamaniac climate, wherein an overcoat is an incubus and underwear is calculated at times to make of its victim a beast of burden.

Women will not find the zone a paradise of social divertisement, and yet they will discover that even away down there where the land ligament that links together the continental Siamese twins of America's hemisphere is so narrow that it has been said a Waltonian angler can sit on the lock ledge of Culebra cut and catch fish from the Pacific ocean while he spits Missouri tobacco juice in the Atlantic, society of the big initial flourishes. For be it held in mind that there is an official social circle in the Panama canal zone made up of men who can grace a ballroom or a barroom and of women who have shown in times past amid the gayety galaxies of Bar Harbor, Old Point Comfort and other points more comfortable than Panama.

The colonel is accounted a man who does things. Though only a colonel, Goethals commands an army numerically large enough to make up several corps. He has 40,000 men under his command. Among them these 40,000 men speak forty-five languages. It is a polyglot collection of workmen that is scooping out the canal ditch and building the locks.

Excepting a comparatively small element of natives all these men are a long way from home. Some of them are as far from their firesides as 12,000 miles. Every month those who have families send a part of their earnings to the home folks, who long for the day when the canal will be completed and the father or son or brother will come home to stay.

Colonel Goethals is a sort of father to his 40,000 men. During the six week days he sees that they do their work as efficiently as may be under the direction of his large corps of assistant engineers, superintendents and foremen. Not even on Sunday is Colonel Goethals free to do as he pleases. Sunday is court day for the colonel. An hour or so spent in the big office room where Colonel Goethals hears grievances from 7:30 to 10:30 a. m., will give an insight into the workings of the Goethals mind.

Colonel Goethals is both judge and jury in this court. He hears complaints and grievances from any of his 40,000 men, day laborer and section superintendent alike, and passes upon each case with an eye single to the absolute justice of the matter.

Colonel Goethals was born in Brooklyn on June 29, 1858, and was graduated from the United States Military academy in 1880.

E. A. THAYER HAS A JOB LIKE SHUSTER'S.

Sent to Nicaragua to Straighten Out Her Finances.

A step far in advance of anything that this government has yet undertaken in the way of financial sponsorship has been taken in the recommendation by the state department and the appointment by the Nicaraguan government of Edwin A. Thayer of Indianapolis, for the last ten years connected with the Porto Rico customs service, as collector of internal revenue in Nicaragua. This has been done because the Nicaraguan government has defaulted on the interest of the $1,500,000 temporary loan which was made by New York bankers to tide over the interval until the principal loan of $15,000,000 could be arranged and carried out. The treaty authorizing these negotiations has not yet been ratified by the United States senate.

The appointment of Mr. Thayer is similar to that of W. Morgan Shuster to take charge of the fiscal affairs of Persia, an arrangement which has resulted so disastrously to the prestige of the United States in near eastern affairs because of the dissent of Russia and Great Britain. It is not to be believed that the arrangement put in operation in Nicaragua will turn out so badly, as we have better means of commanding respect for our kindly offices in Central America than we have in the interior of Asia.

Mr. Thayer's appointment follows that of Colonel Ham of Iowa last summer to supervise the general customs service of Nicaragua.

60 VOTES FOR ARBITRATION.

Friendly Senators Predict a Majority. Amendments Likely.

A quiet canvass was made of the senate by the friends of the arbitration treaties. Senator Burton of Ohio, who supported the treaties in the original form and signed a minority report in favor of their ratification without amendment, expressed confidence that the necessary two-thirds vote would be secured for their ratification, but admitted that everything pointed to a long debate. He said it would not be surprising if the debate extended over two months.

The friends of ratification believe they can see sixty votes already, and this is a safe number in their estimation. It is already certain that the treaties cannot go through unamended. Democratic members of the foreign relations committee other than Senator Rayner of Maryland, who is in favor of ratification in the form in which the treaties were negotiated, believe that if the treaties are ratified their character will be completely changed.

ROOSEVELT RUNS AN AUTO.

Used One Reluctantly at First, Then Learned to Operate It.

Colonel Roosevelt now sits behind the steering wheel of his automobile. Residents of Oyster Bay on several occasions recently have seen him driving through the town with his hand on the wheel.

The sight was surprising, because Colonel Roosevelt's love of the horse and aversion to automobiles were well known. But he found an automobile indispensible when he began to make regular trips between Oyster Bay and New York. Gradually he picked up information about the mechanism of the car, but it was only recently that he began to drive it. The colonel still prefers the horse, however, and when he is at home takes daily horseback rides.

As a concession to the automobile Colonel Roosevelt recently built a broad macadam road from his home on the hill to the public highway.

FOR TWO MORE BATTLESHIPS.

Contracts Signed For Building the Nevada and Oklahoma.

Contracts for the construction of two more battleships have been signed by Secretary of the Navy Meyer. One of the vessels will be built by the Fore River Shipbuilding company at Quincy, Mass., and will have Curtiss turbine engines. The other will be constructed by the New York Shipbuilding company at Camden, N. J., with reciprocating engines. The vessels will be named the Nevada and Oklahoma. Both are to cost, exclusive of armor and armament, less than $6,000,000.

Some months ago the navy department declared itself in favor of the reciprocating engine after long experiment with the turbine in some of the battleships now in commission. The return to the turbine, however, was forced by the bidders for the two battleships just contracted for, as not enough bids were received to give the department any alternative.

CHINESE GIRL TO JOIN ARMY.

Nineteen Years Old, She Will Be a Captain Among the Revolutionists.

Miss Leona Mary Jewell, daughter of Jue Sue, a Portland (Ore.) Chinese merchant, will receive a commission in the Chinese revolutionary army and will command a company of soldiers in the field. This news was received in a letter from the girl, who is only nineteen years old, to her parents and also through a Hongkong newspaper, which contained an item saying that Sue Yi Yat, Miss Jewell's Chinese name, had entered a military training school and would soon be given a commission.

Miss Jewell was born in Portland and educated in the public schools and at the Portland academy.

MRS. WILLIAM DEWAR.

Champion Woman Fencer Will Meet European Crack.

Celestial Ingenuity.

"Dr. Wu Ting Fang," said a diplomat, "used to tell me many illuminating anecdotes about the Chinese character. I remember one about ingenuity.

"A Chinaman, the anecdote ran, found his wife lying dead in a field one morning. A tiger had killed her. The Chinaman went home, procured some arsenic and, returning to the field, sprinkled it over the corpse. The next day the tiger's dead body lay beside the woman's. The Chinaman sold the tiger's skin to a mandarin and its body to a physician to make fear cure powders, and with the proceeds he was able to buy a younger wife."—Washington Star

MUST BELIEVE SO.

When Well-Known Plainfield People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Plainfield the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

A. C. Lazzi, 44 Elm place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I still endorse Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity and I confirm all I said in their praise when I publicly recommended them some years ago. You are at liberty to continue using my statement, for this excellent medicine cannot be given too much praise. For several years I was annoyed by a distressing backache, together with pains through my kidneys. My head also ached severely and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. I went to several physicians and also took so-called kidney cures, but it did not seem as though I could get relief. As time passed and I did not improve, I became discouraged. When suffering intensely I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a supply at Randolph' Drug Store. As if by magic my pains and aches disappeared and my condition improved in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills deserve the entire credit for restoring me to good health.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New ork, sole agents for the United States.

STATE GOLF TOURNEY TO BE PLAYLD AT THE SHORE

The New Jersey State Golf Association yesterday voted the amateur tournament to the Country Club of Atlantic City. This makes the first time the "Jersey" has ever been awarded to a club outside the immediate vicinity of New York.

In all probability June 6, 7 and 8 will be selected as the dates, although final action will not be taken until after the Metropolitan Golf Association makes known its championship week.

Although only in an unofficial capacity, it was practically decided to go ahead with plans for a monster team match between the New Jersey and Metropolitan Associations. As the territorial fifty-five mile limit of the M. G. A. extends well into New Jersey it is expected a rule will be made so as to allow the New Jersey body to draw upon such players who are eligible for its championship.

The idea is to have twenty on a side, playing singles in the morning and foursomes in the afternoon.

If this match is played it will probably take place shortly after the New Jersey and Metropolitan tournaments.

An executive session of the M. G. A. will be held in the near future, when this matter will be brought up. W. D. Vanderpool, the Metropolitan secretary, who was present at yesterday's meeting, thought well of the plan.

Fred H. Thomas, of Morris county, was re-elected President of the New Jersey Association. He will select his associates later.

The financial report showed a balance of $501.99 in the treasury, slightly in excess of the amount a year ago. The South Orange Field Club was dropped from membership for non-payment of dues.

MORE COMPLAINTS OF CHATHAM SEWER PLANT.

Chatham, Jan. 24.—Reports of more trouble in the operation of the sewage disposal plant have been brought to the attention of Common Council. Engineer Henry Ryon reported that one of the sand beds flowed over, due, he believed, to the absence of the recently appointed supervisor, George Rowe. It was said that Mr. Rowe did not give the proper time to the position. Mr. Ryon said there probably was a misunderstanding of the time required for Mr. Rowe to serve. The clerk was instructed to notify John W. Heller, the contractor, to see that the plant is given proper supervision.

Mr. Ryon reported there were a great many defects in the sewer mains, principally at the manholes. The clerk is to inform Clark & Co., the contractors, to repair them before final payments are made. The engineer stated further he had visited the disposal plant and had found conditions were not as bad as reported to the Joint Sewer Commission at its last meeting. An inspector of the State Board of Health had seen the plant and had declared that it fulfilled the requirements of the State body.

PREFERS TO MAKE LAW TO HOLDING A REAL JOB.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Assemblyman Charles G. Linnenkohl, of Newark, found Monday that to be a member of the New Jersey Legislature is sometimes embarrassing. Mr. Linnenkohl, who was employed by the Westinghouse Electric Works, was curtly informed by his employers that he had to choose between a career of statesmanship and his job.

Mr. Linnenkohl sacrificed his position and came to the capital tonight with a prospect of enforced leisure which he did not expect or seek confronting him.

The Westinghouse people were unwilling to keep a man who had to be away from his duties as often as an Assemblyman is compelled to be.

W. H. M. District Meeting.

LARGE AUDIENCE PLEASED BY ORCHESTRAL CONCERT

The second concert of the season by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra was given in the association building auditorium last night and was attended by a large audience. The soloists work was particularly pleasing and the orchestra under the direction of George Goldsmith Daland, the new musical director, showed marked improvement.

The soloists were Mrs. June Bilby, soprano soloist in the First Methodist church choir, and Charles Tetter, violinist, of Elizabeth. Mrs. Bilby's most pleasing number was with violin obligato by B. A. Paroubek and C. A. Braider at the piano.

McCRAN HUSTLES EVEN ASSEMBLY CHAPLAINS.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 24. Even the House chaplains are being made aware this year that Speaker McCran has inaugurated a new plan for the rapid handling of the sessions of the Assembly. One of the chaplains who offered prayer the early part of the week was talking to a newspaper man when the speaker approached and said:

"Excuse me. I am McCran. We start in two minutes."

He left as quickly as he approached and went into the clerk's room to see if everything was ready for the opening of the House on the minute named.

"That's business for you," the dominie laughingly remarked as the hustling presiding officer departed.

WILL ASK COUNCIL FOR CURFEW IN MORRISTOWN.

The Woman's Town Improvement Committee of Morristown plans to appear before the February meeting of the Board of Aldermen of that city and ask that an ordinance be passed providing for the ringing of a curfew bell each night. After the ringing of the bell no children under a specified age shall be on the streets unless accompanied by an adult.

The matter has been put in the hands of a committee consisting of Miss Louise Shelton and Mrs. Ralph B. Urmy. The committee has not decided what time the bell should be run. Nine o'clock was suggested, but that seemed too early. The question of the hour will be decided at a special meeting of the improvement committee in a few days.

OSTEOPATHS TO APPEAL FOR RECOGNITION AGAIN.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 24.—The Legislature will again be a battle ground for the osteopathic physicians who are fighting for State recognition, according to the present prospects. Members of the profession are already mixing up with the lawmakers in the corridors and on the floor of the House and getting into their good graces before action is asked on an osteopathic bill.

Yesterday afternoon, Assemblyman Mitchell of Essex, presented a petition from Dr. Brinck, of Burlington, asking that the osteopaths be given fair consideration in the enactment of legislation.

EDUCATIONAL CLASSES AT THE LOCAL Y.W.C.A.

The prospectus of the spring term of classes at the Young Women's Christian Association shows plans for the coming week's work to be many and varied. The new term will open the week of January 29 and will be continued until the last of April. Many of the classes of the past term will be resumed and several new ones will be added.

Dressmaking will be taught by Miss Isabel Scarborough and special attention will be given to private lessons. A course in the demonstrating of drafting, cutting and fitting tailored suits is offered this term. The Tuesday evening class is especially designed for those beginning sewing.

The millinery classes will devote the first few weeks of the term to making ribbon flowers, now so much used. Work with wire frames, straw and lingerie hats will follow. These classes meet on Wednesday afternoon and evening and are taught by Miss Edith Capron.

Embroidery of all kinds may be learned in the classes taught by Miss Amy Lough on Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon.

English for foreigners is taught in graded courses to those desiring to learn to read, write or speak English. Membership in the glee club being carefully trained in chorus work by S. Frederick Smith, is the privilege of every member of the association. This meets on Monday evenings at 8 o'clock.

A new feature of the term's work will be a class in conversational French taught by Miss Zoe Bateman meeting on Friday afternoons at 3:30.

The orchestra which has been newly organized under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Day, will meet on Wednesday evenings at 8:00. There is a place in this for every girl who can play a musical instrument.

The work of the gymnasium, which will be shown in the exhibition of classes at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night, will be continued along the same lines as last term with the additional interest of health talks and out-of-door walks and picnics.

Bible study and club work with junior members have an important place in the schedules.

All inquiries are gladly answered at the Association building office of which is open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

WORK ON DUNELLEN'S CHURCH CLUB IS BEGUN.

The new addition to the Dunellen Presbyterian church to be used for club purposes as an incentive for the young men of the borough to seek proper companions and an unobjectionable place for recreation, was staked out yesterday and the work of excavation began today.

The addition when completed will house two bowling alleys of regulation length and equipment, a pool table and tables for other games that find favor in organizations of this kind and are found in all properly equipped Y. M. C. A's.

The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible so that the club will be in readiness before the summer weather sets in, when indoor recreation will not appeal to young men as forcefully as outdoor sports.

Miss Bessie Duffy.

After a long illness, Miss Bessie Duffy, daughter of Mrs. Bridget Duffy, of Grove street, died at her home last night in her twenty-second year. The funeral services will be held at her late residence Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Joseph's church at 9, where a requiem mass will be celebrated. Burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery. Surviving besides her mother are two sisters, Mrs. Francis Daley, of Elizabeth, and Miss Catherine Duffy, and two brothers, John and Thomas Duffy, at home.

Choir to Give Cantata.

The Convention Choir, under the leadership of David E. Titsworth met at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, last night, and begun the rehearsals for the cantata, "Nicodemus," which will be given in the spring. There was also a rehearsal of the convention hymns. There was a large number of the choir members present and all entered heartily into the rehearsal. Early next month a banquet will be given to the choir at Vincent chapel.

HISTORY OF OUR INDIANS.

Bureau of American Ethnology Is Preparing It.

PLANS ARE COMPREHENSIVE.

Country Being Scoured For All Available Data—Extreme Care With Maps. Places of Aboriginal Interest Will Be Shown In Detail.

The bureau of American ethnology is preparing a new work which will form a handbook of aboriginal remains in the United States and will have to do with the anicent abodes, camps, mounds, workshops, quarries, burial places, etc., of the Indian tribes.

In connection with this work F. W. Hodge, ethnologist in charge of the bureau of American ethnology, is sending letters of inquiry to all persons thought to have any knowledge of the subject of this undertaking as well as to all institutions and societies interested in American archaeology and ethnology. The letter requests all information respecting the location, character and history of the remains left by the Indians or other indications of their former occupancy.

Many replies have been received, and much new information has been gathered; but, owing to the extent of the inquiry, some time will elapse before a complete list of references can be obtained.

This is not the first time that the bureau has attempted a work of this kind. In 1881 a catalogue of prehistoric works east of the Rocky mountains was published, but that work is both out of date and out of print; hence the present effort to gather these statistics concerning the former occupancy of the country by the Indians is being made.

The original publication on the subject of aboriginal remains was compiled by Dr. Cyrus Thomas and several collaborators, with a view to aiding in the construction of archaeological maps for a general report on the mound explorations of the bureau of American ethnology. But on account of its apparent usefulness as a means of reference it was published separately.

Many difficulties presented themselves during the preparation of the book, the main one being the lack of old maps on which the places referred to in published accounts of antiquities could be located. Nearly all modern maps were useless on account of the many changes in the names of counties and boundaries. The list finally prepared included all existing works as well as the previous locations of many obliterated ones, arranged by states and subdivided into counties.

A vast territory was covered in the first book, and, judging from the large map of the eastern United States, the parts of this country most densely populated by the aborigines must have been the basins of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers and the southern shores of the great lakes, although there are indications of many settlements on the Atlantic coast, especially in Florida. A large map showed all the locations, and smaller maps, of which there was one for each state, indicated the nature of each site by a special symbol. In the cartographic list one found the meanings of the symbols readily. A single house drawn in outline represented a wooden lodge, while two houses represented a village. A grave was indicated by a special figure, a mound by the same figure reversed, and so on, enabling one with a little study to see at a glance what was located at a certain point.

The history of the American Indians forms a broad and attractive subject of inquiry, but unfortunately the data available for such study are rapidly decreasing. The fact that the customs, folklore and traditions of these people are being lost through advancing civilization and that the older Indian authorities and characters are rapidly passing away makes it more and more difficult to preserve the history of the Indians for future generations. Through the thorough methods of the bureau of American ethnology, devoted to the recording of the habits, customs and history of the American Indians, however, many valuable data are constantly being compiled.

It is not expected that the prospective work on Indian antiquities will be issued for many months. Following the precedent of the old report, the new one in completion will show to even a greater and more extensive end all available information. It is proposed to classify the former Indian remains by states and counties and to illustrate the publication with maps, photographs and drawings.

BOYS NEEDN'T SEW AND DARN

Need to Be More Manly These Days, Chicago School Head Thinks.

Boys in the Chicago public schools, except in special cases, will not be required to take lessons in fancy work, sewing and darning, according to a statement made by Dr. James McFatrich, president of the board of education.

"I am not in favor of having boys of twelve and fourteen years learning to sew and embroider doilies," he said. "There is need of manly men now, and nothing should be taught the boys to make them any less manly."

The women of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold an all-day sewing meeting tomorrow.

LUNCH-BOX SOCIABLE AT NETHERWOOD REFORMED CH.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Netherwood Reformed church a lunch-box social was held in the church, last night. There were about seventy members of the society and friends present. Mrs. P. H. Wood was chairman of the committee in charge. There was an informal program comprising piano selections by Miss Iona Wood, Miss May Cooper, Mrs. F. A. Cooper, Miss Mildred Bookstaver and Lt. G. T. Longbothum.

Afterward the lunch-boxes were auctioned off, Claud Gonod being the auctioneer. About $15 was realized from the sale. A social hour followed during which refreshments were enjoyed.

ACID, GIVEN BY MISTAKE FOR SALTS, KILLS WOMAN.

Freehold, Jan. 24.—A dose of oxalic acid taken in mistake for Rochelle salts caused the death of Mrs. Isaac Perrine, a widow, at her home in Broad street.

Mrs. Perrine, who was fifty-seven years old, had been ill for two weeks. Her sister, Miss Cornelia Temple, of Trenton, who was visiting her, prepared, as she thought, a dose of Rochelle salts. Mrs. Perrine became seriously ill at once and the error was detected.

Dr. H. W. Ingling was summoned. His egorts to save the woman were vain.

WESTFIELD NEWSTAND ROBBED OF CASH AND CIGARS

Burglars last night broke into the Union Newstand on the eastbound side of the Westfield station and stole a cigar box containing $15 in change, several boxes of cigars and a quantity of tobacco.

The money was secreted on a top shelf by George Ortlieb, the agent, at the close of business yesterday and the fact that the intruder knew where to locate it makes the police think that some one acquainted with the custom of the agent did the job. No other clue was left for them to work on.

Lost Money Returned.

Mrs. H. C. Crate, of Watchung, lost her hand-bag while returning to her home after spending the day with her daughter, Mrs. Grover Schuck, of Lincoln place, Saturday. It contained more than $50 in bills besides a number of valuable articles and papers. Fred Meyers, a driver for the Independent Ice Co., found it. Learning the rightful owner through papers in the bag he returned it yesterday, that being the first opportunity he had to do so. He received a reward.

Testing Suspicious Butter.

Detective Sergeant John Flyan "picked up" today George Moore, a butter salesman, whom he found soliciting retail orders as the alleged agent of the Woodbrook Dairy Farm. A sample of his butter was sent to the city chemist for an oleomargarine test, and the salesman was held pending the investigation. Moore told Flynn he worked for a man named Bernard Smith, who does business near Newark.

Carnegie Can't Be Here.

At the concert of Clan Mackenzie in the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, a letter from Andrew Carnegie, expressing his regret over inability to be present will be read. The Laird of Skibo was invited to attend, and, but for a previous engagement, would have come to pay tribute to Scotland's favoriate poet, Robert Burns, to commemorate whose anniversary the concert is being given.

Rev. Dr. Whitney Recovering.

Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, of First place, who has been critically ill for several days, is much improved, and now considered out of danger. Dr. Whitney is president-emeritus of the Centenary Collegiate Institute and a prominent figure in Methodism.

Engagement Announced.

The wedding of Miss Mary Fervisss, of Somerset street, and George Perry, of Harrison avenue, will take place at the home of Miss Fervisparents Thursday, February 15. The invitations will be issued tomorrow.

Councilman John E. Dunn and James C. Manning left today for an extended trip to California, Cuba and Panama. They will be away several months.

Ormond VanNest, son of Mr. and Mrs. George VanNest, of Mariners place, who is a student at Peddie Institute, is ill at the latter place with scarlet fever. Mrs. VanNest left yesterday for Hightstown to remain with her son for awhile.

VIEWS OF LAYMEN ON FORWARD MOVEMENT.

In connection with the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign the committee in charge has secured the views of a number of prominent laymen regarding the campaign.

One of these is former Senator Everett Colby, who, in expressing his belief in the plan, voiced the sentiment that men have kept their religion too much in cold storage, to be used only when everything else they want to do is out of season.

Former Attorney-General Robert H. McCarter is another who expressed his approval of the movement. Mr. McCarter is of the opinion that the pulpit cannot get along without the pew and that anything that can get the men of the churches to working toward good ends is worth while.

NO PRESENTMENTS IN CASES AGAINST OFFICIALS.

Although it was expected that when the Grand Jury came in there would be a presentment against those who had violated the provision of the corrupt practices act there was none, only a batch of twenty-six indictments being turned over by the foreman, Thomas H. Robertson.

He reported that the jury had not yet completed its labors and asked that the jurors be allowed to retire, which was granted by Judge Atwater. It is possible that a presentment may be forthcoming next week.

BEST DRESSED MAN IN ELIZABETH IS NO MORE.

Pierpont Davis, one of the wealthiest residents of Elizabeth, died suddenly of heart disease at his residence, 107 North Broad street, Elizabeth, today. He was a classmate of former President Theodore Roosevelt at Harvard.

He was unmarried and inherited a large fortune several years ago. He was the best dressed man in Elizabeth and the only man there to wear a monocle. His father was a pioneer dry goods merchant of New York city.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Charles Klein's "The Gamblers," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre February 5, is a strong serious play of adventure and speculation; an interesting arrangement of Wall street and local politics, said to be the best effort yet from the pen of Mr. Klein, who has given the American stage some great successes.

James Murray.

The First Printed Bible.

The production of the printed Bible was sold at Cologne for twenty crowns per volume to various noblemen and people of wealth by Dr. John Faust in Paris. The purchasers supposed the books were copied by hand. The last of the edition he sold at 20 crowns. With this publication originated the myth of the "printer's devil." When the people, amazed at the rapidity with which the books were produced, searched his office and found a great quantity of red ink which Faust was using liberally, they concluded that the devil was helping the publisher; hence the cry was raised, "The devil and Dr. Faust."—Chicago Journal.

FOR A SCHOOL IN SOUTHEAST SECTION

Another One Needed Says Board Member, and Must go up in That District.

MAY EXTEND THIRD PLACE

That Is One Plan Department Heads Are Considering — Kensington Avenue Folk Against Building on Plot City Already Owns.

The Board of Education, with a view to meeting the needs for a new school in the southeastern part of the city, is working very hard to secure a site that will meet with the least possible objection on the part of the property-owners in that section of the city.

The Board purchased a piece of property on Kensington avenue about a year ago, but delayed the work of erecting a school thereon for the reason that it was threatened with injunction proceedings. While the Board has no desire to involve the city in litigation, it is the opinion of the members that most any site selected in that section of the city would have to be secured through condemnation proceedings, which naturally would be more or less expensive.

One site that has been considered possible could be secured by extending Third place and building a school in a more isolated section. There is more or less objection to a school on any site in that part of the city, but a member of the Board said today that the State law provides that schools must be provided for the children, there is no alternative, and the Board's desire is to build in such sections where a building would meet the greatest need.

The member of the board interviewed today said: "Naturally the board will follow the line of least resistance in picking a site, but one thing is assured and that is a new school must be built in the southeastern part of the city. The increased number of children of school age demands another school."

The city still owns the property purchased last year which is located on Kensington avenue, and when another site is selected arrangements will be made to sell that tract. The wealthy residents on and in the vicinity of Kensington avenue went so far in their opposition last year as to hold a mass meeting and outline a plan of action for defeating the purposes of the board. Injunction proceedings were threatened and then the board decided to give up the plans for the present.

HIS "HIGH GRADE BUTTER" IS LOW GRADE BUTTERINE

George Moore, arrested yesterday for soliciting orders for "butter," was remanded in the city court this morning until tomorrow. An agent of the State Board of Health reported that a sample of the "butter" taken from Moore showed it to be a low grade of oleomargerine.

Moore, who says he was sent out to solicit by a man whose place of business is in Maplewood near Newark, offered his "butter" to housewives at 35 cents a pound, and is alleged to have told them it was a high grade print made by a firm whose product is a fancy one known in many States.

The police are inclined to believe that the man behind Moore is more deserving of prosecution than he, and the State Board of Health has been urged to go after the Maplewood dealer.

Chief T. O. Doane, accompanied by Robert H. Woodhouse, of this city, went to Paterson yesterday and witnessed a satisfactory test of the Knott motor-driven combination steamer and hose apparatus. This afternoon the Saurer Motor Truck Company will make a test in this city of an engine, designed for use in connection with motor-driven fire apparatus.

POLICE CHIEF TO GET PERMIT TO LEAVE CITY

Mayor's Consent Necessary, Decides Board Which Also Abolishes Reserve Duty and Arranges Vacation Scheme.

The abandonment of reserve duty at police headquarters, an arrangement for the summer vacation of the patrolmen whereby they will get their time off in regular order and the adoption of a rule that hereafter Chief of Police P. S. Kiely shall not leave the city for any purpose whatever until he first reports to Mayor G. W. V. Moy and obtains his permission are some of the important changes that have been made by the councilmanic police board.

The abolishment of the reserve plan is especially pleasing to the patrolmen. Ever since its adoption members of the force have persistently tried to have the order revoked. By this system the men have taken turns in sleeping at headquarters so that they could be called on at a moment's notice for duty. Now it is proposed to have a day and night man on duty within a block or so of headquarters so that in case of necessity he may be called into service quickly.

The arrangements for summer vacations heretofore, it appears, have not been satisfactory, the men not knowing in some instances when they were going to get their time off until a day o rtwo before, and when notified by the police chief. This left them no time for needed preparation, they say. Under the new plan they will know exactly when their vacations begin. The men will draw numbers from a box and in this way the rotation idea will be carried out, and thus any partiality, which it is alleged existed in the past, will be overcome.

There has been no definite rule regarding Chief Kiely's right to leave the city. It has been customary for him, it is reported, to go and come at his own pleasure. The situation, it is said, was thoroughly discussed by the board and it was decided that when the chief desires to be away either on duty or for pleasure he first report to the mayor and get his permission. When the chief is out of the city for any length of time, Captain Frederickson is delegated to act in his place, but by the new rule, Mayor Moy, as head of the department, will be able to keep in constant touch with the chief.

SENATOR MARTINE SAVES BOY FROM DEPORTATION

Little Pietro Solerno, the 11-year old son of G. W. Solerno, is one of the happiest boys in Elizabeth today. Uncle Sam has decided not to deport him; the appeal of United States Senator Martine, made in just the nick of time, saving Pietro from a long lonesome voyage back to Greece.

The little chap reached this country on the Duca Da Osta on January 17. Then came complications at the immigration station at Ellis Island. The immigration authorities refused to give the lad to his father and announced that he would be sent back to Greece.

The father of the boy appealed to his employer, Thomas Lowe, one of the well-known and influential merchants of the downtown section of Elizabeth.

Mr. Lowe could not budge the Ellis Island authorities. They had made up their minds. But Mr. Lowe did not give up, he got others busy.

It was at this stage of the efforts to save little Pietro to his father that Senator Martine was appealed to. The Senator lost no time in getting word to the Department of Commerce and Labor, wiring Mr. Lowe at once of the success of his efforts.

Not a few well-known Elizabethans who became interested in the case of the boy won the hearty appreciation of Mr. Lowe and the lad's father, but to Senator Martine, of course, goes full credit for the rescue.

MISS MILLIE BROWER BRIDE OF J. H. SCHMIT.

Miss Millie Brower, of Duer street, last night became the bride of J. H. Schmit, of New Brunswick, at the rectory of St. Peter's church in that city. Only the necessary witnesses were present at the marriage ceremony, which was followed by a wedding reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents on Sandford street.

The reception was attended by a large number of friends of the bride from this city. Mrs. Schmit has a large number of acquaintances in this city, particularly among the patrons of the Waldorf restaurant on East Front street, where she had been employed as a waitress for several years. Her husband is engaged in the contracting business with his father in New Brunswick.

After a wedding tour embracing the principal cities of the South they will keep house in a newly furnished home in New Brunswick given them by the bridegroom's parents.

NO WEAKLINGS THEY WITH TENDER KNEES

Braw Scots are These, Who Fear No Breeze, What Though it Freeze.

THEY'LL MARCH, ALL RIGHT

In Kilts Bedight, a Bonny Sight, to Our Delight, or—Mayhap—Fright —'Tis 'oor ain Bobbie Burns's Night:

Past Chief Robert Murray, of Clan Mackenzie and chairman of the committee in charge of the clan's concert to be given tonight in the Plainfield theatre to commemorate the anniversary of Robert Burns, Scotland's favorite son and bard, denied the rumor that the Scottish Highlander's Band, engaged to take part in the concert, would not parade prior to the entertainment on account of the cold weather.

As is well known, the Highland uniform furnishes no protection for the wearers' knees, and this fact, in connection with the cold weather, gave rise to the rumor which Chief Murray hastened to deny. The band will be met at 8 o'clock at the North avenue station by a delegation from the Clan headed by Piper MacIntosh, who will then line up as one of the pipers in the band.

The line of march will be to Watchung avenue, to East Front street, to Madison avenue, counter march on Front street to Park avenue, to the theatre. The concert will begin immediately upon arrival there.

In qualifying his denial of the rumor, Chief Murray pointed out that pneumonia does not strike at the knees and as each man is a braw, bonnie son of the land 'o heather a bit of exposure of this part of their anatomy would not be heeded and no ill effects felt. The picture of the band is displayed in Schreiner Brothers' drug store and has attracted considerable attention.

NEWCORN'S TERM UP; SUCCESSOR NOT NAMED

Trenton, Jan. 25.—Some surprise was manifested among State House politicians that Governor Wilson allowed the Legislature to adjourn this week without sending to the Senate nominations for State Commissioner of Charities and Corrections and for Judge of the District Court of Plainfield. The term of Judge William Newcorn, of the Plainfield District Court expired yesterday and that of Charities and Corrections Commissioner George B. Wight will expire today. Both officials will continue to serve until their successors are named and qualify.

Governor Wilson has given no hint as to whom he will appoint to either position. There are several aspirants for Dr. Wight's berth, among them the Rev. Aloys Fish, the Roman Catholic moral instructor at the State Prison, and Jonas A. Fuld, a merchant of this city, and for several years a member of the Board of Managers of the State Village for Epileptics. It is thought likely Governor Wilson will fill these places next week. The salary of the Commissioner of Charities and Corrections is $4,000 and the term three years. After the commissioner is named the office of assistant commissioner and architect, made vacant by the resignation of George E. Poole, will be filled. Nominally, this appointment is made by the commissioner, but the wishes of the Governor are consulted. This place pays a salary of $3,600.

PAPAL KNIGHTS AS ESCORT

Cardinal Gibbons, Twelve Bishops and Score of Monsignors See New Prince of Church Installed—Great Crowd Present.

New York, Jan. 25.—At 11 o'clock this morning, in St. Patrick's cathedral, His Eminence John Cardinal Farley was formally installed. The new prince of the Catholic church was attended by the most magnificent ceremonies provided in the ritual of Rome.

Cardinal Gibbons, twelve bishops, together with prominent monsignori from all over the country, formed an escort with the papal knights and conducted Cardinal Farley from the Cathedral college in a street procession to the door of the cathedral.

During the solemn pontifical mass, which was celebrated by Archbishop Prendergast of Philadelphia, assisted by Right Rev. Mgr. Kearney, Rev. E. M. Surrey and Rev. O. M. Strack, Cardinal Farley occupied a throne on the north side of the altar and opposite on a special mahogany throne, built for the occasion, Cardinal Gibbons sat, attended by Mgrs. Flood and McCready, his deacons of honor.

The procession from the Cathedral college started at ten minutes of 11, when the uniformed color guard of the Knights of Columbus and the Papal Knights of the Order of St. Gregory formed an escort on either side of the cardinals and proceeded down Madison avenue to Fiftieth street, through Fiftieth street to Fifth avenue and north to the middle door of the cathedral.

The Catholic club is being decorated elaborately for the reception to Cardinals Farley and Gibbons, which takes place tonight.

GRENVILLE STRONG DEAD; MARRIED LAST OCTOBER.

Grenville Temple Strong, whose wedding to Miss Margaret Alice Campbell, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Richard S. Campbell, of Rockview avenue, took place October 4 last, died last night at his home in Milwaukee after a short illness with typhoid fever. No further information than this was contained in the telegram received here this morning, although Mrs. Strong's parents here knew of her husband's illness.

The young couple after their wedding, which was one of the events of the early fall season, made their home in Milwaukee, where they were to reside for one year on account of Mr. Strong's business. After that they had intended removing to this city. His former home was at Setauket, where his mother still resides.

PRINCETON'S PRESIDENT TO BOOM MUHLENBERG

Former Governor Fort and Former State Senator Colby Also Will Help Launch Big Campaign For Funds at Dollar Dinner.

Plans for a city-wide campaign to raise funds for needed improvements to Muhlenberg Hospital will be outlined at a dinner to be held February 6, at which Dr. John Grier Hibben, Princeton's new president, and former Governor John Franklin Fort, will speak.

Former State Senator Everett Colby, Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, and J. W. Hills, president of the Mt. Vernon Hospital, will also speak at the dinner. Other noted speakers may be added to the list before the night of the banquet.

Generous contributions, aggregating a sum sufficient to meet the needs of the hosptial are expected to mark the campaign. Everyone in touch with the preliminary work of the fund executive committee is confident that the enthusiasm, organization and well-directed effort to develop from the campaign plans will bring rich returns to the institution.

The executive committee of the campaign is composed of George P. Mellick, chairman; Charles W. McCutchen, vice-chairman; Orville T. Waring, Louis K. Hyde, R. Henry Depew, Frank H. Smith, Harry W. Marshall, George H. Frost, Ernest R. Ackerman, A. E. Force, Edwin H. Ladd, Jr., Percy H. Stewart, Herman Schwed, Alexander Gilbert, Samuel Townsend, Henry A. McGee, Frank D. Warren, Charles J. Fisk, Frank J. Hubbard, James W. De Graff, Elliott T. Barrows, William F. Arnold, Frank J. Blatz, John F. Greason, Jr., and William C. Kinney.

Assisting this committee at the busy headquarters on Park avenue is Wilbur A. Bowen, who last month brought to a successful issue a campaign at Wheeling, West Virginia, which netted $250,000 in eleven days for the hospital fund in that city. Mr. Bowen has an enviable record as an organizer and has been a factor in some of the most successful campaigns throughout the country which have been undertaken for the purpose of raising funds for hospitals.

Among the sub-committees already appointed by the executive committee are the Women's Campaign Committee, the Young Men's Business Committee and the Citizens' Committee. A full list of the various committees will be announced.

That the various committees and sub-committees having in charge the active work of the campaign may be informed as to the details of the undertaking, it has been decided to hold a banquet on Tuesday evening, February 6, at which the plans will be fully outlined. Over 200 members of committees are expected to be present.

Tickets for the dinner have been placed at one dollar, which will barely cover the actual cost. No subscriptions will be solicited at the dinner. Its purpose is to insure a thorough understanding of the campaign on the part of everyone who takes active part in it.

The executive committee will welcome all citizens who desire to attend the banquet, the only limit being that of the caterers to take proper care of the gatherings.

A good many people in Plainfield and vicinity are expected to take an enthusiastic personal interest in helping to make Muhlenberg not only the best, but also one of the most efficient hospitals in the State.

Never before in the history of any important movement in Plainfield may the leaders in the campaign movement, have the initial stages of the work attracted such general interest, created more favorable comment, or enlisted the co-operation of so many prominent citizens as is the case in this campaign. At the proper time every resident of the city and borough, of Dunellen, Scotch Plains, South Plainfield and Fanwood, will be given an opportunity to swell this fund.

COMMITTED TO NO SINGLE SEWER PLAN

Councilmanic Body Decides to Consider Dunellen Protest Against Cramer Farm.

SUB-COMMITTEE APPOINTED

It Will Co-operate With the Mayor—Recommendation For the Extension of West End Streets—No Time For Budget.

Questions relating to the proposed change and improvement of the city sanitary sewer system and the improvements of streets were discussed at a meeting of the councilmanic committee on streets and sewers, last night.

Since the action of the Common Council in voting to join with North Plainfield in having a preliminary survey made, with an estimated cost with a view to establishing sewage disposal beds on the Cramer farm for the use of the city and borough, there has been a lively discussion of the matter. The fact developed at the sewer conference at Dunellen last week that the residents of that community do oppose the plan of the city and borough to locate on the Cramer farm.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy, who attended last night's meeting by invitation, was requested to state what happened at the Dunellen conference. He stated briefly that he heard expressions of opposition to the city and borough plan provided the Cramer site was chosen, but that they were favorable to the Zvolenek farm as a place for locating the beds.

It was learned that, naturally, Bound Brook favors the Cramer farm, it being a further distance away from that place. State Senator W. W. Smalley has expressed a desire that the Cramer farm be decided upon.

There seemed to be a decided feeling that the strong sentiment of the Dunellen residents against the selection of the Cramer site should be duly considered, and it was finally agreed that a special committee be appointed to act with Mayor Moy in taking up the matter. Those chosen to co-operate with the Mayor are Councilmen F. L. Holt and Fred Endress.

In view of the many suggestions, which include a tidewater plan favored by Dunellen and other communities, the local sewer committee does not feel warranted in committing itself to any one plan at present. The preliminary survey with the estimated cost of going to the Cramer farm will be presented by George W. Fuller, engineer, before February 1 and will give the city and borough councilmen something definite to work upon.

The application of the Standard Oil Company for permission to locate storage tanks in the vicinity of Rock avenue was considered and the company was requested to present blueprint plans showing what it proposes to do. Action will be taken later on the matter.

Considerable time was given to a discussion of plans for opening several streets in the West End, and it was decided to recommend that McDowell and Bergen streets and Manson place be extended through to Fourth street. Spruce street was also mentioned for similar improvement, but that will be taken up at a future meeting.

The committee also wants to open Fifth street from Grant avenue to Darrow avenue and that improvement will receive further consideration. So much time was devoted to sewers and street matters that there was none left for consideration of the annual budget. That was left for another meeting.

However, it is the opinion of some of the members that last year's figures of $40,000 may be cut down a trifle. That is the sentiment, at least, and it will be done if possible.

Those attending last night's meeting were Councilmen Tolles, Gloag, Taylor, Endress, C. C. Randolph, Wilson, Holt, Clay, Mygatt, Street Commissioner Gavett and Mayor Moy.

A Great Sale.

The remarkable values at Lev Bros.' selling out sale are bringing the people back day after day. Undoubtedly this is one of the greatest sales that Plainfield ever saw and emphasizes the fact that the public certainly appreciates extraordinary values when they are offered. Don't let anything keep you from attending it. Every dollar's worth of goods is going regardless of cost.

IRON WORKS CLOSED BY CENTRAL TRAINS

MUST TUNNEL TO BREAK

Plant, Lacking Water For Boilers, Cannot Resume Operations For Several Days—Accident Due to Unusual Depth of Frost.

Owing to a broken water main, the Levgar Structural Iron Works at Dunellen was obliged to close down yesterday morning. The pipe runs under the Central railroad tracks and it is thought that the solidly frozen ground bore down on the pipe under the weight of passing trains and snapped it off.

A large force of men was put to work tunnelling to the break, and it will take several days to repair the damage.

The water supply for generating steam at the works is pumped from Lonegut brook on the opposite side of the railroad tracks. The pipes run directly under the tracks into the tracks into the boiler room at a sufficient distance from the surface to overcome the vibration ordinarily.

Owing to the recent cold snap it is feared that the frost penetrated deeper into the ground than heretofore making an unresisting mass between the tracks and top of the pipe. Under the pipe the soil is still soft and unfrozen.

As the heavy trains pass over the spot a large part of their weight was put upon the pipe and it is thought that this caused the break. A special length of pipe was secured and as soon as possible will replace the broken one.

Until this is accomplished the fires in the works will be drawn, silencing the steam propelled machines for drilling and cutting the iron.

DRUNK OR NOT, BAD TALKER AMENABLE UNDER THIS BILL.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—Back of a simple bill introduced this week by Assemblyman Stickle, of Essex county, is the desire to remove an incongruity that has existed for years in the laws of the State regarding disorderly persons. At the present time proper language used by a drunken man in public places is not a crime, but if used by a sober man is a punishable offense. Mr. Stickel's bill would make the crime as great in an intoxicated person as for one with his senses clear.

"Ridiculous" is a word that has been applied by judges to the present law when they have been compelled to release prisoners supposedly guilty of an offense under the section of 1898 of the disorderly persons act. The third section of the act says:

"Any person or persons who shall loiter * * * being under the influence of intoxicating liquor, or who, not being under such influence, shall * * * indulge in and utter loud and offensive or indecent language," shall be deemed disorderly.

Mr. Stickel has redrafted the entire section, so that "any person or persons" who shall use offensive language in public places will be guilty of disorderly conduct.

TEACHERS' MEETING IS CALLED FOR JANUARY 27.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—About one year ago the teachers in the State who were interested in the Teachers' Retirement Fund, organized county branches. The object in so doing was to establish communities of interest and to make it possible to reach those who do not attend the annual meetings of the members held in connection with the State Teachers' Association.

The second State meeting will be held in Mercer County Court House on Saturday, January 27, at 12 m. for the purpose of adopting a constitution and by-laws. All teachers belonging to the fund are urged to attend.

Wins Suit After 16 Years.

Jersey City, Jan. 25.—After waiting more than sixteen years to have his suit for damages against the Lackawanna Railroad tried, Thomas Voss, fifty-nine years old, of Jersey avenue and Sixteenth street, has received an award of $8,257. While building fires in a locomotive on January 9, 1896, Voss was injured in a collision. His left leg was crushed and afterward was amputated. Soon afterward he brought suit for $30,000. Since then the suit has been pending, the original lawyers in the case having died.

J. William Kline, of Central avenue, is able to be out after being confined to his home during the past two months with illness.

REIGN OF TERROR IMMINENT IN CHINA

Republican Leaders In Struggle For Supremacy.

Shanghai, Jan. 25.—The situation is intensely critical. It is feared that political ambitions will plunge China into a terrible civil war.

The deadlock between the imperialists and the republicans has not been broken, though negotiations continue and many telegrams are exchanged. The peace commissioners are reticent.

The issue is no longer the form of government, but who is to be president. Sun Yat Sen or Yuan Shih Kai.

Political terrorism prevails. The revelation of the real cause of the hitch has brought the fear that prominent republican officials will reveal the whole circumstances. Tang Shao Yi and Wu Ting Fang have received terrorist warnings not to talk.

The coincidence of the attempt to assassinate Yuan Shih Kai with the changed republican demands is regarded as significant. The perpetrators of the crime have confessed and are believed to have named prominent republicans as their accomplices.

It is asserted that fear of Yuan Shih Kai's vengeance, if he should become president, has been spread in order to prevent an agreement.

TWO VICTIMS INNOCENT.

Georgia Mob's Action Proved to Be Hasty.

Hamilton, Ga., Jan. 25.—Developments following the lynching here Monday night of four negroes, one of them a mulatto girl, for the alleged murder of Norman Hadley, indicate that the mob certainly put two innocent persons to death and probably three. And there is no real evidence that the fourth had anything to do with the killing.

It is certain that the girl, Bertha Hathaway, was entirely innocent, and it is said that John Cruickshank and Herbert Henderson, two of the three men lynched, could have established alibis. Hadley was an unmarried planter, and it is said he was infatuated with the girl, Bertha. He had been pursuing her and had been warned to keep away. He disregarded the warning, however, and Sunday afternoon went to the girl's home and tried to get her to come out and meet him. While there he was shot, but no one knows by whom. Henry Anderson, one of the negroes lynched, is said to have wanted to marry the girl, and it is possible that he shot the young planter.

BOTH LOVED SAME MAN.

Sisters Attempt Suicide, and One Will Die.

Baltimore, Jan. 25.—Because they loved the same man, who was the husband of one of them, Mrs. Mary Brown, twenty-three years old, and her sister, Mrs. Martha Weinelt, twenty-five, attempted suicide.

Mrs. Brown is at Mercy hospital dying from swallowing carbolic acid. Mrs. Weinelt failed in her effort on her life.

Mrs. Weinelt stated in the presence of witnesses that she loved the husband of her sister and that she believed Mrs. Brown had attempted to end her life as the result of learning this fact.

Mrs. Brown swallowed carbolic acid and told her mother she did so because "Martha said she loved Ed." Mrs. Weinelt, learning what her sister had done, hurried to her room and was in the act of swallowing poison when her mother and a neighbor snatched the vial from her lips.

TAFT WINS AT YALE.

Students Elect Him President Over Wilson.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 25.—When the ballots cast in the presidential election at Yale were counted the result showed a vote of 470 for President Taft to 211 for Woodrow Wilson. At the primaries President Taft and Governor Wilson were nominated by the students to head their respective parties at the election. Ballot boxes were placed in the Yale postoffice and each student who cast a ballot put his name to it. There was keen interest in the election.

TAFT TURNS TO NAGEL.

Supreme Court Place to Go to Cabinet Member.

Washington, Jan. 25.—President Taft within the last twelve hours has switched from Judge William C. Hook to Charles Nagel, his secretary of commerce and labor, as the most likely candidate for appointment to the United States supreme court in place of the late Justice Harlan.

Judge Hook's name has not been dropped entirely, but it is known that the president is now disposed to appoint Mr. Nagel.

T. R. BOOMERS TO MEET.

The convention will meet in Chicago, Indianapolis or Cincinnati, the point to be decided later.

PLAINFIELD HIGH FIVE TRIUMPHS IN WESTFIELD

The Plainfield High School boys basketball team won its game yesterday afternoon at Westfield, defeating the Westfield High School five in a fast, rough contest by a score of 23 to 15.

The game, which is the second victory for the P. H. S. boys this season, was marked by many difficult shots and fast team work and accurate passing on both sides. A return game will be played in the local gymnasium tomorrow afternoon.

One of the baskets on the Westfield court is placed in a poor position under a gallery and it is only with difficulty that goals can be made by the team playing at that end of the court. Westfield lost the toss in the first half and P. H. S. proceeded to make baskets with great skill at the other end of the court while they held their opponents under close guard.

Captain Ricketts of the local five who has been out of the game for some time, started things going for his team by dropping the ball through the net in the first few minutes of play. Zerega followed with two baskets, which were interrupted only by another foul goal by Ricketts. Although Westfield had a number of chances to score they could not make their shots count and Elliott made the only field goal for the team.

Two foul goals by Walsh completed the scoring for the home team in this half. Ricketts and Zerega who made a fast scoring combination for P. H. S., took turns at throwing baskets and before the period had ended they had three and four baskets respectively, and in addition Ricketts was credited with one foul goal. The half ended with P. H. S. keeping a safe lead with a score of 15 to 4.

The second half of the game was fast and rough which resulted in many fouls. Westfield had the best basket in this period which gave them a slight advantage. The Westfield boys started off at a rapid pace in this half and Walsh started the scoring by finding the basket from a difficult angle early in the period. Ricketts followed with a basket for P. H. S. after Burgh had registered two points from the foul line for Westfield. Zerega dropped with only one basket in this half and Ricketts did the rest of the scoring for P. H. S. by throwing a well placed basket and two foul goals.

Elliot and Botchman shared honors for Westfield by each throwing one basket. The contest was especially fast at the end of the game and both teams played with spirit which resulted in numerous fouls. Walsh had his eye trained on the basket and threw three fouls in succession from free shots for Westfield. Nash and VanZandt, both played an exceptionally strong game at guard for P. H. S. and held their forwards to no score from play.

Wittle replaced Botchman just at the end of the period for Westfield and Woodhull took Carty's place at center for P. H. S. in the second half. The lineup follows:

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Here is a long distance record indicating at least adaptability and perhaps even sterner virtues; in a career of nineteen years as a Charles Frohman star, John Drew has only had six leading ladies—Maud Adams, Margaret Illington, Ida Conquest, Billie Burke, Margaret Dale and Mary Boland. The latter will appear with him in "A Single Man" at the Plainfield theatre Thursday night, February 8.

"The Authors' Producing Company," an organization in which many of the country's leading managers and prominent playwrights are interested; an amalgamation which exerts a decided influence for the good of the American stage, will offer the first example of its efforts at the Plainfield theatre February 5, when Chas. Klein's gripping play, "The Gamblers," will be seen for the first time locally.

Five Big Features.

With the issue of The New York World for Sunday, February 4—one week from next Sunday. First there will be the James Montgomery Flagg series of full-page drawings entitled "The Adventures of Kitty Cobb;" a new series of Charles Dickens characters in full page form, drawn by the famous Charles Dana Gibson; a new Sherlock Holmes story by Sir A. Conan Doyle; an eight-page fashion sheet in colors, and a sixteen-page Joke Book with colored covers. As they used to say in the circus, "High? that fot high?" Don't forget the complete Joke Book next Sunday.

P. H. S. JUNIOR QUINTET LAMBASTE SOPHOMORES

The junior basketball team of the Plainfield High School, which has kept up a steady pace in the lead for the interclass championship won another game yesterday afternoon by defeating the sophomore class five by a score of 48 to 16.

The game was loosely played with lots of shooting, which accounted for the overwhelming score. Heron, who has been starring at basket throwing for the juniors, played a fast game yesterday and was the largest point winner for his team.

In the first half he threw four baskets and a foul goal and continued his good work in the second period by throwing four baskets. Brynlaski, at center for the juniors, also had his eye on the basket and threw four baskets and took advantage of five fouls in the second half by dropping the ball through the net with hardly a miss. The juniors ran away from their opponents in the first half which ended with a score of 15 to 3.

In the second period the sophomores made a good start and added rapidly to their score but the juniors soon started some fast team work and by their accurate shooting decidedly outclassed the sophs. In this half Hetfield played a strong game for the lower class men and by getting loose from his man shot five field goals and two foul baskets.

Snyder at center for the sophomores, completed their scoring by throwing two baskets. The lineup follows:

The question "Resolved, That tennis is a better all-round game than golf," was debated by the members of the sophomore English class yesterday. One half took the affirmative side and the other half the negative. The affirmative side won. Paul A. Mertz was in charge of the debate, acting as judge.

The N. P. H. S. Chess Club will soon elect officers and discuss plans for forming a permanent organization. There is at present a membership of about fifteen, including William P. Taylor, Edmund J. Kenney, Carroll C. Taylor, Franklin Lowe, Roy Love, Alan Diman, Charles Beckman, George Townley, Lawrence French and Dusloe VanMater.

The N. P. H. S. basketball five will meet the team from the Manual Training High School, of New York, at Debele Hall, Saturday afternoon. Earlier in the season the borough team was defeated by the Brooklyn aggregation.

The cast comprises Carroll Taylor, George Townley, Ducloe VanMater, Lawrence French, William Taylor, Ralph Smalley, and the Misses Lucile Ewart, Anna Warnock, Mildred McAuliff and Margaret Woolston. Paul A. Mertz will be the coach. The committee in charge comprises Edmund J. Kenney, George Townley and William P. Taylor.

The N. P. H. S. juniors were defeated in an exciting basketball game with the sophomores at Debele Hall, yesterday afternoon, the final score being 13 to 7. Love did most of the scoring for the victorious team. Spencer and Fetherton did the best work for the puniors. The lineup: Sophomores—Forwards, Diman, Beckman; center, Love; guards, Ketcham, Kecklein. Juniors—Forwards, Spencer, Underhill; center, Schmidt; guards, Herman, Fetherton.

Rehearsals have begun for the production of a play to be given under the auspices of the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association. The cast for the play, which is H. J. Washington, Jan. 25.—A federal automobile law is proposed in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Volsted of Minnesota. It provides that for the payment of $10 a year the good roads bureau shall issue a federal automobile license to any person applying in good faith.

CLAY ACCUSED OF FRAUD.

Philadelphia Political Leader Indicted With Three Others.

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—Accused of conspiracy to defraud the city of Philadelphia in the awarding of contracts, Henry Clay, former director of public safety, and three others were indicted here. The other defendants are Carl Zilenziger, city architect; John R. Wiggins, and Willard H. Walls, president and treasurer, respectively, of a contracting firm.

BRYAN'S IDEA ADOPTED.

Publicity of Judgeship Indorsements Adopted by House.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The hand of William J. Bryan was laid on the house of representatives and that body gave its indorsement to one proposition that the Nebraskan has been advocating in season and out for a long time. The house adopted an amendment to a judiciary bill, the amendment providing that "before the president shall appoint any district, circuit or supreme judge he shall make public all indorsements made in behalf of any applicant."

Mr. Bryan has repeatedly urged in the Commoner the enactment of a law of this sort. While President Taft was on his western trip last summer Mr. Bryan made a public speech on the subject, to which Mr. Taft replied. Only a short time ago Mr. Bryan, speaking at the Jackson day banquet here, urged this scheme for publicity of judicial indorsements, but the Democrats did not anticipate that one of their number would spring the proposition. Representative Cullop of Indiana, a Bryan follower, turned the trick. He offered the above amendment to the Evans bill, which creates an additional district judge in Chicago and drops one circuit judgeship, the latter being the one caused by the resignation of Judge Grosscup.

APPEAL TO JAPAN.

Chinese Imperial Clan Asks Mikado For Help.

Peking, Jan. 25.—There is a rumor in circulation that the imperial clan has or will appeal to Japan to save the empire. The Princes Tsai Hsun, Tsai Tao and Chun, the former regent, according to the report, urged the dowager empress to take this course and she consented.

Well informed people do not believe that Japan will listen to such an appeal now, although she might have done so at the beginning of the revolution.

There is more talk of a renewal of the fighting and also of difficulties about raising funds which are bothering both sides.

CROWD FIGHTS TO ESCAPE

Marjorie Kellner, Nineteen, Is Victim of Mysterious Explosion In United States Factory at Perth Amboy. Sight of Her Body Starts Panic.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Jan. 25.—The loading machines in the big factory of the United States Cartridge company were droning incessantly; and the 300 girls who make the instruments of death for Uncle Sam's army were working swiftly and silently.

Suddenly there was a flash and a thunderlike crash. The girls, screaming, struggling out of the wreckage and starting a panic rush for the stairs, saw at the end of the room where the explosion had occurred a sight that doubled their alarm.

A moment before Marjorie Kellner, nineteen years old, had been working at a loading machine some distance away from the other girls. Now her startled companions saw her crushed and unconscious form against the wall of the room twenty feet from the machine which she had operated. The girl's body, hurled by the force of the explosion, fairly clung to the wall.

Two men employees at the foot of the stairs called to the excited girls, "Where is the powder girl?" That was Miss Kellner, who had been at work in the plant only ten days. The men got no answer and fought their way up the stairs, where they found the dying girl.

Several of the young women declared that two machinists had attempted to shut the stairs doors. The girls overpowered the men, they said.

Miss Kellner lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kellner, at Sixth and Watson streets, Perth Amboy. Her mother is in such a critical condition from shock that Dr. Ramsey was called to attend her.

Some of them said Miss Kellner should not have been given the machine because of her inexperience. They declared she was earning only $6 a week and risking her life all the time.

YEAR FOR KOEHNLE.

Mays Landing, N. J., Jan. 25.—Louis Kuehnle was sentenced by Justice Kalish to one year's imprisonment at hard labor and a fine of $1,000. The Commodore, as he was called by those whom he has ruled in Atlantic county for many years, never budged, but the little courtroom, packed with spectators, gasped at the falling of the idol.

Kuehnle was convicted of awarding a contract for the construction of a timber water conduit across the meadows to a concern in which he was indirectly interested while he was water commissioner of Atlantic City. At the same time he was sentenced George Amole and Thomas McDevitt, convicted of conspiracy to defeat the election laws in 1909, were sentenced, Amole to six months and McDevitt to three months in prison. Frank Enderline, John Unsworth and J. Harry May, members of the county board of freeholders, recently convicted of grafting, were each given a year in the penitentiary.

SURGEON IS MAROONED.

Dr. G. H. Balleray Waits Moderation In Temperature.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 25.—Dr. George H. Balleray, one of New Jersey's foremost surgeons, is marooned on a small island off the coast of North Carolina, where the only evidences of civilization are an old lighthouse and a few fishermen's shacks. He managed to send word to his family in Paterson that he awaits a moderation of the temperature so that a boat may be propelled to the mainland.

The surgeon left for the island three weeks ago. Within a few days after his arrival a cold snap came and covered the channel between the island and mainland with huge ice cakes.

Discover Plot to Damage Trenton's New City Hall.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 25.—The police are investigating what is thought a malicious plot to damage the new million dollar city hall here.

Trouble developed with the heating plant. The engine was taken down and the suction end of the pump was found plugged with blocks of wood.

The city commission received a report on the plot and at once ordered a thorough investigation. Members said they were uncertain whether the intention was to blow up the new building or merely a plan to embarrass the new force of men employed in the heating department.

Hiccough Victim Improves.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 25.—For the first time in ten days Miss Mary Shinn, the "girl with the hiccoughs," is able to be up and about her room and is entirely free from the convulsions that for nearly two weeks shook her frame.

Plainfield, N. J., January 25, 1912.

As the initial step of a movement to provide adequate financial support for Muhlenberg hospital, the campaign executive committee today announces its plans for a dollar dinner to be held on Tuesday night, February 6. It is not proposed on that occasion to solicit funds, the purpose being to bring together the men of the community and to have explained to them the object of the city-wide campaign shortly to be started. That funds have been sorely needed for some years to permit needed improvements to be made at the institution is a matter of common knowledge. Strange as it may seem, the current expenses of the hospital have been met to a large extent by the contributions of some very few men; generous hearted citizens who have gone down in their pockets to make up any shortage from time to time. This is a condition which reflects no credit on the community at large, a community richer per capita possibly than nine hundred and ninety-nine out of a thousand of similar size in the country. It is not only to remedy this deplorable situation but to provide means for urgent improvements that the campaign is planned.

When one considers for a moment that more than half of the patients treated at Muhlenberg do not contribute one penny for the medical services rendered, it will be readily understood why the hospital is not self-supporting. The institution is open to all and there are absolutely no religious, political or other restrictions. Never has one in need of medical attention been turned from its doors. But hundreds and hundreds in dire poverty have found there free medical treatment and have been given the same attention that the millionaire would receive. The monthly reports of the institution, as published in these columns, are the best testimonial of the hospital's real value to the community for they show precisely just what is being done in the various departments. Muhlenberg is in need itself now, it needs your help, and when the campaign is actually launched we look with confidence for a popular and liberal response to the appeal for money.

Louis Kuehnle, for many years the Republican boss of Atlantic City and county, yesterday was sentenced to serve one year at hard labor in State's prison and to pay a fine of $1,000, after having been convicted some weeks ago of criminal conspiracy, in which he manipulated a city contract, which he signed as a water commissioner, so that he personally benefitted. At the same time several of his henchmen were sentenced to varying terms in the county jail and State's prison, for wrong doing in office and for vote buying. Not in years has justice been so well wrought in this State as is the case in Atlantic County. It is a great victory for the people of the whole State to have the men sent to jail who have been largely instrumental in holding the nation's greatest seaside resort and incidentally the courts of the State, up to shame as the most corruptly governed community in the nation, with the possible exception of San Francisco and Seattle. Of course an appeal will be taken, but the higher courts of New Jersey are beyond political influence, and unless it can be shown that the trial was not fairly conducted, which we doubt, Kuehnle will have to serve his time.

Democratic members of the Legislature are going to try to start another probe into State affairs. This seems to be a regular habit with them. In 1907 when they had control of the House of Assembly a careful examination was made into the management of a number of institutions, and several of the State departments. As a result a number of radical changes and reforms were made, and a good many bad spots in the State government were eliminated. If, however, the idea of the investigation is to reduce the number of clerks and the running expenses of the State House, we suspect that it would be disclosed that New Jersey is getting full value for the money spent in this way. There has been a lot of talk for years about the expense of conducting the various State departments, but when careful examination has been made it has been found repeatedly by would-be investigators that there are none too many employes engaged in the service of the State.

Governor Blease, of South Carolina, who has been getting his name in the newspapers with more or less frequency recently, because of his radical ideas, and peculiar conceptions of justice toward the colored folks, is now having a row with the Legislature in his home State. Blease is the man who felt that his first duty was to attend a meeting of a minor grand lodge last fall, when a large majority of the other Governors of the States of the Union were gathering at the annual conference at Spring Lake.

Another New York society man has sailed away expressing his disgust for the Knickerbocker smart set. This time it is Col. John Jacob Astor. William Waldorf Astor and James Hazen Hyde are two other conspicuous examples in recent years. The only regretable feature is the loss in taxes, otherwise one might be tempted to say "good riddance."

The anthracite miners' demands include an advance of twenty per cent. in wages and an eight-hour day. They also insist on a minimum daily wage of $3.50. Now you can begin to figure on your coal bill for next winter.

Now that Senator Tillman has rushed to the defense of Gov. Wilson, the only way to settle the controversy is to have a debate between "Pitchfork Ben" and "Marse Henry" Watterson.

London raised one-third of a million for its Y. M. C. A. while Philadelphia raised a whole million, and yet some people say that the Quaker City is slow.

MINIMUM ELECTRIC LIGHT RATE SUSTAINED

Trenton, Jan. 25.—That the exaction of a minimum charge of $1 per month "per plant or installation" by electric lighting companies is just and reasonable, is the finding of the State Utility Commission as announced today. In its memorandum presenting the finding, the board says that such a minimum charge by the month is really more equitable than if the charge were made by the year.

The board holds that a charge of $1 per meter is excessive where more than one meter is installed, but that a charge of fifty cents per meter per month is not excessive or unreasonable for each additional meter installed on the same premises for the same customer, supplied through the same service.

The further finding of the commission is that where a customer requests that service be discontinued for a period of at least one month or more, the minimum charge should be waived by the company during such period. Also, that where a customer requires service for a limited period only, a reasonable charge may be made for the work of connecting and discontinuing the service.

The commission holds that all information as to rates and schedules should be available to customers and that the minimum rate should be made a part of the schedule as filed.

With refernce to electric power, the board says it does not regard a minimum charge of fifty cents per horse power per month excessive or unreasonable and that it further determines that a minimum charge for electric power service of $1 per month is not excessive or unreasonable. These findings are the result of consideration given the subject following allegations contained in complaints received by the commission.

GETTING READY FOR PRIZE SPEAKING AT HIGH SCHOOL

The preliminaries for the prize speaking contest to be held at the annual alumni reception on Washington's Birthday took place yesterday afternoon at the Plainfield High School. Four boys and as many girls were chosen to take part in the final contest in competition for a prize of ten dollars for the boy and the same to the girl delivering the best address.

The contest has been made a feature of the alumni reception for several years and is open only to members in the course of public speaking at P. H. S.

Fourteen students entered the preliminary contest and all handled their selections so well that it was only with great difficulty that the judges, which including six of the factulty, could decided on eight people for the finals.

A majority of those taking part were members of the senior class and several including Margaret Russell and Frank Cullen have taken part in the former contests. Those who were chosen will meet with Samuel Howe, who is director of the course in public speaking and perfect their selections before the final contest.

The girls, who were selected are Miss Margaret Russell, who recited a selected "Our Nation's Flag"; Miss Marion Wean, who recited "The Death of Benedict Arnold;" Miss Ruth Maguire, whose selection was "Virginia," and Miss Helen Woolley, who recited a poem, "Lasca."

The boys who were chosen for the finals and their pieces were: Roy Titsworth, who recited "Abraham Lincoln," Frank Cullen, who recited Rienzi's Address;" Schuyler Line, who gave "Marc Antony's Funeral Oration;" and Burnett Doane, who recited "A Tribute to Our Honored Dead." Among the others who entered were Misses Janette Neighbor and Hannah Nelson and Bruce Conlin, Raymond Manley, Milton Fine and Elmer Hunting.

BETTS DECIDES AGAINST THE MAYOR OF HOBOKEN

Trenton, Jan. 25.—Following an appeal heard yesterday before Assistant State School Commissioner J. Brognard Betts by four members of the Board of Education, Hoboken, Mr. Betts ruled that the Mayor had no auhtority to act under the law of 1911 and name a new board.

The appeal on the part of the members of the board who hold over under the old law maintain that the act of 1911 is unconstitutional because of its faulty classification, and does not apply to Hoboken, if constitutional, for the reason that the act excepts from its provisions boards of less than nine members.

The members of the Hoboken Board of Education have been selected under the same act as those in Trenton the board consisting of eight members with the mayor having the right to vote in case of a tie. The mayor is an ex-officio member of the board. The Hoboken mayor regarded the mayor's right to vote as making him a member of the board, and that, therefore, the board comprises nine members.

The members of the new board were to have taken office the first of next February. The case is practically certain to be carried to the Supreme Court. Counsellor Merrit Lane appeared for the members of the old board and John J. Fallon for Mayor Cooke.

Mr. Betts filed a written opinion following his oral decision, and in this opinion after reviewing the case, wrote in part, as follows:

"The powers of the mayor under Chapter 49 of the laws of 1892 are limited to voting to break a tie vote in the Board of Education. This does not make him a member of the Board of Education within the meaning of Chapter 233 of the laws of 1911. The Board of Education of the City of Hoboken is not affected by the provisions of Chapter 233, P. L. 1911 and the members of said board are to be appointed in the same manner as heretofore."

SHORT-WEIGHT DEALERS ADMITTED THEIR GUILT.

The fining of one Elizabeth short-weight coal dealer $100 Tuesday was followed yesterday by three other dealers pleading guilty. Seelig Goldberg was the first to be found guilty Tuesday.

The three coal dealers arraigned yesterday in the City Criminal Court are Louis Perselay, Samuel J. Gold, and Esther Monyak. Their lawyers advised their clients to retract and plead guilty, which the prisoners did. In consideration of this Judge Mahon only fined them $50 each. Perselay, who is only four months in business and is in poor financial shape, was given until February to pay his fine. The other two paid.

Judge Mahon was surprised when Mrs. Monyak "plunked" down on his desk a large bag containing $50 in pennies, nickles and dimes. The court refused to accept the fine in that form and ordered the prisoner to go to the bank and get bills.

ASSESSORS WOULD KILL TAX BILL, OFFICIAL SAYS.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—Taxation officials from various parts of the State, together with Assistant Tax Commissioner Heydrick, of New York, and A. C. Pleydell, of North Plainfield, secretary of the National Tax Association, had a conference Tuesday afternoon with Senator Pierce on the bill he has introduced for a reformation of the taxation system of the State.

Somewhat of a shock was administered to the Senator almost at the start of the conference by the declaration of John P. Dullard, one of the Trenton tax commissioners, that the bill could not be passed if the section were retained providing for the ousting from office of all tax assessors in places having less than 30,000 population. Mr. Dullard stated that as a practical proposition the opposition of the great number of assessors who would lose their jobs would be sufficient to doom the bill from the very start.

TAKING STEPS FOR NEW BERNARDSVILLE SCHOOL.

The Board of Education of Bernards Township has considered the question of a new High School building in Bernardsville. Dr. C. M. Henry, as chairman of the building committee, reported that plans and specifications had been approved by the State Board of Education.

The local board adopted the plans, although John J. Foley, Joseph Buck, John Whitenack voted in the negative. It was then decided to authorize the building committee to procure bids for a new building not to cost more than $32,000.

The standing committee on buildings and grounds was authorized to advise with the State inspector of school buildings with reference to the plumbing of the Basking Ridge School and the changes in the light and ventilation in keeping with the new law on the subject.

Says He Stole for Babies.

After fighting since January 17 in the Chicago courts to secure extradition papers to bring Paul Horwitz to Morris county, where he is wanted on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, Detective Edward L. Brenan landed his man in Morristown Tuesday night. Horwitz says that Wall street ruined him. He also declares that he stole to save his babies from starvation.

TAFT MEN IN STATE GET ON 'FIRING LINE'

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 25.—The activity of some of the New Jersey Progressive Republicans in the interest of the nomination of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt for President, has stirred the stalwarts to redoubled efforts in behalf of the re-nomination of President Taft. For example, Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson and other "regulars" in Hudson county are leaving no stone unturned to make Hudson solid for Taft. The William H. Taft Association, an organization formed by Colonel Dickinson and of which he is treasurer, has been incorporated and branches are being organized throughout the county. A club house has been leased in Hoboken and is being fitted up for active campaign purposes. The Union Hill Republican Association, another Hudson county club, has adopted resolutions.

BURGLAR TIES AGED GREEN VILLAGE WOMAN TO BED.

Awakened by the brushing of a hand across her face, Mrs. Jemima Egbert, a widow, eighty years old, found herself bound to the bed with ropes, and a burglar in the room at her home in Green Village early yesterday morning. She screamed and struggled to free herself, whereat the intruder fled.

It was an hour before the woman, who is deaf and partially bind, was able to loosen the knot and run to a neighbor's house. She is suffering from shock.

Mrs. Egbert lives alone in the house, which is situated some distance from the nearest dwelling.

After Mrs. Egbert's frantic, though feeble, struggles had freed her she dressed and ran to the home of Andrew Hilbert, where she told of her experience. Mr. Hilbert was inclined at first to attribute her story to the effect of a dream. He went to the house in response to her appeals. He found the rope attached to the bed, the handkerchief, and other traces of the nocturnal visitor.

Horse Bites Girls' Hand.

Jersey City, Jan. 25.—On her way to school yesterday Mary Hatchett, eight years old, of 140 Halliday street, attempted to pet the horse of John Bookman, a grocer. The animal snapped at the girl, biting a big piece from her left hand. The child went screaming to the office of Dr. Coyle, who treated the wound. The horse has bitten several others, so it is said, and is usually muzzled.

$5,000 Fire In Stirling.

The German Maennerchor Hall in Stirling was totally destroyed by fire yesterday, entailing a loss of $5,000. The bowling club connected with the hall used the alleys until midnight, and when the members left there everything seemed secure. No one knows how the fire originated. It was discovered by one of the Swanson brothers, who arose at 3 o'clock to prepare to start on his milk route to Plainfield. He aroused the neighbors, but they could do nothing to save the building.

Autopsy on Body of Rehosch.

An autopsy on the body of Otto Rehosch at Westfield Tuesday disclosed no evidence, it is said, that death was not due to natural causes. Rehosch was thrown from his wagon several weeks ago, when the vehicle was struck by an automobile at Mountainside, where Rehosch lived. It was reported that injuries sustained then caused his death. The autopsy was performed Tuesday at the town hall, Westfield, by direction of County Physician W. W. Westcott.

POLICE OF BERLIN.

Each One Is a Sort of Czar on His Own Limited Beat.

EVERY PERSON IS WATCHED.

Where a Man Works, How He Amuses Himself and the Way He Behaves It Is the Officer's Business to Know. The Civil Service System.

"When you arrive at a railway station in Berlin," said a professional man who spent a year in Berlin, "you are not surrounded by a clamoring crowd of cab drivers, some of whom a stranger would be foolish to trust. You tell a policeman what you want—whether a cab or a porter—and he gives you a number. When you emerge from the station a uniformed governmental employee, either cab driver or porter, stands at attention and salutes you in a military manner. He has been ordered for you by the policeman inside, and when he presents his number, corresponding to the one the policeman gave you, you can trust him to take you or your luggage wherever it is to go. The government is responsible for the safe arrival of yourself and your luggage at hotel or other destination. If the porter should run away with your belongings the government would reimburse you.

"The police system is wonderful. The officers carry no revolvers or clubs, only swords. Each one has only a small beat to cover—a couple of blocks or so—that he has time to be the monitor of the moral conduct of every person in his district. He knows exactly what each person is doing, where he is working, how he is spending his leisure time and whether he is behaving himself. There is very little crime, and the police courts have little business.

"If you commit an offense you are not dragged off to a police station. Instead, your name and address are taken by the officer in the district, and the next day a letter informs you that you have been fined an amount in keeping with the character of your offense. You are told that you either can send the money by messenger or appear at the prefect's office for trial at a certain time. It doesn't pay to give a policeman a wrong address either, because the system is so perfect that they will find you anyway and fine you more.

"The policemen are instructed to prevent infractions of the laws not to wait for persons to get into trouble and then arrest them. Each policeman has such a small district to cover that you can find one whenever you want one. He sees that his district is kept clean, that each house in it is sanitary and that each resident gets fair treatment from his neighbor. Disputes are settled with no thought of appeal before they ever get to the police station.

"Soon after I arrived I was on my way to the university one morning and saw a policeman at a cab stand examining the hoofs and backs of the horses, the harness and the cushions and wheels of the cabs.

"'What are you doing?' I asked him politely.

"'As a representative of my government,' he replied, 'I am inspecting to see that the passengers of these cabmen are assured a safe journey with them. The government is responsible, you know, and it is my duty to see that all dangers and possibilities of discomforts are eliminated.'

"His answer was given in a most courteous manner.

"There are no paupers in Germany. Everybody pays as he goes. You can see the result in the independent manner of even the street sweeper. He knows he shall be provided for in case he encounters adversity.

"For instance, suppose a lamplighter or a bootblack becomes ill or suffers an accident. By the way, the bootblacks of Berlin do a thriving business because not a man, from street sweeper up to banker, would think of appearing on the street of a morning without having his shoes shined. If such a lowly worker becomes disabled the government association of his district gives him a certificate to any physician for whom he may have a preference. It is good for two weeks, and the physician is assured, through the association, that the government will pay him. If more than two weeks' medical attention is required the association issues a new certificate. The disabled worker pays for his medicines in the same way. The physician gives him a certificate on the druggist, and the latter is not allowed to charge more than the customer's station in life justifies.

"A ride on the governmental railways assures you absolute comfort and safety. They laugh at our 'spreading rail' and 'washout' accidents over here. The construction of German railways won't permit the rails to spread. And after a train passes over a certain stretch of track a walker follows along behind to see that all is safe before another train is allowed to use it.

"There is no political graft. The moment a man goes to work for the government he is disfranchised. He is under civil service, and he has a life time job if he gives good service, but the others do the voting.

"I met an American lawyer who resides there and rather marveled at his ability to make a living. I told him about it.

"'I make a good living,' he explained, 'by telling Americans how to keep out of trouble. And I tell them if they take their cases to court they must expect exact justice. There is no chance for political influence and pull in the courts, as in America.'"—Kansas City Star.

Furniture at Savings of 10 to 50 Per Cent.

It must be readily apparent to the man at the head of the household, who has the big bills to foot, that the savings we are making possible on furniture this month are well worthy the consideration of every one seeking to be economical.

Men will go a long way to make 5 or 6 per cent. on their investments, and they will think themselves Napoleons of finance if they make 10 per cent. on an investment, and they will worry a lot sometimes over some of these investments in trying to make them good.

This January Furniture Sale of ours presents a plain proposition to save to any one needing good furniture at least 10 per cent. on their expenditures; in many instances one-third can be saved, and in as many more 50 per cent. can be saved.

There is not the slightest element of fiction in this statement, as practically everyone in Northern New Jersey knows who knows this store.

Our annual furniture sales are notable examples of the "department store way" of doing business—the constant endeavor to keep stocks moving, to keep them ever fresh and new, to close out odd pieces and broken lines—to keep the volume of business always increasing.

It is well known that this store's furniture stock is the largest and finest in New Jersey. The Hahne & Co. store has a national reputation for furniture and is recognized the country over as one of the four greatest furniture stores, and in some respects it is the greatest.

No such reputation as we have for furniture selling could be established with anything but the most dependable sorts of furniture, and it is this furniture—our regular stock—that is involved in the January sale—nothing procured especially for the sale, nothing built in ways to cheapen it and lower the price, but all regular stock, bought because it was good, because it would satisfy you.

Our regular prices are notably fair, being in competition with all New York and New Jersey, meeting and matching competitors more times than we can tell, beating them often.

Reductions from these prices are positive—you can see the regular price tickets on every piece of furniture and the green tags with the special prices on. Figure your savings—be assured that they are savings—and profit by selecting not only furniture you may need immediately, but furniture that you will need in the springtime or for furnishing your summer cottage or bungalow.

If you have furniture needs beyond your capacity to care for at the moment take advantage of our Easy-Payment Club Plan thru which you can buy any amount of furniture without financial convenience. Thousands do it this way to their great satisfaction.

An additional 2½ per cent. can be saved by accepting "Surety Coupons" at the time of your purchase—$2.50 on every $100 you spend for furniture coming back to you in this way.

There are men's and women's sizes, and there is not an umbrella in the lot that should not be retailed at $3, yet you may have any one you like Friday or Saturday at only $1.39

Men's $5 Sorosis Shoes $3

ONE OF THE BIG FEATURES OF THIS WEEK'S SHOE SALE

Every day we are mowing down the great lots of shoes secured by us from Pittsburgh's finest store thru the closing out of their men's shoe department. Every day we are putting on the feet of well-dressed men the finest makes of men's shoes at prices less than the cost of manufacture in many instances, and almost as low as the most ordinary footwear would cost.

Men find in this a wonderful opportunity for saving money, and many are buying two, three and four pairs.

Think what it means to get genuine Banister Shoes of the kind that are retailed everywhere at $6 a pair, for only $3.60.

Think what it means to get the splendid Sorosis Shoes that we and other stores retail regularly at $5, for only $3.

See what a saving you effect in buying $4 Sorosis Shoes for $2.40.

Then there are the $5 Slater and Morrell Shoes for $3.

And the Walker-Whitman Co.'s $4 Shoes for $2.40, and the same company's $3.50 Shoes for $2.10.

Surely this is an event that should attract more men than we have shoes to supply—the wonder is that the lot of 7,000 pairs could last more than a day—they wouldn't last more than a day if men were really alive to a genuine saving opportunity.

Those who buy are telling others of their good luck in getting such good shoes cheaply, and the sales are increasing every day, and it is expected that the next two days will be the biggest of all.

TAFT RECEIVES VISITING DUKE

Observe Many Formalities at White House.

TEA WITH MRS. TAFT.

Uncle of King George and Governor General of Canada at National Capital as Guest of British Ambassador James Bryce—Returns to New York Tonight.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Late this afternoon the Duke of Connaught will be received at the White House by President Taft. The duke arrived from New York at 4:15 o'clock and was met at the station by James Bryce, British ambassador, and the embassy staff, and by Major Archibald W. Butt, the president's personal aid. Major Butt accompanied the duke to the British embassy.

The duke will remain until 5 o'clock at the embassy. At that hour Chandler Hale, third assistant secretary of state, will appear at the embassy, accompanied by Colonel Spencer Cosby, U. S. A., and Lieutenant John W. Timmons, U. S. N., two of the president's aids. They, together with the British ambassador and the staff of the embassy, will accompany the royal visitor to the White House. The duke will be escorted from the embassy to the executive mansion also by a squadron of cavalry from Fort Myer.

The state department representatives will formally announce "his royal highness the Duke of Connaught and his excellency the British ambassador."

The British ambassador will thereupon present "His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught" to the president.

At the conclusion of the reception by the president the staff of the Duke of Connaught and the staff of the British embassy will be conducted into the blue room by a military and naval aid and presented to the president. Immediately following the presentation of the staffs the president will invite his royal highness to have a cup of tea with Mrs. Taft in the red room. Mrs. Taft has invited the wives of cabinet officers and the cabinet officers themselves and the wife of the British ambassador to be present at an informal tea. On leaving the White House the mounted cavalry band stationed immediately in front of the north portico will play the American national anthem until the party have left the grounds. The band has been stationed in the ground prior to the arrival of the duke and his party, and will play the British air, "God Save the King," until his royal highness shall have disappeared in the White House.

After the duke has returned to the British embassy and the cavalry escort has been dismissed the president will pay a return call.

This evening the duke will be the guest of honor at a dinner and reception to be given by the British ambassador. A number of invitations have been sent out by Ambassador Bryce to his colleagues of the diplomatic corps. The duke will leave Washington on the midnight train for New York.

BUSY TIME FOR ROYALTY.

Duke and Duchess and Princess Pat Are Keen Sightseers.

New York, Jan. 25.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia are likely to know more about New York when they return to Ottawa than most New Yorkers know. As sightseers the royal vistiors are indefatigable. They could hardly be more keen for detail if they were studying the city with the notion of building one like it.

Today the duke, with Colonel H. C. Lowther, his secretary, go to Washington to call on President Taft.

The duchess and Princess Patricia will spend the day motoring and at the opera in the afternoon and evening. Unless there is a change in plans, the royal party will leave New York at 7:40 p. m. tomorrow to return to the Dominion.

ULTIMATUM TO PARAGUAY.

Argentine Republic Asks Damages For Injuries to Shipping.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 25.—The Argentine Republic has notified the government of Paraguay that unless proper settlement is made for recent injuries to Argentine shipping diplomatic relations will be severed today. This ultimatum was sent after Paraguay had refused to recognize a demand for compensation.

PORTRAIT OF GIBBONS.

French Artist's Likeness of Cardinal Done For an American

Paris, Jan. 25.—Henri Gervex, the well known artist, has just finished a remarkable portrait of Cardinal Gibbons. The portrait was painted for Charles Carroll of Maryland and will be placed in his home in that state.

Legislature Snubs Governor.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 25.—The friction between the legislature and Governor Cole L. Blease has reached its climax in the decision of the house to expunge from its journal all but the first two paragraphs of the governor's recent message on the so called libel bill.

From an artistic point of view a woman's face is more beautiful when viewed from the left.

FRAME DEMANDS FOR WAGE INCREASES

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—The scale committee of the United Mine Workers' national committee has submitted a report and, as indicated by talk of members since the convention assembled, there is a demand for increased wages for every class of work in and about the mines.

The report sets out that there has been a steady increase in the cost of living since the last wage scale was fixed; that conditions about the mines have become more onerous and that the introduction of labor saving machinery and the use of gas and oil for fuel are making unnecessary the long hours of labor at which the miners are now employed. The report takes up many grievances that are purely local and makes a number of demands for their correction.

Representatives of the bituminous miners will present their proposed new wage contract to the operators of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia today in this city. President White of the miners will preside at this conference. The joint conference of the anthracite miners and operators will be held in New York city Feb. 27. Present contracts in both the hard and soft coal fields expire March 31.

PILOT DIES AT HIS WHEEL.

Liner Cleveland Crashes Into Cruiser at Honolulu.

Honolulu, Jan. 25.—The Hamburg-American liner Cleveland, entering the harbor here, smashed into the United States armored cruiser Colorado at anchor and severely damaged the warship.

Never before was a collision precipitated by such a cause.

Pilot Milton P. Saunders, who was bringing in the Cleveland, dropped dead of heart failure. For a moment there was no human brain or hand to direct the great steamship's course, so for a moment 1,500 human lives were imperiled by her huge, unguided bulk.

The crash of the collision threw into a panic the Cleveland's 500 passengers, who for three months have been lazily enjoying a cruise around the world. But the panic was quickly stilled, for the steamship sustained no damage.

ITALY BOWS TO FRANCE.

Will Give Up Turks Seized From French Steamer.

Rome, Jan. 25.—Marquis di San Giuliano, Italian foreign minister, and Camille Barrere, French ambassador to Italy, in a friendly interview discussed the capture of Turkish doctors and nurses from the French steamer Manouba.

The Italian foreign minister expressed regret that the incident should have threatened the cordial relations between France and Italy.

Paris, Jan. 25.—A dispatch from Rome says that Italy in reply to the demand of France will give up the Turkish nurses seized on the French steamer Manouba.

Another dispatch says the prisoners will be released as affiliated with the Society of the Red Crescent.

AN AERIAL HONEYMOON.

Former Mrs. Platt and New Husband Up In Balloon.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 25.—W. T. Atwater, the New York aviator, and his wife, who formerly was Mrs. Thomas C. Platt of New York, enjoyed what they declared to be their "aerial honeymoon trip."

In the big spherical balloon America II. they rose from Fiesta park and soared in the clouds for three hours, the pilot bringing them back to earth twenty-eight miles from Los Angeles

RARE COLLECTION OF AUTOGRAPH LETTERS OF CELEBRATED MEN

Garfield's, Blaine's, Conkling's, Logan's and Jefferson Davis' Among Them.

Owned by Mrs. G. W. McCrary, Whose Husband Was Secretary of War Under Hayes.

A COLLECTION of letters written by statesmen, military heroes and other celebrities of the last century is owned by Mrs. George W. McCrary of Kansas City, whose husband was secretary of war under President Hayes and was afterward judge of the federal court of the Eighth judicial district.

The autograph letters were collected by her husband while he was a member of the cabinet of President Hayes.

HOW JEFFERSON DAVIS SIGNED HIMSELF.

Jefferson Davis, later the president of the Confederate States of America. At that time Jefferson Davis was an applicant for admission as a cadet to the Military academy at West Point. The letter was written to J. C. Calhoun in acknowledgement of his having appointed him to the cadetship. It is brief and coldly formal, indicating even at that early age the severely unbending nature of the man. It follows:

Lexington, July 7, 1824.

Sir—The commission of cadet granted the undersigned March 11 and remitted to Natchez on account of my absence was forwarded here. I accept it. I am not able to go on before September for reasons I will explain to the superintendent on my arrival. Yours, etc.,
JEFFERSON DAVIS.

J. C. Calhoun.

Another letter, quite the opposite in loquacity and heartiness, is from the father of Charles Sumner to Philip Barbour, secretary of war, asking for the appointment of young Sumner as a cadet in West Point. The father of the future abolitionist was a gentleman of the old Puritan school of Massachusetts, and his letter is full of a staid, old fashioned dignity. The Webster he mentions was the father of Daniel Webster, and the Story referred to was the father of the boy who afterward became chief justice of the United States:

Boston 22 Nov. 1822.

Sir—My oldest son, Charles Sumner, is desirous of being admitted a member of the Military academy at West Point. He will be fifteen years old in January next. He is of a good constitution and in good health, although unusually studious. He is well acquainted with Latin and Greek, is somewhat acquainted with arithmetic and algebra and French. He is exceedingly well acquainted with history and geography, both ancient and modern. He knows the scenes of many of the distinguished battles of ancient and modern times and the characters of the heroes who figured in them. He has a strong sense of patriotic pride and a devotion to the welfare and glory of his country. He is now at the Latin school in Boston and in August next will be qualified to enter the university at Cambridge.

He prefers the academy at West Point. He is the oldest grandson of the deceased

AS JAMES G. BLAINE WROTE HIS NAME.

Major Job Sumner, who served with reputation in the army of the Revolution, whose only child I am.

It is not proper for me to devote him, like Hannibal, to a military life, and at his present age I will not attempt it, but I have the most respectful opinion of the education that is so generally bestowed on the selected sons of the republic, whether a young man is destined to a military or a civil life.

I have no merit of my own. If my boy's character and qualifications give him any claim to your good will I hope he will receive it. I can produce but few certificates in his favor. I venture to recommend him myself, and it may possibly be that no other recommendation is necessary. Mr. Webster and Judge Story, if questioned, can say whether or not I would probably recommend anybody, son or no son, whom I did not believe to be a person of merit, and the president himself may possibly not be an utter stranger to my name.

I form no unreasonable expectation and am not liable to any painful disappointment, whatever may be the result of this application.

I am, sir, your sincerely respectful, humble servant,
CHARLES PINCKNEY SUMNER.

The Hon. Philip Barbour, Secretary of War.

There were no envelopes in the days when this was written. The letter was folded and sealed with red wax and the address written on the outside. It bears the postmark "Boston, M. S., Nov. 25."

Several letters in the collection were written by Garfield before he became president. One of them is as follows:

Dear McCrary—Will you dine with me at Welcker's tomorrow (Saturday) evening at 7 o'clock—to meet a few friends socially? Very truly yours,
J. A. GARFIELD.

1227 I street, Feb. 1, 1878.

Experts in handwriting who assert that an index to the character of a man may be found in his writing would be interested in a letter written by Roscoe Conkling, who was the dandy of the senate for years and who did everything with a grand flourish, even to the wearing of the curl upon his forehead. The letters forming the words of this communication are a succession of flourishes and "curlycues." The letter, which is addressed to the secretary of war, says:

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1876.

Sir—I beg to call attention to the application of Mr. Churchill, son of the Hon. J. C. Churchill of Oswego, N. Y., for appointment as cadet at large to West Point. Hearing that several of those designated have not passed an examination with success, it is supposed there may be opportunity for young Churchill. He is, I believe, very meritorious, and I trust it may consist with the public interest to include in the list. May I inquire how this is? I have the honor to be your obedient servant, ROSCOE CONKLING.

A letter from Mark Twain to Secretary McCrary is rather surprising in its tone to those who think of Twain always as the easy going, good natured humorist. In this letter he is asking the secretary of war to kick a man out of office, and he says in the course of the letter:

All of us who knew him knew he was purposing to rob somebody, but what is everybody's business is nobody's business,

THE FLOURISHES OF ROSCOE CONKLING.

DON'T GET ANGRY.

Two Distinguished Scientists Find That the Penalty Is Heavy.

There are at least two men who know better than to get angry. One is Professor Lange of the University of Copenhagen; the other is Dr. Maurice de Fleury, the distinguished French scientist. Working along separate lines, Professor Lange and Dr. de Fleury have been investigating the causes of anger and the effect of anger on the human system.

Summed up in its briefest form, their verdict is that every time a man gets angry he shortens his life so many minutes or days, perhaps even years. A great deal depends on the intensity of his anger.

Dr. de Fleury states that "every time we become angry our vitality shrinks so much in proportion for every outburst. After even the most artfully suppressed signs of bad temper our vitality becomes smaller and smaller until finally nothing is left."

The moral deduced from the advancement of this latest theory in medicine is, of course, that we should never allow ourselves to become angry if we value our health and life. Professor Lange holds that "all emotions are due to disorders of the circulation of the blood and anger, in particular, to a very intense dilation of the small arteries of the brain."

STEERING A BOAT.

The Rig of the Tiller Ropes Often a Source of Danger.

A CURIOUS LACK OF SYSTEM.

On Some Vessels the Chains Are Crossed, and on Others They Are Straight, and This May Mean Serious Trouble With a Strange Hand at the Wheel.

A bronzed pilot was carefully nursing a big Atlantic liner through the murk and confusion of early morning and innumerable passing craft up the crowded waters of New York bay. The ship was crowded with passengers, most of whom had risen betimes to watch their homecoming. A tense expression, brought on by the tremendous responsibility, cast its grim lines over the pilot's face as he turned into the lower Hudson river and saw a dense fogbank creeping down from the Palisades. Three miles still to go, and 3,000 lives in his hands! Slowly he crept along, almost touching a ferry load of commuters, just skipping a triple tow of sand scows, threading his way through the maze of vessels big and little; the fog, denser and more dense, making it impossible to see the shadow of nearing craft more than a couple of lengths away.

Suddenly a departing liner, just hauled out into the stream, loomed up off the starboard bow. The pilot turned ghastly white. "My God! Crossed chains or straight chains? Crossed—or—straight? Heaven help me!" In almost instant desperation he called "Hard aport!" the quartermaster swung the wheel over—and the huge floating hotel slowly turned out and glided by, almost scraping the other.

"Crossed chains—straight chains?" What does this mean? It means this—that there is no invariable rule or system of arranging the tiller ropes on vessels so that the latter always move in the same direction in response to a similar turn of the wheel. If equipped with "crossed chains" the craft will turn the opposite way; if with "straight chains" the wheel must be turned in the same direction the vessel is desired to go. Most ocean vessels are equipped with straight chains, though this is by no means an invariable custom. Sailing craft may be and are fixed either way. On the other hand, harbor boats, including towboats, tugs, etc., generally have crossed tiller ropes.

Thus our pilot friend had spent most of his nautical life aboard tugs and other inland boats and when confronted with a crisis of great responsibility wavered momentarily between the influence of his habit of twenty years and the newly acquired information given him as he went aboard. It was just by the sheerest chance that he ordered the wheel turned the correct way.

An able ocean seaman signed for a round trip from Buffalo to Duluth and, asked if he could handle the wheel, was sent to the pilot house. They were already under way, and, not being familiar with the uncertainties of steering gear, he neglected to ask the usual question, "Crossed chains or straight chains?" The coal steamer neared a scow load of bricks. "Hard aport!" called the mate. The helmsman flung his wheel to starboard, as he had been used to do on the high seas, and his vessel bore down upon the unsuspecting tow. "Hard aport, you idiot!" yelled the mate. "Don't you know this boat has crossed chains?" He reversed the wheel and missed the scow by a bare graze.

Such incidents as these are by no means rare in navigating experience, though fortunately serious accidents therefrom are uncommon either because of a benignant fate watching over befuddled men at the wheel or because they instinctively follow the new conditions and turn the helm in the right direction. Pilots themselves scoff at suggestions of danger, saying that a real seaman's instinct will always save him from making mistakes. All the same, a man experienced in handling vessels of their own particular character is generally standing by the newcomer at the wheel for safety's sake.

A more common danger, as far as the general public is concerned, is the universal lack of unity in arranging the steering apparatus on motorboats. Most of these craft are exceedingly small, and the tiller ropes are put in at the beginning of every season by the owners themselves, to suit their own particular notions. So, in every flotilla will be seen steering gear of every description, from simple tillers to elaborate brass mounted wheels, the latter with either crossed or straight chains, as individual fancy may dictate. This is safe as long as the owner or one used to the craft is at the wheel, and not many accidents are reported in such circumstances. But accidents have resulted when an amateur used to crossed ropes has steered a boat oppositely rigged.

But when one used to a launch with "crossed ropes" (requiring turning the wheel opposite to the direction the boat is to go) takes the wheel of an automobile, then the passengers are fortunate indeed if they are not put into perilous situations; for motorists are not always provided with the "safe instinct" ascribed to experienced seamen, and autos move in the same direction the wheel is turned.

However, crossed chains and straight chains will probably go on their own sweet irresponsible existence for just as long as some great catastrophe is not put up to their lack of regulation.—C. W. Jennings in New York Tribune.

DR. RAMSEY SEEKS JOB ON STATE HEALTH BOARD.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—Dr. William E. Ramsay, of Perth Amboy, is seeking an appointment to the State Board of Health to succeed George P. Olcott, of East Orange. Mr. Olcott's term in the State Board will expire May 3, 1912. Dr. Ramsay has the endorsement of the New Jersey State Medical Association for the appointment.

Dr. Ramsay is a Democrat and represented Middlesex county in the Assembly in 1908, 1910 and 1911. As a physician and surgeon, he took a prominent part while in the Assembly in all matters relating to medicine and public health, and was noted for his strenuous opposition to the bills introduced to recognize osteopathy and to give the osteopaths a State Board of Registry. Former Assemblyman Ramsay is a member of the Middlesex County Medical Society the State Medical Association and the American Medical Association.

WOMAN TAKES POISON IN DEPOT AT CONVENT.

Morristown, Jan. 25.—Suffering from the effects of a large dose of carbolic acid, a woman evidently of Polish descent, about twenty-five years of age, was found unconscious in the Lackawanna Railroad station at Convent. She was brought to the Memorial hospital at Morristown. It is not expected she will live.

The only clue to her identity is the name Henrietta Witter, Jersey City, written on the fly leaf of a small prayer-book which lay on the floor beside her.

THEIR COMMITTEE WORK IMPORTANT

Babcock and Anderson Called on to Consider Measures That Mean Much to State.

LATTER MAKES PROPHECIES

Expects Pierce Taxation Bill to Be Defeated, But Thinks Bill to Make Small Boards of Freeholders Mandatory Will Pass.

On account of the nature of the bills thus far presented to the Assembly and the committees to which they have been referred, Assemblymen George L. Babcock, of this city, and W. de LaR. Anderson, of Watchung, are members of what are considered at present, the most important committees in the lower House. It is hardly possible that this condition will be changed by reason of the presentation of more important bills.

Mr. Babcock, as a member of the Highways Committee, will pass on a bill taking over 15,000 miles of roads in the State and arranging for their maintenance, while the committees of which Mr. Anderson is a member has under consideration the elimination of railroad grade crossings and the abolishment of the Morris canal.

Mr. Anderson has put in two bills, one being an amendment to the State poor laws and the other an amendment to the Employers' Liability Act. In an interview with a Daily Press reporter this morning he prophesied the defeat of the Pierce taxation bill and said that according to one of its provisions almost the whole of Somerset county assessing would be done by one assessor.

The provision to which he referred was the one designating one assessor for every ten millions worth of taxables. The total of the ratables in North Plainfield, Bound Brook and Somerville, the three largest municipalities in the county, is $10,900,653, and when these places are taken out of the county there is little but farm land left which does not average anything like town real estate assessment.

Mr. Anderson predicted the passage of the bill making small Boards of Freeholders mandatory basing his opinion on the fact that already all of the twenty-one counties in the State have accepted the small board by referendum. They are the largest counties in the State and the plan is working satisfactorily, he said, and each one, while not having as many representatives in the Assembly as some of those more thickly populated is represented in the Senate the same as all other counties.

LAWS THE LIQUOR MEN WANT PUT ON THE BOOKS

Trenton, Jan. 25.—Discussion of legislation of interest to the members of their organization occupied the attention of the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of New Jersey at their fifth annual session yesterday afternoon at Hotel Sterling. Every city in the State was represented.

The members went on record as endorsing the action of the executive committee in ordering the re-introduction of what was last year known in the Assembly as bill No. 510. This measure gives the State liquor dealers the right to deliver their goods in any part of the State.

Members of the organization say that this right is now enjoyed by all wholesale firms outside of the State under the interstate commerce laws, which is an unfair discrimination against the New Jersey dealers.

During the conference it was decided to again introduce the minors' act in a revised form to meet the objection of Governor Wilson, who vetoed the measure after its passage last year. This act protects the hotelkeeper from prosecution when a minor willfully misrepresents his age in purchasing liquor.

The organization will also re-introduce the Sunday service bill, which made much headway last year. This measure allows refreshments in liquid form to be served to bona fide patrons of hotels with their meals on the Sabbath.

Sixty-seven Men Responded.

In response to an appeal from Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong for fifty men to attend the mid-week prayer meeting at the First Baptist church, last night, there were by actual count sixty-seven present and in addition there were nearly one hundred women. Dr. Strong was in charge of the service, giving a brief spirited talk on the general topic, "Look to Yourselves," after which there were many testimonies and prayers. Russell Cose was received for membership after baptism.

To Escape Geran Law.

Hackensack, Jan. 25.—Senator J. A. C. Johnson and Assemblymen Ogden, Stevens and Hennessy, all of Bergen county, will be asked to introduce a bill to amend the election laws so that the five hundred candidates who failed to file their election expense account with the county clerk will be able to hold office legally. A few days ago fifty-five municipal clerks in the county were summoned to tell of those candidates who had failed to obey the new Geran law.

TO BOOST NEW JERSEY'S RANK AS A CLAY STATE

Allen E. Beals, of East Second street, editor of the construction department of the Record and Guide, has been appointed one of the six Eastern commissioners of the National Clay Products show which is to be held in Chicago from March 7 to 12.

The other commissioners are: Charles A. Bloomfield, of Metuchen; R. C. Penfield, of New York; Senator John B. Rose, of Newburgh, N. Y.; J. Parker Butler Fiske, of Boston, and M. E. Gregory, of Chicago. This commission is now at work brining all the clay products interests of New Jersey and New York together in a joint $5,000 New Jersey-New York exhibit in which the resources of these two States, and especially of New Jersey, will be fully shown.

Recent acquisitions of plants along the Staten Island sound, the Raritan and South rivers, and the establishment of important plants in the Bergen and Hackensack valleys, and the development of the brick industry along the foothills of the Watchungs in and around Union county, have combined to put New Jersey in the forerank as a clay products State. It is the intention of the commission to see that it is accorded third place among the clay producing and manufacturing States of the country instead of the seventh.

For that reason appeals are being sent out to all the clay manufacturers in the State to participate in the joint exhibit. More than one-half the amount required has already been subscribed, notable among them being the Hudson river manufacturers, the Sayre & Fisher Co., of South river, the National Fireproofing Company, of Keasbey; the Charles A. Bloomfield plant at Perth Amboy, several architectural terra cotta companies and numerous tile works, not to mention pottery companies.

The commission will arrange for a special train to carry exhibitors and delegates to the exposition and conventions which will be held there at the same time, and will see to their entertainment while they are there. A half million dollars is being expended in making the first national clay products show a success and incidentally to extend the "back to brick" propaganda.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

Autoing in the Fog.

Deputy County Treasurer Murphy handed out a piece of information which will be useful to automobilists who are caught in dense fogs.

"We were over in Trenton one night when a dense fog settled down," he said, "and we were wondering whether it would be safe to run the machine. While we were debating it we met the Fire Company, mentioned our difficulty, and got the tip which made the remainder of the trip to Bristol easy. You know in a fog even the acetyline lights will not penetrate more than a few feet but he told us to tie handkerchiefs, or another piece of muslin or linen over the lense and we would be able to see all right. We tried it and found that it sent the rays of light at least fifty feet ahead of us."—Bristol (Pa.) Courier.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH ELECTS TRUSTEE BOARD.

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Temple Baptist church, last night. Rev. Evarts C. Conover, the pastor, presided. The reports received from all the departments of the church showed each to be in a satisfactory condition with an increase in membership. It was decided to appoint a missionary committee which will look after the missionary enterprises of the church, Mr. Conover will name that committee later. These officers were elected:

Board of trustees, L. W. Randolph, U. B. Crane, William A. Conger; board of deacons, Edward Baker, Jr., Christopher Utzinger; clerk, William A. Conger; treasurer, Edward Baker, Jr.; financial secretary, Mrs. C. W. Quint; assistant financial secretary, C. W. Quint.

The total receipts for the year were $2,100 and the disbursements about $10 less than that amount. There was raised about $145 for the missionary fund. The church membership is 155, an increase of eleven over last year.

Horses With Jewel Caskets.

Every great race horse in England has his special toilet case, marked with his name and provided with a special lock. Each animal has his own basins, pans and pails for the toilet, his feeding utensils, brushes and combs.

A race horse has many sets of towels of various grades and has blankets of various weights for all weathers. These are marked and numbered and are kept beautifully clean and well aired. The belongings of the horse are carried about in his toilet case when traveling.

Besides all this luxury, every great horse nowadays must have a jewel case, and with age and success the collection frequently becomes very valuable. In the casket, which is a compartment of the box, are kept the various trinkets presented by admirers. These consist largely of articles of wear, such as bridles finished in silver and gold, silver chained and mounted halters, and combs and brushes mounted in handsome style.—London Tit Bits.

That Easy Three Hundred.

Soon after Senator John Sharp Williams arrived in Washington some years ago as a member of the house of representatives a man on the staff of a magazine approached him with a request for an interview of a thousand words on the outlook for the Democratic party. Reflecting that at that time the outlook was anything but bright, Williams said:

"I'll dictate it to my stenographer and mail it to you."

A month later the magazine man stepped up to Williams and handed him a check for $300.

"Is that for me?" asked Williams quizzically.

"Yes, sir."

"What for?"

"For that article you wrote for us on the outlook for Democracy."

"And this is authorship!" mused the lawmaker, smiling. "Well, it's the only easy money I ever made. What's the use of being a patriot anyhow?"—Popular Magazine.

Peacocks' Feathers.

Peacocks' feathers have been handed down to us from the ancient days of mythology as emblematical of treachery, evil and misfortune. The origin of this strange superstition is founded upon the following classical story: Osiris, king of Egypt, upon starting on his Indian expedition left his queen, Isis, regent, with Argus, his minister, as her chief adviser. Argus, with his hundred eyes, or, rather, his spies, soon made himself so formidable and powerful that he seized the queen regent, shut her up in a strong castle and proclaimed himself king of Egypt. Mercury was sent against him with a strong army, took him captive and cut off his head, whereupon Juno metamorphosed him into a peacock and set his spies in his tail. From this legend and the various additions made to it from time to time the belief has arisen that it is unlucky to have peacocks' feathers inside a house.

Fire Insurance Folks.

A young Englishwoman introduced a new phrase to a New Yorker the other day. She had been telling of her home town, of its extraordinary sanctimoniousness, until her hearer asked, "Why, what sort of folks live there?"

"Oh," she said, "they're all fire insurance folks."

It didn't seem that any one community could be made up of people in one line of business, and the hearer asked for an explanation.

"Why," came the answer, "fire insurance folks are returned colonials who lived abroad and have committed every crime in the calendar. Then when they get old they come and try to square up by living six years of the most painful piety. That's why we call 'em fire insurance folks."—New York Sun.

The Seychelles Islands.

The Seychelles islands form an archipelago of 114 islands and are situated about 1,400 miles east of Aden and 1,000 miles from Zanzibar. They rise steeply out of the sea, culminating in the isle of Mahe, which is about 3,000 feet above the level of the ocean and is nearly the center of the group. All the islands are of coral growth. The houses are built of a species of massive coral hewn into square blocks which glisten like white marble.

NOW HAVE POSTAL BANKS IN ALMOST EVERY TOWN.

With the establishment of postal savings banks at Englishtown and Smithville, where the third-class postoffices were designated as postal savings repositories by a recent order of the Postoffice Department, the State has a postal savings bank in practically every city and town.

The deposits in the various postal banks in New Jersey have not been as large as was expected, but the amounts are growing steadily. The two local postal banks have a total of $5,000 on deposit, which is $1,000 more than before the first of the year.

CONFERENCE WITH TUTTLE

Potter Manager Denies Telegraphed Report of a Meeting With Ways and Means Committee—Tuttle Comment by Way of Washington.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Jan. 26.—Headed by David Titsworth, general manager of the Potter Printing Press Company, of Plainfield, a delegation of representatives of manufacturers of printing machinery in New Jersey, were here yesterday protesting to the members of the House Ways and Means Committee against the putting of printing presses on the free list as proposed in the Steel Schedule Bill introduced by Leader Underwood.

Printing presses are now protected by a thirty per cent. tariff duty, and the New Jersey manufacturers claim that this duty should be maintained. They argue that eighty per cent. of the cost of this class of machinery is in wages paid to skilled labor.

In addition to talking to members of the Ways and Means Committee, the delegation made a special effort to interest Representative William E. Tuttle, of Westfield, in whose district, the Fifth, there are several printing press factories. Mr. Tuttle told the delegation very bluntly that as he looked at the matter then he felt that no harm would come to the industry, or to the men employed in it, by putting presses on the free list.

Mr. Tuttle said he understood that American manufacturers were constantly shipping their product abroad and selling it in competition with European factories. He pointed out that a thirty per cent. tariff was practically prohibitory, as was shown by the fact that last year the value of importations of printing machinery amounted to only $28,000. On the other hand, he showed that in ten years the expert value of printing presses manufactured in this country had increased from $1,200,000 to $2,000,000.

David E. Titsworth, of the Potter Printing Press Works, in speaking of his trip to Washington, said today:

"The fact that the subject is embodied in a caucus measure there was no need of the printing press manufacturers or their representatives appearing before the Ways and Means committee. I did have a talk with Congressman W. E. Tuttle and he displayed much interest in the matter and said that when the measure comes up later on he will have something to say about it.

"It is easy to understand where the harm would come if the tariff was removed. In this country machinists in press factories receive from $18 to $20 a week, while those abroad get about $7.50 a week.

"At present the Hoe Company has about 1,000 men employed in London, where the cost of manufacture is much less than in this country. Of course, Hoe exports a great deal, but that is material that perhaps cannot be made elsewhere."

P. H. S. SOPHOMORES KEEP UP THEIR WINNING STREAK.

The P. H. S. sophomores won their sixth straight victory yesterday by defeating the freshmen in a hotly contested basketball game by a score of 24-22.

The freshmen started off with a rush, getting four points before the upper-classmen succeeded in getting a basket. Then the sophomores started their hustling team-work and soon sprang into the lead, where they stayed until the end of the period.

Diman and Love starred for the sophomores while Day was the "whole thing" for the freshmen, netting nine baskets. Line-up:

Sophomores—forwards, Diman and Beekman; center, Love; guards, Ketcham and Koeshlein.

Referee, Townley; umpire, Mertz.

"RUSS" LAWRENCE WILL BE OLYMPIC CONTENDER

Crack Athlete, Discovered and Launched at Plainfield Y.M.C.A. Almost Certain to Represent America at Classic Meet in Sweden.

Russell Lawrence, former Plainfield Y. M. C. A. athlete, who since removing to New York has changed his name to Russell Beatty, is almost sure to be a member of the American team in the Olympic competitions in Sweden the coming summer.

Beatty has won numerous honors at shot-putting and he is coming to the front at discus throwing. His recent performances with the iron saucer have attracted much attention in athletic circles.

"Do you know the hardest man I will have to beat in the discus throw at the Stockholm Olympiad?" asked Martin Sheridan, the champion weight thrower, the other afternoon.

The names of Rose of the Olympic Club, Duncan of the Pastime A. C., Muchs of the Chicago A. A., Jarvinen and Niklander of Finland and several other great saucer-scalers were given in answer to Martin's question, but none of them was right.

"They're all great saucer-scalers," said Sheridan, "but in my mind there is not one of them who will throw the discus next summer as far as Russell Beatty of the New York A. C. and Columbia. Beatty is coming along like a house afire. He is strong as Sandow and is a close student of the game. Those two attributes are what a discus-thrower most needs. Beatty is a fine fellow to boot, and if I get licked in Sweden I hope it will be by Beatty or Jim Duncan."

Beatty started his athletic career while a member of the local Y. M. C. A. and it was George L. Listman, then physical director of the association, who saw the possibilities in the youngster and gave him special training in weight throwing.

Beatty was the sensation at numerous interscholastic meets in various parts of the country. He is now a member of the New York A. C. and a student at Columbia University.

FANWOOD BURGLARS GET SILVERWARE AND A PUPPY

All through the dark hours of Monday and Tuesday a cocker spaniel pup that L. P. Mainetty got last week howled dolefully and loudly, keeping all the household awake. Wednesday night grateful silence filled the Mainetty home, but early yesterday morning the pup broke forth, worse than ever.

That was, at 2:15 o'clock. Mr. Mainetty got up to go downstairs and see what ailed the dog, and the howls suddenly ceased.

Mr. Mainetty learned why when the family went down to breakfast. It was because burglars stole the dog. They also stole a dozen solid silver knives, a dozen and a half of solid silver spoons, a fur coat and a broadcloth coat.

The thieves gained entrance through a pantry window. They made no effort to ransack the upper floors. They took all the tableware in the dining room to the front lawn, where they dumped it on the grass and sorted out the solid and plated articles. They left the latter on the ground.

The cocker spaniel is a highly pedigreed animal, and valuable. The thieves carried it off in its satin-lined basket.

Mr. Mainetty figures his loss at between $200 and $300. The night before the Mainetty house was robbed an attempt was made to break into the Fanwood station of the Central Railroad.

MORE MONEY FOR COUNTRY TEACHERS

POOR PAY MEANS POOR WORK

Conference at Trenton Declines Call of Many Reforms and Legislation Designed to Secure Them is to Be Sought.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 26.—The need of many reforms in the public school system of the State was shown at the conference Wednesday afternoon and evening between Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education, his assistants, the members of the State Board of Education and the county superintendents.

Some of these needs, it was shown, can only be met by the passage of new laws. Bills will be introduced into the present Legislature carrying the provisions deemed to be necessary.

Dr. Kendall today discussed the conference and its work. The discussions were very animated, he said, and there was an evident desire to meet conditions that were not what they should be and remedy them.

The county superintendents were asked to state what in their opinion were the most pressing needs of the schools. One need emphasized was higher salaries for teachers in the rural sections. It was shown that in some rural schools teachers are paid as low as $300 a year.

"You cannot expect to get efficient service for that sum," was Dr. Kendall's comment.

Not only do the schools in the rural communities suffer from these low salaries but also from a lack of trained teachers. The two things go together, Dr. Kendall declared. The supply of trained teachers for the rural schools is entirely too limited and then it would not be possible to get the teachers at the salaries which are voted.

These needs, Dr. Kendall said, greatly impressed the members of the State board. The conference developed the fact that to meet these needs greater attention should be given to increasing the facilities for training teachers and means should be provided for the special training of rural school teachers. Teachers in these schools are needed who can approach their work from the standpoint of rural life and its needs.

Because of the importance of this question nothing definite was decided upon as a remedy. It will be given further investigation and then an effort will be made to formulate plans for improvement.

Another need pointed out was the lack of enforcement of the compulsory school attendance law. It was shown that in some sections of the State pupils remain away from school fifty out of 175 school days to work or for other reasons.

Under present law the appointment of attendance or truant officers is optional and many districts will not appoint them. This is the fault that lies at the bottom of the poor attendance, in many instances. A bill will be introduced at this session of the Legislature making the appointment of these officers compulsory. It will have the backing of the State school authorities and every effort will be made to pass it.

Some of the other needs mentioned at the conference were: Greater efficiency in medical inspection, increased facilities for manual, industrial and agricultural training, organization of charity in many sections of the State to provide clothing and shoes for poor children so they may attend school in cold weather, the consolidation of school districts which now have few school children and a lack of proper school facilities. Owing to the difficulty of getting the people of school districts to vote for consolidation some law will have to be sought to meet this situation.

A bill will be introduced soon to increase the salaries of the county school superintendents from $2,000 to $3,000. Such a bill was put in last session, but failed to pass. The State school authorities claim this law is needed in order to attract efficient men to the position.

PARROT SEEKS SIXTH TERM AS SURROGATE

The Job Has Been His For Many, Many Years and Others Want it Now.

SOME FREEHOLDER CANDIDATES

Aspirants Look Forward to Primaries in May and in September—Martine Likely Delegate-at-Large to Democratic Convention.

Considerable interest is already being manifested in Union county in the two primary elections that will be held within the next few months, at the first of which, in May, the delegates to the national conventions will be chosen. At the second, in September, the candidates for the general election for many offices will be selected, interest in this county centering in the contests for surrogate and membership on the first small board of freeholders, to be composed of seven members.

George T. Parrott, the present incumbent, will no doubt be a candidate for re-election as surrogate, but as he has already held the office for five consecutive terms he will be strongly opposed at the primaries. It has been reported that Deputy Sheriff Robert J. Kirkland would be a candidate against him. No Democrats have been mentioned as candidates so far.

The Republican County Committee has already indorsed Hamilton F. Kean, brother of former United States Senator John Kean, for national delegate, and it is probable that the other one for this Congressional district will be chosen from Morris county. The Democratic program with regard to national delegates is to have United Stattes Senator James E. Martine chosen a delegate-at-large and one elected from Morris county one one from Warren county.

Several candidates are already being mentioned for membership on the small Board of Freeholders. Among the Republicans the S. P. T. Wilbur, Major William B. Martin, Peter J. Olde, Henry Pflug, Jacob Martin, Thomas Haviland, Charles S. Chandler and C. C. Pollard. S. P. T. Wilbur, Jacob Martin and Mr. Haviland have previously been members of the board. Mr. Chandler is a member of the Elizabeth Board of Fire Commissioners, and Major Martin is prominent in military circles and was formerly captain of Company K, of this city. Mr. Pflug has been active in Republican politics for many years. Democrats mentioned as candidates for the small board are Thos. J. Pierson, J. Logan Fay and William A. Bourdon, all of whom are now members of the board.

CENTRAL TUNNEL YARN IS EXPLODED BY FISK

Notwithstanding the zeal of Assemblyman Charles M. Egan in his efforts to get the Public Utilities Commission to compel the Hudson and Manhattan Railway Company to extend its tunnel from Washington street south, to connect with the New Jersey Central railroad yard at Communipaw, he is likely to find himself up against a hard fight. He expects to have his application to the Public Utilities Board ready before the end of this week and looks for favorable action.

Vice-President Wilbur Fisk, of the tunnel company, said:

"We have not given the matter of extending our tunnels to connect with the Central Railroad any serious consideration. Mr. Egan is mistaken in saving we have already built a tunnel south almost to the Gap. Our tunnels do not extend a single foot south of Railroad avenue.

WEALTHY YOUTH WEDS BOROUGH GIRL IN WEST

W. L. Heath, Heir to Half Million Estate, Takes Miss Hazel Walter, of North Plainfield, as His Bride at Pasadena, California.

William Lawson Heath, who came into prominence a few months ago through an announcement that he had fallen heir to a big roll of money by the death of his grandmother, Mrs. William Heath, of Boston, was quietly married Wednesday night in Pasadena, California. The bride is Miss Hazel Walter, daughter of Mrs. Christian Hildersheim, formerly of DeLacy avenue, the borough. William Nischwitz, of the borough, was the best man and the bridemaid was an intimate friend of the bride from the south.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath are now enjoying a wedding trip and they will return to Plainfield the latter part of February and make their homes in this city. The wedding ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother on Euclid avenue, Pasadena.

The groom, who is twenty-three years old, spent most of his youth in the borough, where he attended the public schools. He was a student at Stevens Institute for a time, but did not finish the course. His father, William Fogg Heath, a New York dentist, died when the son was quite young. The latter was a favorite with his grandmother and when she died in Boston last October, left him about $400,000, partly in cash and partly in stocks and bonds. This was bequeathed in trust that the young man can only draw the interest, which is said to be about $1,000 a month.

Mr. Heath's mother and his aunt, Miss Lydia Lawson, both of whom have been in California, will soon return to Plainfield and make their home here. The groom, it is said, intends to engage in the automobile business after settling in Plainfield. The bride and her mother left Plainfield the early part of the winter, locating in Pasadena temporarily. Mr. Heath and his mother left here in November for California, going by the way of Texas, where they stopped to look after some business interests.

STREET CARS CRASH AT A BUSY CORNER

SEVERAL PASSENGERS HURT

None Of the Injured Need Medical Attenton, But Crowd Following Scots' Band Creates Momentary Excitement—Quieted By a Joke.

Several persons were slightly injured last night when a Netherwood and a Fourth street trolley car came together at Somerset and Front streets. Fred Hopewell, of Richmond street, and Robert Slorah, of McDowell street, were among those shaken up in the crash which scared all the passengers in both cars.

None of the injured required medical attention. The cars had their fenders badly bent and lost some paint from the vestibules.

The cars came together just at the time the Highlanders' band and parade was passing. A wag said that the bagpipes scared them.

Several of the passengers were women and their screams attracted the attention of the followers of the parade who forsook the Scottish attraction with its accompanying pipe music to ascertain the cause of the other unusual sounds.

It was while the curious ones were crowding about the jammed cars that the wag made his remark, and the laugh that followed did much to allay the excitement. The crowd hurried after the pipes and drums in a livelier mood than before.

The terminus on the northern end of each car's run is at the junction of Front and Somerset streets, the poles and fenders being changed on Somerset street, just off Front. One of the cars was making the change when the other slid down the slight grade at that point before the motorman could apply his brakes after seeing the car already on the turning point. The collision caused but a slight delay and neither car was put out of commission.

DUNELLEN'S MAIN STREET ENLIVENED BY PIG-CHASE

A little suckling pig stirred Dunellen yesterday as that staid borough has not been stirred since election. After a long and exciting chase through the business streets, in which fully a hundred school children and men participated, it was finally captured by A. McDonough, a driver for the Dunellen Coal and Supply C., and he is holding it awaiting the arrival of the rightful owner. The finish of the pig chase was just as sensational and exciting as the race had been throughout.

The tiny porker made its appearance on Washington avenue just at noon, with a drove of school children in close pursuit. The pupils' shouts and the animal's squeals attracted the attention of the grownups, who after a hearty laugh at the efforts of several of the larger boys to catch it, became enthused with the spirit of the chase and joined in.

No doubt some of them had been in pig chasing events before, where the prize, well smeared with grease, went to the one snaring it, and they were not long in learning that the one running loose knew all the tricks of the game.

The patches of ice in the roads added zest to the race.

His porkship would slip and fall only to be followed by a would-be captor in hitting mother earth. Before the person could regain his feet the pig was up and streaking it squealing up the street.

But it was the ice that finally led to the capture. Mose Jackson, another driver for the coal company, joined the hunt with McDonough, along with the fur-clad occupants of two automobiles, whose machines had been held up by the crowd.

The pig went down on a patch of ice when Jackson and McDonough had it cornered and as Jackson stooped to grasp the pig his feet slid from under him. In his descent he kicked the feet from under McDonough who in falling lit on the porker and held it fast.

DR. RICHARDS' DAUGHTER AT THE M'ALL AUXILIARY

Rev. Dr. Chauncey M. Goodrich, who, for a number of years has been in charge of the American chapel in Paris, and has been closely in touch with the work of the McAll Auxiliary abroad, brought encouraging news to the members of the Plainfield branch of the auxiliary at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead on East Front street, yesterday afternoon.

There was a large attendance of members and friends. The affair was of unusual interest because of the presence of Miss Anna Richards, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, who delighted the audience with several piano selections.

This was Miss Richards' first appearance here on such an occasion and she was given a cordial reception. Mrs. Mead introduced the speaker of the afternoon.

It was the opinion of Dr. Goodrich that a great many people of France are Christians at heart, worshipping God, but that they are prejudiced against the church. The work of the McAll Auxiliary appealed to them strongly.

Referring to the separation of church and State, Dr. Goodrich said that the State had given the church a year to adjust matters, but the church has been so strongly opposed to the change that it has interrupted the plans and brought out a confusion that is difficult to straighten out. The speaker expressed himself as being in favor of the separation.

The next meeting of the McAll branch will be held Wednesday, February 7, when preparations will be made for the annual meeting on March 6. In connection with yesterday's affair there was a tea provided by the hostess.

Reception to U. B. Crane.

The Philathea Bible class of the Temple Baptist church gave a surprise reception to its teacher, U. B. Crane at the church, last night, and the members of the Baraca Bible class were invited to join in the affair, which was purely social. There was an informal program consisting of piano selections by Mrs. William Crow; vocal selections by Clarence Murphy and William Wilson and several selection by a trio, Messrs. Cadberly, Connolly and Staats, violin, cornet and piano. During the evening Mr. Crane was presented with a large bouquet of carnations. During a social hour, refreshments were served.

James Clawson, of Park avenue and Sixth street, left today for Wilmadale, Florida, where he will spend the balance of the winter.

ALL OUT IN HONOR OF SCOTIA'S BARD

Theatre Filled at Clan McKenzie's Celebration of the Natal Day of Bobbie Burns.

MUSIC, DANCING, ORATORY

Mayor Mentions a Yearning, Born of the Skirl of the Pipes, for a Licence to Shout "Hoot Mon!"—Highlanders on Parade.

Noo, Maister Duncan Macintosh,
He was a Hielan' chiel,
An' Maister Duncan Macintosh
Could gar the bagpipes squeel,
He wore a suit o' tartan claes
Toe dance the Hielan' fling,
And numerous were the sangs
That Duncan liked tae sing.
—Lays of the Heather.

The bagpipes, the suit of tartan clothes and the songs that Duncan used to sing were all very much in evidence last night in the Plainfield theatre where the second annual concert of Clan Mackenzie was given to perpetuate the memory of Robert Burns. The skirling of the pipes, the graceful dancing and the melody of the songs created an atmosphere that was full of zest for the large audience present.

Everybody in town who has a Scotch twig, however small, on their family tree, and many whose ancestors were never nearer the land o' heather than New York harbor, was there and found pleasure and delight in the program.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy welcomed the clansmen and their families. His topic was "The City Beautiful We Live in," and he said that it suggested a city of homes. While listening to the songs and noting the dancing, he said, he had scanned his family tree for a twig, from which he could secure license to shout, "Hoot mon."

The songs had forcibly brought to him, he continued, the fact that they were all reminders of home, and homes with music and dancing in them were always happy. Although nearly all present have embraced the new country as their home, he said, it is very natural for their minds to wander back and their hearts to yearn for the banks and braes of their native land and the happy days of long ago spent among them. He was warmly applauded.

The program contained twenty numbers and all save one was filled. That was a speech by David King, treasurer of the Royal Clan, who was unable to be present and wired his regrets with a tribute to Robert Burns and Clan Mackenzie for keeping his memory green.

The solo numbers were all well received. Miss Edith Bryson repeated her conquest of last year by captivating her hearers with a rich soprano voice which needed no forcing to bring out the quaint harmony of the beautiful numbers she so pleasingly sang with something more than a suggestion of real dialect in her otherwise perfect ennunciation.

The little Crawford sisters also scored heavily, their graceful dancing of last year still being remembered. The Macintosh brothers with their streamer bedecked pipes, won fresh laurels and were much admired for their sturdy manhood well displayed in the regulation Highland costume.

The feature of the concert was the appearance of a detachment of New Jersey Highlanders in the Monroe clan plaid, headed by a towering drum major. "A regular broth of a man," as he was fittingly described. The Highlanders paraded through the streets prior to the concert in which they made two appearances in pipe and drum selections and drills.

Past Chief Murray welcomed the audience on behalf of the clan, saying that looking into their faces one could almost smell the blooming heather, the oat cakes and barley scones, fineloch herring and other Scotch dainties. He also thanked the public for the generous response on behalf of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, which shared in the proceeds for their cause.

DULL BUSINESS DAYS

January and February are reputed to be the quietest months in the year in all lines of commercial activity. Shoppers have bought liberally in December for the holidays, and are waiting for the usual Spring and Easter season before considering further buying.

The wide-awake store-keeper realizes that in order to keep his stock moving, so that he will have fresh and up-to-the-minute lines on his counters when the Spring season commences, he must continually call the attention of the buying public to his offerings. This is just as true in Plainfield as in any other city. And the wide-awake merchant also knows that there is no better way to draw attention to his wares than through the columns of the

PASSAIC MAY GO INTO THE PRODUCE BUSSINESS

Passaic, Jan. 26.—Between now and their next meeting the members of the city commission will consider ways and means of purchasing food and fuel in wholesale quantities for disposal to the public as Mayor Lew Shank, of Indianapolis, has been doing. The commissioners have been appealed to by the Socialist party and other organizations to go into the produce and fuel business, and they are taking the matter into consideration. All the commissioners are putting their heads together on the proposition, although Finance Commissioner J. Hosey Osborn has particular charge of the matter.

It has been suggested to the commissioners that the firemen might take turns going to market with their high-priced automobile fire apparatus and that the police might look after the payments, to see that they are not exorbitant.

Personally some of the commissioners believe they can conduct the scheme suggested.

Wilson, have filed notice of a petition to be taken up in the Orphan's Court at Elizabeth appealing from an order made by the surrogate admitting to probate the will of their father, William H. Brown, who died at his home in Elizabeth last month. The value of the estate is estimated at $3,000.

Under the terms of the will all of the estate is left to the testator's second wife, and the three sons of his first wife are cut off without a penny. The will was made on Brown's death-bed and the sons charge undue influence on the part of his second wife. The appeal will be argued before Judge Atwater in the Orphans' Court on February 7.

"Mad Dog" Scare.

There was a "mad dog" scare and a police scare in Roselle Wednesday. It was a small stray dog that scared the police, and the police in turn scared the residents. A general alarm was sent out that a mad dog was at large, and the police started out on a hunting expedition. Chief John Kinney was the first one to sight the animal. He fired several shots, which the canine artfully dodged and then began to run, leading a merry chase. Kinney was reinforced by Patrolman Ballanger, who was armed with a rifle, and as he chased through the town it was reported that he was on the trail of a desperate robber. A crowd followed at his heels. Later in the day the dog was found in the street and shot.

Gets Lower Lighting Rate.

Paterson, Jan. 26.—The county has succeeded in getting a lower rate for lights along the county roads from the Public Service Electric Company. Wednesday afternoon Colonel William Rogers appeared before the freeholders and submitted a letter offering a decided reduction in prices from those originally quoted. Heretofore the county has paid $97.50 each, while now the company offers the lamps for $85 a year. The letter from the company stated that it would furnish these lights if 200 were used, but after a discussion Colonel Rogers said that the company would put in 160 at the same figure.

Arriving at the home they found their mother preparing the evening meal. The couple was surrounded by the party and their joy was so overwhelming that they wept. The children presented to their parents a purse of gold.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT WELCOMED BY TAFT

Royal Visitors Leave New York For Canada.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The Duke of Connaught was officially welcomed to this country by President Taft at the White House. The ceremonies were marked by all the military and official honors usually accorded to visiting members of royal families, while a large crowd pressing against the high iron fence that surrounds the White House grounds testified to unofficial Washington's interest in the distinguished visitor.

The duke was entertained by the Right Hon. James Bryce, the British ambassador, at a dinner and brilliant reception, to which several hundred guests were invited. Among the guests were most of the members of the diplomatic corps in Washington, the members of the United States supreme court and other officials. The president and Mrs. Taft were unable to attend because of a cabinet dinner which Postmaster General Hitchcock was giving in their honor.

New York, Jan. 26.—The Duke of Connaught arrived from Washington at 7:15 o'clock this morning.

It was announced that the royal party will leave for Ottawa tonight at 7:40 on their private car York. The duke, it was said, has an important engagement for tomorrow morning in Ottawa and was unable, therefore, to extend his visit here.

DUKE'S SPEECH SHORT.

Royal Guest Visits Washington Press Club on Way to Train.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The Duke of Connaught delivered here the first public speech he has made in the United States. He spoke to the members of the National Press club, whose guest he was for a short time.

"May I thank you for your kind welcome," he said. "I assure you it is a great pleasure to meet you, gentlemen, who hold a position of great influence and hope you will always use it for the good of the world. I hope that England and the United States also will be the best of friends for the good of the world."

The duke stopped at the Press club on his way to the Union station from the British embassy. He spent just eleven minutes in the club's rooms. His train left for New York soon after midnight this morning.

THREATENING PARAGUAY.

Argentina Menaces Neighbor, Which Is Torn by Revolution.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 26.—The revolutionary trouble in Paraguay has taken an international phase. There is a quarrel on between Paraguay and Argentina, and the government of this republic threatens to break off diplomatic relations unless the administration at Asuncion gives immediate satisfaction for attacks on shipping and other property belonging to Argentine citizens and promises to furnish compensation.

The dispute over aggressions against the Argentine flag date back to Jan. 17, when the Paraguayan revolutionists at Asuncion fired on several Argentine vessels in the harbor and the Argentine cruiser Espora replied by throwing shells across the city.

For Federal Corporation Board.

Washington, Jan. 26.—An interstate corporation commission is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Morgan, Republican, of Oklahoma. It would give the commission authority to fix maximum prices and regulate business methods of corporations engaged in interstate trade.

IS ROOSEVELT AWAITING CALL?

Eight Republican Governors to Ask Him to Run.

LODGE ADVISES SILENCE.

Friends of Former President Expect Him to Issue a Public Statement Relative to the Republican Nomination Within the Next Two Weeks—Intimated That Colonel Is Willing.

Washington, Jan. 26.—A public announcement by Colonel Roosevelt regarding his intentions concerning the presidency is expected by close friends of the former president here. They look for this statement within the next two weeks.

Republican governors of several states and former governors are arranging to address a call to Colonel Roosevelt to become the party's candidate this year. The contributing editor, according to advices here, will not be wholly unprepared for this invitation. In fact, reliable information has come to Washington that the matter has been canvassed thoroughly and that he is familiar with the details and that he has not disapproved the plan. In the words of the popular song, he will be "Waiting at the Church."

Some For La Follette.

This "call" will probably be signed by Governor Glasscock of West Virginia, Governor Hadley of Missouri, Governor Osborn of Michigan and possibly others. At least eight governors have been sounded on the proposition. Some of them are committed to the La Follette movement and do not want to appear to desert this presidential foundling. Others are more or less diffident. The ex-governors who are figuring in the movement are Franklin Fort of New Jersey and Willson of Kentucky. The call may be broadened to include a number of other Republicans who have been more or less prominent in party affairs in the past. The governor of Delaware is taking some interest in the movement and may respond to the rattle of the muster drum.

The response which Colonel Roosevelt will make to this invitation, according to men who appear to be more or less familiar with the situation, will not be discouraging to the promoters of his candidacy.

It is understood that he will reply as he has heretofore, that he has no hankering to be president again, but that he is very much interested in the success of the Republican party and particularly desirous that there should be no backward steps in the movement to "carry out the Roosevelt policies."

If Drafted Will Run.

He will say, according to information received here, that he had been signally honored by the Republican party and that his personal inclinations are decidedly against returning to the activities of official life, but above all he desires the success of the Republican party, and if he should be "drafted" by the party he would feel that he could not decline.

The reply, if it should come forth in the form in which it is now conceived, is equivalent to a signal to the Roosevelt men in every precinct to get busy and rope and brand the delegates. Leading Republicans do not look forward with composure at the struggle that will thus be precipitated between the president's friends and the followers of ex-President Roosevelt. They believe it will not enhance the chances of the Republican party for success at the election in November.

Colonel Roosevelt is being showered with all kinds of advice. Two "visiting statesmen" returned to Washington from a hurried trip to Oyster Bay. One of these was Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, whose unvarying devotion to Colonel Roosevelt dates back to the days when Mr. Lodge was a member of the house and Colonel Roosevelt was giving the Republican party a few restless days as civil service commissioner. Senator Lodge was not disposed to discuss his visit to Colonel Roosevelt for the enlightenment of the newspaper men. He wore the same knowing smile that has illumined his features since it became apparent to the country that the Roosevelt movement had expanded beyond mere speculation.

From some of the senator's friends with whom he talked since he returned to Washington it is learned that he advised Colonel Roosevelt to continue the eloquent silence that has given so much satisfaction to the colonel's friends and so much exasperation to the Republicans who are planning for the renomination of President Taft.

One interesting piece of information that has been brought to Washington from Oyster Bay is the avowal of Colonel Roosevelt to many of his friends that he is a "party man." He says he believes in the organization and that he is wedded to party regularity. He says he is prepared to support Taft loyally if the president should be renominated.

Plainfield, N. J., January 26, 1912.

That former President Roosevelt is to be formally asked to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency by a group of Governors, former Governors and other prominent Republicans of the nation, and that he will accept when this request is made of him, is the statement made in a Washington dispatch to the New York Sun of this morning. At the same time the New York Times prints telegrams from various Governors throughout the country, and the only four who agree as to their choice for the Presidential nomination are the four who favor Roosevelt—Hadley, Glasscock, Stubbs and Osborne. Putting all things together, it looks as if a lot of men who are leaders in the Republican party have come to the conclusion that if Mr. Taft is renominated he cannot be elected, and they are prepared to try to nominate a man whom they feel reasonably sure can hold the country for the party. Whether their judgment is correct remains to be seen, but Teddy seems to have the popular vote.

Thirty States have ratified the Federal income tax amendment and its approval by only five more will make the amendment a part of the Constitution of the United States. New Jersey is one of the States that has not sanctioned the proposal but Governor Wilson is anxious that the present Legislature do so. To this end he purposes to send a special message to the lawmaking body next week and from hints given out by his friends it will be a most interesting and instructive document. The formal adoption has already been had in these States: Alabama, California Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska Nevada, New York, North Carolina North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota Tennessee, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin.

Among other vital plans being discussed by the National Child Labor Committee in session at Louisville, Kentucky, is that for the proposed establishment of a "Child's Bureau" in the United States Department of Commerce and Labor. A bill for the creation of a bureau was introduced in the House at Washington by Representative Peters, of Massachusetts, and has been approved by the House committee. Senator Borah, of Idaho is its champion in the Upper Chamber. The purpose of the bureau would be to collect statistics relative to infant mortality, delinquency, illiteracy, child labor, etc. It is estimated that the scheme would cost the Government but $30,000 a year. It would be money well spent.

High living and deep drinking cost the Federal Government just $20,000, that being the bill for the "celebration" of the tercentenary of the discovery of Lake Champlain. The vouchers have been produced by Secretary Knox by order of the President for the edification of the House Committee on Expenditures. Cocktails, lilies given away as presents, wines, automobile hire and cafe meals, together with dinners at $10 per plate, are included among the items. The high officials responsible for such outrageous use of the people's money should be made to go down in their pockets and refund the $20,000 to the Government.

Mayor Gaynor yesterday gave out a list of sixteen names of books which he considers have had the greatest effect on his life. Quoting one of these publications he says that it would be well if all could say: "Naked came I into this Government and naked come I out of it." The Mayor would have been more in touch with popular sentiment if he had given vent to that expression in the middle of summer, instead of when the thermometer was well below the freezing point.

Although she does not give up her time to attending pink teas and bridge whist parties, the hen, we are told, is showing a decline in her maternal instincts. To regain them she must be made to hustle for a livelihood. The loss of her motherly ways has been discovered by Prof. M. M. Curtis, head of the department of psychology and philosophy at Western University, who asserts that the maternal instincts of hens artificially bred show decline.

If the Chamber of Commerce intends holding an annual dinner next month, and we sincerely hope that it does, no time must be lost, particularly as it is difficult to obtain speakers of the proper sort at short notice. Banquets of this sort bring men closer together, promote good feeling, better understandings and do a lot of good in the end for the community.

LOADS OF SAND SPREAD ON HILL STOPS COASTING.

Several loads of sand were spread on the Interhaven avenue hill by the borough authorities today to prevent any further accidents such as marred the pleasure of coasters Sunday afternoon when Richard Perrine was seriously injured by colliding with an automobile.

A sign had been previously posted prohibiting the sport at that place. The lad who was injured is still a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital and today his condition was much improved.

GREAT SUCCESS ATTENDS TRINITY'S TURKEY SUPPER

Success attended the annual turkey supper given at Trinity Reformed church last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society. Between the hours of 5:30 and 9 o'clock the lecture room was thronged with members and friends of the church and liberal patronage was accorded the supper. The rooms and tables were attractively decorated by the women and everyone was given a hearty welcome. In addition to the supper there was a sale of cake, candy, aprons and fancy articles, while a feature was a laundry, where checks were redeemed.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Life offers many strange situations but none more amusing to the beholder than that which Hubert Henry Davies' hero finds himself in "A Single Man," which John Drew will present at the Plainfield theatre on Thursday night, February 8, a function caused by a romantic writer and bachelor of forty odd, who inspired by spring and the wedded joy of his brother determines on matrimony as the crowning touch needed to complete his scheme of perfect life. But unfortunately he forgets his youth is past and becomes engaged to a high spirited, tomboyish girl. His struggle to follow her exuberant pace is almost too much for the bridegroom-elect, who discovers that he can no longer be a frolicsome youth. It is an awkward moment, but by a most fortuitous circumstance, the bride-elect has made the same discovery and breaks off the engagement, thus leaving the "Single Man" free and supremely happy.

"The Gamblers" Charles Klein's highly successful play, which comes to the Plainfield theatre February 9, is a Wall street drama with exceedingly quick curtains. It shows how a young Napoleon of finance can by wire hedge baskets by his rivals, by methods, and even the threat to the mashes of the United States authorities. In the course of all this COUNTRY IS MENACED BY POLITICAL BLACKGUARDS

"Free Government was the subject of a talk given by [illegible] before the Men's Club of the Church of the Holy Apostles last night. For over an hour [illegible] held the close attention of the men as he discoursed on certain things which go to make up the country.

He began by calling the spirit of self-denial of the forefathers that the people who were to live afterward might enjoy the blessings of a free government. He said that this fact ought to make it precious and dear to the heart of every American.

Mr. Swacklamer said that the country today is threatened with political blackguards and anarchists, who, he said, are capitalists, adding that the people will give relief. He said that [illegible] from these evils [illegible] to lend in the hands of the people. He urged that they take a stand for righteousness and [illegible] in every sense. In conclusion Mr. Swacklamer asked the men to lend their support to local [illegible].

WOMEN TO HAVE A PART IN HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

In order that the women of the parish have a chance to lend their aid to the short term campaign for funds, which is about to begin, for the benefit of the hospital, Mrs. F. M. Hick, president of Muhlenberg Hospital, appeared at a recent meeting of the Women's Auxiliary Board of the hospital and explained in detail the needed improvements to the hospital.

He spoke of the plans for creating a children's ward with ten or twelve private rooms which would provide for an increased income to the hospital, and further explained the organization of the campaign, and the manner in which it is being conducted in preliminary work to its final success.

There present at the meeting showed a great interest in the movement.

A resolution was offered approving of the plan of the campaign executive committee to authorize the president of the Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Tomlinson, to appoint a chairman of the women's campaign committee. Mrs. Henry C. Fox was appointed as chairman of this women's committee, and at once set to work to secure nine assistants.

Each woman of her committee is to choose nine others so that there is now under way the formation of a hundred HEP field women. Many will be chosen from the Women's Auxiliary Board, but the membership will not be confined to the Board.

The women workers will be given assignment cards on February 6, but a few days later will be placed in their hands cards bearing the names and addresses of those from whom they are to solicit funds.

The Duty of the Up-to-Date Hospital

Caring for Patients Unable to Pay

Hospitals may be classed thus: those private institutions which accept pay patients only; those which accept both, those unable, as well as those able to pay, and those, usually the municipal hospitals, which care for charity patients only.

The general hospital which is wide-awake to its business will find a large field of usefulness in treating patients able to pay. An even larger field is open to that institution and it is among this class that we find by far the largest number of our hospitals, which will lend a helping hand to those without money, for future treatment or aid such, means an added burden of support for the community.

The efficiency of the individual usually equal the necessities of his life or he is a dependent.

The better the hospital facilities the greater the efficiency of the community, the higher the standard of life.

The child born with crooked [illegible] given [illegible] treatment at the modern hospital and the defect [illegible] prospect is restored. He takes his place among his fellows for the first time in life and in manhood is able to hold his own. Skilled skilled surgeons and the [illegible] come to his assistance. These would have been dependence upon [illegible] of men's aid to the community.

Mr. Nelson had been a resident of this city many years coming here after his retirement from the milling business in Piscataway township. While here he has been engaged in the real estate business. Surviving are his widow and several children, besides a brother, William Nelson, of East Second street.

Board Members Sworn In.

Eight members of the new Fanwood board of Education appointed by Mayor Thomas A. Fyde were sworn Wednesday night by City Clerk Charles H. Lambert. President Frank M. Stillman, of the old board, was the ninth member appointed but declined to serve. He was sworn Mayor Fyde on Sunday. It is understood that he would accept the appointment but Wednesday he sent a letter declining. It is reported that the failure of Mayor Fyde to appoint one of the old members to the new board was responsible for Mr. Stillman's decision.

FOWLER MAY TRY AGAIN TO BE SENT TO CONGRESS

Washington, Jan. 26.—Friends of former Representative Charles N. Fowler declare that he is seriously considering the idea of again becoming a candidate for Congress. He is said to be waiting the re-districting of the State by the Legislature before he determines his course. If Mr. Fowler is a candidate in the direct primaries he will make the run as a Progressive Republican. He is said to feel sure that Progressive candidates will generally win in the New Jersey primaries this fall.

Former Judge William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, who defeated Mr. Fowler in the primaries for the nomination but who failed of election in the Democratic landslide in 1910, will probably make a second effort this fall to enter Congress, by becoming the regular aspirant backed by the Republican organizations in Union and Morris counties.

CARDINALS SAID TO HAVE GOT DUNELLEN TWIRLER

There are persistent rumors in circulation to the effect that Percy Harney, who pitched for Dunellen last year, has been signed by the St. Louis Cardinals. Manager Bogardus of the Dunellen nine, when asked to affirm the report said that he had not seen Harney since the season closed and could not do so, but would not be surprised if it was true. "Harney made a remarkable record last year," said Mr. Bogardus, "and I wouldn't be amazed if he had attracted the attention of scouts for the big league teams, who at this time are particularly active in canvassing the amateur field for available material."

Harney's record for 1911 shows that in 10 games pitched against the best amateur teams in this section, he allowed only 52 hits; struck out 101 men and retired 49 more either on flys or by throwing them out at first, and issued but 12 passes. Four of these were given in one game played in a drizzling rain.

STRONG FIGHT TO MAKE OCEAN GROVE A BOROUGH

Trenton, Jan. 26.—There is considerable speculation in legislative circles as to the fate this year of the Ocean Grove borough bill. For two years the boroughites have made a strenuous fight to pass their bill to incorporate Ocean Grove as a borough and take the control of its government out of the hands of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association.

This year those favoring the borough bill are planning a more determined stand than ever in favor of the measure. The boroughites regard it as significant that the chairman of the committee on borough and borough commissions, which has the borough bill in its keeping, is Assemblyman Albert R. McAllister, of Cumberland county.

McAllister, it is pointed out, is a close friend of former Governor Edward Stokes, who has always thrown his influence against the incorporation of Ocean Grove. This has been due to the fact that the Stokeses have always been very friendly to the Camp Meeting Association.

The boroughites insist that the concessions just made by the Camp Meeting Association will have no effect upon the move to get the bill through the Legislature. The association has adopted a plan whereby the people of Ocean Grove will be permitted to elect twenty-six representatives empowered to vote with the members of the association in the appropriation of money for street, lighting, sprinkling, police protection and sanitation.

The Association has also decided to permit its books to be audited by an auditor chosen by these representatives of the people, and has announced that hereafter its meetings shall be open to the public, except in cases of executive sessions. These changes meet the oppositions which have been raised by the residents of Ocean Grove that the association was a close corporation and that the people had no choice in their local government.

The friends of the borough bill have engaged a special train and will come to the State House in force to support their measure at the public hearing on Monday, February 8, at 2 p. m.

P. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM IS DEFEATED BY CRANFORD

The hockey team of the Cranford High School defeated the Plainfield High School seven on Parker Field, yesterday afternoon, in a fast evenly-matched contest by a score of 3 to 0. Both teams were handicapped by the poor condition of the ice which was soft and rough in many places.

The visitors gave a fine exhibition of team work in both halves and kept the sphere in the P. H. S. territory during the greater part of the game. Through fine team work the Cranford puck chasers brought the disc within the range of the local goal continually and took many shots.

It was only the good work of White at goal for P. H. S. that kept his team from being defeated by an overwhelming score. The lineup of P. H. S.:

HALL CO. HALTS WAR DEPT. IN OPENING SIGNAL BIDS

Washington, Jan. 26.—Bids for furnishing signals for the Panama Railroad, which were to be opened yesterday, were postponed to February 8 by order of Secretary of War Stimpson, as a result of a protest filed on Wednesday by the Hall Signal Company, of Garwood, N. J.

The Hall Company claims that the original specifications for the bids were of such a nature that barred them from competition, except upon the basis of purchasing certain patented material from another company which they insist they do not require in the manufacture of efficient signals. When the matter was first presented to him through Representative Tuttle, of Westfield, Secretary Stimpson was strongly adverse to taking any action on the protest.

Mr. Stimpson finally consented to listen to the argument of the New Jersey company and after he had heard it he promptly issued the order postponing the opening of the bids.

County Clerk Calvert Better.

County Clerk James C. Calvert, who has been critically ill in Alexian Brothers' hospital, Elizabeth, was reported today as being improved, with excellent changes for recovery. Mr. Calvert is suffering from a severe attack of heart trouble.

Miss Jean Paterson, of Mariners place, a pupil nurse at the Elizabeth General hospital, has been detained at home for the past two weeks by a severe attack of throat trouble.

INJURED WORKMAN RUSHED TO THE OPERATING TABLE

Louis Epstein, of Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street, a carpenter employed in erecting a house at 617 South Second street, was taken to Muhlenberg hospital this afternoon, apparently in a serious condition, the result of a fall from the second story of the building.

He was taken at once to the operating room, where the physicians will try to learn if there are broken bones or internal injuries. He was unconscious when taken from the ambulance.

Epstein was working on a scaffold, elevated to the second story, when one of the ropes broke. He pitched backward, striking his head and back when he hit the ground.

The police were notified, and they sent the ambulance to the scene.

Seventh-Day Baptist Services.

The prayer meeting at the Seventh-Day Baptist church tonight will be without a fixed topic. Each one attending will bring a personal testimony growing out of the experiences of the past week. Rev. Edwin Shaw, the pastor will speak tomorrow morning on the topic, "Remember Lot's Wife." Marion Worden will lead the junior prayer meeting at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Junior Christian Endeavor Society will meet at 4 o'clock. Miss Ethel Titsworth will be the leader and the topic will be "The foreign missionary whose life has inspired me." The Sabbath-school will meet at the close of the morning preaching service at 11:45.

Mrs. Jackson's Funeral.

The funeral service over Mrs. Agnes Jackson, widow of Thomas Jackson whose death occurred yesterday afternoon at her home on Somerset street, will be held at her late residence Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Burial will be made in the family plot in the Somerville cemetery. Mrs. Jackson was in her sixty-ninth year and had been a resident of the borough for many years. Surviving are two sons, Thomas S. and John Jackson, both residing in North Plainfield.

Miss Bessie Duffy Buried.

The funeral services for Miss Bessie Duffy were held this morning at her late home on Grove street and at St. Joseph's church where a requiem mass was celebrated by Father William Miller. There was a large congregation at the church and numerous floral tributes attested the esteem in which the departed was held. The bearers were James Caulfield, Joseph and John J. Duffy, Henry Gamb, Edward Rimble and Joseph E. Doyle. Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Club Adopts By-Laws.

The Young Men's Club of the Church of the Holy Cross met last night and adopted a set of by-laws drafted by the rector, Rev. William S. McCoy. President O'Brien appointed entertainment and athletic committees to arrange a series of entertainments and plan an early spring campaign in sports.

Our Climate an Asset.

On no other continent, under no other sun, in no other zone, in all the world, can be found the same extent of fertile, available agricultural land as in these United States. And in no other equally large tract as that stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and between the great lakes and the gulf can be duplicated the same amount of normally good weather as nature has bestowed on this favored land. Our rain and sunshine are so proportioned the one to the other as to produce the best yearly conditions on earth. — Detroit Free Press.

An All Around Sermon.

A sermon had been preached in a cathedral, and some of the clergy who had been present were discussing it at the bishop's luncheon table. One said, "Was not that sermon a little 'high?'" "High!" exclaimed another. "It struck me as being decidedly 'low.'" "Well, now," put in an orthodox cleric of the old school, "I should have described it as rather 'broad.' What do you say, bishop?" "I," replied the prelate, "thought it was rather 'long.'"

Most Furs Wear Long With Care.

Most furs are durable, experts say, and will last for a long time if guarded from moths, high temperatures and spring sunshine. A less durable fur is broadtail, as it is taken from young animals. Chinchilla and ermine are also delicate, both in color and texture, and should be carefully treated. Places that make a specialty of storing furs keep them at a uniform winter temperature.—New York Sun.

LOIZEAUX LUMBER CO. BRANCH AT STIRLING

The J. D. Loixeaux Lumber Company plans to open a branch of its lumber business in the near future at Stirling, where a desirable site has been selected along the line of the Lackawanna Railroad. At present the company has two yards in this city one in the East End and the other on Rock avenue. The company hopes by establishing a branch at Stirling to cover more conveniently the country trade extending throughout that section, which includes Mt. Horeb, Millington, Basking Ridge, Bernardsville, Union Village and Martinsville.

The company finds it difficulty to reach the above places under present conditions, the haul being a long one. With a yard at Stirling shipments of lumber and building materials can be sent direct to that place over the Lackawanna, and the distributing point will make it easy to reach the other nearby towns.

Plainfield Council Installs.

Supervising Deputy Regent William Amerman installed the officers-elect of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, last night. The local members entertained a delegation from Bayonne Council, and after the installation and other business of the evening the visitors were entertained at Timlo's restaurant. Hugh A. Todd is the new regent of Plainfield Council, succeeding H. W. Saterfield.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic.—The foreign missionary, whose life has most inspired me.—II Cor. v, 14-20. Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The influence of one life upon another has always been recognized as an important factor in the development of human character. To this end the lives of noble men have been fondly cherished and have played an important part in the inspiration of heroic and self sacrificing deeds. Personal contact with great and good men has also been a wonderful source of inspiration. The influence of Socrates made Plato a great philosopher, and thousands can testify to the benefit received from acquaintance with the good and great or from a study of their life and character. For this reason the study of biography should prove one of the most important to us, and in such study we should not neglect the lives of the world's great missionaries, for few lives have been more inspiring than those which have been dedicated to the service of Christ in distant lands and amid conditions that called forth heroic sacrifice and noble endeavors.

History bears abundant testimony to the influence of men "who have hazarded their lives for Christ's sake." What life has been more inspiring than that of Paul, the missionary to the gentiles? It was an epistle of Paul that led to the conversion of Martin Luther and the Protestant reformation, and Luther's commentary upon Galatians influenced John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, to take his stand against the religious formalism and spiritual stagnation of his day. It was the example of Robert Moffat that made David Livingstone the great missionary to "darkest Africa."

Henry Martyn read the story of David Brainerd's self sacrificing labors among the American Indians and consecrated his life to missionary service in distant lands. No one has ever read or studied the biographies of foreign missionaries without receiving some inspiration to deeper devotion and more earnest consecration. To do so would be impossible. Only a heart of stone could read such lives as those of William Carey, "the consecrated cobbler," Adoniram Judson, Robert Moffatt, David Livingston, Henry Martyn, John G. Paton and hosts of others who have gone to heathen lands to preach the gospel and be untouched and uninfluenced. We may not be able to point to one particular life and say that it influenced us most, but we can testify that consciously and unconsciously all have had an influence for good upon us. We have gloried in their achievements and have been led by them to more earnestly desire and to strive for the salvation of the souls of men.

The life of Christ is and should be the supreme influence in our lives, and in the noblest sense He was the world's greatest missionary. He left His home in heaven to come to a world in rebellion against God with the supreme purpose of giving His life as a ransom for the sin cursed world to which He came. The lives of many missionaries reflect to an unusual degree the true spirit and example of Christ, and we may well be followers of them in so far as they are followers of Him.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. lii, 1-7; Matt. xxviii, 19, 20; Luke x, 25-32; Acts i, 1-8; xv, 25, 26; Rom. i, 14-16; x, 14, 15; II Cor. xi, 23-33; Eph. iv, 32; v, 1, 2; Heb. x, 23-25; xii, 1, 2; I Pet. ii, 21-25.

Belief In the Movement.

I believe in Christian Endeavor because it is the thing that is needed in the church. Nothing has yet been devised that can take its place. The Sunday school is the place where the young are taught the principles and the lessons of the Bible, but the Christian Endeavor society is the place where they are given the opportunity to put these principles into practice. They are not only given the opportunity; they are organized into committees for the express purpose to show them how they may serve the Lord Christ. Just as industrial education makes better workmen so does Christian Endeavor, which is the practice school of the church, make more efficient Christians.

I believe in Christian Endeavor because it is trying to bridge the gap between the Sunday school and church membership. I believe in it because of its hope, because of the ideal of service it presents, because of its loyalty to the church, because of its loyalty to the denomination and because of its broad fellowship with all that love the Lord Jesus.—Rev. R. P. Anderson.

A Mission by Moonlight.

The moon is cold; the ocean air is chill;
Alone with lonely owls the mission stands,
The staring belfry towering on the sands
That hold in Serra's grave the ever still Repose of mighty labors—love and will
In rest profound, where once the brooding bands
Of dark souled beings lifted up their hands
To God and heard the angel voices thrill.

Mute are the bells that called the nights of old,
Forever lost the chanted melody
That mingled with the sounding of the sea.
The lofty moon through clouds of windy cold
Rocks in her silver faith their vanished gold,
The altar lights of warmth and mystery.

SPIRITUAL SABBATHISM ONE OF THE NEEDS OF PRESENT GENERATION

A SERMON

BY

REV. EDWIN SHAW.

There are today several great forward movements going on in the world that are of special interest in relation to the church. I shall not mention them in the order of their importance, that matter I could not venture to decide. I shall mention them as they come to me, six of them briefly.

1. The evangelization of the whole world. This is a mighty forward movement, being carried on in many, many ways, missionary societies, student volunteers, Y. M. C. A.'s, etc. They may all be included under the common title of foreign missions, but I like better the term, the evangelization of the whole world.

2. Religious education. We do not hear quite so much about this, yet it is a mighty forward movement seen in the work of the Sunday school, teacher-training classes, graded work, uniform lessons, institutes, summer schools, Bible study, and so on. It is a great forward movement, religious education.

3. Federal union of Christians. This does not mean a blending of all denominations into one denomination. It does not mean the adoption of one expose of faith and belief. It does not mean the acceptance of one statement of doctrine by all. It does not mean the loss of one's individuality, or the loss of the identity or individuality of any church or denomination. It means a federation of all Christians of whatever church or denomination, by which the work of the Kingdom may be carried on with less cross purposes and mixing effort, that is, with more unity, all in the spirit of charity and Christian forbearance. It is a great forward movement in these days, the Federal union of all Christians.

4. World-wide peace. Marvelous progress has been made along this line in the past few years, this fourth forward movement.

5. Civic righteousness. That is honesty and fairness in matters of public government, not only in our own national, State and municipal affairs, but all over the world. Like the other great forward movements, it may have here and there quite serious setbacks, but as a whole it is a forward movement.

6. The sixth forward movement is that of social service. Under this matter comes temperance, betterment of conditions in prisons, tenements and factories, organized charities, crusades against vice and crime, and filth and disease. It is a large matter, and appeals to the altruistic elements in our natures, I think, even more than the other five great forward movements I have mentioned.

These six great forward movements are at work in the world, and we have our humble part in them. But they are like the six days of the week, six days of labor, and they should have in connection with them a seventh great forward movement, namely, Spiritual Sabbathism. It is for that we stand as a people. It is of that which I would speak today. The laborer needs a day of rest, in his human physical nature, after a period of work, not before, but after a period of work, he needs a time of rest. That is provided in God's plan by the Sabbath day. But the world needs a day of rest, the church needs a day of rest, our religious activities need a day of rest, our Christianity of these times needs a day of rest, a spiritual Sabbathizing. This is also provided for in God's plan of the Sabbath. And the great forward movement now needed in the realm of Christianity more than any other one movement is Spiritual Sabbathism.

People work and pray and give for foreign missions. People study and labor and plan for religious education. People explain and set forth and join hands for closer church federation. People talk and work and persuade and vote for civic righteousness. People gather and sign petitions, and send memorials and make speeches for world-wide peace. People toil and labor and sacrifice in social service, six days of glorious work for the Lord, and then some way they forget the spiritual side of their own lives and works. I know this is so. I hear it spoken of so often by men in addresses and lectures and sermons, and always so manifestly accepted by those who hear. And I read of it in magazines and books and papers, not only those professedly religious, but those called secular.

But I do not find that this confessed lack of spiritual life, this confessed need of spiritual life, is connected with the great idea of the Sabbath. It seems to be a sort of individual matter; as though each workman, by himself, were to catch a little rest now and then, as was convenient, and had no Sabbath rest at all, that is, as though his rest-time was not considered in any way with a Sabbath. And so with the spiritual rest which the world needs, there seems to be no connection of it with the Sabbath idea. Now God at the very start established the Sabbath. It is in his program for the physical and for the spiritual welfare of his people. When in the development of the race, God set his seal upon the written code of laws for men, the Ten Commandments, the Sabbath was incorporated in the very heart of that law. When the prophets and priests and poets of Israel put into writing the thoughts that God would have the world know and understand, the Sabbath always held a prominent place in these inspired revelations. And when Jesus came to the earth to reveal to men the way, the truth and the life, "that he might bring us to God," he himself kept the Sabbath; he freed it from the man-made restrictions that had been put upon it; he explained and interpreted it in the light of his own divine example, saying it was "made for man." Now that Sabbath was in its temporal form, the seventh day of the week that Jesus kept and said was "made for man." It is the only Bible Sabbath. And it is because the Sabbath idea has been lost in the observance of Sunday, because it has no sanction of the sacred word, that it has lost its power on the great mass, the large majority, of Christian people. They feel the lack of spirituality in their lives, even when zealously working in the six great forward movements I have mentioned, and possibly do not realize how the Sabbath idea, symbolized in the seventh day of the week, when treated in the spirit of the Master, would meet so fully the need of their lives.

There is no need to set before you today the fact that there is no Bible Sabbath but the seventh-day of the week. There is no need to set before you the fact that the Sabbath as a symbol, loses all its force when applied to the first day of the week. Talk with most any Sunday observing Christian and he will tell you that Sunday is the Lord's Day and that it is kept as a glad memorial day of the resurrection of Jesus. Sunday is losing what Sabbath rest idea it used to have in the minds of those who observed it; and Sabbathizing or Sabbath-keeping, spiritual Sabbathism, is little talked about, is little cherished, is little exalted, and little enjoyed in the world.

We hold to the true foundation of the Sabbath are all too often indifferent and negligent and careless as to its spiritual element. And there are Seventh-day Sabbath keepers who so emphasize the symbol, that is, the seventh day of the week, who do magnify the purely temporal element, that is, which day of the week is the Sabbath, and so think of that only, that their spiritual lives are dry and barren of anything more than mere Bible references piled up in mass as proof arguments to sustain their position. They can talk to you by the hour and prove from the Bible without question that the seventh day is the Sabbath for all mankind, and they are very strict and circumspect possibly as to outward conduct on the Sabbath, but the spiritual help and uplift and growth and rest and satisfaction are things that rarely are connected in their lives with the Sabbath idea.

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." Now the power and the effect of the Sabbath is lost when it is applied to any other day than the seventh-day. Its holiness ceases for all the reasons and causes which brought it into being are senseless, are without meaning. All this you know. But Christianity needs a Sabbath spiritually kept. But how can there be a spiritual keeping when the symbol, by the changing of the day, loses all its meaning. I do not believe that there can ever be a great forward movement in Sabbathism with any other day than the Bible taught Seventh-day as the symbol.

I believe that Christianity today needs to fulfill its circle, six days of labor like those I have mentioned, and the true Sabbath, with all its spiritual value and blessings. That is why I am a Seventh-day Baptist. We have, friends, a great, a mighty work. We have first our own blessed privilege and opportunity as individuals, each one of us, of keeping the Sabbath; and second, as members of this local church, we have in addition to our own privilege and opportunity, the duty and responsibility of being living witnesses, living epistles, known and read of all men, as to the power and importance and obligation of the Sabbath; and then in the third place we have the work of spreading this gospel of the Sabbath, that is of endeavoring to make spiritual Sabbathism a great, a mighty forward movement. The work, as a denomination, has been entrusted especially to the Tract Society, and this society has delegated the work to a board of thirty persons, most of whom live in this city or near by. For that work you and people all over the denomination are asked to pray and to give.

It is ours, friends, to let our lights shine, to keep our lamps burning, not to burn other people with them, or set things afire; but to show the way, to light up the path. For this, O Lord, make and keep us strong and faithful. Amen.

Woman Who Took Acid Succumbs.

Morristown, Jan. 26.—After partially regaining consciousness Wednesday, the woman who took carbolic acid in the Convent Station Tuesday died in Memorial Hospital yesterday. The woman had admitted that her name is Henrietta Witter, the cognomen on the fly leaf of a prayer-book found beside her. She said that she was out of work and despondent. Further than that the authorities have been unable to learn anything.

Killed Under Loaded Sled.

Blairstown, Jan. 26.—Jacob B. Mericle was instantly killed a short distance from his home at Waintalley, of this township, by falling from a load of logs. He fell under one of the runners of the sled, which passed over his neck. The body was found by his wife, who went in search of him when he did not return home for inner. Mr. Mericle was about thirty-five years old.

KAISER ANGRY AT SOCIALIST GAINS

Party Wins 110 Reichstag Seats In Elections.

CARRY POTSDAM DISTRICT

With Results of Elections Known There Is Much Speculation In Germany Regarding Emperor's Threat to Desert His Palace at Potsdam if a Socialist Were Seated There.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—Results of all elections for seats in the reichstag are complete and show a Socialist gain, that party now holding a record membership of 110 seats.

The "blue black" bloc, consisting of the Conservatives and Centrists which supported the government, was defeated, in that its total membership has fallen from 188 to 159. There are 397 members in the reichstag, and the house now stands: Socialists, 110; Centrists, 93; Conservatives, 66; National Liberals, 47; Radicals, 44; Poles, 18; all others, 19.

The disappointment of the Socialists over the defeat of Herr Duewell by Herr Kaempf in the palace district of Berlin was compensated for by the significant victory at Potsdam, where Liebknecht, the Socialist candidate, was elected. This is the first time that a kaiser district has ever been represented in the reichstag by a Socialist.

It remains to be seen whether the emperor will carry out the threat ascribed to him by the Conservative press that he would quit Potsdam, close his own and the other royal palaces, withdraw the crack regiments and ruin Potsdam from a commercial standpoint if a Socialist were elected.

The victor, Herr Liebknecht, is a lawyer and the son of a more eminent man of the same name. He recently finished a sentence of eighteen months' detention in a fortress for his anti military propaganda.

Although the progressive parties outnumber the "bloc," there is general confidence that the government will make majorities for the proposed additions to the naval and military establishments. It is even possible that the new parliament will survive the full five year term.

Enthusiastic crowds thronged the streets, cheering for the Socialist triumphs.

INQUIRY OF BUTTER PRICES.

New York Grand Jury to Hear Officers of Mercantile Exchange.

New York, Jan. 26.—Subpoenas were issued for three officers of the New York Mercantile exchange to appear next Tuesday before the grand jury and testify in the investigation being conducted by the district attorney's office into the high price of butter. Assistant District Attorney De Ford has been chosen to look into butter.

The members of the Mercantile exchange who will appear are E. E. Martin, president; S. M. Knopp, secretary, and W. G. French, treasurer. They will bring with them the original certificate of incorporation or a charter of the Mercantile exchange and books, papers and pamphlets containing the bylaws and rules of the exchange in force during 1910 and 1911. The investigation is made to ascertain whether a conspiracy exists which is responsible for the high price of butter or whether the prices are due to the laws of supply and demand.

GUARANTY OF TITLE

A Guaranty protects the owner against the possibility of undiscovered or undiscoverable defects or flaws arising at any time in the future. It is the PERFECT PROTECTION, placing back of the purchaser all the strength and resources of a great financial institution. A Guaranty is often of great advantage in reselling property.

150 GIRLS QUIT AFTER ACCIDENT

MEET AT DEAD GIRL'S HOME

Although Offered Increased Pay, Girl Employees of United States Cartridge Company at Perth Amboy Turn Down Hazardous Jobs—Cause of Explosion a Mystery.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Jan. 26.—The 150 girls whose lives were endangered by the explosion Wednesday afternoon that killed sixteen-year-old Margaret Kellner in the factory of the United States Cartridge company here have signed a pledge never again to engage in such hazardous employment.

Because of this action the loading and wadding departments of the factory are temporarily closed. Agents of the company offered the girls an advance of 40 to 50 per cent in wages to return, but all rejected the overtures.

Although many of the girls are of poor families, their parents are encouraging them in their stand. The doors of many homes were closed on representatives of the cartridge company when they tried to induce the factory workers to return to work.

The girls gathered at the home of Miss Kellner recalled that a slight explosion occurred a month ago in the loading machine at which Miss Kellner met death. Since going to work for the company ten days ago Miss Kellner complained that the apparatus at which she worked "smoked." She notified an official of the company. The smoke was attributed to burning grease and no effort was made to repair the machine.

Miss Kellner and the other girls who worked at the loading machine received $6 a week. At the end of five months they were to get an advance of 10 cents a day. The maximum wage was to be $7 a week. Now the company offers $1.40 and $1.50 a day.

Captain Thomas B. Does, the government representative in charge of the factory, says the cause of the explosion is a mystery. Coroner James J. Flynn of Middlesex county investigated the accident and has absolved officials of the company from blame. It is probable his official report will say the explosion was caused by a friction spark dropping into powder.

Girls who worked at machines near Miss Kellner will be the pallbearers at the funeral tomorrow.

FUND FOR FREED SLAYER.

Convict Who Was Sentenced to Death to Begin Life Anew.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 26.—Although he was sentenced in Burlington county sixteen years ago to be hanged for killing a woman, Alfred Clymer, since then a convict in the New Jersey state prison here, got his liberty and at the age of forty-one has gone to New York city to begin life anew.

When twenty-five years old Clymer was found guilty of having murdered a woman while he was intoxicated, a first degree verdict being returned, and it was the duty of Supreme Court Justice Garrison to sentence him to death. The court felt, however, that the man should have been convicted only of a lesser degree, and he immediately interested himself in the case, finally gaining a commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment.

At a special meeting of the prison directors last week he obtained a parole and was discharged from the prison. During all his time behind bars Clymer never received a discredit mark and was the most popular prisoner in the institution not only among the deputies, but also among his fellow inmates. The latter raised about $20 for him, while the keepers subscribed a larger sum, and with this money he will start anew. A deputy keeper accompanied him to the railroad station and put him on a train for New York, where he will be taken care of by friends until he is ready for a position which awaits him.

ANOTHER VICTIM DIES.

Factory Girl Who Developed Tuberculosis Lived Year After Disaster.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 26.—One more victim of the Wolf factory fire in Newark more than a year ago was recorded, making twenty-seven in all. The latest victim was Miss Lillian Kleb, twenty-six years old, of 12 Columbia street.

Miss Kleb was one of the employees who jumped from a window of the fourth floor into a life net. Tuberculosis developed, and in less than a week she was sent to a hospital. Later she was sent to Glen Gardner in the vain hope of staying the disease. Only a week ago she was given $600 from the fire fund.

Red Rover Wins Race.

Long Branch, N. J., Jan. 26.—Ex-Commodore J. C. Gibbons' Red Rover won the Wiener cup, sailed by ice yachts of the Long Branch club, from a field of six starters, covering the fifteen mile course in 26 minutes 4 seconds, equaling the record made by the Clarel. Captain James O'Brien's Jack Frost was second, twenty-seven seconds behind the winner, with the Drub third, close up.

ATLANTA WANTS MACARTHUR.

Head of World's Baptist Alliance Called to Southern City.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 26.—Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, president of the World's Baptist alliance, will be called to Atlanta to succeed Dr. Len G. Broughton as pastor of the Baptist tabernacle. Dr. Broughton resigned to accept the pastorship of Christ church, the great free church of London.

Dr. MacArthur is now in Russia as representative of the Baptist Alliance of the World to confer with the czar on matters pertaining to the Baptist church in Russia. Before leaving for Russia Dr. MacArthur spent a month in Atlanta.

MINERS TO MEET OPERATORS.

Demands For Higher Wage Scale Will Be Rejected.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—The soft coal operators, representing Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and western Pennsylvania, appointed members of the conference committee to meet with the miners' scale committee, there being eight operators and eight miners selected to represent each of the states. The demands of the miners were presented informally, but there was no argument on them.

Before meeting with the miners' committee the operators held a caucus and discussed the wage scale which was about to be presented to them. They were unanimously in the sentiment that the demands would be rejected if presented as a whole, as the adoption of the new scale would place a heavy burden of cost upon the operators, and the wages are now as high as could be paid without increasing the cost of coal at the mines, and this cannot be done.

ABE ATTELL IS BARRED.

Featherweight Champion Can't Box In New York State.

New York, Jan. 26.—Abe Attell, featherweight champion, who boxed an unsatisfactory bout with K. O. Brown at the National Sporting club here last week and later charged his defeat to the injection of cocaine, was suspended for a period of six months by the state athletic commission.

Attell's chief second, Daniel Goodman, was also barred for a similar length of time. This ruling will prevent Attell from taking part in any boxing bout in New York state and from gaining admission to all licensed clubs, even as a spectator.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

[illegible] Harrison Grey Fiske, this week in an "Arabian Night," "Kismet," by Edward Knoblauch, at the Knickerbocker theatre. All of the costumes and properties are from Paris, where the dresses were made and much of the other paraphernalia purchased in the bazaars. The period of the play is that of the Haroun-al-Raschid in Bagdad, which was the most cosmopolitan city of the period. In the enchanting East the author's idea of a night in Bagdad varies but little from a night in the cities of Tunis and Algeria. "Kismet" is in a prologue, three acts with nine scenes and an epilogue. It will be full of great scenic effects. Rita Jolivet, who was leading lady for George Alexander in London, plays the role of the beggar's daughter. Violet Romer, who was so successful as a dancer in San Francisco and London, makes her New York debut in the play. Of the London company only Ernest Leyman and George Ralph will play in New York. The part of Hajj, the beggar, which Mr. Skinner assumes, is one of the best acting male roles of the modern stage. Mr. Skinner, who is considered by many the cleverest actor of the day, gives a wonderful performance of the part.

Louis N. Parker's play "Disraeli," which is enjoying a long run at Wallack's theatre, New York city, has been made the subject of a query regarding the exact period of the great statesman's life referred to. Mr. Parker, however, isn't allowing himself to be pinned down to days, months and years. He says: "This is the only method the author can imagine as workable, and it is this method he has ventured to adopt in "Disraeli." The actual purchase of the Suez Canal was an elaborate and long-drawn business; its consequence have not fully developed even yet. The author used it, so to speak, as a symbol, and not at all as a historical fact. He had purposely not labelled his play with any date. Dates, like all other figures, are stubborn things, and stubborn things are better out of a play. Call the period of the play the seventies, and leave it at that. Its main object is to show a conceivable picture of the great Jewish statesman. Oh, Heavens! It is bad enough to write a play, anyway. Let us not hamper the unhappy author, who possibly has a widow and little ones to support, by chaining him to logic, facts, dates and the encyclopedia."

FARLEY MOUNTS THRONE.

Crowd of 20,000 Attends Installation of New Cardinal.

New York, Jan. 26.—John Cardinal Farley was formally installed in his new office with magnificent and impressive ceremonies at St. Patrick's cathedral. Fully 20,000 persons attended the services, but only 5,000—the capacity of the auditorium—were admitted to the cathedral.

More than 700 clergy took part in the ceremonies. These included Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Prendergast of Philadelphia, bishops, monsignori and priests.

During the services two cablegrams of congratulation were read. One was from Pope Pius and the other from Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary.

SERVIAN ARMY MAY OVERTHROW THRONE

Sensational Events Expected In Belgrade.

London, Jan. 26.—A dispatch from Vienna to the Daily Chronicle says gloomy tidings have been received there from Servia. They foreshadow sensational events resembling those which preceded the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga and several members of the cabinet on June 11, 1903. Two secret military leagues dominate the political situation. The newspapers guardedly print hints of a coup d'etat and a military dictatorship.

A dispatch from Belgrade on Jan. 23 stated that another plot against the present dynasty has been discovered and that an organization called the Black Hands, composed of the younger officers of the army, had for its object the overthrow of King Peter. The crown prince, who is inspector general of the army, was compelled to resign because of the discovery of the existence of such a secret organization in the army.

WOMAN U. S. COMMISSIONER.

Mrs. Mabel Bell of Covington, Ky., Hears First Case.

Covington, Ky., Jan. 26.—Attired in a becoming but not strictly ultrafashionable shirt waist and brown tailor made skirt, Mrs. Mabel Van Dyke Bell undertook her new duties as United States commissioner in the federal building here, her first case being that of Frank Strohne, charged with misuse of the mails, and after patiently hearing all the evidence she quietly and courteously placed the defendant under a bond of $500 to appear before the federal grand jury in April.

Mrs. Bell is said to be the first woman who ever held this position under Uncle Sam, and she is certainly the first to be addressed as "your honor" and "judge," as she was continually by the attorneys on both sides.

PRISONER ACCUSES ANOTHER.

Negro Says Man Once Suspected Killed Isaac Vogel.

New York, Jan. 26.—Joseph Roberts, the negro whose finger print on a stolen cigarette case was instrumental in bringing him to trial for the murder of Isaac Vogel, a jewelry peddler, denied in Judge Foster's part of general sessions that he had killed Vogel and accused Asher Schap, the supervisor of the building at 125 Canal street, where Vogel's body was found on Dec. 6.

Roberts said that after a dispute in the elevator Schap struck Vogel on the head with a hammer. Roberts said that he helped Schap care for the injured man until Schap sent him home.

Schap was arrested at the time as a witness and was discharged by the coroner.

"Showing" the Boxers.

An incident of the Boxer rebellion, when Yuan Shih Kai was viceroy of Chili, gives a suggestion of his quality, notes the Outlook. A number of the Boxer chiefs of his province came to ask him to take part in the leadership of their movement. As an inducement they assured him that it was impossible that the movement should fail, because the Boxers were possessed of a magic which made them invulnerable to foreign bullets. Expressing great interest in this invulnerability, Yuan invited them to an excellent dinner. When they had dined he declared that it would be a very simple matter to test the invulnerability, because his soldiers were equipped with foreign guns. He thereupon conducted his guests to the courtyard, stood them up against a wall and, with a company of his own soldiers armed with foreign rifles, made a convincing test of the matter. Strange to say, not a single Boxer proved invulnerable.

An English Ghost Story.

The ghost of Lord Tyrone, it is said, appeared to Lady Beresford, the wife of Sir Tristram Beresford, who died in 1673, and announced that Lord Tyrone, of whose death she had not heard, had died a few days before. The ghost went on to say that Lady Beresford would be blessed with a long desired heir; that she would marry again and would die at the age of forty-seven. The first three things came to pass, and Lady Beresford was congratulating herself on approaching her forty-eighth birthday when the clergyman who had christened her told her that she was really a year younger than she thought.

"You have signed my death warrant," she said. "I have not much longer to live."

That afternoon she told the story to her son and daughter and died, and on her wrist was the withering mark where the ghost had touched her.

Storms That Beat About the Horn.

The waters of Cape Horn have never been unvisited by storms for more than a week or two at a stretch within the memory of man. Standing on the outpost of the world, Cape Horn is the meeting place of ocean currents of very different temperatures, from the icy cold waters of the antarctic drift to the warmth of the Brazilian and Peruvian return currents. The prevailing winds are from the northwest and west, and these, coming from the warm regions of the Pacific, condense into fogs which the sailors call "Cape Horn blankets" and which are the sure forerunners of storms. The extremely low levels to which the glaciers of Tierra del Fuego descend, the perpetual congelation of the subsoil, the meeting of conflicting winds of very different temperatures, are all direct or indirect causes combining to make this the most constantly stormy region in the world.

Emergency Rations.

On active service every English soldier carries what is known as an emergency ration, though its use is forbidden except by the order of an officer or in extremity. When occasion for its use arises the center band is torn off, and two tins are disclosed. One tin contains one-quarter pound of concentrated beef and the other one-quarter pound of cocoa paste. These rations can be eaten dry, but if water is available greater benefit can be derived. An ounce of the beef boiled for an hour makes a pint of tea; by simmering one ounce of the cocoa paste in a pint of water for a quarter of an hour a liquid cocoa of good strength is obtained. If the ration is eaten in small quantities at a time it is calculated to maintain strength for thirty six hours.

Not a Word From Washington.

"I've just had a new one sprung on me," remarked a man in a cigar store, "and by a kid too. The other day I was expecting a telegram from Washington, where I've been negotiating a business transaction. Knowing I would be in a friend's office from 2 until 5 o'clock that afternoon, I left word in the telegraph office to have my message sent there. About 4:30 o'clock a messenger boy came in and inquired for me. 'You're expecting a wire?' he asked. I told him I was. 'Sorry,' he said, 'but we can't get a word from Washington.' I jumped out of my chair in a hurry. 'What's the matter?' I asked. The kid edged near the door and replied, 'He's dead.' And then he ran out. But he left the message."—New York Tribune.

Ocean Currents.

There are twenty-seven permanent currents in the oceans of the world, and there are nearly as many more of the semi-permanent variety existing at one time. Several causes tend to originate and maintain these drifts. Uniformly directed winds have the greatest influence, and differences of temperatures, storms, polar ice and eddies have each some effect, creating usually the currents of semi-permanent variety.

The Reason Why.

"Now, Isa! There was plenty of room for you to pass with the cart without knocking the gate off."

"But yer see, sorr, the room was on the wrong side of the cart."—Tatler.

HOMESTEAD SOLD, WOMAN PINES UNTIL REASON FLEES.

Lafayette, Jan. 26.—Brooding over the fact that the old farm on which she had lived nearly thirty years had been sold, Mrs. Ruth Williams, wife of Andrew J. Williams, lost her reason and Wednesday was taken to the State Hospital at Morris Plains. Williams has repurchased the homestead paying a bonus of $1,000. It is hoped that when Mrs. Williams realizes that she will recover her normal condition.

The Williamses were considered fairly well-to-do farmers and last fall Mr. Williams felt that he was entitled to a rest. He found a purchaser for his farm, of one hundred acres, in Hampton Township, near Marble Grove, the purchaser being Giovanni Belello.

Mrs. Williams signed the deed of conveyance, which mentioned only a nominal consideration. Soon after the sale, which occurred in September, the Williams family moved to Lafayette. Mrs. Williams pined for the old familiar surroundings on the farm, and all efforts of her husband to comfort her were unavailing. She began to lose interest in her household duties and it was noticed that at times her mind would wander.

ATTEMPT OF WOMAN TO END LIFE DISCLOSED.

Morristown, Jan. 26.—Though it was said that Mrs. John S. Chalquest, of Chestnut street, who was taken to Memorial Hospital last Monday, was threatened with pneumonia, it has just been learned from Mr. Chalquest that he was removed from her home because of an attempt at suicide on her part. The attempt was made while she was temporarily deranged.

Mrs. Chalquest, it is said, had been suffering with a severe cold, and during the summer had been a nervous wreck.

Last Sunday, after her husband had finished shaving and placed his razor behind a cooking utensil on a dresser, Mrs. Chalquest entered the room and drew the blade across her throat, inflicting a wound three inches long.

Men's $4 and $5 Shoes

We pass along to you some of the good points about them. Any man can tell at a glance that VanArsdale's $4.00 and $5.00 Shoes are NOT the usual kind of shoes that sell at this price. Their designs, their patterns—the little details of finish, proclaim them "better than their price." Look at them in the window—try them on—put them to any test you will—and then you will realize why the entire VanArsdale organization is so enthusiastic about them. All leathers—lace, button and blucher—round, roomy toes, freaks and medium narrow last, and the modified, recede toe, and low broad heel—a conservative style that is strongly favored in New York.

$4 and $5

WORRY FOR PARENTS OF BLONDE CHILDREN

If They Are "Distinct Blondes" They Are Predisposed to Ills, Says Physician.

MEDICAL TALK TO PARENTS

Dr. Corbusier Lectures On the Prevention of Diseases In Infancy and Childhood — Grave Danger In Damp Clothing.

Dr. H. D. Corbusier in a concise way made it plain to those who attended the lecture under the auspices of the Plainfield Mothers' Association at the High School auditorium, yesterday afternoon, that it is useless to dose a child to prevent disease. His subject was "The Prevention of Disease in Infancy and Childhood," the talk being the first of a series.

"To treat a child for a serious physical defect," said Dr. Corbusier "the race and family must be studied; the child's life, the possibility of its inheritance of disease, its environment and food. Children born with inherited disease, as a rule, do not live long; but a child may be predisposed to disease, especially if a distinct blonde or a constitutionally weak child.

"Children's diseases are dangerous and methods to prevent them must not be neglected. The United States Government is constantly on the lookout to prevent infection and contagion. Congress appropriates means to help State Boards of Health to carry on research in the labratories and enforce quarantine where there is disease and the individual must do all in his power to prevent children from acquiring disease, infections or contagions.

"An early diagnosis of illness of a child is a great preventive, and the dangers of the disease are lessened. Begin at the walking age to teach a child chst expansion, breathing exercises and to love fresh air. These with proper food and care in case of wet feet and clothing will help to keep the digestion apparatus in a healthy active condition preventing constipation and low vitality, the primary causes of many diseases.

"The air of our houses must be kept moist so a child will not feel the change when the atmosphere outside is damp. The windows of the child's room should be open at night. Take care of the glands of the child's throat, have them examined and strengthen the throat by applications of cold water every morning. To prevent malaria when in a community where there is malaria, protect the body from mosquitoes with netting.

"An extremely dangerous disease but not a common one is osteomyelitis, an infection of the shin bone due to a condition arising from dampness, wet feet or wet clothing neglected. The symptoms of nausea high fever and soreness of leg must be given immediate attention. The bone which becomes infected with pus must be drained or later on the bone will soften and disappear necessitating the transplating of new bone to the leg."

The various phases of croup, pneumonia, whooping-cough, typhoid diphtheria were explained fully and comprehensily and the preventive methods advised. As a preventive for rabies, Dr. Corbusier advised taking care of the dogs. They do in England, he said, where hydrophobia is seldom heard of. Dr. Corbusier's next talk before the association will be on rickets, diseases of the kidneys, deformities, club-foot, flat-foot, etc.

OLEO MAN AND HIS AGENT HELD UNDER $500 BAIL

Bernard King, of Vauxhall, near Maplewood, the alleged employer of George Moore, arrested for selling oleo as butter, was arraigned with Moore in the city court today. Both of them were held in $500 bail for a further hearing next Friday before City Judge William G. DeMeza.

King was arrested by Sergeant Overbaugh and Detective Sergeant John Flynn at his home late last night. Moore was remanded yesterday under $200 bail for further hearing today. The charge against the men is securing money under misrepresentation. Other charges will be lodged against them in North Plainfield, where Moore also took orders.

Funeral of A. V. Nelson.

The funeral service for Abram V. Nelson, whose death occurred at his home on East Third street, yesterday will be held privately at his late residence tomorrow afternoon and will be conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. Burial will be made in the Bound Brook cemetery.

Informal Coffee and Bridge.

Mrs. John T. George, of West Eighth street, gave an informal coffee and bridge, the first of a series, at her home, yesterday afternoon. Covers were laid for twelve and three tables were used in the play. The decorative color scheme was yellow, marguerites and daffodils being used exclusively.

ANOTHER SMALLEY GOES TO THE MARRIAGE ALTAR

Clarence, Son of the Borough's Former Mayor, Weds Miss Helen A. Farland in New York City This Afternoon.

Miss Helen Farland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Farland, of 358 East Second street, and Clarence Irving Smalley, only son of former Mayor and Mrs. Newton B. Smalley, of the borough, were married at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. George E. Barber at his home, 305 West Eighteenth street, New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor, formerly of this city, brother-in-law and sister of Mr. Smalley, were the best man and matron-of-honor. The couple will remain in New York for a few days and will then make their home for the winter with the bridegroom's parents on Interhaven avenue, the borough.

The fact that the couple was to be married was known to the parents and Mr. Smalley's gift was a substantial check. The groom is associated with his father in the stone business. He and his bride are well-known in the city and borough.

An interesting fact in connection with today's wedding is that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Hoyt were also married by Rev. Dr. George E. Barber.

This is the third marriage in the Smalley family within a few months. Last October Clarence Smalley's sister, Helen, was married to Ralph Taylor. That marriage followed an elopement. On November 11, Mrs. Taylor's cousin Florence Smalley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Smalley, was married secretly in New York. They announced their union this week.

CARNATIONS TO BE WORN MONDAY; M'KINLEY DAY

Monday will be the birthday of the late President William McKinley and those in this city who venerate his memory will show it by wearing a white carnation.

Several years ago this method of perpetuating his memory was adopted and an effort was made to have the day universally observed. In larger cities where there are statues of the statesman, appropriate exercises are held which include the laying of a wreath at the foot of the figure.

William McKinley was the twenty fifth president. He was born at Niles Ohio, January 29, 1843, of Scotch Irish descent. He was educated in grammar school and Methodist Academy and spent a short time at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. He enlisted at eighteen as private in the Twenty-third Ohio Regiment and was promoted second lieutenant just subsequent to the battle of Antietam then captain, finally mayor. After the war he studied law. Admitted to the bar in 1867; elected prosecutor of Stark county in 1869; married Miss Ida Saxton January 25, 1871; elected to Congress in 1876 and served in Congress for fourteen years.

McKinley led the protection forces from 1884 to 1890 and became the master mind of the protective system, his tariff bill being adopted in May, 1890. Defeated for re-election to Congress in the same year, he was elected Governor of Ohio in 1891 and afain in 1893. He was elected President of the United States in 1896, and re-elected in 1900, but only a few months of his second term had elapsed when his career was terminated by the bullet of an assassin. He was shot by Leon Czolgosz on September 6, 1901, at a public reception in the Temple of Music at the Buffalo Exposition and died on September 14.

One of the warmest admirers of the late President in this vicinity and a former close personal friend is Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Westervelt avenue. He was appointed commissioner to Porto Rica during McKinley's first term.

LECTURE ON CAREER OF ISRAEL'S GREAT GENERAL.

The third weekly lecture of the series at Y. M. C. A. Hall on "Bible Heroes in Their Home Lands" will be given tomorrow afternoon. The lecture will be read by Philip S. Suffern of the Board of Directors of the association.

The topic will be "Joshua, the Soldier of the Conquest." The lecture and the views trace the beginning of Joshua's career during the long years in the wilderness; then follows the advance which he led across the Jordan, the siege of Jerico (showing the lands and the latest discoveries there) the treaty with the Gibeonites the battle for the possession of the high-land country at Sheckhem where he made the people confirm the conquest by their own self-consecration.

The meeting will begin at 4 o'clock and all men are cordially invited.

MRS. MORSE, PROMINENT IN W. R. C., DIED TODAY

Mrs. Mary M. Morse, widow of Ephraim C. Morse, formerly of North Plainfield, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Mosher, at Cranford. Mrs. Morse was born in North Plainfield in 1839 and lived there all her life, with the exception of the past four years which she spent with her daughter at Elizabeth and Cranford.

For many years Mrs. Morse was affiliated with the Women's Relief Corps, having been the department president for two successive terms. She was a member of the local corps of the department. She was a great sufferer for several years with rheumatism and complications, but her patience and cheerful disposition won the admiration of her friends.

Surviving are two daughters and two sons, Mrs. W. Allen Scutt, of Bayonne; Mrs. Edward Mosher, of Cranford; George W. Demarest and William Demarest, of North Plainfield; also two sisters and a brother Mrs. Bethune Munn, of Newark; Mrs. Ida Slater and William N. Pangborn of North Plainfield.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of the son, William Demarest 739 Somerset street, and the burial will be in the family plot in North Plainfield cemetery.

ENGINEER GATHERS DATA ON P.O. SITE

ACTUAL WORK NO NEARER

Erection of the Structure Waits Additional Appropriation of $50,000—Congress Has Already Authorized the Expenditure of $115,000.

H. C. VanEmburgh, the civil engineer engaged by the United States Government postoffice department to make a survey and map of the site for the new postoffice to be located at Watchung and East Second streets has completed the work.

The engineer has compiled data as to the composition of the soil on the plot, the number of wires crossing it, the size and number of trees on the property and that adjacent, whether or not there were any old wells or cesspools on the property and all such other information regarding the location as will be needed when the department advertises for bids for the erection of the structure.

In explaining these preliminary steps this morning, Postmaster E. H. Bird said that the reason for this complete data was because the advertisements would go all over the United States and if a contractor residing in California desired to put one in he would have everything necessary in making his estimate.

This procedure is always carefully carried out in every municipality where government buildings are to be erected, and may have no effect in hastening the commencement of the actual work. The records prepared by Mr. VanEmburgh will be filed in the proper department before the time the structural department may require them.

Appropriations aggregating $115,000 have already been made for the purchase of the site and towards the erection of the building. An effort is being made to secure $50,000 more and until this amount is procured actual building work is delayed.

MRS. ROLSTON GIVES TEA FOR MISS HELEN HOOLEY

Mrs. Brown Rolston gave a charming tea at her home on Rockview avenue yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in honor of her sister Miss Helen Ray Hooley, whose marriage to Edward Powers Sharretts, of this city, will take place Wednesday afternoon, January 31, at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Hooley on Rockview avenue.

Mrs. Rolston was assisted by Mrs. Jack VanDeventer, Mrs. Lewis A. Williams, Mrs. Edward M. Perkins and Mrs. Harry L. McGee, who served in the dining-room. The young women who assisted were Miss Caroline Martin, Miss Dorothy Fisk, Miss Anna Garrigues, Miss Mary A. D. Perkins, Miss Verna McCutcheon, Miss May I. Faber and Miss Elizabeth Flanders. The dining-room was attractively decorated, the prevailing colors being pink and white. There were about one hundred guests, principally from the city and borough.

Miss Hooley, like her sister, Mrs. Rolston, has been prominent here in the younger society set. She is fond of athletics, and is a member of the Plainfield Country Club, the Par' Club and the Park Golf Club. She has also been an interested spectator at the Plainfield horse shows sometimes appearing in the ring as an exhibitor.

Mr. Sharretts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus S. Sharretts, of 4[illegible] West Seventh street, and he is engaged in the practice of law in New York city. The family have been residents of Plainfield but a short time, having removed here from Baltimore. The wedding will be a small one, the invitations being limited to relatives and a few friends.

TWO DIE IN FAMILY IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

Two deaths—both from old age—occurred in the McMurtry family, in Somerville, within twenty-four hours. Mrs. Elizabeth Day McMurtry, eighty-four years old, widow of former Sheriff William A. McMurtry, and mother of Deputy Surrogate Calvin D. McMurtry, died yesterday.

The death occurred at her home in North Bridge street. Thursday Mrs. Ellen Cammann, eighty-six years old, a relative of Mrs. McMurtry by marriage, died at the home of Calvin D. McMurtry, in West End avenue. Mrs. Cammann was the mother of Mrs. Calvin D. McMurtry.

The aged women were the last of the oldest generation of five of the most prominent families in Somerset county, where they had lived all their lives. Mrs. Elizabeth McMurtry leaves a son, Calvin D., and daughter, Miss Anne McMurtry.

WILL NORTH PLAINFIELD ABOLISH HIGH SCHOOL?

Renewal of Agitation For Sending Pupils to Plainfield High School at Probable Cost of $25. Each Per Year.

The fact that within a short time it will be necessary to erect a new school building in North Plainfield has been the means of renewing agitation for abolishing the High School and sending the pupils in that department to the Plainfield High School. That the advisability of adopting such a plan is being considered was made known today by Edmund Rushmore, a member of the Borough Board of Education. The subject may be considered at a meeting of the board Monday night, he says, but if not at that time would be discussed positively at the annual meeting in March.

Mr. Rushmore advanced several reasons in support of his view that it would be far better for the borough to make a suitable arrangement with Plainfield than to attempt to build another school and thus send the tax rate up a few more points. The rate in the borough at present is $2.20 and there are many taxpayers who shrink at the thought of another increase.

It will be remembered that several years ago Councilman L. R. Wolston, of the borough, advocated sending the borough children to Plainfield High School, while he was a member of the borough board. It was stated at the time the city would accept pupils for high school course at $25 each per year. This proposition was considered with favor, but nothing was done.

Mr. Rushmore in further commenting on the idea today said: "Why, it would be foolish for the borough, which is not much more than a country village, to attempt to raise a sufficient sum of money for another school, when it is possible to send our children to the Plainfield High School and save that expenditure of funds. There are many taxpayers in the borough who favor the change and rather than increase the tax rate would vote for it if given an opportunity."

FIRE CHIEFS SEE AUTO ENGINE TEST

THROWS POWERFUL STREAM

Power Plant Adds Pressure at the Hydrant to the Force of Its Own Pump—Can Make Thirty Miles An Hour.

At the request of Fire Chief T. O. Doane, a practical demonstration was made Thursday of the new Saurer fire engine recently imported from Arbon, Switzerland, by the Saurer Motor Company of this city. Besides Chief Doane and his staff the demonstration was witnessed by Chief Frank Gregory, of Bound Brook, and members of the fire committee of the Bound Brook Common Council; also by Capt. Robothem, of Newark, and C. M. Griffen and other prominent business men of this city.

The test consisted of pumping water from Green brook, the water being delivered through six lengths of two and a half inch city fire hose. The stream thrown was of greater volume than the steamers in this locality could produce. The next move was to connect four separate hose to the four connections with which the engine is equipped, and under these conditions it was clearly shown that the pump is capable of throwing four air streams.

The apparatus was then moved to a city hydrant, where water was found at a pressure of about 5[illegible] pounds. The pump drew this pressure down to less than 30 pounds and raised the pressure at discharge to over 136 pounds.

After the test the apparatus returned to the factory of the Saurer Motor Co., where future engines of this type will be manufactured. Demonstrations will be made at Englewood and other surrounding towns within the next few days, after which the engine will be shipped to the automobile exposition to be held in Chicago the early part of next month.

The engine is equipped with a 30 horse power Saurer motor of five and a half inch bore by six inch stroke, and is equipped with a Saurer patent economy carburetor and the Saurer patent self-starter, which enables it to start very quickly and reach a fire in the greatest possible dispatch. In the rear of the chassis connected with the transmission, and controlled by the hand change lever is a high pressure centrifugal pump capable of delivering 550 gallons of water per minute at a pressure of 150 pounds.

This centrifugal pump is supplied by a suction device, whereby water may be drawn from a stream or other body of water without delay. The pump is equipped with two suction connections, one from each side of the machine, and these connections can be attached either to a city hydrant or a stream very quickly.

When the pump is attached to the city hydrant, the pressure of the city main is added to the pressure of the pump; in other words, if the city main has a pressure of 75 pounds the pressure of the pump would be increased to that extent.

There are four discharge connections to the pump, two on each side where the standard size fire hose may be connected, and any one or all four discharge streams may be used at the same time.

The entire construction of the mechanism, self-starter and pump is compactly arranged in the frame of the chassis, and any style of combination hose cart and hook and ladder arrangement may be built on this chassis to suit the conditions required.

As now equipped the engine will carry sixteen men, eight on each side. It can make thirty miles an hour.

BORO TO GET MORE POLICE PROTECTION

Marshal Added to the Force and Roundsman Will be Appointed to Increase Efficiency.

NEW MAN BEGINS TONIGHT

Changes Demanded by Growing Need of Community—Increased Cost to Be Met by Economizing in Other Directions.

A new regulation will be put into effect in the North Plainfield police department tonight. For some time it has been the opinion of Councilman Alexander Milne, chairman of the police committee, that the strength of the force should be increased to keep pace with the growing need in the borough and at a meeting of the committee last night with Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., he outlined a plan he devised, which was adopted.

The plan is to add another marshal to the force and to appoint a present regular marshal roundsman, who will be in charge of the department when Chief Wolf is off duty. The new marshal is Raymond Schenck, and Marshal Charles Keller is slated for the position of roundsman.

Heretofore there have been but three men on duty nights. One on Somerset street, one in the territory to the east of that thoroughfare and one to the west. These men in the east and west took turns every two hours of remaining in the station house. While they were thus engaged their posts were left unpatrolled.

By the new plan there will be three men on post at night and one other on duty in headquarters. Turns will be taken off posts as before, and Marshal Keller will make the entire rounds of the borough several times each night receiving the reports from the men.

The change is welcomed by the residents of the eastern and western districts of the borough, who have been asking for more police protection for some time. Mayor Clark said that the increased cost would have to be made up by economizing, if possible, in other departments.

DULL BUSINESS DAYS

January and February are reputed to be the quietest months in the year in all lines of commercial activity. Shoppers have bought liberally in December for the holidays, and are waiting for the usual Spring and Easter season before considering further buying.

The wide-awake store-keeper realizes that in order to keep his stock moving, so that he will have fresh and up-to-the-minute lines on his counters when the Spring season commences, he must continually call the attention of the buying public to his offerings. This is just as true in Plainfield as in any other city. And the wide-awake merchant also knows that there is no better way to draw attention to his wares than through the columns of the

THE PAPER THAT GOES INTO THE HOME

He Who Aids Muhlenberg Helps the Community

Three hundred and ninety-three patients received a total of 6139 days treatment in Muhlenberg hospital wards during the six months from June 1 to December 1, 1911, and of this truly start in total only 2197 days treatment was paid for at one dollar a day. The balance of 3942 days labor for humanity by doctors and nurses was gratuitous. Without returning one cent of revenue to the institution. Remember, that was for six months only—not a year. And the actual cost to Muhlenberg for every one of these ward patients—those who paid under a dollar and those who paid nothing—in operating the clinic, care and treatment averaged over $22.[illegible] A majority of these patients were from Plainfield. In the period under review North Plainfield's contribution to the list was [illegible] a total of 1127 days' care, of which [illegible] days were given without recompense. This does not include the patients who called at the dispensary [illegible] in number, with a total of 1619 visits for the six months, and who received medical or surgical treatment for minor ailments or injuries.

It's all rather startling, isn't it?

Where do you suppose Plainfield would be in a case with Muhlenberg if the cost of its merchandising was done on the same basis as the hospital? The hospital showed an increase of 16 per cent. over the corresponding six months of the previous year. Is it any wonder that Muhlenberg calls on everyone to pay who is financially able, in view of the fact that the increase of population automatically adds to the work the institution is called upon to perform daily? Of course the 90 private room patients—some of whom had their own nurses—were practically self-supporting, during their total of 1102 days treatment in the six months, yet the net profit to the hospital for these patients is insufficient in comparison to the necessary outlay to maintain the wards.

Perhaps it is natural to wonder why Muhlenberg is in need of subscriptions from the people, but this wonder won't give way to a sense of shame at the amount of work actually accomplished if the public would only accept the cordial invitation of the Board of Governors and take a trip through the institution with Supt. Morris Harrison. A big step forward in the right direction was taken when the pupils of the Plainfield High School were permitted to visit the hospital in sections and observe at first hand how the business of such an establishment is carried on from the inside. If more citizens were familiar with the real facts relative to hospital work as it is conducted at Muhlenberg, the financial responses to further needs for funds to carry forward the splendid work and render it more effective and of greater benefit to everyone in the community would be [illegible] far more liberal. The plan of campaign [illegible] it easy for everyone to give something to Muhlenberg and he who helps Muhlenberg helps the community [illegible]

Trenton Children Found In New Brunswick.

WANTED TO BE TOGETHER.

Albert E. Tams, Jr., and May Leckman Will Be Taken Home Today by Their Parents—Lived In Boarding House as Brother and Sister From Harrisburg.

New Brunswick, N. J., Jan. 27.—Chief of Police Michael O'Connell, accompanied by Officer Cox of the local police department, arrested Albert E. Tams, Jr., and May Le Kman, eloping schoolmates of Trenton, at a boarding house on Paterson street, this city.

When charged with being the missing couple whose disappearance from Trenton was reported Thursday morning, they at first hung their heads in an embarrassed way, but finally admitted that the officers were right.

The parents of both have been notified and will come here from Trenton to get the children. Interviewed by press representatives at the police station, the young man stated that they had come to this city early Wednesday morning and had no difficulty in securing accommodations, passing themselves off as Albert Carter and sister, from Harrisburg, Pa.

Both of the young people said they had made no attempt to secure a marriage license and asserted that they had no desire to get married, simply wishing to live together and enjoy one another's society.

Passaic Commission Against High Cost of Living.

Passaic, N. J., Jan. 27.—The city commission here decided that it had not the power nor the money to accede to the written requests of the Socialist party and the Workmen's Sick and Death Benefit society here that it purchase food and fuel in wholesale quantities and sell them to the public, particularly to the poor, as Mayor Lewis Shank of Indianapolis has been doing.

The commissioners expressed the opinion that the matter is a private and not a public affair, and suggested that the Socialist party itself undertake the task. The commissioners expressed their sympathy with the movement, but said that they were helpless to act as requested.

Dr. Maurice Korshet, one of the leaders of the Socialist party, said that the Socialists will demonstrate to the commissioners that the matter is decidedly a public one. If the commissioners continue to refuse, he said, the Socialists themselves will probably purchase and sell in big quantities. Dr. Korshet expressed the belief that there is no state law to prevent the commission from passing an ordinance authorizing it to go into the commission business.

GIRL WORKERS, IN FEAR, LEAVE CARTRIDGE WORKS.

Perth Amboy, Jan. 27.—The 150 girls whose lives were endangered by the explosion Wednesday afternoon that killed 16-year-old Margaret Kellner in the local factory of the United States Cartridge Company, gathered at the former home of the dead associate and signed a pledge to never again engage in such hazardous employment.

Because of this action the loading and wadding departments of the factory were temporarily closed. Agents of the company offered the girls an advance of forty to fifty per cent. in wages to return, but all rejected the overtures. They declared they would not go back at any price.

The United States Cartridge Company has been held blameless by Coroner James J. Flynn for the fatal explosion. Marjorie Kellner was the only occupant of the room when the explosion occurred.

Husband Has Pair Arrested.

Charged with alienating the affections of his wife, Rose Peter Krut, of Elizabethport, caused Emil Pulcher's arrest Thursday night at the residence of Mr. Krut. They were taken before Justice of the Peace James P. Kelly, who held Pulcher in $500 bail to await the action of the grand jury. He was unable to procure a bondsman and was committed to the county jail yesterday. Mrs. Krut was released in $100 bail, her husband furnishing the required security.

WOULD CUT PAY MINERS DEMAND BE INCREASED

Operators Say New Laws Make Expenses Higher.

Indianapolis, Jan. 27.—The scale committees of the miners and operators met and proved in a few minutes to be far apart in respect to the price to be paid for mining coal after the expiration of the present agreement in April.

The miners' demands include 10 cents increase on the ton and 20 per cent increase on all other work about the mines. The operators met this with a demand for a reduction of 10 cents per ton for mining coal and a corresponding decrease in the pay for other work.

The operators urged the increased cost of mining owing to the many new state laws, which require large annual expenditures and which the miners themselves have brought upon the operators, and also that there is already a surplus of mined coal and higher wages would mean that the miners would be idle a great part of the time and would lose more than the reduction which is asked. There is no indication whatever of the miners and operators coming together on a basis of higher wages.

MONEY TRUST A FICTION.

Untermyer Calls It Concentration of Wealth In New York.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The house committee on rules resumed hearings on the Lindbergh resolution for a special inquiry into the "money trust," with Samuel Untermyer of New York as a witness.

Mr. Untermyer said he did not appear as sponsor or champion of the resolution, but he was satisfied congress could not legislate intelligently with respect to trusts or to a monetary system until the question of concentration of the "money power" was thoroughly understood.

Mr. Untermyer said there was no such thing as a "money trust" in the sense that the word "trust" is applied to illegal combinations.

He believed, however, the proposed investigation would establish that the present financial condition is due to concentration of funds of great corporations in New York city.

HOPES KING WILL VISIT AMERICA

Connaught Pleased With Trip to New York.

FRIENDLINESS TO ENGLAND

Royal Governor of Canada Returns to Ottawa With New Impression of America. Its People and Changes Since His Former Visit In 1868—Secretary Talks For Him.

New York, Jan. 27.—Before leaving for Canada with the duchess and the Princess Patricia the Duke of Connaught, through his secretary, Colonel H. C. Lowther, expressed his appreciation of the many courtesies extended to the royal party in Washington and New York. He expressed the hope that King George would visit America soon.

"The duke was tremendously pleased with the widespread hospitality manifested," Colonel Lowther said. "His principal regret was that he could not accept one-fifth of the invitations he received. He hopes to be able to visit New York again, but, of course, he is unaware of what the future holds. He was pleased especially with the opportunity of appearing informally. He was not annoyed or embarrassed by the constant surging of crowds or the incessant activities of photographers. In fact, the latter amused him keenly. He realized that this was merely a manifestation of the general good will and interest in the head of a friendly nation.

"So far as his impressions gained in sightseeing are concerned, the duke was perhaps most impressed with the magnificence of your private residences—their splendid apartments and their extraordinary wealth of art collections. He was delighted with his walks about town, which gave him an opportunity for observing the people. He had a jolly time elbowing with the early and late crowds in Fifth avenue and Broadway.

"The duke was glad that he saw the whole city from the Metropolitan tower. He remarked upon the height and symmetry of the buildings, which were, he thought, a fitting expression of the progressiveness of the American people. It seemed to the duke that New York has a distinct individuality, difficult to analyze, but very positive, nevertheless. It was unlike any great city his royal highness had ever seen. He was amazed at the changes since his previous visit in 1868.

"His royal highness is not aware that the king and queen are contemplating a visit to America, but he hopes they will come here, and he believes they will be pleased with their visit as he and his family have been with theirs."

It was understood that the duke received while here a cablegram from King George V., his nephew, felicitating him upon the success of a visit which increased the good feeling between English speaking countries.

ACROSS ERIE IN AUTO.

Five Ohioans Complete Hazardous Trip to Canada.

Port Clinton, O., Jan. 27.—Five Ohioans in a big automobile completed the last few miles of a perilous trip over the ice across Lake Erie to Canada and back. It was the first time such a trip was ever attempted.

The men who made this expedition were J. P. Caughney, driving, and Captain W. E. West, J. C. West, John Darr and L. B. De Witt. Dr. O. B. Vanepp accompanied them from Pelee island, in midlake, to Leamington, Ont., and the doctor and Mrs. Norman McCormick of the island made that part of the return trip with them.

The return trip, like that going over, was fraught with danger from ice fissures and ice hills. The auto arrived at Put-In-Bay, and after a brief rest the party crossed the few miles intervening between Put-In-Bay and Cattawba island, which closely adjoins the mainland.

JAPAN CHANGES POLICY.

Recall Minister Ijuin, According to London Dispatch.

London, Jan. 27.—A Peking dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says it is reported that Mr. Ijuin, the Japanese minister to China, has been recalled. It is believed in Peking that Japan is contemplating a change of policy toward China.

The Chinese newspapers again assert that some of the Manchu princes are negotiating with the Tokyo government for armed intervention between the imperials and republicans in China.

Plainfield, N. J., January 27, 1912.

THE PRESS WAS RIGHT.

For the enlightment of the Courier-News, which made a puerile attempt in its issue yesterday to discredit an exclusive story in this paper the day previously regarding changes in the police department rules, it is necessary today to reproduce the resolution passed at the recent meeting of the police board. Quoting Councilman Randolph, the Courier-News asserted that no changes had been made, the Daily Press the day before having reported that the police chief must report to Mayor Moy before leaving the city; that reserve duty was abolished and that in the future the members of the force would draw lots for taking turns in their vacations:

This is from the Courier-News of last night:

"There have been no new rules adopted by the police board for governing the police department," said Councilman Charles C. Randolph, chairman of the police committee, last night, when asked concerning a story published in yesterday's issue of the Daily Press, which stated that Chief of Police Kiely must first obtain permission from Mayor Moy before leaving the city at any time; also that the police board had decided to do away with the reserve duty at headquarters; and had adopted a plan for giving the patrolmen their vacation by means of drawing lots for certain periods."

That the people may know the real facts, here is the official resolution to which the Press referred:

"Resolved, That until the further resolution of this board duly entered on its minutes, the hours of duty, the vacations and the days off of the various members of the police force shall be as follows:

"The Chief shall always be considered as in command of the force and shall be at the Police Station between 8:00 a. m. and 6:00 p. m. of every week day, allowing therefrom one hour for lunch, except as it is necessary for him to go to other parts of the city or county in the performance of his duty. At any time when it is necessary for him to leave the city in the performance of his duty, he shall notify the Mayor of his expected absence. During the time when he is on duty at the Police Station, he shall wear his uniform except at times when it may be inadvisable or inconvenient for him to do so.

"The Chief shall between the first day of May and the first day of November of each year, be entitled to a leave of absence of not more than twenty-one days. He shall also be entitled to two days absence in each month.

"The Captain shall go on duty at 7:00 p. m. and shall remain on duty until 5:00 a. m. He shall be entitled to a leave of absence of not more than fourteen days between May first and November first of each year and to two days absence in each month.

"The Sergeant shall go on duty at 8:00 a. m. and shall remain on duty until 7:00 p. m. and shall be entitled to the same leave of absence and days off as the Captain.

"The Detective Sergeant shall go on duty at 8:00 a. m. and remain on duty until 6:00 p. m. He shall have the same leave of absence and days off as the Sergeant.

"The above officers shall have one hour off for lunch.

"The hours of duty of the roundsmen and patrolmen shall be as follows:

"The roundsmen shall go on duty at 10:00 p. m. and remain on duty until 8:00 a. m. and shall have the same vacation and days off as the Sergeant.

"Twelve patrolmen shall go on duty at 8:00 p. m. and remain on duty until 5:00 a. m.

"Four patrolmen shall go on duty at 11:00 p. m. and remain on duty until 8:00 a. m.

"Men on night duty shall have half an hour for lunch.

"Five patrolmen shall go on duty at 8:00 a. m. and shall remain on duty until 7:00 p. m. and shall have two hours for lunch.

"The patrolmen shall each be entitled to a leave of absence of ten days between May first and November first of each year and shall also be entitled to two days absence in each month.

"The order in which the men shall take their vacations shall be determined by lot prior to April first in each year.

"The patrolmen shall be shifted from night to day duty and back again in regular rotation except as an officer may be assigned to special duty by this board."

So far as the resolution concerns the chief leaving the city, the change as noted in the above resolution is an amendment to rule No. 38 of the police department regulations. This rule provided that before the chief could absent himself he must first obtain the permission of the police board. The new resolution, for which we have the authority of the Mayor to state that it was passed as reproduced here, provides that the chief must report to the Mayor.

A physician over in Belleville, who has spent five years in close study of psychological questions, having visited asylums, jails and other institutions in his research work, finds that the average person wastes too much time in sleep. The day is coming, he says, when people will get along with a very small amount of slumber. The muscles need rest, but not sleep and the heart and the lungs are always awake. It is the brain alone that goes to sleep.

Napoleon, it is related, got along with only a few hours sleep a night and our own Edison, it is commonly reported, spends but three or four hours in slumber. The man who sleeps long and gets up late in the morning rarely amounts to anything. The fact that he spends long and valuable hours in sleep shows quite plainly that he is lazy and the lazy man never accomplishes very much in this world. The man who works early and late and who views rest not needed as time lost is the man who does things.

"A few years ago," says this Belleville physician, whose name is George Gibbons Yarrow, "a locomotive had to stop to take on water, but now it can travel at the highest possible speed and take up water from the centre of the track. Some day we will use our brain aright and, instead of stopping seven or eight hours to have it refreshed by sleep, perhaps we will dip our will down into the trough of harmonious thought and get along with less sleep. Of course, while we use our will we can never get along without at least some sleep. When we reach the spiritual realm, however, sleep will not be necessary, because it will be unnecessary to employ our will actively."

The short and ugly word has appeared in the controversy between Governor Wilson and Colonel Henry Watterson, and it is the Colonel who uses the expression, too. It certainly begins to look as if the movement to discredit the Governor as a Presidential candidate is going to assume big proportions before long. Colonel Watterson, who at one time was one of Governor Wilson's most ardent admirers and supporters, in a letter made public yesterday, told how he had approached Thomas F. Ryan with the idea of getting the latter's financial aid for the Wilson campaign. He claimed that before approaching Mr. Ryan, whom he describes as "disinterested," he told certain of Governor Wilson's supporters of the idea, and says that they seemed "delighted." Governor Wilson was seen last night after the report became public, and shown copies of Colonel Watterson's letters to Senator B. R. Tillman, and he denied that anyone had approached Colonel Watterson with a request that he raise funds for the Wilson campaign, with the knowledge of the Governor. While we doubt whether such attacks will harm Governor Wilson in the slightest degree, still the controversy is making very interesting reading.

Lighter garb is assured the New York police for the summer months, the order for the uniform, which will make more comfortable the policemen's life during the heated season being the result of an agitation begun by the men themselves. It will be of light serge of the same style and color as the flannel garments worn at present. In order that the stiff white collar need not be worn, the coat will be provided with a military collar. A light-weight cap will take the place of the gray helmet. The new uniform will weigh two and a half pounds less and will be $2.00 cheaper. We call attention to this sensible action of New York's police department with the thought that the local councilmanic police board may do as much for the members of the force here. The heavy uniforms worn by the patrolmen during the sweltering days make life miserable for them. Light serge of a khaki would be much more seasonable.

It has been suggested in London that the King and Queen of England pay a visit to America. The suggestion comes from one of the leading newspapers of the British Capitol, and is inspired by the very cordial reception which was accorded to the Duke and Duchess of Connaught during the past week. It would seem that no better method for cementing the friendship between this country and the great empire could be proposed than this. Americans would give a welcome to such distinguished visitors as only this country knows how to give, and international relations of all sorts, not only diplomatic, but from a trade point of view would be strengthened. No two nations on the face of the earth are more closely allied by blood, language and other common ties than England and America, and a visit of royalty to this country would strengthen these ties more than ever.

It seems to be easy to get those who have visited Mr. Roosevelt to declare that they think he will accept the Presidential nomination on the Republican ticket if it comes his way, but when it comes to getting anything direct from him the newspapers are at sea. Yesterday Governor Glasscock visited the former President, and when he finished the interview he declared more enthusiastically than ever for Mr. Roosevelt.

Now W. W. Tarbell, brother of Ida M. Tarbell, whose magazine articles did much to create the dissatisfaction throughout the country which finally resulted in the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company, has another complaint. He says that the old corporation, before the dissolution, was better than the new companies, formed as a result of the government's anti-trust prosecution. Some people are never satisfied.

Social workers yesterday saw the real "turkey trot" in New York. While they did not publicly express their opinion the newspapers leave little room for doubt that they were as much disgusted with it as have been hundreds of others who have had the misfortune to be present when this disgraceful dance has been shown in respectable society.

The latest move of the Indianapolis, Indiana, executive in his crusade against the middleman to reduce the cost of living was made yesterday when he announced that he would "sell ten hogs below market prices." But then we wouldn't relish eating middlemen particularly when they are dishonest.

That cable report from Paris of Gaby Desley's marriage lacks the essential feature of a press agent story. The other half to the contract is not a millionaire, neither has he figured in a scandal.

Hospital Social Service

A. R. Warner, M. D., Assistant Superintendent, Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

The field of hospital social service is as yet without accepted limits. No hospital is entirely without social service, for the care of the sick poor is but a branch of man's sociological service to his fellow in need; but of late there has come a more general recognition that the needs of this fellow are more than for bed and medicine, and that the hospital has sadly neglected those other needs. The best of hospital beds is scarcely comfortable to a man wondering how his wife and children are to get food to eat until he can get to work again, or to the woman who feels that her baby cannot now have the proper care in the home she has left. The friendless, the hardened wanderers, the unfortunate, the outcasts, as soon as sickness weakens the body, all these weaken in their self-justification; the defiance and the bravado are gone, and now one may find what was wrong and how to help. The field for hospital social service opens out all the way around; there is work whichever way one may turn. But how far to reach and how long to keep hold is the unsettled problem; for hospitals are not destined to usurp all domain of charity.

For what shall hospitals now plan, To what should they aspire? It seems to the writer that the answer to the first of these questions depends upon the co-operation and the efficiency of the other charitable organizations of the community, as well as, upon the supply of funds and workers. If the needed work cannot be done by others, the hospital may justly go beyond its proper field in any direction and try to do it. The aspiration of the hospital should be exactly the same as that of every charity, to be a useful part of a community, so well organized and so perfectly working that any unnecessary suffering of humanity, and any unnecessary work to prevent such, are alike excluded. In other words, the social service of a hospital in an ideally organized, co-operating community is limited as follows: The hospital should strive to discharge better men than it admits and use every available means to accomplish this end. It should investigate the financial and sociological condition of the family and dependents of every patient on admission, and arrange for the correction of all needs found, by reporting to the proper charity, if one exists, for supplying such needs found; if none such exists, and only if none such exists, should the hospital do the correcting itself. The field of none of the recognized charities should be invaded, but the report of the hospital should meet with response. It is but their side of the co-operation; the return comes when this charity finds sickness. During illness, the home may thus be kept free from want and the patient's mind free from worry.

The return of the patient may bring new problems into this home, depending upon the diagnosis, the condition of the patient when discharged, and upon the prognosis. These problems should be met in the same way. But the limit of the field of the Hospital Social Service in the homes comes with the end of the illness; for the reason that it should no longer be needed. The necessary work should never stop; but the absence of a sick member in a home should of itself assign the work to others and the presence of such bring back the hospital aid.

Talk Number Six, Monday, on "The Up-to-Date Hospital, Its Duty to the Community Through Social Service."

WANT TO PRESERVE OLD CANAL AS STATE PARKWAY

Upper Montclair, Jan. 27.—The Morris Canal Parkway Association has been formed in order to express the general public sentiment that when the State acquires the Morris Canal, it shall be maintained as a public parkway.

"The canal is now a parkway in all but name," said Julian R. Tinkham, president of the association, today. Through its failure as a commercial venture, it has been, for years, a park enjoyed by hundreds of thousands of citizens. It has been essentially a people's park, a place where the average citizen and his family may picnic and enjoy the country safe from automobiles and away from the grime and dust of the city.

"The opportunity for the State to keep intact this unique parkway should not be lost. On January 30 there will be a hearing at Trenton, before the Committee on Canals of the Senate, on the canal abandonment bill by the terms of which two-thirds of the canal will revert to the State with all water rights. Representatives of this association will be present to urge the State to keep the canal as a public parkway."

Anti-Saloon League Speakers.

Representatives of the Anti-Saloon League will speak in this city tomorrow in the interest of the movement. Rev. Mr. Cairns will speak at the First Presbyterian church in the evening, and E. G. Randall, of Newark, will speak at the Congregational church in the morning and at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church at night.

On account of the fact that there will be several speakers here tomorrow in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League movement, the W. C. T. U. will not hold its usual meeting at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

An All-Around Heroine.

"I beg your pardon, miss, but your face looks so familar."

SNOWFALL MAKES HILL AGAIN A DANGER POINT

The precautions taken by the North Plainfield authorities to prevent coasting on the Interhaven avenue hill will all have to be taken over again today, as the sand spread over the smooth surface is now buried under yesterday's fall of snow. The new fall when packed down, will afford splendid coasting and draw a large crowd regardless of the sign posted prohibiting the sport.

John S. Douglass, of Rockview avenue, whose automobile it was that injured Richard Perrine, Jr., of Fritz place, last Sunday while the later was bobsledding on the hill, will be arraigned before Recorder M. F. Gano in the borough court Monday morning.

MOTHERS' STATE HEADS HEAR FROM COMMITTEES

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, of East Ninth street, and Mrs. William Sandford, of East Front street, attended the meeting of the Board of Directors of the State Congress of Mothers yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Hoe Dodd, in Montclair, to receive reports from the various committees.

Mrs. Simons as chairman of the committee on Exceptional Children and Mrs. Sandford as chairman of the Parent-Teachers' Committee, handed in their reports. The other committees were as follows: Child Hygiene, Child Labor, Educational, Juvenile Court, Literature, Home Economics, Financial and Legislative and Rural Child Welfare.

Mrs. Simons in her report outlined the arrangements for the meeting to be held here in March to consider child hygiene, which practically comes under the duties of the committee of which she is chairman.

PARALYZED BY FALL; IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Louis Epstein, of 615 South street, who was seriously injured yesterday afternoon by a fall from the second story of a house he was helping to build, is in a critical condition. As a result of the accident the man is paralyzed from the shoulders to the waist and the physicians are of the opinion that the spine is fractured. An X-ray photograph was taken this morning to determine whether there is such an injury to the spine. The victim, although conscious all the time, is unable to move his body between the shoulders and waist and he experiences no feeling in those parts.

Mr. Epstein was working on a scaffold at the time of the accident, when one of the ropes broke. The man was pitched backward striking his head and back when he landed on the ground. He is forty-two years of age and has a wife and one daughter.

RECRUITING STATION IN THE BABCOCK BUILDING

Applicants for the rating of boilermaker, coppersmith, machinist, fireman, coal-passer, apprentice seaman, and men for the hospital and clerical branches, will be enlisted in the naval service.

A sixty dollar outfit of clothing is given to all recruits on first enlistment, and all transportation expenses after enlistment are paid by the Government.

No one under seventeen can be enlisted in the U. S. Navy, and those under eighteen must have their parents' or guardian's consent, in writing, in order to get the benefits a navy life offers.

BEE SWARM WORRYING MRS. CORLIES' HOUSEHOLD

A swarm of bees which found a comfortable place for the winter in the chimney at the home of Mrs. J. E. Corlies at Road Ending, has been giving the family considerable uneasiness of late. The presence of the honeymakers was not known until yesterday, when a log fire was started in the living room.

The bees had lodged between the tile and the chimney and the fire stirred them up in lively fashion. Many of them descended the chimney and a few reached the living room.

Mrs. Corlies fearing that in some way a number of them might find their way into the rooms, was obliged to close the opening to the fireplace. She then sent for Seaman Williams, a contractor. He made an investigation and decided that nothing could be done to relieve the situation at present. He found it impossible to drive the bees from their quarters and believes they will remain there until warm weather arrives.

COLD COMPELS FRIENDS TO GIVE UP OLD STOVES

For the purpose of further adding to the comfort of the worshippers at the Friends meeting house on Watchung avenue, the wood stoves which have been in use there for many years, have been replaced by modern coal stoves.

The decision to make the change was brought about by the recent severe cold weather. It was demonstrated then that the wood stoves would not keep the meeting house sufficiently warm.

During the past few years there has been a tendency to improve the meeting house and among the innovations was the installation of electric lights, taking the place of the old-fashioned oil lamps which also did service for many years.

SOUTHEAST STILL FIRMLY OPPOSED

As Strongly Against Proposed New School as They Were a Year Ago.

PLAN FOR PUBLIC MEETINGS

Don't Want School Near Them, They Say, and Suggest Erection of Two New Buildings at Other Points—Property Value Not In Question.

From present indications, the Board of Education will meet with the same kind of opposition as that met with last year in any effort to locate a school house in the southeastern part of the city.

The announcement made in the Daily Press Thursday that the building committee was looking over the ground for an available site in that vicinity has caused a renewal of the objections made by residents in the section last year when the matter was first broached. Indignation meetings like those of last year will again be called.

The property owners have not changed their opinions regarding the project, as was evidenced by expressions of those who were the moving spirits in the opposition last year. They wish their names withheld at this time, but when the matter has developed far enough to warrant a public announcement of their contentions, they will be made in that manner.

The principal objections seem to be that most of the children of school age in that locality are sent to private institutions, and the asserion is made that they will continue to be so educated indefinitely. Another reason advanced is that to assign children from other localities to the proposed school would be a hardship in bad weather, as there is no trolley line anywhere near the proposed site.

The argument is advanced that in the Arlington avenue and Randolph road section there is plenty of vacant land accessible to trolley lines and that the real need of a school is made by the large families in that section.

This is partially advanced in reply to the argument presented by the Board of Education that so far as possible it is desired to locate the building at a central point.

The children considered, the property owners assume, are those in the section mentioned and from the Netherwood section, and the suggestion has been offered that another school be erected in the eastern, or Netherwood section, making two new buildings that would serve for many years. One building, they argue, would be outgrown in three or four years.

Lastly the depreciation of property values in one of the most desirable residential sections of the city is advanced. Just how far property values are effected in a section by the location of a school is impossible to determine, but those living considerable distance from the proposed site are quite as firmly against the proposition as those whose homes would overlook the school.

EVENING SCHOOL GROWS; SECOND TEACHER NEEDED

The evening school for foreigners has proved so popular that Superintendent Maxson has found it necessary to open another room and find an additional teacher. The enrollment is now above sixty and includes Danes, Norwegians, Americans, Swedes, Germans, Swiss, Hebrew, Poles, Greeks and Italians.

The class includes both men and women and is not only to teach them to speak, read and write the English language, but to give them some instruction in the duties of citizenship. The new teacher has had twenty years' experience in teaching day schools. If the growth of hte class requires it, Superintendent Maxson says that still a third teacher will be added.

The new room will be opened Monday night, and the principal will be glad to enroll any new pupils who may apply at the school, Arlington avenue and West Fifth street, from 7:30 to 9:30.

AUDIENCE ENJOYED HIS LECTURE ON SCOTLAND.

The illustrated lecture on Scotland delivered last night by Rev. Dr. Thomas Chalmers Easton in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium for the benefit of the Netherwood Reformed church, proved to be a treat for those attending. The audience was not as large as the lecture deserved. The views showing the historic lochs and glens made immortal in the writings of Robert Burns were taken under the most favorable conditions and from the best vantage point.

Amusing folk-stories and anecdotes told in the Scottish dialect brightened the descriptive talk and found favor with the audience.

Ice Carnival at Red Bank.

Red Bank, Jan. 27.—In connection with the ice carnival of skatin, trotting and ice boat races yesterday afternoon there was an exhibition of fancy skating by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. A testimonial dinner "by friends who appreciate the value of his services as overseer-of-the-poor for the past eleven year," will be given Alexander D. Ayers at the Waldorf Hotel, on East Front street, Thursday night, February 1.

Hyman Adelberg, of East Second street, is chairman of the citizen committee arranging the affair and ready response is being made to the invitations sent out. These for the most part were sent to men prominent in the city, past and present office holders.

A number of speakers have been secured to address the diners. The name of the toastmaster has not been announced.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

Centenary of Dickens, Fiction's Shakespeare

He Was Easily the Greatest Novelist In the English Speaking World.

His Family In Poor Circumstances — Celebrations In England and America.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

CHARLES DICKENS ranks easily as the greatest novelist of the English speaking world. Some of his admirers regard him as the foremost of any time or clime. This is undue praise, and he does not need it. The masters are secure in the world's regard without our superlatives and puny attempts to bolster up their fame. Dickens is in the same class with Cervantes, Hugo and Balzac, Tolstoy and Turgenev. "One star differeth from another in glory." It is enough that they are stars and that, being stars, they shine and are eternal.

Eulogy is no more needed by Dickens than by a mountain peak or a great river. He has become a permanent part of our language and civilization. His characters are as indelible as old Charlemagne and Cromwell. The way to judge a man's importance is by the impress he leaves on his own and later times. So judged, Dickens appears a truly prodigious figure, for his expressions have become commonplaces, he reformed many abuses in the England of his day, he practically founded the modern Christmas, he started a new school in fiction, and his people are such that we would know them across the street. Mrs. Peggotty, whose buttons flew whenever she laughed; Uriah Heep, Old Scrooge, Micawber and half a hundred more have become familiar inmates of our households. These are not characters in fiction. They are flesh and blood. The extravagance and exaggeration with which they are portrayed do not make them less real, but more so, which is a triumph of art indeed.

In certain parts of this country, and in others for aught I know, to say "the Dickens" at one time was equivalent to saying "the Old Harry," "the Old Scratch," "the Old Nick" or any other of the many synonyms for his sooty majesty. Many a boy has been whipped for crying "the Dickens!" in a certain tone of voice, for that was swearing. "My, such awful language! Don't you ever dare say that naughty word again!" Making an anathema of the Dickens patronymic may have come from the fact that we resented his "American Notes" and "Martin Chuzzlewit." Even so, it was a left handed compliment, a recognition of his importance. We do not so distinguish a nobody. It was an admission that his criticisms had got under our skins. Now all that is forgotten, and Charles Dickens has no more sincere admirers than are found in America.

Reform by Ridicule.

We cannot exactly blame him for those early strictures. The boatload of editors in comforters that went out to welcome and interview him as he approached Boston, the curiosity concerning him, expressed not always in too delicate a way; the tobacco chewing, even the hearty good fellowship all these may have grated. On the other hand, his turn toward exaggeration and caricature showed these faults at their worst. Yet it was not through lack of love that he chastised us. He had written even worse of the English. Emphasizing faults and holding them up to ridicule was his method of reforming them.

Whatever our political attitude toward England may be, we have never got over the habit of regarding her literature as a part of our heritage. Shakespeare belongs as much to us as he does to the beefeaters and "h" managers who live on his island. Milton and Byron, Shelley and Wordsworth, Browning and Tennyson, are ours as much as theirs. That man possesses most of an author who gets most out of him. Literary kinship is a matter of appreciation rather than of geography. The only boundaries of the republic of letters are those of language.

Therefore the Dickens centenary will be celebrated nowhere more heartily than in America. At last I have got to it. You now know what this article is all about. It is the Dickens centenary. I meant to mention it earlier, but in writing about Dickens I was so interested in the man I clean forgot about the centenary. I remembered as a boy reading "David Copperfield," "Great Expectations," a "Tale of Two Cities" and all the rest of them. The impressions then formed I have had on my chest all these years. Once started on the theme, the floodgates opened, and this is the lamentable and somewhat incoherent result. But through it all my general meaning should be plain, which is that I like Dickens. I know some of the highbrow critics now say that he is too wordy, that his pathetic passages are overdone, that he did not use good grammar, that he was smug and that he had major and minor faults.

Practically all the defects pointed out in Dickens are likewise found in Shakespeare. Byron was not always grammatical. Shelley sometimes used false rimes and had too many syllables in his feet, though always musical, while Wordsworth wrote more sublime commonplace, along with his incomparable poems, than any laureate except Alfred Austin, whose commonplace is not sublime and who never wrote any poetry incomparable or otherwise. Yet the statement holds true as to Wordsworth, who ought not to be mentioned in the same century with Austin. A fairly industrious critic can tear any genius to pieces in fifteen minutes and prove him to have broken every canon of good writing. In his own day the success of Dickens was so prodigious that the critics hid their diminished heads. It is only since his death that they have ventured out of their holes and started a mighty chatter about the way he dotted his i's and about his use of black ink instead of purple. What a perfectly killing time these critics could have picking flaws with the construction of a mountain! Well, Dickens builded a literary mountain, and these wiseheimers have been yammering about the holes and rough places in it ever since. Still all of them together would be hard put to it to make an ant hill.

An Unhappy Youth.

Charles Dickens was born in Portsmouth, Feb. 7, 1812. His youth was most unhappy. It is said that his own father was the original of Mr. Micawber and Mr. Turveydrop. What through sickness and poverty the boy became intimate with the seamy side which he later portrayed in his books. He speaks of himself as a "very queer small boy." He had but little more schooling than Abraham Lincoln and saw nearly as many hardships. Not until he had become a reporter and had begun writing little skits for the magazines did his skies brighten. There is an entertaining story of the origin of his pen name of "Boz." He had called his younger brother "Moses," which, with a cold in his head, became "Boses," and this in turn was shortened to "Boz."

At the age of nineteen Dickens was writing paragraphs on one of the London papers, and from this time to the end of his life his pen was busy. The "Sketches by Boz" appeared when he was twenty-three and achieved immediate popularity. He was married the next year and at about the same time began the appearance of the "Pickwick Papers." For the next quarter of a century, or until his death in 1870, the world was literally at his feet.

Some one has said of Dickens that there is no evidence in his works that he had ever read a book. Perhaps the only other great writer of whom this could be said was Shakespeare. While superficially the two are dissimilar, examined more closely there is much in common between England's premier dramatist and her greatest novelist. Dickens had a strong turn for the stage, was himself a good actor, and, while his early plays amounted to little, his stories have been dramatized with immense success. The power to portray character, the humor, the universal sympathy, the charm of character and the faculty to grip men's hearts was possessed in a supreme degree by both writers and was never found in the same combination in any other. Dickens even wrote verse, although little of it has lived except "The Ivy Green." In my own view Dickens was the Shakespeare of English fiction.

Elaborate preparations have been made to celebrate his centenary throughout the world. The novelist's son, Alfred Tennyson Dickens, was in America to attend this celebration at the time of his sad death only a short month previous to the event. Others of the family are said to be in poverty, and a recent theatrical benefit wherein most of the Dickens characters were represented on the stage was given in London, the proceeds of which went to the descendants.

"LONELY PRINCE'S FIRE BEACON FOR MONTCLAIR

Near the Leeds' mansion in Montclair on the mountainside, about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, there arose such towering pillars of flame and smoke that the fire department turned out, expecting to do battle with a conflagration. Instead, there was no work for the fire-fighters, for the blaze came from three big brush fires, ignited for the amusement of the Leeds heir, William H. Leeds, Jr. When the firemen reached the Leeds home they found a gardener guarding the burning brush. Asked why he had chosen such an hour to start his fire, the gardener then explained that it was done to amuse the Leeds heir, who is alone in the mansion with a retinue of servants, and who awakens early each morning. He said also that at that hour the neighbors would not be disturbed by the smoke. As he spoke, the gardener pointed to the rear of the mansion, some 300 feet or so away. The flames lit up the house almost like daylight. At one of the windows stood two women servants, and between them the young heir himself, clad in pajamas. As the lad caught sight of the firemen locking his way, he clapped his hands in glee.

Ten minutes later, when the firemen left, the brush piles had been reduced to three heaps o fembers, which the "Lonely Little Prince," as the neighbors now call Willie Leeds, was still at the window watching.

Mrs. Leeds, who had apartments at the St. Regis Hotel, New York, left in December for Europe. It was at first supposed that her son had accompanied her, as it was reported she had said she would educate him in Europe. The boy was later discovered in Montclair with servants as his only attendants.

WHY THE WOMEN WANT LIABILITY ACT REPEAL

Cow Fed the Piglets.

John Paffendorf, of North Arlington, had been wondering for a week or more what had come over his Jersey cow, which steadfastly refused to supply her usual daily supply of from seven to eight quarts of milk. The cow seemed to be healthy and there was not a thing in her appearance to indicate any reason why she should not be "on the job." Mr. Paffendorf happened to discover what caused the shortage of his milk supply when he went to the barn late yesterday afternoon to milk the cow. He found eight of his suckling pigs helping themselves to dinner.

NEW PROVIDENCE MAN BRINGS R. R. TO TIME.

All patrons of the Passaic and Delaware road who get on at Berkeley Heights, Gillette and other stations where there is no ticket seller, owe a debt of gratitude to Henry G. Lucas, of New Providence Township, for an important and money-saving reform. Mr. Lucas noticed some time ago that when a passenger got on at Berkeley Heights without a ticket and consequently paid his fare on the train the conductor would receive fare for only as far as Summit, and after passing that point payment would have to be made for the rest of the trip, to Newark or New York.

The result of this double payment was that the trip cost five cents more than it would on a through ticket. Other people had noticed the same circumstances, lots of times. But the difference between them and Mr. Lucas was that they did nothing about it while he "got busy." The result is that Mr. Lucas has received a letter from Mr. Cullen, the general passenger agent, promising that hereafter the conductors on this division will be instructed to accept fares for the whole trip at regular ticket rates. Thus each such passenger will be saved five cents and some bother.

There was much complaint, by the way, last week of the lateness of the "own mail train. On three mornings of the week it got to Summit too late to be attached to the usual express train, and had to be hooked to a later train which made numerous stops. Such service was not satisfactory and was all the more remarked upon for the reason that the other down trains were on time and no reason was apparent for the mail train's lateness.

BOYS ACCUSE WOMEN IN ELIZABETH THEFT CASE.

Charged with receiving stolen coal, Mrs. Grace Decker and Mrs. Bessie Stephens, of 242 Broadway, Elizabethport, and Mrs. Mary Suritzer and Mrs. Rose Zucker, of 144 Wall street, Elizabethport, were arraigned in the Elizabeth City Criminal Court yesterday before Judge Mahon. Nine boys were the witnesses against the women.

The boys testified that they stole the coal and that the women furnished them the bags to carry it in. The prisoners were given thirty days to pay for the coal, which belonged to Samuel M. Clauss, a dealer at 41 Livingston street, Elizabethport. The boys were placed in charge of the probation officer for one year.

Turkey Supper Well Patronized.

The turkey supper which was served at Trinity Reformed church last night under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, was well patronized, although not so many suppers were served as on the preceding night. The social features were also enjoyed. Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle, the president, and all the women assisting, were complimented upon the success of the affair.

Marble Worker Disappears.

The police of New Brunswick have been asked to find John Graef, of 469 Crescent avenue, Brooklyn, who has been missing since last Saturday. Graef is forty years old and was employed at the new county building in New Brunswick as a marble worker. He started for home at noon last Saturday and no trace of him has since been found. He carried a fair sum of money.

MIKADO HONORS JORDAN.

Head of Leland Stanford University Is Decorated.

Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 27.—Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university, has been decorated with the Meiji Order of the Sacred Treasure, probably the highest order ever conferred by the emperor of Japan upon any person not a Japanese subject.

As a member of the order Dr. Jordan becomes an honorary member of the Japanese nobility.

NO JUDGESHIP FOR KNOX.

Secretary Refuses Appointment to Supreme Court Bench.

Washington, Jan. 27.—President Taft offered the present vacancy on the United States supreme court bench to Philander C. Knox, his secretary of state. This, it is learned, occurred some time ago, and Mr. Knox declined.

This was at least the second time that a place on the United States supreme court bench has been offered to Mr. Knox. Colonel Roosevelt when president urged Mr. Knox to accept an appointment to the bench.

It is learned that one of the objections which has caused the president to turn from Judge William C. Hook is a decision rendered by him in a "Jim Crow" case. This decision affected a railroad, and in it Judge Hook held in effect that while passengers on the road were entitled to the luxury of a dining car if they desired to pay for it, the negroes ought to be satisfied with a lunch room.

The president, it is understood, does not like the tone of the decision. He is said to have received protests from many negroes against the appointment of Judge Hook.

SON TOO BUSY TO WED.

So Father Goes After His Bride For Him.

San Francisco, Jan. 27.—Because J. H. Yohe, son of J. B. Yohe, general manager of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad at Pittsburgh, was too busy building a branch line for the Southern Pacific at Princeton, in the northern part of this state, to take a month off in order to go east to be married his father bundled his intended bride and her mother into his private car and came to San Francisco.

The marriage will take place today without seriously interfering with the work of his son.

The bride to be, Miss Mary Brown, is the daughter of the late Charles A. Brown, one of the founders of the Pittsburgh Steel company, who was on the first board of directors of the United States Steel corporation.

PUPILS IN A RACE WAR.

Negro Boy In Indianapolis Shot by White Youth.

Indianapolis, Jan. 27.—Trouble between the white and negro pupils of public school No. 25 culminated in the possible murder of Harry Payne, eleven years old. He was on his way to school when Robert Stevenson, a white boy about the same age, met him and flourishing a paper in his face, put a small rifle against his abdomen and fired. The bullet passed through the lad's body and he sank to the ground unconscious.

The Stevenson boy disappeared. Physicians say the Payne boy cannot live.

ENCOURAGE EMIGRATION.

Bill Proposed In Spain to Settle African Possessions.

Madrid, Jan. 27.—A bill was introduced in the cortes providing for the encouragement of emigration to the Spanish African possessions. All persons between the ages of nineteen and thirty are eligible to the benefits provided for these volunteer establishments. Five years' residence in any of the new settlements will entitle a pioneer to a pension and a grant of land.

Smiles When Held Guilty.

New York, Jan. 27.—Joseph Roberts, a negro elevator runner, was convicted of the murder of Isaac Vogel at 123 Canal street on Dec. 5 last by a jury in general sessions. The prisoner received the tidings calmly and smiled when the foreman pronounced the verdict.

If Cuba is to be really a free country somebody must be permitted to agitate against the administration.—New York World.

INSURGENTS FOR REVISION BILL

Decide In Caucus to Support Democratic Measure.

FAVORABLE IN SENATE TOO

Practically Every Progressive In the House Will Vote For Iron and Steel Bill—La Follette Followers In Senate Also Said to Favor Its Provisions.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The support of twenty-five Republican insurgent congressmen for the Democratic steel and iron revision bill to the Payne-Aldrich tariff is practically assured.

The sense of their caucus was that the Underwood bill provided for revision downward and therefore should have the support of progressive Republicans. While final decision was not reached by the insurgents, the informal announcement was made to the effect that practically every member of the group would support the iron and steel bill as well as the other tariff measures that will be reported to the house by Representative Underwood and his Democratic associates on the committee on ways and means.

The importance of the attitude of the house insurgents lies in the fact that it probably foreshadows a similar intention on the part of the La Follette following in the senate, in which event the Democratic steel revision bill will be passed.

In framing the iron and steel bill Chairman Underwood made a bid for the support of the progressives of the house and senate. This was indicated in the speech made by Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania, who opened the debate on the measure. Mr. Palmer pointed out that the bill reported by the Democrats was patterned to some extent after the metal schedule offered in the special session by Senator Cummins of Iowa, one of the progressive candidates for the presidential nomination.

At the meeting of the insurgent Republicans the resemblance of the Underwood bill to the Cummins amendment was emphasized for some who wavered between a desire to "insurge" and a wish to stand by the regular organization as represented by Minority Leader Mann. The radicals practically won their point. They believe that of the thirty or more insurgents and near insurgents on the Republican side at least twenty-five will line up with the Democrats behind Majority Leader Underwood.

NO HALLS FOR CHURCHILL.

Ulster Liberals Have No Place to Hold Home Rule Meetings.

Belfast, Jan. 27.—The Ulster Liberals, under whose auspices the home rule meeting is to be held here on Feb. 8, hunted vainly for a hall where Winston Churchill, John Redmond and other prominent men could make addresses on the occasion referred to. They found that the Ulster Unionists had been ahead of them everywhere and had engaged nearly all the available halls, or else the lessors were afraid of trouble and refused to rent. The committee has as yet made no selection.

Lord Londonderry declines to acknowledge his responsibility and says if there should be trouble Mr. Churchill will be responsible. The marquis adds that the main objection of the Ulsted Orangemen to the meeting will be removed if Mr. Churchill speaks somewhere outside the Unionist districts, in which case the Unionist council will deprecate and refuse to countenance any attempt to interfere with the meeting.

SHANK CUTS PRICES.

Indianapolis Mayor Continues War on Middlemen.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—Under an arrangement made by Mayor Shank, in pursuance of his war on the middlemen, pork, cabbage and poultry are on sale at the city market today at prices that will tempt the consumer. A farmer has consigned ten dressed hogs to H. R. Adkins, the mayor's agent, and Adkins announces the following prices:

Pigs' feet, 2 cents each; spare ribs, 11 cents a pound; fresh ham, 12 cents a pound; backs, 1 cents a pound; fresh shoulders, 9 cents a pound; hogs' heads, 4 cents a pound; sausage, 11 cents a pound, and pure lard, 10 cents a pound.

FOR AMERICA TO SEE.

J. P. Morgan Will Bring Art Treasures Home.

New York, Jan. 27.—J. P. Morgan is going to bring back from Europe the greater part of his art treasures which are now loaned to museums in Great Britain and on the continent in addition to those now in his London house.

The movement for the things follows from Mr. Morgan's decision to bring back to his own country practically all of his art possessions in order that people here may see them.

Arms For Imperial Army.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 27.—Twenty thousand rifles and 5,000,000 cartridges from Germany for the Chinese government passed over the Transsiberian railway on the way to Peking.

As to that request to recognize the republic of China we can only say that we will try. We are not very keen at remembering faces.—Manchester Union.

Milwaukee Socialist's Platform Is "Down With High Prices!"

SEIDEL FOR RE-ELECTION.

High Cost of Living Chief Issue In Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 27.—The high cost of living is made the "important issue" in the platform on which Mayor Seidel and the Socialists seek re-election in April, after an administration of two years. The platform demands municipal control of business utilities and contracts, then says:

"But greater than all these matters and more vital to the welfare of the people is the problem of living and labor."

LEGISLATORS AFTER FACTS IN BIG STRIKE

Lawrence Operators Exhibit Small Pay Envelopes.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 27.—Seeking information which may result in a legislative inquiry into reports made to Governor Foss that pauper labor has been brought from Europe to Lawrence to work in the mills, a subcommittee of the legislative committee met a strikers' committee here. This meeting was held at city hall. Grafton D. Cushing, speaker of the house; Henry E. Bothfield and John F. Meaney, Mayor Scanlon, members of the city government and several strike leaders, including Joseph T. Ettor and William D. Haywood, were present.

The strikers submitted pay envelopes to the committee which showed that many spinners with large families received as low as $5.45 a week.

The first move in what may be a general New England strike in the textile industry was taken when the strikers' committee of forty-eight discussed sending delegates to Plymouth Saturday to meet the operatives of the American Woolen company mills located in that town. Mr. Ettor and Mr. Haywood of the Industrial Workers of the World said they had invitations to speak at New Bedford, Fall River, Maynard, Lymansville, Plymouth, Providence, R. I., Manchester and Dover, N. H.

PUT PRICE UP ANYWAY.

Baltimore Boycott on Product Given as Cause of Rise.

Baltimore, Jan. 27. — Slapping the butter and egg boycott in Baltimore in the face with a four cent increase in price on eggs, the Baltimore Fruit and Produce Exchange agreed to the rise, and the reason given by one of the members was that shippers refuse to ship here with a boycott on and the price of eggs comparatively low.

Hundreds of cases of eggs, therefore, have been sent to New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Indianapolis, where the market price for eggs is 35 cents wholesale, while the Baltimore market during the last week has been fluttering around 29 cents and 30 cents.

WOLVES KILL HUNTER.

Man and Dogs Made Desperate Effort to Drive Off Pack.

Eagle River, Mich., Jan. 27.—The story of a desperate but unavailing battle for life was told by the finding near Birch river, five miles from Lake Superior, of the bodies of a hunter and his two dogs, evidently killed and partly eaten by wolves. The body was so torn that there was nothing to identify the unfortunate hunter, but before succumbing to his assailants he and his dogs had evidently battled to the last, for four dead wolves lay around the victims. One dog was found close to its master with its teeth locked in the throat of a wolf it had killed.

METHODISTS ENJOY FELLOWSHIP MEAL

"Take Hold and Lift" Speakers' Theme at First M.E. Brotherhood Gathering.

SAMUEL BINGAMAN PRESIDES

Under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church, a fellowship supper was given in the basement of the church, last night, after which the men adjourned to Vincent chapel, where addresses were made by Rev. W. S. Jackson, pastor of the Prospect place M. E. church, Brooklyn; Rev. C. S. Kemble, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and S. S. Swackhamer.

There were several vocal selections by the Queen City Quartet, composed of Harold Leadbitter, Hollis Cubberly, Claud Miller and Herbert Stine. Samuel Bingaman, president of the Brotherhood, was the toastmaster. He announced with regret that M. T. Townley, conference of the Brotherhood, could not be present and Dr. James R. Joy, also announced that Col. Elijah W. Halford was unable to attend.

The supper, an excellent one, was served at 7 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, under the direction of the president, Mrs. L. M. French. Afterward all the men were invited to adjourn to the chapel where, seated about a log fire, the speeches were enjoyed. Another featur was violin selections by Herman Hymans, accompanied on the piano by Wendell Glover.

The keynote of the gathering was "Take Hold and Lift." Samuel Bingaman, the toastmaster made a few pertinent remarks about why men do not attend church, and related some personal experiences showing that in a majority of cases men have no reasonable excuse. He then introduced Rev. W. S. Jackson, of Brooklyn, who talked at some length on "The Genius of Brotherhood." He characterized brotherhood as a fraternal bond of humanity and said that the church is judged today by its ability to apply the principles upon which it is founded. He emphasized the square deal so much admired by men, and said that the principles of brotherhood should be applicable to every day life.

In the absence of Col. Halford, who was to have spoken on "The Man and His Church," Rev. C. S. Kemble was assigned the toast of, "The Church," and Mr. Swackhamer that of "The Man." Mr. Kemble took up the question as why more men do not attend church. He then quoted Charles Frohman who recently asserted that two women to every man patronize the theatre, and Mr. Kemble said that the same is true in the churches. The attractions are twice as strong for women as for men.

Mr. Kemble said that it was to be regretted that the church does not appeal to some men, that Christ had been pictured as an effeminate man, whereas he was a manly man a man's man. He declared that men had been invited to seek the Lord and have rest and as a result many churches today are filled with men who are simply resting. He made a strong plea for Christian men in the Legislature and Congress to help usher in the Kingdom of God.

Mr. Swackhamer, whose remarks were chiefly in a humorous vein, devoted the last five minutes alloted to him in an earnest appeal to the men to make use of the ballot and drive political tricksters out of business. He referred to the arrest and conviction of corrupt politicians in this State, and referred to the Supreme Court decisions in the cases of the Standard Oil Company, the sugar trust, etc., concluding with reference to the power of the Supreme Court. He also touched upon the power of J. Pierpont Morgan, who he said is in a position to declare war or have peace.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised Dr. F. W. French Nelson A. Miller, Frederick A. Martin, Richard Parrot and David S. Dunavan.

Is Music made by REASON Or by INSTINCT?

PLAYER pianos could be made to run like music boxes, when turned on if people wanted them like that.

But people don't. More than half the joy of having a player piano lies in the pleasure of Personal Expression.

This pleasure can be had only in two ways: by working numerous "interpreting" devices, or by instinctive control—the Virtuolo way.

But how much more pleasure there is in expressing yourself, impulsively and instinctively, than there is in manipulating machinery!

We think that much of expression has to do with the choice. Emotions, [illegible] and that [illegible] have sought to do with mechanical devices [illegible] are things that rise and fall and flow from human beings instinctively.

Instead of trying to force you to work a figurative slide rule of fixed interpretations, the Virtuolo aims to lead you to express yourself in your own instinctive way, to let your instinct for expression be stirred into flame.

Four [illegible] buttons to [illegible] that is all.

They instead of your [illegible] are like nerves of your own fingertips. HOSPITAL BANQUET AT THE PARK CLUB

Committee Picks Place For the Dollar Dinner That Will Inaugurate Campaign For Funds.

W. N. RUNYON TOASTMASTER

Acceptances Already Received Indicate a Limit Attendance—Many Princetonians Expected to Turn Out to Welcome President Hibben.

The campaign executive committee of the hospital fund has decided on the Park Club as the place for the banquet which will officially open the city-wide campaign soon to be inaugurated. The date of the dinner is February 6. Former City Judge William N. Runyon will be the toastmaster.

From the acceptances already received there is no question of the club being filled to its capacity on the evening of the dinner. The club offers the best facilities in town for catering to a large assemblage, and there is every expectation that an enthusiasm will be awakened by such well known speakers as former Governor John Franklin Fort, former Senator Everett Colby, Dr. John Grier Hibben, Princeton's new president, Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of Washington Valley and the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, and F. C. Hills, auditor of the American Smelting and Refining Co., and president of Mt. Vernon Hospital, which will rapidly sweep through the city and borough.

The limitations of the banquet hall has made it impossible to give the women's campaign committee of 100 places at the dinner. The main committee regret that, but they take place from the fact that the women could not be more earnest even with the inspiration the dinner is expected to furnish.

Many Princeton graduates are expected to attend the banquet. There are a large number of Princeton men in Plainfield and they are pretty sure to turn out in force to give President Hibben a rousing welcome. His identification with the movement, it is believed, will spur all Plainfield Princetonians to strong effort for the fund.

As has been told, the dollar dinner will be primarily for active workers in the campaign, but the public will be welcomed up to the limit of capacity for their entertainment. The dinner will be informal. Tickets will be on sale tomorrow morning at Eagle's, Hodge's, Hall's, Armstrong's and Randolph pharmacies.

BIG FIRE TIES UP NEWARK TRAFFIC

All traffic in the heart of Newark's business district was tied up for four hours this morning while the firemen battled with a half-million dollar blaze which gutted the six story building at 216 Market street, occupied by the Essex Press, a printing and stationery concern, and the adjoining four story structure at 218 and 220 Market, the big furniture house of J. Mullens & Company. Four alarms were turned in and for a time it looked as though the entire city department would be called out. The flames were not in control until after 8 o'clock.

The fire originated in the Mullens place from a cause as yet unknown. The entire structure was a raging furnace when the fire engines arrived the great stock of furniture making excellent fuel. A barn in the rear was added to the flames, together with three horses and a $7,000 automobile truck belonging to the Mullens company. The loss is estimated at from $400,000 to $600,000.

All trolley cars and wagon traffic on both Broad and Market streets for several blocks about the fire was cut off from 5:30 until 9:30 o'clock.

NEW PRESS PRINTS DAILY PRESS TODAY

Modern and Up-to-the-Minute Machine Formally Commissioned--Papers Will Reach Readers Earlier Now--What it Will do.

Introducing to the Plainfield public it's new press, which will be the chief factor in the thorough modernizing of the re-organized Daily Press, the paper this afternoon goes to it's thousands of readers, friends and advertisers.

The new press has been running for the greater part of a week, but it was a period of test, and until today it was not felt that the time had arrived for it's introduction to the constituency of the Daily Press. The publishers felt sure, as do all who are familiar with matters of the kind that it is the best press of its kind, but it was felt that it would be better to know that every part was working properly before telling an interested public of it's installation.

During the trial period the press has found itself. It worked as steadily and smoothly as a delicately balanced watch on Saturday, so it was deemed ready for formal commission today, and formally commissioned to the service of the public of Plainfield it now stands.

The operation of the big machine is no small event mechanically, apart from what it means in making the paper bigger and better and stronger. It is the first time a wholly new modern press has been erected for newspaper service in Plainfield.

The press is known as the 20th Century Angle Bar Duplex, built for the Daily Press by the Duplex Printing Press Company, of Battle Creek, Mich. The etching of a photograph of the press shown on this page, gives a good idea of what it looks like but hardly a hint of what it can do in the matter of getting out a paper.

It more than doubles the capacity of the Daily Press plant. It can print any size paper the demands of news or advertising may call for, and it can print swiftly.

Whether the call be for 4 or 10 pages, the press will answer it with the same swiftness. It can print and fling off, ready for the carrier boys and the mail man, 6,000 4, 6, 8 or 10-page papers in an hour. Twelve, sixteen-page and twenty-page papers may be issued whenever the demands of advertising make that necessary.

The new press is fed from a web, or roll of paper, the device that takes the place of human hands in feeding the inky maw of the machine. Hands do nothing but start the power when this press is ready. The cunning of men's minds and fingers, made captive in cams, gears and wheels makes the press independent of human servants as long as belts hold and power flows alongs its appointed channels.

It takes the virgin roll of white stock and automatically makes it the newspaper you are looking at. It will print and fold, and paste and cut, and drop out, neatly piled up, 6,000 papers ever hour it is called on to do it, and never feel the need of human hands, except to put new rolls of paper in position to print from.

The men who named it "20th Century" gave it its proper title. It is the embodiment of the twentieth century spirit, which is swift achievement.

And more than that, it is embodiment of the spirit of the new Daily Press—modernism and perfect service.

Among the roads the committee want to turn over are South avenue, where it leaves the city and St. George avenue, Elizabeth. The committee will also take up with Col. SURE INCENDIARIES BURNED HIS BARN

Earnest Hand Retains Detectives to Ferret Cause of Fire That Razed Building.

FLAMES DID $1,500 DAMAGE

Suspicion Directed to Two Men Known to Have Cause for Ill-Feeling Against the Brickmaker—Loss Partly Covered.

A fire supposed to be of incendiary origin, destroyed the large hay barn at Ernest Hand's brickyard on Mountain avenue Saturday night. The loss is placed at $1,500.

The Plainfield fire department responded to an alarm sent in from box 18 at East Front street and Netherwood avenue, but owing to scarcity of water was unable to save the building.

There were no horses in the barn, and, aside from the structure itself, the greatest loss was from a large quantity of hay. Tools and wagons in the barn were ruined.

No one had been about the barn since early in the afternoon, and at that time everything was all right. Mr. Hand said today that the fire was unquestionably of incendiary origin. He has detectives investigating, and arrests are expected to follow the investigation.

Suspicion is said to point to two men who are known to have cause for ill-feeling toward the brickyard owner. They are men with whom he recently had trouble. Mr. Hand was entirely in the right in his action against them, but the circumstances were such as to furnish grounds for the belief that the two feel strong enmity toward him. Mr. Hand's loss is partly covered by insurance.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT AT A 'RAINBOW PARTY'

Miss Ella Serrell, of 931 Union street announced the engagement of her niece, Miss May E. Serrell to Ralph W. Armstrong, of New York city, at a "rainbow party" given Saturday night at the home of Miss Serrell. The feature of the affair was that each guest was requested to search for the "pot of gold" at the end of the rainbow. Varied colored cords extended from the large rainbow, which appeared in the living room, and at the ends of these cords was the announcement in verse. Both Miss Serrell and Mr. Armstrong were then showered with congratulations. During the evening refreshments were served.

Miss Serrell is a granddaughter of the late Lemuel Wright Serrel, who lived on West Front street for many years. She has been prominent in Sunday school work at the First Baptist church. Mr. Armstrong is the electrical engineer for the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company, of New York. No date has been fixed for the wedding.

ANTI-SALOON DAY IN LOCAL CHURCHES

Speakers of Note Deliver Addresses on Local Option to Several Congregations.

PART OF GENERAL ATTACK

Annual Appeal to Churchmen's Militant Spirit of Opposition to Brink Traffic—W. H. Berry, of Pennsylvania, Defines Liquor Abuse.

In city and suburban churches yesterday, speakers representing the Anti-Saloon League spoke against the liquor traffic and in favor of local option. Their addresses were part of the annual "Field Day" of the League.

Rev. Dr. Alexander Cairns, assistant secretary of the league, spoke at the Crescent Avenue church in the morning and in the First Presbyterian church, in the evening, his remarks being about the same at both churches. In the evening he advanced the opinion that liquor men do not like the business they are engaged in, that Thomas Gilmore, who was considered the brains of the liquor interests voted to make his own town "dry" when the opportunity afforded itself.

The speaker presented a few interesting statistics in which he said that in Elizabeth there is one saloon for every thirty-seven people in the city, that 70 per cent. of crime is due to liquor, that there are 8,000 saloons and 11,000 liquor dealers in New Jersey and that it costs the State $8,000,000 a year to care for its dependencies.

Rev. Mr. Gerhart, of Newark was the speaker at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church in the evening. He presented forcible arguments in favor of the league work and said that the temperance forces should follow General Grant's motto, that is find out what the enemy don't want you to do and then do it. Mr. Gerhart told of the vast sums being expended by the saloon interests to fight the Anti-Saloon League work. He cited the fact that in a recent issue of the saloon organ fifty references were made to the Anti-Saloon League, and they were not complimentary references either, showing how much concerned they are about the progress of the temperance work.

Rev. W. C. Kinsey, of Washington, this State, occupied the pulpit of the First M. E. church in the morning, making a strong appeal to the congregation for its support of the temperance work in behalf of local option. Mr. Kinsey gave an interesting account of the progress of the work during the past year.

E. G. Randall, of Newark, superintendent of the Men's Industrial Home in that city, was the speaker at the Congregational church yesterday morning. He also told of the work accomplished the past year and gave interesting statistics to show why, in his opinion, all good people should lend their support to the work.

At the First Baptist church in the afternoon, W. H. Berry, of West Chester, Pa., former treasurer of Pennsylvania and on two occasions a gubernatorial candidate, was the principal speaker. Rev. Dr. William Cairns, of Newark, also spoke. He said that two of the Union county assemblymen favor the passage of local option legislation, as does also Senator Pierce.

"Unquestionably," said Mr. Berry, "it is the abuse of liquor that causes the trouble." And then he defined what in his opinion constituted abuse by saying that if a man took one drink, however small or however much diluted, he was abusing not only the "abominable stuff" but himself, his family and the community.

NOT TO BLAME FOR COASTER'S INJURY

PERRINE BOY RECOVERING

Witnesses Agree That Auto Was Within Speed Limit, and Driver Couldn't Have Seen the Lad Until Too Late.

John S. Douglass, of Rockview avenue, whose automobile it was that injured Richard Perrine, Jr., of Fritz place, last Sunday while he was coasting on Interhaven avenue hill, was exonerated from all blame for the collision by Recorder M. F. Gano in the North Plainfield court this morning.

A number of eyewitnesses of the accident were examined and they all agreed in the essential details, which in effect showed that Mr. Douglass was not exceeding the speed limit, could not possibly have seen the boy coming on account of wing walls on a bridge, and did all in his power to avoid hitting the lad as soon as the sled came into sight.

The boy is still in the hospital but is making a rapid recovery. Those Those who testified in Mr. Douglass' behalf were Harrison Coddington, Phillip Ackor, James Walker, and Robert C. Woodhouse. Freeholder William Demler was called to tell of the risk coasters themseves take and how they also endanger the lives and limbs of others. Last Friday he had an exceedingly narrow escape from being run down by a boy on a sled who shot across Somerset street into Scripton's drive from the Interhaven avenue hill.

HEART TROUBLE CAUSES DEATH OF DUER BAIRD

Duer Wood Baird, aged 70 years, for more than thirty years engaged in the wholesale milk business in New York, died yesterday at his home, 70 Linden avenue, the borough, of heart trouble. He had been ill for the past three months. Mr Baird was born in Greenville, Orange county, New York, where he spent his boyhood days. Later he removed to New York, where he was in business.

Mr. Baird retired from business sixteen years ago and with his wife removed to his late residence on Linden avenue. He was a member of the old school Baptists, and never took his letter from the church at Greenville, with which he was identified for many years. The funeral service will be held at the late home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the remains will be placed in a receiving vault at Hillside cemetery until spring, when they will be buried in the family plot at Greenville.

DAILY PRESS EUROPEAN TOURS WILL BE GREATEST YET GIVEN

Plainfield Women Will Travel For Eight Weeks in Charge of Thomas Cook and Sons, Most Competent Tourist Agents--Six in the Party.

Six weeks or more ago the present owners of the Plainfield Daily Press decided to conduct a circulation contest, with young women as contestants and vacation tours to Europe next summer as the prizes. A contract was practically closed at that time with a tour manager who was known from past experience to be reliable and efficient. It was impossible, because of lack of press facilities to begin the contest until the new press, formally commissioned today, was in operation, because of the inability to get any papers in addition to the 2,500 now being printed, to subscribers at a reasonable hour in the afternoon.

For obvious reasons nothing was said about the plans to the half dozen or more tour agents who wished to conduct the contest, other than that it was expected to hold a contest as soon as the equipment was ready. No one was told that a manager had been decided upon, but one agent with whom this newspaper did not care to close a contract under any circumstances, took advantage of the frankness shown in saying that the Press would put on a contest later, and went elsewhere, closing a contract evidently intending to stop the plans of the Daily Press. In This They Have Failed. The Press will hold a contest, beginning at once, and WILL SEND SIX WOMEN FROM PLAINFIELD AND VICINITY ABROAD NEXT SUMMER, on a tour conducted by THOMAS COOK & SONS, the greatest and most reliable tourist agency in the world. The very name of COOK will make the Press tour more attractive than any other, because it is a guarantee of the best there is. It is also a MUCH MORE EXPENSIVE OFFER THAN ANY OTHER TOUR OFFERED, but the best is none too good for Plainfield people.

The publishers of the Press announce this contest secure in the feeling that the vacation tours are made possible in Plainfield wholly by this newspaper. It has been the cause of sending twelve instead of six residents of this locality abroad. Six of these we can assure a splendid outing trip, under the most efficient management procurable in the world.

The opportunity is open to every woman in this vicinity. They have the choice to make. The Daily Press will co-operate with those who wish to take part, in every way possible. LET THE FUN BEGIN.

Cook's guide will accompany the Plainfield Daily Press contestants from the time they leave this country until they return. They will sail from Philadelphia and on their arrival be met by a guide on the other side, being personally conducted, and during the trip every comfort and convenience will be provided. Every cent of possible necessary expense will be paid by the Daily Press. In fact all the money which may be needed by any of the travelers will be for gifts, souvenirs, postage, laundry and clothes.

The Daily Press tour lands at Liverpool on the other side. England, Holland, Belgium, The Rhine, Germany, Switzerland, France will be the countries visited. In London the tourists will stop four days, Paris, five, and Geneva, two. The cities to be visited will be Liverpool, London, The Hague, Amsterdam, Antwerp, Brussels, Cologne, Wiesbaden, Heidelberg, Lucerne, Interlaken, Geneva, Paris, Warwick and Stratford-on-Avon and Chester, returning to Philadelphia from Liverpool. At all of these cities the usual carriage drives are included and many side trips are furnished for the party. The trip down the Rhine between Cologne and Wiesbaden, is one of the features of the entire tour.

The party will be select, and will be chaperoned by a person suitable to all of the successful contestants, and also suitable to the Daily Press.

STRONG TALKS EXPECTED AT S.S. HEADS' DINNER

The influence of last fall's big Sunday school convention is still active in this city. There is hardly a school in the city or borough that doesn't report an exceptionally good season.

The increased zeal of officers and teachers is showing itself in better attendance of the scholars, more faithful and intelligent work, improved methods and the enlistment of volunteer teachers. The feeling that if the schools are to afford the high quality of religious education that the churches and community have a right to expect they must raise the efficiency of the instructor has led to a movement for the systematic preparation of the teachers.

At the first annual banquet of the Superintendents' Union next Monday evening in the hall of the First Methodist church one of the addresses will deal with this subject. Rev. William Tatlock, said to be the most convincing speaker on this theme in New Jersey, will discuss "Teacher-Training—Luxury or Necessity."

Huhg R. Monro, the second speaker, who will talk on "Bible Schools of the First and Twentieth Centuries," is an unusually vigorous and entertaining orator. He is a prominent and successful young business man of New York, who devotes a large part of his time to active Christian work, even to preaching the Gospel on the street corners. He is the sort of Christian man that the English call an "out-and-outer" and he has a persuasive way of bringing his hearers to his own way of thinking.

The Superintendents' Union, of which W. C. Hubbard is president, is sparing no pains to make it's first annual dinner one of the events of the season, socially and religiously. Besides the officers and teachers of the schools, the convention choir, which made such an impression last November, will attend in a body, the guests of A. M. Harris, who was chairman of the convention committee. Altogether the banqueters will number about two hundred.

Pickell—Durling.

Miss Mattie E. Durling and William Y. Pickell, both of Whitehouse Station, Hunterdon county, were married Saturday afternoon by Rev. J. Y. Broek pastor of Trinity Reformed church, the ceremony being performed at the home of the officiating clergyman. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sutton, of Whitehouse Station, accompanied the couple. The bride and groom will reside at Whitehouse Station.

Conducted Assignee's Sale.

William A. Schorb, auctioneer, conducted an assignee's sale, Saturday afternoon, the goods disposed of formerly belonging to Harry Lister, of North avenue. They comprised bicycles, phonographs, supplies, etc. Charles M. Dolliver was the assignee. The goods brought good prices.

WOULD HAVE CLUBS WEED PRIMARY NOMINATIONS

The Plainfield Democratic Club has taken the lead in a movement to bring all the Democratic clubs of the county together for action on primary nominations. The object of the proposed co-operative organization, it is announced, is to prevent a multiplicity of nominations confusing to the voters, and to furnish a fair, unbiased guide to a man with the ballot.

In a letter which has been sent to all the Democratic clubs in the county the Plainfield clubs says:

"Such an association without in any way enedavoring to exercise the powers of the old-time convention, would be able by its influence to eliminate, in large measure, candidates of manifest unfitness or doubtful fitness by persuading them that the best interests and political success of the party required their self-effacement; it would also be in a position to urge upon persons of unquestioned fitness, where none such may have been presented, to become candidates."

The letter is signed by L. J. Ellis, I. T. Fetzer, Edward C. Pearson, committee.

DULL BUSINESS DAYS

January and February are reputed to be the quietest months in the year in all lines of commercial activity. Shoppers have bought liberally in December for the holidays, and are waiting for the usual Spring and Easter season before considering further buying.

The wide-awake store-keeper realizes that in order to keep his stock moving, so that he will have fresh and up-to-the-minute lines on his counters when the Spring season commences, he must continually call the attention of the buying public to his offerings. This is just as true in Plainfield as in any other city. And the wide-awake merchant also knows that there is no better way to draw attention to his wares than through the columns of the

PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS

Proof of such a statement is not lacking. Look through the advertising columns of today's paper. See the announcements of the leading business houses of the city. Notice the desirable merchandise which is being offered at figures that cannot be bettered in the biggest city stores. Are you, Mr Merchant, represented there? Does your advertisement appear in the paper which goes into the homes of the city, which presents all of the local news, while it is news, and which takes second place to no small city newspaper in the State of New Jersey in community good will? If you are not represented call us on telephone 1300, and let us come around and talk to you about advertising rates. Anthony Swalbach carried over from Saturday night too big a load of "booze," the result was "Tony" started in to see the town in all its glory yesterday. As the day waned Tony became tired from carrying the heavy load and insisted on sleeping on Cook avenue. Several Italians took pity on him and loaded "Tony" booze and all into a wheelbarrow and brought him into town where he was given the best Warden Schmidt could furnish, a warm fire and a hard plank. Tony and Judge Clark will talk the matter over today.

William VanValkenberg, one of the town's oldest and best known residents, fell on the ice Friday while walking about the yard and injured himself so that his condition was considered critical yesterday. Mr. Van Valkenberg has been in feeble health for the past two years owing to the infirmities of his age, but has insisted upon being about whenever it was possible to do so.

HIGH COST OF LIVING PUTS UP COST OF DOLLAR DINNER.

Madison, Jan. 29.—The proposed organization to boost the borough threatens to train its guns upon the high cost of living, as it was found necessary at a meeting of the committee on dinner arrangements to raise the price of the "Boost Madison" banquet to be held February 14, fifty cents.

Criticism of the conditions which make for high living expenses were heard when the committee learned that the proposed dinner would, independent of hall rent, music and other incidentals, cost $1.50 per plate. As fully 300 are expected to be present, it would be necessary to raise $150 above the revenue of the dinner in addition to the estimated $200 which the other incidentals will cost. It was then decided to charge $1.50 per plate instead of having a "dollar dinner." The other expenses will be raised by personal contributions.

SHORT WEIGHT RAIDS FRIGHTEN MERCHANTS.

The recent raid made by William J. Bender, Elizabeth city sealer of weights and measures, on coal dealers who gave short weight followed by their subsequent punishment, has scared a number of grocers and butchers at the county seat. Saturday a dozen of them visited the Courthouse, all carrying baskets containing their new scales and measures. They told James Carey, janitor of the building, they did not want to be fined $50 and wished their scales and measures tested at once. He directed them to Bender's office.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

In "The Gamblers," which comes to the Plainfield theatre February 5, Charles Klein achieved his greatest success. The play grips the audience very early in the first act and holds it tensely until the final fall of the curtain. Mr. Klein has handled an everyday financial incident with strength and originality, and there is scarcely a superfluous word spoken in the entire drama. But, in addition to its excellence of construction and the vividness of the plot, it is said to be presented by an unusually strong company.

Not a tenth of the hundreds of people who have seen John Drew in "A Single Man" this season—not even those who have seen it several times—can honestly lay claim to having heard one of the most delicious lines in this exceptionally sprightly comedy. It is only a single line, spoken by "Lady Correll" just as the curtain is rising on the second act. "My husband has had a note from you asking him to come and see you; so here I am," quietly remarks her suffragette ladyship. It is amazing, and yet it is not, that the line night after night falls upon a silent audience, which, on the other hand, laughs uproariously at less subtle but not nearly as humorous speeches. Why? Most possibly because the line is placed at the very beginning of an act, at that moment when an audience is settling itself, and the attention of the entire theatre, however respectful, is not yet concentrated. "A Single Man" will be seen here at the Plainfield theatre February 8.

MEN AND RELIGION.

Throughout the country the Men and Religion Movement is working wondrous results for the spread of God's kingdom. No better an illustration can be cited than that furnished by Philadelphia, where an eight-day campaign came to a close yesterday, when between 1,200 and 1,400 men rose from their seats at a big demonstration and signified their intention of becoming more devout to religion. The scene, as pictured by the Quaker City papers, was more inspiring and impressive than anything of the kind that ever occurred in any great religious revival in that place. The solemn pledge taken by this noble army of recruits was to be more honest to themselves, to their fellow-men and to their God.

A similar campaign was inaugurated yesterday afternoon in Newark, and ere long one will be launched in Plainfield. The movement itself is somewhat different than anything of the sort ever before attempted on a large scale. The methods are distinctly original and one of the most important features is that it is a campaign by laymen for laymen although ministers figure prominently in stirring the hearts and minds of the big audiences. The movement knows no creed; it is intended to reach out for all men to bring them to a realization of their duty to themselves and to their Heavenly Master.

In Mayor Stein, Elizabeth has the aggressive type of executive and much may be expected of his administration. His latest scheme along the line of improvements involves the removal of the unsightly overhead wires, including the telephone telegraph and electric light, and he is letting no grass grow under his feet. He announces that he will neither give nor ask quarter and will see the improvement brought about no matter what obstacles are placed in his way by the utility corporations whose poles and wires at present disfigure the streets of the municipality. Notice has been served by him on the corporations that unless they voluntarily place the wires underground experts will be engaged to make a plan and he will then call upon the affected parties to abide by it. If Mr. Stein wins in his fight, he will find his fame by no means confined to the city to which he is giving such admirable service and, we sincerely hope that success will crown his efforts.

Pennsylvania's Governor has called a convention for the States to map out plans for a fight against the chestnut tree blight. The meeting will be held at Harrisburg on February 20 and it is expected that there will be present delegates from every State in the East, most of which have suffered irreparable damage already through the spread of the fungus disease. Millions of dollars worth of chestnut timber has been destroyed and it is to prevent the invasion becoming general that Governor Tener has felt called upon to have concerted action taken. From Maine to Florida, we are told, the blight has wrought its havoc. Such well known chestnut forests as those of Rockefeller at Tarrytown, N. Y., and Maxim in our own State have been utterly ruined. The condition is a serious one; one that demands just such prompt action as the Pennsylvania Governor proposes.

If there are any fraudulent names on the Federal pension list they are bound to be exposed and the guilty parties brought to justice should a bill introduced in the United States Senate today become a law. The measure provides that the Commissioner of Pensions publish in his next annual report the name, residence, length of service and the date of act of Congress under which each pensioner qualified for a pension. The proposed roster would be grouped by States and would be widely circulated. Senator Bryan, sponsor of the bill, believes that his plan, if adopted, will result in the expsoure of many frauds in the list of nearly one million pensioners. Whether the scheme will meet with the same stormy reception that did the late President Cleveland's order to strike from the list many pensioners, whom he deemed frauds, waits to be seen.

A French woman in Washington, D. C., boasts that although she is eighty-eight years of age she can do things that she could not do when in her twenties and if she is to be believed there is one truly wonderful octogenarian in this land. Every day, so this woman says, she bends to the floor 150 times; every day she takes 360 different exercises, and every day she runs three miles. Her oldest son, and she has eleven of them, is past seventy. High heels and corsets are what make women grow old too rapidly is the claim of the French woman, whose own figure has been preserved slender and rounded to this day because she does not wear them. A truly remarkable woman!

Governor Wilson's friends have purchased the Trenton True American and will train their editorial batteries to silence the little noise James Smith's Newark Star is making for its own gratification rather than for its readers' interest.

A mob at Guayaquil yesterday numbered among its victims an ex-President of Ecuador. But ex-Presidents are so common in South America that the loss of a few of them each week appears to be a trifling matter.

When the Tammany delegation of 1,500 men attends the Democratic National Convention at Baltimore they will live on excursion steamers. Won't have far to reach for the "chaser."

This is Carnation Day and admirers of the late President William McKinley are wearing the flower in their coat buttonhole in memory of that distinguished statesman.

THE FORUM.

Mr. Ellis Not a Candidate.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

My attention has been called to statements twice made in your paper recently that I am one of several candidates for a position on the County Board of Assessors. Please allow me to say that I am not and have not been a candidate for such office and am not a candidate for any office.

Respectfully,

L. J. ELLIS.

Plainfield, January 29, 1912.

SUNDAY SCHOOL AS VIEWED BY THE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Plans are being perfected for the Congress of Methodist Sunday school superintendents of New York, New York East, Newark and New Jersey Conferences, to be held at Grace church, New York city, Monday and Tuesday, February 12 and 13. This will be the first time that the Sunday school problems of this territory have been looked at from the superintendent's point of view.

Among the prominent speakers will be Bishop L. B. Wilson, of Philadelphia; Rev. Dr. David G. Downey, of Chicago; Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, formerly of this city; Edward W. Cooper, president of the New Jersey State Sunday School Association; Frank L. Brown, of Brooklyn, superintendent of the second largest Sunday school in the world; Senator Eugene M. Travis, of Brooklyn and many others.

There will be afternoon and evening sessions on both Monday and Tuesday. Frank L. Brown will preside at the afternoon session on Monday, and Edward R. Carhart, president of the Brooklyn Sunday school Union, in the evening. Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Dr. F. W. Hannan, of New York, will preside in the morning; Edward W. Cooper in the afternoon, and in the evening the chief address will be given by William H. Ridgway, of Coatesville, Pa. editor of "The Busy Men's Corner" in the Sunday School Times.

All of the local Sunday school superintendents, as well as others interested in this work, have been invited to attend the congress. James R. Joy, superintendent of the First M. E. Sunday school, is one of the leaders in the program of arrangements, being chairman of the publicity committee.

J. P. Morgan's $100,000,000 Art Treasures

An elaborate catalogue of J. P. Morgan's art treasures is in the process of making in London. There will be many volumes, and each volume will have hundreds of pages, and each page will be fitted with the names and histories of items in the Morgan collection.

There will be no appended estimation of value, and it would be the labor of years for a connoisseur to reckon up the total value of all the vast store of treasure.

There are some connoisseurs who have seen all of the Morgan collections and who have looked into all of the Morgan treasure chests who say that his collections have cost him in the neighborhood of $100,000,000. Others cut this to half a hundred million, but admit that before many years have passed and as the world's wealth increases the Morgan treasures of art will be worth easily $100,000,000.

Still others say that the Morgan collections are priceless and that there are no human means of determining their value.

Taking up at random a few of the most famous bits of the Morgan collection, we have the following eloquent list with their known prices:

Mr. Morgan's collections of royal and imperial jewels has never been definitely assessed, but it is known that he would not sell them for several millions.

His collection of wood carvings is the finest in the world, and so is his collection of the relics of the early Frankish kings. He has a magnificent collection of medallions that he holds to be priceless. Then there are collections of amber and jade, of armor and jeweled swords and pistols, of rare Coptic manuscripts, of carved silver and carved gold of every age and period.

His collection of rare books is the finest in the world and more valuable than the combined collections of all the museums of the world.

Such purchases as the recent one of the Hoentschel collection of Gothic works and enamels for $2,000,000 cannot be achieved secretly, but they are becoming so common in the course of Mr. Morgan's collecting that they attract little attention.

That Mr. Morgan purchased the first Hoentschel collection of carvings, statuary and furniture for $1,000,000 and gave it to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, only four years ago seems forgotten in his purchase of this second collection.

The deadly dullness of leap year news leads to the suspicion that a lot of fellows who were lassoed in 1889 have been telling tales.—New York Evening Telegram.

DIDN'T KNOW OFFICIAL THUMB AND CHEWED IT

Working as roundsman in plain clothes Saturday night the first time since the new plan of policing North Plainfield went into effect, Marshal Charles Kellar was not recognized as a policeman by William McCarty, of East Sixth street and he put up a stiff fight against arrest.

The men were down in the gutter on Somerset street, with Kellar on top when McCarty seized the index finger of the marshal's right hand in his teeth, and bit deep. A blow from a billy caused him to release his hold and conveyed the information that the owner of the finger was a policeman. McCarty then submitted quietly. He will be arraigned tonight.

McCarty was arrested for alleged interference with the arrest of Mrs. Catherine Moyer, of Jersey City, who was helplessly drunk. The woman was fined $2 by Recorder Gano today.

The Up-to-Date Hospital

Its Duty to the Community Through Social Service

The duty of the up-to-date hospital is to extend to the convalescent's home the best possible environment for speedy recovery and strength building, so that its constructive work may not be lost. If the change to the home be so detrimental that death or a weakened constitution results, there is an economic loss to both the hospital and the community.

The up-to-date hospital co-operates with home agencies, perhaps most efficiently with the visiting nurse and some relief giving and home-making agency such as the Associated Charities which itself often employs the nurse.

If the home of the returning patient is unsanitary and disorderly, the home nurse unskilled and ignorant, the family too poor to provide necessities; then the skilled instructions and watchful care of the nurse with the supplying of nourishing food or other relief by the society is a necessity to the patient's recovery.

The hospital not only works with these agencies in the home and is enabled to turn over many recovering cases to their care sooner than would otherwise be possible, thus making room for others, but is better able to guard the community from contagious and infectious diseases and restore strength and earning capacity by the close acquaintance with the home which this co-operation gives.

Talk Number Seven tomorrow, on "Hospitals and Public Hygiene and Scientific Medical Research."

Acid Burned Her Eyelids.

Miss Laura Stillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic L. Stillman, at 816 West Fourth street, had a narrow escape from losing the sight of both eyes while at work in the laboratory of the Plainfield High School, on Friday. With several other young women, she was busily engaged etching on brass, when a piece of the metal was accidentally dropped into a bowl of nitric acid, and the liquid splashed up against Miss Stillman's eyelids, burning them severely.

Mrs. Thomas Jackson Buried.

The funeral service for Mrs. Thomas Jackson was held yesterday afternoon at her late residence on Somerset street, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. Rev. W. S. McCoy, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, officiated. Burial was made in the family plot in the Somerville cemetery.

A HUMBLED PRINCE.

He Performed His Task and Squared Himself With His Boss.

Perley Sheehan told the other day of the sad days in Paris when he was a member of the Herald's staff there and under the personal supervision of Commodore James Gordon Bennett, says a New York letter to the Cincinnati Times-Star. There were days when nothing happened in that office, but there were more days when everything happened. Sometimes things happened that simply could not happen at all. "The commodore had a bunch of titled gentlemen working for him," said Sheehan. "Our copy boy was a Marquis de Something or Other. If he had possessed the commercial instinct he could have peddled that title of his on this side of the water for as much as a million and a quarter in iron dollars. Not having it, he pulled down 40 francs per week—which is $8—and was often reduced to tears by the profane demands of the American barbarians that he eliminate the dignity from his walk and get in a little more pace. I've often thought that I should have abducted that boy and brought him to New York by force. I could have sold him to almost any well to do family with marriageable daughters.

"One of the attaches was a prince whose titles filled a couple of pages in the Almanach de Gotha, while his family's record took up almost the space allotted to a prize winning Hereford in the American cattle book. He was of a most impressive and magnificent exterior, he had been educated in the most aristocratic establishments of France, he had the entree to every house of fashion in the city, and he had the intellect of a small pig. Commodore Bennett ordinarily used him as a sort of major domo. When the commodore was indisposed the prince did the honors of the establishment for him.

"Once," said Sheehan, "the commodore was about to go cruising on his yacht. The two most important members of that crew are dainty little Alderney cows, about the size of Shetland ponies. They furnish the commodore the fresh cream he insists on. The prince had made some sort of a faux pas which angered the commodore just previous to sailing.

"'Is there nothing vat I can do zat I may, vat you call square heemself?" begged the prince, with tears in his eyes.

"'There is,' said the commodore. 'You can lead my cows down to my yacht.'

"And that inheritor of two pages full of honored titles, weeping bitterly into a small ribbon of beard, led the two Alderneys to the yacht through the streets."

Reversing the Seasons.

When little Tommy Snow went to school one morning last summer his face beamed, and he rushed up to teacher to tell her that another new baby had arrived at home.

"Well, Tommy," said the teacher, "that's splendid! And how many have you now?"

"Oh, he's the fourth," replied Tommy. "We generally have a little Snow every summer, as father says."—Philadelphia Times.

Took Her Order.

Frank A. Munsey, the newspaper and magazine publisher, frequently visits his big plants, exhibiting particular concern that the furniture in the buildings shall be kept in good and neat condition. One morning as he was leaving an office in which a girl was working he stopped at her desk and put his finger on an ink stain on the wood. "That won't do at all," he said "Tell the janitor to wash that off right away."

As he went toward the door the young woman said calmly: "You're going out in the hall. Tell him yourself."

The big publisher stopped, gulped—and then went after the janitor.—New York Tribune.

CHINAMEN ARE TOUGH.

They Can Live Under Conditions That Would Kill a White Man.

Peculiar power to resist disease is a characteristic of the Chinese, according to Professor E. A. Ross. For instance, out of ten children born in western homes three, normally the weakest three, will fail to grow up. Out of ten children born in China about eight are doomed to die in infancy. The difference is due to the hardships that infant life meets with among the Chinese, and with such rigorous selection there results a stock displaying a peculiar hardiness. Living in the supersaturated, man stifled land, profoundly ignorant of the principles of hygiene, the masses have developed an immunity to noxious microbes which excites the wonder and envy of the foreigner.

"They are not affected by a mosquito bite that will raise a large lump on the lately come foreigner," says Professor Ross. "They can use contaminated water from canals without incurring dysentery. There is very little typhoid, and what there is is so attenuated it was long doubted to be typhoid. All physicians agree that among the Chinese smallpox is a mild disease. The chief of the army medical staff points out that during the autumn maneuvers the soldiers sleep on damp ground with a little straw under them without any ill effects.

"Coolies, after two hours of burden bearing at a dog trot, will shovel themselves full of hot rice with scarcely any mastication and hurry on for another two hours. A white man would writhe with indigestion. The Chinese seem able to sleep in any position. I have seen them sleeping on piles of bricks or stones or poles, with a block or a brick for a pillow and with the hot sun shining full into the face. They stand a cramped position longer than we can and can keep on longer at monotonous toil unrelieved by change or break."—Chicago News.

Dudley H. Barrows of West Eighth street, who was recently operated upon at Muhlenberg Hospital for appendicitis, returned home cured, yesterday.

COMMUTER ALONE FIGHTS RAILROAD

Ben S. Orcutt Revives War on Grade Crossings.

PUBLICITY AS LAST RESORT

Man, Demanding That Lackawanna Place Flagman at Dangerous Crossing, Appeals to Governor Wilson. Newspapers Will Be Used if All Other Plans For Safety Fail.

Brick Church, N. J., Jan. 29.—A lone commuter here has revived, single handed, the old fight of the towns along the tracks of the Lackawanna for the abolition of dangerous crossings.

This man is more modest in his demands than his predecessors, who wanted electrication of the suburban lines and the elevation or depression of the tracks. He merely asks for the employment of one flagman.

The commuter is Ben S. Orcutt of 44 Broad street, New York. He admits that he has been worsted in the first encounter, but declares he was put out on a foul. He has appealed to Governor Wilson as referee, and if the governor cannot find time to make the railroad come to order, Mr. Orcutt will rest his case with the public by organizing commuters and presenting their case through the New Jersey papers.

M'FARLAND TO TRIAL.

Newark Man Accused of Poisoning Wife to Marry Another.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 29. The trial of Allison M. McFarland for the murder of his wife, Evelyn, with cyanide of potassium was begun this morning in the Newark court of over and terminer before Chief Justice William S. Gummere and a jury drawn from a special panel. Prosecutor Mott has intimated that he can place all of his evidence before the court and jury in one day, so it is not believed that the trial will be long drawn out.

McFarland's wife was found dead at her home in Park avenue on the morning of Oct. 18 last. She had used part of the contents of a bottle that previously had contained bromide, which she used when suffering from headaches. The poison, it is charged, was put in the bottle, the label changed and the bottle returned to its customary place for the purpose of causing her death under conditions that would suggest suicide.

The "woman in the case" is Miss Florence Bromley of Philadelphia, whom McFarland employed as a stenographer while he was in business in this city two years ago.

BOOKS LOST; HELD.

Judge E. H. Armstrong of Camden Must Pay $20,000.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 29. Vice Chancellor Stevens rendered an opinion in the court of chancery under which former Judge E. Anthony Armstrong of Camden will have to pay over to the receivers of the State Mutual Building and Loan association an amount of money approximating $20,000. Judge Armstrong was the president and solicitor of the building and loan association.

In his opinion he is held responsible for the selling price of sixty five shares of the Atlantic Electric Light and Power company at $62.50 a share, which had been deposited with the association as collateral and sold to John J. Burleigh. The court holds that Mr. Burleigh was in no way responsible in the transaction.

Judge Armstrong's defense was that the transactions were handled by a subordinate now dead, that his books had been destroyed and that he could not establish the payment of the money back to the association.

TOWN FEARS COAL STRIKE.

Newton Dealers Making Limited Deliveries—Housewives Burn Wood.

Newton, N. J., Jan. 29. For some reason the coal dealers here anticipate a coal strike, and they are loath to sell coal in large quantities at the present, as they claim they are having trouble in replenishing their supply, and they do not care to run out of coal entirely, especially at the prevailing price, which they may be able to get much more for in the very near future.

Housewives are now facing the problem of burning wood for the rest of the winter. The dealers say the coal companies are holding back coal, as they expect a strike in the coal fields very soon.

PRINCE ADALBERT.

Third Son of the Kaiser to Spend Season at Newport.

GERMAN PRINCE TO NEWPORT

Society Leaders Plan Brilliant Season at Popular Resort.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 29.—Society learns that Prince Adalbert Ferdinand Victor of Prussia, third son of the German emperor, and his royal suite are to visit the United States next summer and spend the season at Newport. The intended visit of the prince has resulted in the formation of plans by Newport colonists to make the social season brilliant beyond precedent. Already announcement is made that many of the summer residents there will forego contemplated trips abroad now that the presence of the prince is assured.

That Prince Adalbert is coming was revealed at a dinner recently held in New York, where an attache of the German embassy stated that he had been assisted to make arrangements for the reception of the prince and obtain a villa headquarters at Newport commensurate with his rank. The German government is said to have ordered that two villas be obtained, one for the prince and the other for the embassy and the many secretaries that will be needed.

FIVE REBEL LEADERS LYNCHED IN ECUADOR

Generals Awaiting Court Martial Killed by Mob.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Jan. 29. A mob forced the prison at Quito and dragged out and lynched five of the revolutionary generals who recently surrendered. They were Flor Alfaro, Flavio Alfaro, Nelando Alfaro, Ulpiano Paez and Manuel Serrano.

These generals were captured or surrendered at the same time as General Pedro Montero, who was shot, he headed and turned to be last Thursday after a court martial had sentenced him to sixteen years' imprisonment. The five generals named above were also to be tried by court martial and were spirited away to Quito, as the government thought they would be safer from mobs there than in this city.

WOULD CONCENTRATE ARMY.

Secretary Stimson Favors Abandoning Several Forts.

Washington, Jan. 29. Concentration of the active forces of the United States army is badly needed, according to a statement given out at the war department, which points out that the army should be organized to meet the strategic needs of national defense and not after a plan determined years ago by the requirements of Indian warfare.

Secretary Stimson believes that the present wide dispersion is detrimental to efficiency and believes it causes unwarranted extravagance in administration and supply. He believes that if the army were concentrated in eight posts its cost would be reduced by $5,000,000 a year. Among the posts which he believes should be abandoned in the concentration plan are Mackinac barracks, Fort Niagara, Fort Ontario and Plattsburg, N. Y.

Big Fire at Pittsfield.

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 29. A fire which started in a clothing store in the Academy of Music building and communicated to the Miller building and a large storehouse in the rear of the Melaney building caused a damage estimated at from $200,000 to $250,000. All these buildings were completely destroyed.

The Junior Mission Band of the First Baptist church will meet Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Mrs. J. L. Manning will have charge of the exercises.

HOPE TO CONVICT "BATHTUB" TRUST

Trial of Members of Combine Begins Tomorrow.

DISSOLUTION SUIT PENDING

District Attorney Watson Confident He Has Evidence That Will Send Thirty-two Individuals to Jail on Charges of Violating Sherman Anti-trust Law.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29.—Another test of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law will begin in the United States district court here tomorrow, when the firms and individuals composing the alleged "bathtub trust" will be placed on trial.

Sixteen companies and thirty-two men are included in the indictments handed down Dec. 6, 1910, charging them with forming a monopoly to control the products of the enamelled ironware industry.

United States District Attorney Frank H. Watson, who has charge of the prosecution, is confident of the strength of the government's case, and if conviction is secured he will insist on a jail sentence.

At the present time a civil suit, looking to the dissolution of the trust, is pending in the United States supreme court, where it was taken on an appeal by the trust's attorneys, after a decision had been rendered in favor of the government by the United States circuit court at Baltimore.

This so called "bathtub trust" has a total annual business of $100,000,000 and controls 85 per cent of the manufactured articles of sanitary enamelled ironware in the United States.

The federal officials charge that as a result of a ten days' meeting at Mount Clemens, Mich., in April, 1910, a fund of $7,000 was raised to set in motion a plan that resulted in giving to the defendants control of the business of sixteen manufacturers and nearly 400 jobbers.

In the two indictments against each defendant there are six and four counts respectively, charging that the defendants control 85 per cent of the annual output; that they have combined to restrain the trade manufacturers and jobbers of plumbing supplies by refusing to sell to jobbers who handled the goods of so called independents, by the juggling of retail prices and by refusing to sell to jobbers who would not maintain the retail prices established by the alleged agreement of the defendants.

It is charged that the object of these uniform retail prices was to make the price of the articles manufactured by the combination the same throughout the United States and to eliminate the competition of jobbers as well as manufacturers.

ANTI-UNIONIST IN DANGER?

Detective Says Walter Drew, Counsel For Erectors, Is "Marked."

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29. Robert J. Foster, the detective in the employ of the National Erectors' association who assaulted President Ryan of the ironworkers, said that there is no question but a price has been set on the head of Walter Drew, counsel for the erectors' association, and that there is every reason to believe that the ironworkers' organization or one other labor organization at its instance has set aside the sum of $5,000 for that purpose. He said that the information came to him some time ago and that he had been running it down and is satisfied of its certainty and that his only purpose in calling upon Ryan was to place the facts before him and demand that the offer of the reward be withdrawn.

Foster says he got his facts from more than one source.

The trial of Foster on charges of assaulting President Ryan is expected to bring out the facts on which Foster bases his charge that a price has been set on Drew's head, and a grand jury investigation may result.

ROBBER KILLS AGED MAN.

When Captured Indiana Youth Confessd to Police.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 29. Clarkson Wilcuts, seventy two years of age and one of the wealthiest citizens of this county, was murdered just as he was in the act of retiring when called to the door by Cecil Fordyce, who intended to rob him. As Wilcuts opened the door Fordyce, who is but twenty-two years of age, pointed a pistol at him and demanded his money. Wilcuts grabbed the pistol, and a struggle followed. Fordyce released himself from the old man's clutch and deliberately pointed the pistol at him, the bullet entering just below the heart and causing death a few moments later.

Within an hour after the murder Fordyce was arrested from a description given of him by a neighbor who saw him running away from Wilcuts' home after the shooting, and when taken to the police station he confessed the crime.

CONSUMERS' LEAGUE IS WORKING FOR 10-HOUR BILL

The New Jersey Consumers' League has sent out a statement in support of Senator Edge's bill for limiting the hours of workwomen, the measure to which local department store heads object in that it does not permit of a twelve-hour day; not that they oppose the sixty-hour week, but because the ten-hour day will interfere with Saturday night opening to a certain extent. The department store men say the sixty-hour week can be made up by shortening the period of service on days other than Saturday.

The league's statement is as follows:

"State Senator Edge, of Atlantic county, has introduced a bill to limit the hours of women employed in factories, stores, restaurants, bakeries and laundries to ten a day and sixty a week. The bill was referred to the committee on corporations of which Senator Edge is a member.

"Factories in New Jersey vary widely and some few maintain a standard of hours more favorable than that set by the Edge bill, but they are a small minority. Most factories have now a working day of ten hours which is sometimes stretched by overtime to twelve, thirteen and fourteen hours. This is especially true of seasonal occupations like canning and the making of things for the holiday trade.

"But some people are questioning whether it is civilized ever to permit a woman to work from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. with no intermission beyond a few minutes for dinner and supper, or as one expressed it: 'just long enough to eat something.'

"Some restaurants are known to be working a regular day of eleven and others of twelve hours. Laundries have a week of sixty hours or less, but their fair average, and their very short Mondays and Saturdays do not compensate for the days of eleven and twelve hours that are generally customary in the middle of the week; and which, as the President of the North Jersey Laundrymen's Club confessed, are sometimes stretched to twelve and thirteen hours.

"There is a constant menace to the health of wokers in the inevitable heat and steam of a laundry, even the most sanitary, which is not easily resisted by those subject to the excessive fatigue of an eleven or twelve hour day. Tired bodies succumb so readily to such diseases as tuberculosis that legislation against overwork is an essention part of the campaign for health.

"Practically all stores are open Saturday evenings, with one set of girls on duty the entire day. In some small towns, stores are open regularlll for more than sixty hours a week; five days of ten, or in some cases eleven hours, and a longer day on Saturday. During the Christmas rush, this longer week is almost universal.

"In order that all Senators may know that their constituents are back of them in this matter, and that with a realization of the facts there is a general feeling that the hours of women's work should be limited, it would be well for every person interested to communicate with the Senator from this county about Senate Bill No. 61."

Gold wreaths have been awarded the following members of the First Baptist Sunday school upon the completion of a second year of perfect attendance: Louis N. Bennett, Miss Mary E. Campbell, Miss Hazel A. Cronce, Miss Violet E. Cronce, Harold Gerhold, Raymond J. Gerhold, Lewis T. Matlack, Chester D. Molleson and Miss Beatrice Overbaugh.

SWINDLERS WHO USE THE MAILS

DISTINCT CRIMINAL CLASS.

Chief Inspector of the Postoffice Department Reports on Arrests and Convictions—Effective Stop When Promoters Have Been Found Guilty.

Robert S. Sharp, chief inspector of the postoffice department, in his annual report says that the fraudulent promoters who have been put out of business by the postoffice department in the last lear have obtained the enormous total of $77,000,000 from the gullible public. In the crusades which the department has made in the last year against these men 529 individuals were indicted, 497 arrested, 184 convicted, 12 acquitted, and 177 are awaiting trial. There are also seventy-two awaiting action by the United States grand jury and forty-eight fugitives from justice.

Inspector Sharp says:

The determination to bring these promoters into court and obtain prison sentences against them have proved exceedingly successful, as evidenced by the results set forth in this report. In no instance, as far as known to this office, has a person convicted of a criminal charge of this character attempted to reorganize his scheme under a new name, as was often the case where fraud orders alone were resorted to.

In a number of cases in which arrests have been made owing to the volume of letters received daily by the culprits it has been found advisable to ask for the issuance of fraud orders, and the office of the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department after a most careful consideration of all the facts in each case concurred in the recommendation of the inspector. This action on the part of the attorney general's office has been the means of saving many thousands of dollars to the public.

The result of the year's work has developed the fact that these fraud manipulators are a distinct class of criminals, some of them moving in the highest social and business circles, but nearly all having more or less affiliations and connections with or are advisers of schemes or enterprises of illegitimate character in which they are not known as promoters.

The cost in time, money and talent to the government of the investigation and prosecution of these cases and the corresponding loss to other exceedingly important features of the postal service demanding attention are apparent, and I renew my recommendation of last year that the department of justice take over the investigation of this class of cases.

The work of the past year has uncovered a condition among the swindling class which shows the astounding extent of their operations and the enormous amount of their ill gotten gains. As shown elsewhere, only the few swindling promoters who were arrested last year obtained approximately $77,000,000. There are doubtless numerous persons operating similar schemes, as evidenced by the complaints which are pouring into the department. Encouraging reports from the centers of population are being received to the effect that a number of the smaller swindlers have discontinued business and their whereabouts are unknown. The policy of the department in attempting first to crush out the strong and powerful criminals who have grown rich at the game has proved exceedingly effective in eliminating the smaller ones.

METHODIST PASTOR'S THREAT.

Says He Will Shoot the Saloon Keeper if He Sells His Son Liquor.

The declaration of Dr. Frank Burr Crispell, pastor of Hedding M. E. church of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., that he will shoot the saloon keeper who dares to sell his boy liquor has caused much talk in and out of church circles. The clergyman did not make this declaration from his own pulpit, but before a meeting of the Poughkeepsie branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, and the declaration was greeted with prolonged applause.

"If a saloon keeper sells one of my boys rum I will shoot him," Dr. Crispell declared. "Yes, I will kill him. This may be rather hot talk, but I mean it. Rather the rumseller should die than that he should be allowed to make a drunkard."

Asked if he had been quoted correctly and if he was in earnest in his threat, the clergyman replied:

"When I said I'd shoot the man who sold my boy liquor I meant it, just as stated. It is exactly what I intended to say and what I mean."

WORLD'S FAIR FOR AUSTRALIA

To Mark Completion of Transaustralian Railroad In 1915.

A great international exposition, which is to be opened by King George and Queen Mary, is to be held at Perth, Western Australia, three years hence on the occasion of the completion of the Transaustralian railroad. The line, which is now under construction, crosses Australia from north to south and is to be connected with Western Australia on the west and Queensland and Victoria on the east. The total cost is estimated at $50,000,000. When the railroad has been constructed the Australian mails will go to Port Darwin, in northern Australia, saving about ten days between London and Adelaide.

All the foreign governments are to be invited to participate in the exposition.

Diplomatic Supply Bill Reduction.

The supply bill for the maintenance of the diplomatic and consular service this year will carry about $3,500,000. This is $250,000 less than the amount of the estimates submitted to the house committee on foreign affairs by Secretary of State Knox.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a Valentine social at the church Thursday night, February 15.

MATHEMATICAL SIGNS.

Process by Which These Familiar Characters Were Evolved.

The sign of addition is derived from the initial letter of the word "plus." In making the capital letter it was made more and more carelessly until the top part of the "p" was placed near the center; hence the plus sign was finally reached.

The sign of subtraction was derived from the word "minus." The word was first contracted into mus, with a horizontal line above to indicate the contraction, which was a printer's freak that may be found in almost any book bearing a date earlier than the beginning of the eighteenth century. After the lapse of a long period of time the letters were omitted altogether, leaving only the short line so well known to all.

The multiplication sign was obtained by changing the plus sign into a character resembling the letter x. This was done simply because multiplication is but a shorter form of addition.

Division was formerly indicated by placing the dividend above a horizontal line and the divisor below. In order to save space in printing the dividend was placed to the left and the divisor to the right, with a simple dot in place of each.

The radical sign was derived from the initial letter of the word "radix."

The sign of equality is said to have first been used in the year 1557 by a sharp mathematician, who adopted it as a substitute for the words "equal to."

Enlightening a Poet.

The English poet Mr. Powys told this anecdote, in which he claimed to have been the party of the second part. He said that he was talking to an old country woman on the occasion of the queen's jubilee in 1897. "What do you understand by the word 'jubilee?'" he asked her.

"Well," answered the old dame, "if you've been married fifty years and the man's alive it's a golden wedding. If he's dead it's a jubilee."

Ancient Cancer Cure.

An ancient oriental cure for cance, was to apply a live toad to the affected part. A well authenticated case of this form of treatment was that of the wife of a merchant of Smyrna. A live toad was strapped tightly over the diseased part, and, it was said, the woman was completely cured within a short time. It was a sacrifice upon the part of the toad, however, as it died after it had been on duty twenty-four hours.

The Best He Could Do.

"Mr. Addem," said a tightwad merchant to his sad faced bookkeeper, "I wish you would try to look a little more cheerful."

"I think," replied the bookkeeper, swallowing a big lump, "that for 30 shillings a week I'm awfully jolly."—London Mail.

Exciting.

"Anything going on this evening?"

"Yes; there's to be a performance at the Athletic gardens. A fellow will undertake to subdue an automobile that has a record of having killed six men. He's to do it in one hour or forfeit $1,000."—Chicago Tribune.

With an Incumbrance.

"No," said Mr. Cumrox, "I don't in the least disapprove of my daughter's marrying a title."

"But you seem dissatisfied."

"I am. What I object to is the fellow that goes with it."—Washington Star.

OCEAN GROVE TAKES LESSEES INTO PARTNERSHIP

Suggested Co-operative Government

SETTLEMENT OF OCEAN GROVE CONTROVERSY

Ocean Grove made an announcement today that promises to settle the controversies that have been at issue there for some time, and out of which politicians have endeavored to make capital.

Ocean Grove announces that it has but one object—to serve its patrons in accordance with its charter, and that it will be only too glad to have the co-operation and partnership of its lessees in carrying on its work.

The following is the proposition to the lessees:

To the Lessees of Ocean Grove:

In addition to the worship of God, the object of Ocean Grove is to serve the public in accordance with the provisions of its charter. It aims to conduct a religious and moral resort for those to whom such a resort appeals. Those who have leased lands in this community came here with the full knowledge of the rules and regulations by which they would be bound, and they voluntarily entered into certain agreements as lessees. These agreements included some of the following provisions:

The maintenance of religious exercises generally acceptable to the highest interpretation of the Gospel.

Entertainments of a character generally approved by the churches.

The administration of its affairs by men who have a moral and religious standing.

The protection of the resort from the residence of improper people or business.

The expenditure of its resources for the general good of the general public.

The preservation of the Christian Sabbath.

This general plan has been agreed upon by the Association whose details will be adjusted at the semi-annual meeting in May.

The lessees of Ocean Grove entered into a binding contract under these conditions.

It may be possible that some of our good friends no longer desire to keep their contracts; if so, Ocean Grove acknowledges its regret. Ocean Grove, however, cannot afford to break its contract with its lessees, nor do we think a fair minded public makes such a demand.

Ocean Grove, however, so far as it can in the performance of its duties and obligations, is glad to do anything to serve the welfare and rights of its patrons. To that end, it wants their co-operation and support in every way.

In accordance with this desire, therefore, and to assure a fair-minded public of its willingness to grant every reasonable request of its patrons, with the exception of its own destruction, it proposes that hereafter the lessees shall elect every year twenty-six of their number by their own votes, to act in joint conference with twenty-six members of the Association, upon matters effecting the disbursement of revenue derived from lot rentals, and thus jointly co-operate in the preparation of the budget for the sanitation and beautifying of the Grove; the lighting and sprinkling of its streets; the maintenance of its parks and lawns and other matters that properly come within the scope of the expenditure of this fund.

Such representation by the lessees could be most helpful in counsel and advice in matters effecting the interests and welfare of this resort.

It is proposed that such members shall be elected annually by the lessees so that they will be always representative, and will come to the joint body thus formed with a clear knowledge of the wishes of the people.

This is not altogether a new proposition. In the early part of the history of Ocean Grove a general meeting of the lessees was called and the question of disbursing funds received from rentals was discussed, and by an unanimous vote, was at that time referred to the Association. Practically the same question was afterwards brought before a meeting of the proprietors of the boarding houses and hotels, and similar action was taken.

The proposition now made to the lessees is similar in spirit, but more definite in form, and will impose upon the lessees the responsibility of electing representatives to share equally and jointly with the members of the Association in the distribution of rentals for the purposes above referred to.

It is also proposed that the joint meeting, composed of the representatives of the lessees and the members of the association, may select an expert to audit the books of the organization. The report of such auditor shall be submitted at the annual meeting of the Ocean Grove Association, and copies of the same shall be furnished to the lessees.

The Ocean Grove Association believes that with the co-operation of citizens, through their chosen representatives, this community will enter upon an era of good will and Christian unity, that will make for the glory of God and the welfare of the people here gathered.

The disbursement of revenue derived by the Ocean Grove Association from lot rentals shall be by a joint committee composed of the members of the Ocean Grove Association and an equal number of representatives of the Ocean Grove lessees. Such representatives of the lessees shall be elected by the lessees, either in person or by proxy, during the month of August of each year and shall hold office for one year from the date of their election.

At the meeting then authorized, the budget adopted, provision shall first be made for the proper sanitation of Ocean Grove, its police protection, the lighting and sprinkling of its streets and care of its parks and lawns.

This meeting shall be held at 10 a. m. on the fourth Thursday in the month of August of each year. At the joint meeting, twenty-five shall constitute a quorum. In the absence of a quorum, or if a deadlock prevents affirmative action, the schedule of expenditures for the items named shall be that of the preceding year.

The joint meeting may select a professional accountant to audit the books of the Association. The report of such an auditor shall be submitted at the annual meeting of the Ocean Grove Association and copies of such report shall be sent to each of the lessees.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL.

Being Welcomed at Boston Today on Return From Rome.

BOSTON GREETS O'CONNELL.

Mayor and 200,000 Welcome First New England Cardinal.

Boston, Jan. 29. More than 200,000 people welcomed Cardinal O'Connell when he landed here this morning as the first prince of the church ever created in New England.

Permission was obtained from Washington to take Cardinal O'Connell off the Canopic at quarantine on the city steamer Monitor. The cardinal, with his suite, then proceeded to Long wharf, where welcome was given by Mayor Fitzgerald.

WARMER IN EAST STATES.

Weather Bureau, However, Sees Cold Wave Last of Week.

Washington, Jan. 29. The weather bureau issued the following weekly bulletin:

"A marked rise in temperature will overspread the eastern states today and moderate temperature will prevail thereafter over the eastern half of the country the greater part of the coming week. A cold wave will appear in the northwest states Friday or Saturday, whence it will advance eastward and southward over practically all districts east of the Rocky mountains. A disturbance that now covers the southwest will advance to the eastern states today and be attended by snow in northern and rains in middle southern states east of the Mississippi valley.

"The next general storm to cross the country will appear in the far west Tuesday or Wednesday, cross the middle west about Thursday or Friday and the eastern states near the close of the week. It will be attended by general snows in northern and rains in southern districts."

MUTUAL LIFE HEAD ILL.

Morristown, N. J., Jan. 29.—Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the Mutual Life, is at his home here suffering from an infected foot. His illness is not serious. Mr. McCurdy is seventy-seven years of age.

A week ago Mr. McCurdy went to New York to visit his son Robert. On Sunday morning his Morristown physician, Dr. George H. Willis, received a telephone call asking him to go to New York and take his patient to Morristown. Dr. Willis went and, according to what he told reporters later on, found that Mr. McCurdy was suffering from a badly infected foot.

For some reason no special train was ordered for Mr. McCurdy, whose salary at one time was $150,000 a year, but he was put on a stretcher in the baggage car.

PUBLICITY OF PENSIONS.

Florida Senator Believes Many Are Not Entitled to Aid.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Publicity of the identity of the 965,000 pensioners on the government rolls is proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Bryan of Florida.

The bill directs the commissioner of pensions to publish in his next annual report the names, residence, length of military service and the date of act of congress under which every pensioner on the rolls qualified for pension. Senator Bryan believes that compliance with the terms of the bill would expose many frauds and thus remove the names of thousands from the pension rolls.

Indorse Philippine Regime.

Manila, Jan. 29.—The Democratic primaries held to elect delegates to the territorial presidential convention have resulted in a victory for the faction demanding that the Philippine administration be indorsed. The delegates elected have been pledged to this, though they will favor resolutions attacking President Taft.

Neck Broken, He Will Live.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 29.—His neck broken in a fall down a flight of stairs, Uriah Washburn of Gloucester, N. J., is rapidly recovering. The fact that, providing there is no setback, he will not be compelled to wear a support of any sort to hold his head in place is considered a wonderful triumph of modern surgery.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold its monthly business meeting in Vincent chapel Friday night.

ISSUE ULTIMATUM TO MINE OWNERS

General Strike if Higher Pay Is Not Granted.

OPERATORS' TALK BLUFF?

Caucus of Officers and Members of Scale Committee of United Miners Decides to Enforce Demand For "Living" Wages With Order to Strike. Finances Said to Be Low.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—If the operators here for a conference with the miners fail to agree to the demand for increased wages, the latter will strike. This, in brief, is the verdict of the caucus of officers and members of the national scale committee of the United Mine Workers of America. The miners want an increase of 10 cents a ton, and the operators demand an equal decrease from the present scale.

It was believed that the operators would be willing to renew the present scale, and the opinion was general that the demand for a reduction was merely a bluff, but the conference determined that nothing short of an increase would be satisfactory to the organization and that a strike would be necessary to enforce it.

After the conference some of the miners privately admitted that the organization was not in a position financially to declare a strike and that one would be hopeless unless the majority of the members of the organization could be continued at work, so as to respond to assessments. The opinion was expressed though that the operators in some districts would grant the wage demanded and that this would enable the organization to carry on the strike where the terms are not complied with. It was said that district settlements had been approved in the past because of this fact and that it would be policy of the officers to make such settlement when present contracts expire, so as to keep some of the miners at work while others were on strike.

SWINDLER QUITS AT 83.

Failure to Get Cash on Checks Disgusts Bartlett.

New York, Jan. 29.—The oldest commercial swindler with whom the police are acquainted wound up his career by walking up to Lieutenant Mannion in the detective bureau at headquarters and giving himself up for forgery. He is Charles W. Bartlett, eighty-eight years old, who has been a forger and swindler for half a century.

He told Mannion that on Saturday he went to W. & J. Sloane at Broadway and Eighteenth street and represented himself as William B. Bennett of Pittsburgh. He said he was the president of a hardware concern there and wanted to buy some rugs to be shipped to his home. He bought two, he says, and gave a check on the Milton bank of Pittsburgh for $2,500 signed by C. W. Bennett. Then he found to his disgust that the rugs came to exactly that amount, so he told the firm to hold them for ten days. He showed the receipted bill to back up his story.

He tried to pass two other checks, one on a man named L. M. Bailey for $2,000 and another on Chauncey Holt of 27 Vandewater street for $2,000. He didn't get any money on either of these, and on a check for $1,156, which some firm near Hudson street and Ninth avenue accepted, he only got enough for a few drinks, so he decided that the time had come for him to quit.

WOLTER PAYS THE PENALTY.

Youth Who Killed Ruth Wheeler Dies at Sing Sing.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Albert W. Wolter, who murdered Ruth Wheeler, fifteen years old, in New York city, a little more than two years ago, paid the penalty for his deed with his life in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison this morning.

The youth who retained his nerve during his trial and the two years' stay in the death house at Sing Sing said he was prepared to die. There was an affecting scene when his aged parents, who came from New York city to see him, parted with him in the death house. Wolter talked with his parents for more than an hour.

Julius Harburger, sheriff of New York county, was one of the witnesses at the electrocution. He saw his first electrocution here a few weeks ago and at that time said he would like to be present when Wolter was killed, so that he could note the electricity on a youth.

Wolter was received at Sing Sing prison on April 27, 1910, and at that time was eighteen years of age.

MARQUIS OF LONDONDERRY

Object of Churchill's Wrath In Irish Home Rule Fight.

CHURCHILL'S SHARP REPLY.

Belfast Home Rule Meeting May Result In Riots.

London, Jan. 29.—Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, is out in a rather sharp reply to the last letter of the Marquis of Londonderry, chairman of the Ulster Unionist council, in reference to the home rule meeting to be held in Belfast under the auspices of the Belfast Liberal association on Feb.

Mr. Churchill begins by repudiating the statement or insinuation in the letter of Lord Londonderry that Ulster Hall, where the meeting was to have been held, was deliberately chosen for the purpose of irritating the Unionists. He says that he had nothing to do with the hiring of the hall. The first lord of the admiralty snubs Lord Londonderry's offer to guarantee that there will be no interference with the home rule meeting if it is held outside what is regarded as the Unionist section. He says he proposes to and will rely upon the law and the sense of justice of the citizens of Belfast to see to it that there is no interference with the meeting and is confident that unless a riot is purposely organized there will be no trouble.

INJURED BY EXPLOSION IN MOVING PICTURE WAR

Stump In Powder Bag Adds Realism to War Scene.

New York, Jan. 29.—Six men were badly injured at Croedmor, the old state rifle range, where 400 soldiers from Fort Hamilton were posing for real war scenes for a moving picture concern, when after the sham battle which crowned the picturesqueness of the picture, and the soldiers and employees were gathering, some one threw a cigarette into a bag of bombs. There was an explosion, which spattered burning powder on a score of spectators, and six men who were close to the bag were showered so with the burning powder that they were badly burned before the fires which started in their clothing could be put out.

NO HOTELS FOR TAMMANY.

New York Organization Plans to Use Steamers at Baltimore.

New York, Jan. 29.—When the Tammany delegates, 2,500 or more strong, goes to Baltimore in June to attend the national Democratic convention there will not be the wild scramble for hotel accommodations that has been prophesied. According to a plan which Tom Smith, the secretary of Tammany Hall, has outlined, the majority of the braves will not need to put up at hotels at all.

Secretary Smith's plan, which already has received the approval of other leaders, is to have the organization charter two or more large excursion steamers, in which to carry the Tammany delegation to the convention city. The steamers will anchor in the bay, a stone's throw from the heart of the city, and the braves will sleep on board.

ARTIST GUEST OF DUKE.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Charles Dana Gibson and his wife, a sister of Waldorf Astor of New York, are guests at Government house and were among those at a dinner held at Rideau hall on the first evening of the return from New York of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia. A number of other New York guests are expected at Government house.

Weather Forecast.

Snow in northern, rain or snow in southern portion today; tomorrow fair; moderate to brisk east and southeast winds.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will speak at the prayer meeting Wednesday night on the topic "Thy Kingdom Come."

WHY THE WOMEN WANT LIABILITY ACT REPEAL

The members of the Woman's Christian Club of Summit are promoting a popular petition asking for the repeal of the Employers' Liability act. The petition, which is being industriously signed, sets forth that the law involves in common liability all employers of labor of every description, including every householder who employs domestic servants of any kind by the day, week or month; that it practically renders every employer liable in damage for injury whether injury was caused by the negligent act of a fellow servant or through risk necessarily attaching to the employment, voluntarily assumed by employe with full knowledge; that it endeavors "by unworthy trick" to force upon the employer an implied consent of liability without regard to negligence or failure of duty on the part of the employe. The petition reads further:

"Little insight is required to discern what a field is opened to fraud, malice and all kinds of imposition and unmerited hardships. Such a law is discreditable to a civilized people and is a rightful cause for protest by every person employing labor of any kind. For these reasons the petitioners respectfully ask the repeal of the Employers' Liability act."

COMMISSION STUDY FOR ELECTION LAWS

Joint Resolution Introduced for That Purpose Means a Bipartisan Investigation.

ANDERSON'S SCHOOL BILLS

Somerset Solon's Measures All Relate to Schools—Many Other Important Bills Are Presented For Consideration of the House.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 30.—Close study of election laws for the benefit of the entire State is to be made if the joint resolution of Mr. Gill, of Mercer is favorably received by the Legislature in the form it was presented in the House last night. He authorizes the Governor to appoint a commission of six (members of the Legislature excluded) to observe the operation of the present election law; study the laws of other States and report to a subsequent Legislature with recommendations. Three members of each political party are to be on the commission.

Fourteen bills to govern the operation of schools were presented by Mr. Anderson of Somerset. They embody largely the recommendations of the Frelinghuysen investigating committee of last year. Some of the measures were those introduced in the Legislature, but they came up late in the session and a number never got before the House.

The bills presented last night follow: Requiring custodians of school money in school districts to deposit such the next business day after their receipt in the proper bank or banks. The custodian is not to be an officer, director or stockholder of any of the banks.

Repealing the act limiting the amount the State Treasurer may deposit in any single banking institution.

(By request) Authorizing the Commissioner of Education to commence suit to recover damages against any member of a District Board of Education, past or present custodian of school money or ex-custodian, clerk, or ex-clerk, secretary or ex-secretary to recover damage made in profits in any real estate deal, and that hereafter all purchases of real estate must be reported to the Commissioner of Education.

(By request) Amending State Treasurer's act by providing that no banking institution shall receive a greater sum on deposit than thirty three and one-third per centum of the amount of its capital and surplus from State funds.

CITY MAKES ATTACK ON WATER CO. MERGER

Proceedings Before Assistant Attorney General Today to Have Contracts With Other Towns Declared Illegal.

Albert C. Wall, of Jersey City, who has been retained by the city to appear in the proposed condemnation proceedings to acquire a municipal water plant, accompanied by Mayor G. W. V. Moy, represented the city today at a hearing before Assistant Attorney General Gaskill at Trenton.

The city sought to have set aside the contracts the Plainfield-Union Water Company holds with other municipalities outside of Plainfield.

There has been a question raised as to the legality of these contracts with other municipalities and if it is found that the water company has gone beyond its powers it will have an important bearing in the condemnation proceedings. Today's argument may determine this act.

The question arises because of the fact that the corporation was first known as the Plainfield Water Supply Company and later it became the Plainfield-Union Water Company. The water company is represented at the hearing by its president and general counsel, Frank Bergen.

The real purpose of the proceedings, it is reliably reported, is to have the consolidation of the Plainfield Water Supply Company and the Union Water Company set aside.

TO HEAR ENGINEER'S PLAN FOR SEWERS

Representatives of the Plainfield and North Plainfield Councils will hold a conference tomorrow night in the rooms of the Common Council on North avenue, when George W. Fuller, the sanitary engineer, will present plans and give some idea of the probable cost of a joint sewage disposal system. He was engaged to make a preliminary survey and to estimate the cost of a proposed sanitary system to be located on either the Cramer or Zvolenck farms.

At a recent conference of the city and borough Councils resolutions were adopted authorizing this preliminary work and engaging Mr. Fuller, it being understood that neither municipality was to be bound to any contract to build the proposed sewer. If the plan is approved by both city and borough it is expected that a contract will be made for that purpose.

As there is considerable interest in the expected report of Mr. Fuller, it is reported that a large number of citizens will be present. The borough is determined to push the sewer matter through to completion as rapidly as possible, said one of the borough councilman today, and only agreed to the recent joint resolution adopted by city and borough with the understanding that the necessary information as to survey and cost be secured at the earliest possible date.

TO POSTPONE MEETING IN INTEREST OF MUHLENBERG.

As the date for the annual meeting of the Plainfield Country Club, Tuesday, February 6, conflicts with the date which has been set for the public banquet which is to mark the opening of the Muhlenberg Hospital campaign, the trustees have recommended a postponement of the club meeting in the belief that the members of the club will wish to give undivided attention to the campaign.

Having no power to change the day fixed by the constitution for holding the annual meeting, the trustees have given notice to the members that if there is no quorum present on the evening of February 6, the meeting will be adjourned to Tuesday night, February 27. Should a quorum be in attendance, it is requested that the members support a motion to adjourn the meeting as recommended.

STRONG HINT AS TO NEW M. E. PASTOR

Rev. F. J. Hubach, Say Reliable Reports, Likely to Come to Monroe Church.

IS NOW AT PHILLIPSBURG

Call From West End Congregation, Whose Pastor Has Announced His Desire to Make a Change, Expected to Be Sent Soon.

Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, at present pastor of the Methodist church at Phillipsburg, is a strong possibility as a successor to Rev. Charles S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, who has informed his official board that he contemplates making a change this year. Mr. Hubach has preached at the local church during the past year and made a favorable impression upon the members.

While it has not been officially announced that a call has been extended to Mr. Hubach, it is reliably reported that one will be within a short time.

Mr. Hubach was graduated from Drew Theological Seminary about fourteen years ago. His first charge was at East Rutherford, from which place he went to Mendham. He then served Grace church, Staten Island, for a few years, from which place he was transferred to Phillipsburg where he is completing his fourth year.

Mr. Hubach is said to have the combined qualities of a good preacher and pastor. For a time he was a member of the Newark Conference quartet, of which Rev. C. S. Kemble was also one. The quartet established quite a reputation in the conference, its singing being a feature at special meetings.

POLICE GET NEW CLUE TO DRYDEN'S WHEREABOUTS

An anonymous letter from Beaufort, N. C., received by Chief of Police Kiely today contains a possible clue to a solution of the mystery surrounding the whereabouts of Meredith Dryden, who disappeared from his home in the borough last November.

The letter says that a man answering Dryden's description was found drowned in a stream in Beaufort. The writer says he withholds his name, because he is a citizen of quiet habits, and has no desire to figure in the search.

He writes that "Mr. Stanley Hancock, the sheriff here," has all information and will furnish it to Chief Kiely. The letter contained clippings from the New York papers to explain how the writer learned Dryden's description.

Chief Kiely, who as a member of Plainfield Lodge of Elks, which is taking a leading part in the search for the missing man, has been personally interested in the hunt, will communicate with the Beaufort authorities.

CLOCKS TO SHOW HOW FUND GROWS

Hands on Twelve-foot Dials Will Keep Public Posted on Daily Progress.

COMMITTEES MAKE READY

Two Chief Bodies Will Hold Sessions Every Day During the Whirlwind Campaign—Where the Clocks Will Hang.

Two big "clocks" will keep the people of Plainfield constantly in touch with the growth of the fund to be secured by the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital in the coming whirlwind campaign for subscriptions. Each of them will be twelve feet in diameter, and they will mark the mounting thousands at the most prominent points in the city. One of them will be hung on the Schwed building, Front street, at the head of Park avenue, and the other on the North Avenue railroad station.

It has been announced for the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg that, if the funds secured are sufficient, a two-story building will be erected for a children's ward and for additional private rooms for pay patients. More private rooms are much needed in order to provide for the steadily increasing demand, and it is estimated that they will provide an added income of $4,500 yearly to the hospital.

The institution stands in need of a new and thoroughly equipped pathological laboratory. It will also be directly in the interests of economy to install an independent electric lighting plant. When the present hospital buildings were erected in 1903, lack of funds prevented the possibility of their being made fireproof. Such a step is now greatly to be desired.

It is conservatively estimated that the improvements mentioned would save at least $1,000 per year to the institution over and above the revenue already mentioned from additional private rooms.

Since the hospital buildings were completed more than 5,500 patients have received treatment in the wards and private rooms, and 4,700 others have received medical or surgical attention for minor troubles at the dispensary. Today the demands upon the institution are greater than ever.

The present indebtedness is due to the increasing amount of charity work during the last five years. Over fifty per cent. of all the work of the hospital is performed gratuitously.

The plan adopted by the Hospital Governors for securing the $90,000 sought is what may properly be called an "intensive" campaign. It has operated with great success in many cities throughout the country.

Already the initial stages of the work in this city are well advanced. In addition to the campaign executive committee, a women's committee of 100 has been organized; also a citizens' committee and a young men's business committee—both of which latter committees are composed of 100 members.

A thoroughly systematic canvass of Plainfield and North Plainfield will be instituted on Wednesday, February 7, the day following the banquet at the Park Club. Beginning on Thursday of next week the executive committee, the citizens' committee and the young men's business committee will meet every weekday at campaign headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. building at 6.30 p. m., to discuss the progress of the campaign beginning Thursday, February 15 the women's committee will meet daily at 4 o'clock p. m., until the campaign closes.

Two clocks, twelve feet in diameter, will be placed respectively on the Schwed building, Front street, at the head of Park avenue, and at the Plainfield railroad station so that the public may be constantly in touch with the growth of the campaign contributions.

At a recent meeting of the city's physicians at the home of Dr. William Murray, the plan of the campaign for raising funds for Muhlenberg Hospital, which was explained by George P. Mellick, chairman of the campaign executive committee, was heartily endorsed by the doctors.

PRESS TOURS ONE TOPIC AMONG LOCAL PEOPLE

Excellence of Offer Made Appeals to All Who Read Announcement---Eight Weeks Feature Popular.

Plainfield people picked up the Daily Press last night with surprise and exclamations of pleasure to read of the splendid free vacation tours which the newspaper is going to make possible for five young women and a chaperone from this vicinity, who will be able to spend their summer vacation touring through the most interesting of the lands on the other side of the Atlantic. The conditions were eagerly read by dozens of young women who would like to spend the coming summer abroad. The fact that the tour offered was one such as is usually offered only by the biggest city dailies, and has never before been offered in a city like Plainfield appealed to those who appreciated the argument of the Daily Press that the best is none too good for Plainfield. There was a great scurrying around among friends and neighbors to enlist their aid in helping various popular young women who have decided to try to make the trip. Nomination blanks and coupons for votes were cut out of the paper to be held until it is announced that the ballot box is placed for voting.

The conditions were outlined last night. Any young woman, living within the territory described in a large advertisement to be found on another page of today's paper is eligible to compete, the one securing the highest number of votes in the entire contest being entitled to choose her mother, or an older friend subject to the approval of the other contestants and the publishers of the Daily Press, for a chaperone. The party will visit England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, including a trip down the Rhine, Switzerland and France. They will sail from Philadelphia late in June on an American line steamer, and have a delightful ten days' voyage across the ocean.

In a community like Plainfield it is unnecessary to enlarge upon the pleasures and attractions one finds in traveling in Europe, or the many decided advantages gained by being conducted through the fascinating countries of the old world under the careful guidance of men employed by a firm so well known as Thomas Cook and Sons, the originators, over seventy years ago, of the system, which is now copied with more or less skill by less reliable travel companies. In offering these tours the Daily Press spent much time in looking into the propositions of other companies, but throughout all negotiations there remained just that little something lacking which the name of Cook supplies.

For instance, when the travelers are abroad all they need to do to keep their friends posted as to their whereabouts is to leave a copy of the itinerary with their friends at home, saying "allow ten days for a letter and address me care Thomas Cook and Sons, in cities, according to the schedule." Other companies have only correspondents and frequently letters addressed in care of such people go astray. Then again, the Cook company retains, permanently, the best guides in each city, and the director who travels with the party, looking after hotel accommodations, baggage and other things is a man who does nothing else at any time of the year.

The tour selected by the Daily Press, as very briefly outlined in last night's paper, will last eight weeks from the time the party leaves Plainfield. The route of travel selected is a comprehensive and attractive one, such as only Plainfield people can appreciate, and there is no "doubling" on the route with the exception of spending one night in London on the way home. It will not be necessary to go to Montreal or Boston to sail, thus being so far away that friends of the successful contestants cannot see them start on their way.

As the itinerary is prepared it is arranged to take advantage of the daylight hours for sightseeing and on the other side the nights will be spent in hotels, and not in traveling in the uncomfortable sleeping cars for which the foreign roads are notorious. There are no long and tiresome railroad journeys.

In the cities to be visited the sightseeing will be conducted in the most complete and liberal manner, including many carriage drives.

Paris, the one place which every woman looks forward to visiting, will be the central point for five full days. Here the party will have an opportunity to see the shops which delight the hearts of American women travelers, to make side trips to innumerable nearby towns and cities, visit the art galleries, and many historical places which abound. London will present almost as many attractions. A full week is planned to be spent in Belgium and Germany, including the beautiful trip down the Rhine, and an equal length of time in Switzerland, with its mountains and lakes, famous the world over.

Then just before leaving for America an opportunity is presented

PERSISTENT THIEF BALKED IN BOROUGH

He Came Back, After Being Frightened Away, Between Visits of the Police.

SECOND SCARE EFFECTIVE

Neighbors, Aroused On Return Call, Hear Warning Cry of the "Lookout"—Marshals Are Looking Up Two Young Men.

The North Plainfield police were called to the home of Mrs. Hatti Demler, 68 Grove street, twice last night to hunt burglars. In each instance they were unable to find trace of the man who had twice aroused the household by trying to force an entrance through a rear window.

The man or men did not come back after being frightened away the second time. On the second alarm residents in the vicinity were aroused and a number of them said today that they heard a man shout, "Beat it" as a warning.

Mrs. Demler was aroused at 12 o'clock by the noise of someone trying to shake loose the fastening on a kitchen window. She 'phoned for the police, but while they were coming the man made his escape, apparently having heard her telephoning.

The second attempt to force an entrance was made an hour later on the same window. Roundsman Kelle and Special Marshal George Stewart hustled around to the house. They were again unable to find a trace of the burglar.

Councilman VanArsdale lives next door to Mrs. Demler and early last night was called to the door by two strange young men who asked where Mrs. Demler lived. They did not go to her house after being told. The description has been given to the police.

JUNIORS SEEKING TO SAVE MYERS FROM DISMISSAL

The members of Franklin, Somerset, Plainfield and Benevolent Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., have interested themselves in the case of Patrolman Nicholas Myers, a member of Somerset Council, who is now under suspension on charges, and who, it is expected, will be brought before the Common Council for a hearing.

The Juniors want to see that justice is tempered with mercy. They do not take the stand that the patrolman should be exonerated or the charge dismissed. The reasons for their action is that it has come to their knowledge, they say, that there is a movement on foot to have Mr. Myers dismissed from the force.

If that is so, the Juniors say, they deplore the fact, for it is said that in less than two years Myers will have completed his years of service and be entitled to a police pension. He has been a member of the local police force for nearly twenty years and his long service has had a tendency to arouse sympathy in his care among his friends.

Just when the Common Council will grant a hearing to Myers has not been announced as yet. City Judge William G. DeMeza has been retained as his counsel.

CARDS AT THE PARK CLUB IN HONOR OF NEWCOMER

Mrs. William J. Roome and Mrs. Donald A. McGee, of North Plainfield, were hostesses at a card party given at the Park Club, yesterday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Austen W. Andrews, formerly of Philadelphia, who has just taken up her residence at 78 Washington avenue, the borough.

The affair was intended to afford an opportunity to people of the city and borough to meet Mrs. Austen. The clubhouse was attractively decorated by Henry Johnson, the steward, to represent a woodland scene and the effect was striking.

There were twenty-three tables in all, bridge being played at twenty-one and hearts at the remaining two. The winner at each table was presented with varied colored satin evening mufflers trimmed with white maribou. After the play refreshments were served by Maresi, and a social hour enjoyed.

BROACH PLAN TO TRANSFER PUPILS

Borough School Board Appoints a Committee to Confer with Plainfield Board.

SMALLEY AGAINST CHANGE

Voices His Opposition to Abolition of Borough's School at Meeting—Edmund Rushmore Resigns On Account of Councilmanic Business.

As exclusively forecasted in the Daily Press, Saturday, a proposition looking towards the sending of North Plainfield High School pupils to the Plainfield High School was discussed by the North Plainfield Board of Education at the regular meeting last night. A committee was appointed to confer with the Plainfield Board of Education to ascertain if the plan can be put into effect and on what basis.

Former Mayor N. B. Smalley appeared before the Board to oppose the plan, because, as he stated, he doesn't think it would be for the best interests of the borough, which should look strictly to itself in all matters. In conclusion he urged the erection of a new school building, regardless of the increase it would cause in the tax rate.

Edmund Rushmore, who made public the intention of the Board to consider the proposition, was not at the meeting. His resignation came instead. It was accepted with regrets. Mr. Rushmore's reason for resigning is increased public duties since his election to the Borough Council.

Francis L. Sill, of Myrtle avenue, was elected to serve the unexpired term. Mr. Sill came to the borough from Brooklyn. While a resident in Brooklyn he was a member for several years of the Brooklyn Board of Education. He was nominated by Allen Laing.

Mr. Smalley's remarks were not commented on by the members and after stating his objections he left the meeting. Dr. J. H. Cooley, president of the Board, informed Mr. Smalley that until last night no steps had been taken with the City Board towards making arrangements as suggested.

All the discussion regarding the plan took place in executive session, and the proposition to be made to the City Board and the members of the committee appointed were not learned.

In his monthly report on attendance, Supervising Principal H. C. Krebs said that while it showed 1094, the same as January 31, 1911, there really was a falling off owing to the prevalence of measles and whooping cough. Last year there was no absence from these causes and just about the increased enrollment of this year is now out of school on account of them.

This moved Mr. Cooley to suggest that the State law should be amended so that children in a household where one is afflicted with either of these diseases should be allowed to come to school. Continuing, he said that measles is contagious only in the early stages when the child is sneezing and coughing, and this condition always occurs before the real symptoms of the disease become evident. After it has fully developed, he said, there is very little danger of contagion. Whooping cough can easily be avoided by a little care, he explained, and should not keep several children in a family home because one of them is afflicted.

Plans for a new heating plant for the Somerset street school were shown and discussed. The subject was left in the hands of the building committee to get the appropriation in shape for same could be presented to the voters at the annual meeting.

The finance committee was instructed to inventory all buildings and contents for the purpose of properly having same insured. The committee was also empowered to take up with agents the elimination of foundation costs in the policies to be written.

Bills to the amount of $4,398.88 were passed and ordered paid.

DR. PITTIS HAS A NARROW ESCAPE FROM AUTO WRECK

Dr. Albert Pittis, of East Front street, had a narrow escape from injury this morning because the snow in the gutter in front of his office obliterated the curb line. Driving his automobile he turned into the entrance to the garage at the rear of his property, and miscalculating the location of the curb struck it a glancing blow, causing his to lose control of the machine for a moment. He came within an ace of crashing through the large plate glass window of the office. He grazed the corner of the building in passing.

January and February are reputed to be the quietest months in the year in all lines of commercial activity. Shoppers have bought liberally in December for the holidays, and are waiting for the usual Spring and Easter season before considering further buying.

The wide-awake store-keeper realizes that in order to keep his stock moving, so that he will have fresh and up-to-the-minute lines on his counters when the Spring season commences, he must continually call the attention of the buying public to his offerings. This is just as true in Plainfield as in any other city. And the wide-awake merchant also knows that there is no better way to draw attention to his wares than through the columns of the

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Would you kindly print the following and oblige.

WILLIAM M. STILLMAN.

"January 29, 1912.

"To the Review of North Plainfield:

"Dear Sir: In your number of January 25, 1912, you took occasion to criticise my article on local option printed a few days before in the Plainfield daily papers. Kindly let me reply as follows: There is no lack of the existence of a "speakeasy" in the local police and city officials do their duty as they have done in Plainfield. With our good city police and fine police force we have quite wiped them out of existence. The State law is very rigid, $500 fine being imposed in every case, one-half going to the informer.

"Times have changed from what they were twenty years ago. We are face to face with the same problem that the people of the South and West have met so successfully, with the coming of the southern black and the foreigner. The latter in his native country has been used to a light wine but here he is supplied with cheap whiskies and beers and the make and mean and scandalous Beer. It is as much a menace in the States of Pennsylvania and New Jersey to do away with the saloon as the South and West found it necessary on account of the black man who fled by the express train from him by the legal saloon became criminal that menaced the homes of the whites throughout all those nations. Our saloons in New Jersey are full of foreigners and nine-tenths of our crime comes from this source. I request that Pennsylvania and New Jersey are the only two States in the Union for Nevada is so small as to population that it should not count) that deny to people the right to vote on this question, viz: whether we want the saloon or whether we do not want it, and thereby we are not freemen but are disfranchised. It is said on good authority that eighty per cent. or more of all the saloons and saloons in this State are owned by the Newark breweries, who pay the license fees and take back chattel mortgages to protect themselves. They have millions of dollars for the license of their business at their disposal and it is quite hard to get this before the people.

"I know of one country community in this section that has tried for years to abolish two hotel licenses as they have despoiled their town and been the cause of much crime but the county court goes right ahead in spite of their protests and grants the licenses. Do you call this liberty?

"I am only speaking now against the saloon. Under the present United States laws and decisions no law can prevent a delivery by a wholesaler to a home or otherwise. There is no question if we abolish the saloon in vote we will get rid of most of the crime and drunkenness in the State and the destitution that follows it, and the immense bill that the taxpayer has to pay to carry on the business of these Newark brewers.

"Respectfully,

"WM. M. STILLMAN."

VETERANS THE BEARERS AT FUNERAL OF W. R. C. WORKER.

The funeral services of Mrs. Mary M. Morse, widow of Ephraim C. Morse, was held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of her son, William Demarest, 239 Somerset street, and were largely attended by relatives and friends, including a delegation of members from the Women's Relief Corps, of which Mrs. Morse was a member, and Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends and the two organizations represented. Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, conducted the service reading the Scripture, offering prayer and making a short address.

The burial was in the family plot in North Plainfield cemetery and the pall-bearers, members of Winfield Scott Post, were Captain William C. Smith, Captain William Hand, J. Worth Codington, I. L. McVoy, H. C. Smith and Nathan Pennington.

HUSTLING S. & H. GREEN STAMP MANAGER'S WORK.

W. G. Hawley, local manager for the company, has made arrangements with Proctor's theatre to give S. & H. Green trading stamps.

The Sperry and Hutchinson Trading Stamp Company seems to have an intuitive ability in selecting bright and able representatives and this was never better exemplified than in the selection of Mr. Hawley, who for the past ten years has managed the local business of this million dollar concern.

YANKEES TO 'FIGHT' FOR REVENGE IN WAR GAM

Additional information divulged by the war college in connection with the coming maneuvers, in which Company K is expected to take part of the department of the East, shows that the New England troops and regulars of the invading army will be mobilized at New London and Boston. They will then be transported by sea to some point on the Connecticut coast, where the army of approximately 20,000 men will probably be divided into two divisions, under a major general, and the attack on the metropolis will be from the northeast.

Adjutant-General Wilbur F. Sadler, has received official notification to prepare all the New Jersey troops for federal field service.

As the scheme for the attack on New York city develops it shows more than mere military strategy and verges on what might be called the conscription point, for New England and particularly the rural regions of Massachusetts, were angry in 1909, when the troops of New York and New Jersey, with regulars, attacked Boston and captured the city after a number of "battles."

Since then many of the New England officers and statesmen have been lettering for a "return date" on the "home" ground, and now the Yankees will have a chance for revenge by capturing New York.

General Sadler expresses himself satisfied that the New Jersey troops will be found to be equal to any militia, and Quartermaster-General C. Edward Murray says that when the troops leave home they will be fitted out with everything that the regulations call for.

The preliminary order received by the local adjutant does not fix the date of the war game, nor the duration. It is a case of steady fight, but it will be under the supervision of the Chief Umpire who will see that the question of the New England campaign is not forced on the regulation troops.

'INCH OF HARD TIMES IS KEENLY FELT IN ORANGE

Orange, Jan. [illegible] As was anticipated last fall this winter is proving itself to be the most severe for the working class that Orange has experienced in many years. The conditions are reflected largely in the work of the Orange Bureau of Associated Charities. The agency is being taxed to its utmost to meet the demands upon it.

Conditions have been particularly bad since the extremely cold weather. The present state of affairs is due to a combination of purely local causes and what seems to be a general slump. Since the strike of three years ago the hatting industry has not approached normal conditions and it has never been much worse than this winter. There seems to be anything but a bright prospect in this industry and many old hatters have found their way into other trades.

Orange is so largely dependent on hatting and one other big industry which is also finding times slack that the Bureau of Charities is affected almost immediately by any lump in either industry.

Dog Catcher Bitten by Man.

Dogcatcher Albert Leonard, of Perth Amboy, is having his troubles these wintry days. He is nursing a sore cheek, from which a good-sized slice of meat was bitten by Joseph Ravel, an Italian shoemaker living in the northern section of that city. Leonard approached Ravel relative to the whereabouts of a wandering canine and was bitten in his right cheek, the police declare. Ravel is held in jail in default of $500 bonds to await the action of the Middlesex county grand jury.

SOME MEN WHO HAVE ATTAINED FAME BY THE SHORTHAND ROUTE

Cortelyou, Loeb and Shuster Are Among the Conspicuous Examples.

Frank A. Vanderlip, Bank President, Started Out as a Stenographer.

STENOGRAPHY often is supposed to make a person as near an automaton as flesh and blood can be. An ablebodied man trotting out from somebody's private office, notebook in hand, then tapping at a typewriter until the buzzer sounds for him to come and "take" another letter, is not a picture to inspire. The pencil and notebook are not much as a final achievement, but that they make a mighty good ladder is proved by the careers of men like George B. Cortelyou, three times cabinet minister and now president of the Consolidated Gas company of New York; William Loeb, Jr., for nearly eleven years private secretary to Theodore Roosevelt and now collector of the port of New York, and William Morgan Shuster, erstwhile of Cuba and the Philippines and recently treasurer general of Persia and not yet thirty-four years old.

© Clinedinst.
W. M. SHUSTER.

Fred Irland, official reporter of the house of representatives, says: "If I were fifteen years old again and wanted to be earning $25,000 a year in some great business by the time I was thirty I would study to become a good amanuensis and get into the manager's office as stenographer. There is no quicker, easier way to burglarize success."

A Canadian who rose to eminence through the shorthand route was Sir John Thompson, who was prime minister of the Dominion. He learned stenography in Halifax in the days when shorthand writing was more or less a thing of mystery. At the same time he was studying for the bar. The lean years of his struggle for a law practice were fattened by his earnings as a stenographer. He reported the debates of the legislative assembly and later became official reporter of the house. It was in this way he learned his lessons in politics and parliamentary procedure and gained acquaintance with political leaders. Fame came fairly early in his career, and he was successively attorney general, premier of Nova Scotia, judge of the supreme court and, with Joseph Chamberlain, on the fisheries commission at Washington. It was for this service he received his knighthood. On the retirement of Sir John Abbott he became prime minister of the Dominion and died in office while a guest of Queen Victoria at Windsor castle.

Another man whom the world knows as a success is James M. Barr, formerly vice president of the Atchison and later vice president and general manager of the Seaboard Air Line. He learned stenography when he was a boy and worked for six years as a court stenographer. Then he turned to railroading. Recently in talking about his career he said: "My ability to write shorthand so placed me that I had great advantages. Eleven promotions that I got were due to my knowledge of stenography."

C. W. Barron, manager of the Boston news bureau, hardly remembers when he could not write shorthand. He learned it in his school days and believes it is the best training the mind can have. His first job was as assistant to a court reporter in Boston. After a few months of practical work with notebook and typewriter Mr. Barron went into journalism and has stayed there ever since. He makes it a rule in his business, which is conducted in more than one city, to employ only stenographers. When he wants new editors or reporters he looks about for somebody who has mastered shorthand and the typewriter. From this foundation he says he can nearly always "develop brain and success."

WM. LOEB, JR.

Edward Bok of Ladies' Home Journal fame worked as a stenographer through a dozen or more different positions, always bettering himself, but always sticking to shorthand. He finally landed with the Scribners, and that started him on his editorial career. He went to the Home Journal in 1889.

A busy court reporter in northern New York in the seventies had so much work to do he needed assistance, and quickly. Among his friends was a young man who was studying law and had not much of this world's goods. This law student knew how to typewrite very fast. The court reporter offered him so much an hour to transcribe what he dictated. They got along splendidly, and the struggling young lawyer had a consoling number of banknotes in his pocket when his work was done. It was not long before he was heard of in his profession, won success, was sent to congress and in 1896 was elected governor of New York at the time McKinley first ran for president. This was Frank S. Black.

Joseph B. McCullagh, once editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was distinguished successively as stenographer, reporter, editor and author. He was the first reporter to develop the verbatim interview, made possible only by knowledge of stenography.

In 1867, on the occasion of a noteworthy speech in Boston by William Lloyd Garrison, a young man in the audience got it all down in shorthand, although it was a tussle. He sent it to the New York Tribune as a venture. The paper printed it and made investigations as to the young man who reported it. He soon received a proposition to represent the paper in Boston. This man was Charles H. Taylor, now editor and owner of the Boston Globe. He learned stenography as a boy and started on a Boston daily as reporter, eking out his pay by setting type and acting as printer.

FRANK A. VANDERLIP.

Another newspaper man who got his first start by being amanuensis was Frank A. Vanderlip, stenographer reporter, financial editor, magazine owner, private secretary to Lyman J. Gage, keeper of Uncle Sam's treasure chest; assistant secretary of the treasury and finally president of the National City bank, New York.

Robert R. Hitt, member of congress for many years, worked as a stenographer. Former United States Senator William L. Mason still uses his shorthand. Robert Barr, the English author, is a fast pothook slinger. Stenography is dissociated from their names now, although the public has never quite forgotten that Cortelyou, Loeb and Shuster made their first dollars sitting before a writing machine.

There are stories of stenographers who learned under difficulties, but few men undertook the mastery of straight lines and curves under more distracting conditions than Ashley W. Cole, who began studying shorthand while he was a soldier in the Army of the Potomac in the civil war. So soon as the war was over he completed his course and in the same year got his position. Later he became a newspaper man, was city editor of the New York Herald and the New York Press and later chairman of the New York state railroad commission.

Former Governor Black is not the only typewriter who never learned shorthand and never missed it. There is money in speed writing. Every prominent concern that manufactures writing machines maintains a speed factory. This speed factory works every day in the year for the purpose of turning out a pair of hands that can win the world's championship. Young men and young women spend weeks and months in the practice room of the typewriter companies training for the yearly contests that take place. They must write at lightning speed, and every irregularity, whether it be in type, marginal "slant," spacing, transposition of words or letters, failure to commence line at starting point, deviation from copy in punctuation, paragraphing, etc., counts a loss of five words in their total number.

R. R. HITT.

Two Opportunities For a Fortune.

There are two trade secrets at least which the world at large may never learn, but which it is well worth the while of inventors to study. One is the Chinese method of making the bright and beautiful color known as vermilion, or Chinese red, and the other is a Turkish secret—the inlaying of the hardest kind of steel with gold and silver. Among the Chinese and the Turks these two secrets are guarded well. Apprentices before they are taken for either trade must swear an ironclad oath to reveal nothing of what passes in the workshop. The apprentices, furthermore, must belong to families of standing, must pay a large sum by way of guarantee and must furnish certificates of good character and honesty. These secrets have been handed down faithfully from one generation to another for hundreds of years.

The baseball team of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will meet tonight to discuss plans for the coming season.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The famous old emotional drama, "East Lynne," with its pathetic story that has been familiar to book-lovers and theatre-goers for three generations, comes to the Plainfield theatre next Saturday. The story of woman's frailty and repentence has often been told on the stage and in the printed page, but unlike the plays that have followed in the footsteps of "East Lynee," the piece is devoid of suggestive coarseness. With a strong and well-balanced company, headed by Margaret Dunwolde, who plays the dual role of Lady Isabelle and Mme. Vine, the present production has reached a standard of excellence never before approached.

Charles Klein's greatest play, "The Gamblers," which ran throughout last season at Maxine Elliott's theatre, New York, comes to the Plainfield theatre February 5. The story of the play has to do with a group of bankers, the youngest member of which agrees to go to jail and pay the penalty for a technical offense of which all are guilty, provided his father, an innocent man, shall not suffer. The story of the attempt of the young bank officer to get all the others free and his love for the wife of the cold-blooded prosecuting attorney, innocently brought into the affair, is one of the most gripping plays the theatre-goers have had offered them in many a day.

Drew Disguised Beerbohm.

Even John Drew, whose memory is as infallible as a gentleman's memory should be, was once guilty of forgetting a face. His friendship for Max Beerbohm, the English wit and reviewer, is of long standing, but prior to his last professional visit to London he had not seen him for some years. On that occasion Drew left his mustache on this side of the water. As he was leaving the theatre one evening after the performance, he paused to exchange courtesies with one or two people in the lobby and noticed a young man across the lobby wearing a smile of greeting. As he caught Drew's eye he bowed, but Drew failed to return the salutation. He could not recollect the stranger. Finally the gentleman crossed over to where Drew stood. "I beg your pardon, Mr. Drew," he said, with a twinkle in his eye, "my name is Beerbohm—Max Beerbohm. I see you don't recognize me without your mustache."

The members and friends of the Shiloh Baptist church will give a reception to the choir and J. H. Bolling, chorister, in the church Thursday night. There will be a special program of music.

ALMS CHARGES JAILED FOR RIOTOUS CONDUCT.

For upsetting a stove of live coals and breaking furniture in the lodging house of Tony Angelo, in Central avenue, Westfield, John Barnwell and Mary Barnwell, charges of Overseer of the Poor A. C. Fich, of Westfield, were sentenced to jail by the Westfield recorder, the man to ten days and the woman to thirty.

The couple, claiming to be married and in want, appealed to the overseer some time ago, and he engaged a room for them at the Angelo house, so their earnings might be devoted to daily necessities. This arrangement has continued for several weeks. The "rough-house" complaint came in Saturday afternoon and Policeman Caulfield arrested the pair, impressing a grocery wagon to take them to the station because of their resistance.

Dean Gessner's Anniversary.

Very Rev. Dean Martin Gessner, rector of St. Patrick's church, Elizabeth, observed on Sunday the fortieth anniversary of the first mass he celebrated in the church. He came to Elizabethport from Vineland in January, 1873. The venerable clergyman is eighty-six years old and seems in spite of feebleness in his walk, seems to be enjoying excellent health. He arises before 5 o'clock every morning, mass being said at that hour in St. Patrick's. The parish property is worth more than $1,000,000 and is clear of debt.

An Odd Counter Claim.

A. W. Milbury, who was charged $4.75 by the city of Rahway for the cutting down of a tree in front of his premises by the street superintendent, has put in a counter claim to the Council. Mr. Milbury asks for $20 for wood of tree and $15 for loss of pleasure and exercise in not being allowed to do the work myself." Mr. Milbury states that one of his objects in moving there was for his health and to secure exercise.

REPORTS INDICATE THAT TRINITY'S IS BIGGEST S. S.

The annual reports of the secretary, Chauncey F. Colthar, and treasurer, Charles M. Dolliver, of Trinity Reformed Sunday school, indicates a satisfactory condition, and that the school is doubtless the largest in the city. The total number enrolled is 1,095, divided as follows: Bible classes, 158; main school, 101; intermediate department, 43; junior department, 85; primary, 106; beginners, 45; cradel roll, 67; Home department, 420.

There is a gain of nineteen in membership over last year. The average attendance for the year was 361. The receipts from all sources were $1,569.55, and the disbursements, $1,241.79, leaving a balance of $327.76, of the last named amount $219.85 was given to the library fund, $13.60 to the Muhlenberg Hospital fund and $94.31 to the general fund.

There has been a total of $29.24 given to the hospital, and there is also $16.50 been given to the church for the building fund.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Plainfield, N. J., January 30, 1912.

A few days ago we called attention to the industrial progress of the negro population at Durham, North Carolina, and some of our local colored people have since expressed pleasure at our speaking kindly of this work. It was not this that surprised us so much as that they seemed to wonder that anyone should commend the advancement of the colored man. Why should this be so? Does the colored population of our country doubt that the white man wishes to see him prosper? If so, it is very unfortunate, and yet we fear that such a feeling does exist. It surely should not. The prosperity and success of any man, no matter what the color of his skin or his race or creed, should be a satisfaction to every citizen. The colored man is an American by birthright. He is entitled to every opportunity for advance and improvement intellectually and in business that any of us is. His prosperity adds as much to the well being of the State as that of any other citizen, and that man must be small-minded, indeed, who would hinder or fail to aid him to the greatest success possible. Every man should have an equal chance in the race of life and the colored man deserves the helping hand as much as any of the rest of us.

"We want better babies" is the slogan adopted by the National Congress of Mothers, whose campaign for that purpose will be conducted in every State in the Union. The object of the movement, as stated by Mrs. David O. Mears, of Boston, one of the vice presidents and also a vice president of the Parent-Teacher Association, is to put childhood and babyhood on a new basis to the end that there be an improvement in the human race. Women's organizations throughout the land are expected to rally around the standard and each will be depended upon to carry out the program locally. To meet the expenses the National Association is arranging to raise a campaign fund of one million of dollars. Just what course is to be pursued in this rather novel undertaking the public has not yet been informed but it may be let into the secret next month when the real business is to be begun. In the meanwhile we must all suspend judgment as to the amount of improvement in the human race to be had for one million dollars.

Patterned on the lines of the famous Academie Francaise, the National Institute of Arts and Letters will become a recognized institution of the Nation if a bill introduced by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, is passed by Congress. In that event the organization will receive a National charter and will be known as the American Academie of Arts and Letters. The Forty Immortals in the department of literature have been announced and it is interesting to note that among them are four Jerseymen, Woodrow Wilson, William M. Sloane and Henry vanDyke, all of Princeton, and Hamilton W. Mabie, of Summit. Among the others are Charles Francis Adams, John Burroughs, George W. Cable, Arthur T. Hadley, William Dean Howells, Henry Cabot Lodge, Arthur L. Lowell, Thomas Nelson Page, Alfred T. Mahan and Theodore Roosevelt. What merry wars, though, may be expected when names are added or rejected in the departments.

Not only the consumer but the honest dealer as well will profit by the crusade against the sale of short-weight butter to be started on Thursday by State Superintendent of Weights and Measures Waldron, who is determined to put an end to the frauds perpetrated on the honest wives. As a preliminary move, Mr. Waldron announced some few days ago that on and after February 1, all roll and print butter must have the net weight marked plainly on the wrapper. That he does not propose to tolerate any quibbling on the part of the packers and dealers is made plain by his decision that there must be an even pound weight at the time of the sale. Some of the packers attempted to get his consent to their stamping on the outside of the roll or print the weight "when packed." In reply to this request the State official referred to the Federal experts tests which demonstrated that butter cannot possibly evaporate more than one-quarter of an ounce to the pound and issued the ultimatum that "no excuses will be accepted from anyone who violates the ruling of a full pound to be sold as a pound" on and after Thursday.

Political campaign expenses for torch-light processions, cigars, banners, drinks and circulars represent a waste, according to National Democratic Chairman Mack, who declares that newspaper advertising brings the most satisfactory results to the campaign manager. His opinion regarding the value of newspaper publicity is shared by Rev. Dr. Stelze, who advocates liberal use of newspaper advertising columns as the best mediums on the ground that they circulate every day in the week and enter practically all the homes. In order to be effective, the clergyman correctly asserts that the advertisements must be presented in a way to command attention.

President Hibben, of Princeton, is peeved because college graduates at the outset of their business career are valued at but "$6 per week." "It is what the graduate is earning twenty and thirty years afterwards" which counts, thinks the New York World, which points out that the statistics in "Who's Who in America" for 1911 credits a percentage of over seventy per cent. alone as college men. As the World says the "$6 per" graduate is a hopeful sign.

"Marse Henry" Watterson, who wanted to tap Thomas Fortune Ryan's dough bag to supply Governor Woodrow Wilson's Presidential campaign managers with the sinews of war, frankly says that "money and not patriotism" elects Presidents. That statement furnishes a basis for a measure of the man and in this instance it also demonstrates that the Kentucky journalist has a mighty poor opinion of his fellow-countrymen.

"Mob the umpire if you don't like his decision," is the La Follette war cry.—Philadelphia Record.

In other words, if you are displeased over a court's decision based on a strict interpretation of the law don't change the law; simply kick the judge off the bench.

Water, water everywhere, and not a drop to drink.

The annual installment of that news story, "Peach Crop Ruined by Frost," is soon due. "High Price for Ice Next Summer Because, etc.," is past due.

After glancing at Col. Watterson's 2,000 words of "proofs" in the Harvey-Wilson episode, one is convinced that he is simply "a nice old gentleman."

KING GEORGE AS HUNTER.

He Killed Much Big Game on Shooting Trip In India After the Durbar.

King George is considered one of the best three shots in all England. As an all around shot he is said to be the peer of any of his subjects, and his hunting records have been made in all parts of the world. The tiger hunt in India after the formal durbar exercises was the crowning achievement of his career as a sportsman. Thirty-four tigers were bagged, and of this number twenty four were killed by the king. King George is said to have brought down a tiger and a bear with the right and left barrels of his rifle.

At Lord Lathom's historic shoot in 1904 eight guns brought down 2,190 head of game between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. the same day, and at the shoot King George's record was the best. He was then Prince of Wales. At this shoot King George used three guns, and it is said that on several occasions there were four birds in the air falling together, and all of them had been killed by the royal hunter.

King George was a member of the duck shooting party in Cumberland that brought down nearly 3,500 ducks in three days, and again he was the best shot among the nine sportsmen who took part in that hunt.

It carries an appropriation of $3,000. The Republicans will support this proposition and will oppose the much more sweeping Silzer probe resolution.

PRESS TOURS ONE TOPIC

to visit Stratford-on-Avon, and the home of Shakespeare. After all this travel and the thousands of new sights and scenes, what can be more pleasant to think about than a trip home on an American line ship, manned by American sailors, flying the Stars and Stripes, and giving a ten day opportunity to rest, with the delightful and bracing sea air all about you?

There is no time to waste in a matter of this kind. Competition will be active from start to finish, and the young woman who gets busy at the start will have a lead on all others. The many advantages of the tour over any others offered are so great that it will not be necessary for the Daily Press to enumerate them to any great extent. They are pretty thoroughly gone over in the preceding paragraphs. Get around, see your friends, have your name sent in, and then call at the Press office after tomorrow and talk it over with the contest manager. Learn from him about the experiences of other young women who have gone on similar trips, and then get busy having your friends take the Plainfield Daily Press. If they are already subscribers get them to pay in advance for a year or six months. If they are new subscribers get them to take the paper, if only for ten weeks. They will get to like it so before the ten weeks are up that they will be pleased to give you a renewal for a year before the contest is over. In that case you will receive votes on the basis of a full year's subscription. There is no time like the present. Get busy.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will resume its meetings tomorrow afternoon at 3 45 o'clock under the direction of the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich.

ANDERSON AND BABCOCK INTRODUCE SOME BILLS

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 30.—Assemblyman W. delaR. Anderson, of Somerset county, has a bill amending the district court act by fixing the salary of judges in judicial districts where court is held at more than one place at $2,000 annually.

Assemblyman George L. Babcock of Union county, has introduced a bill which would change the method of voting for United States Senators by having the electors express their choice at the general election instead of the primaries.

WILL MODEL THEIR CLUB ON THE LINES OF THE PARK

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Westfield, Jan. 30.—Prominent residents of this place have decided to build a clubhouse, to cost approximately $35,000, the site chosen being at Elm and Walnut streets. A meeting will be held Thursday night when the plans will be finally passed upon and other details arranged.

The purpose is to make it a family club, and so far as possible it will be a duplicate of the Park Club in North Plainfield, and will be conducted along the same lines.

The committee appointed to take the matter under consideration visited Morristown, Madison, Newark, North Plainfield and other suburban towns, and decided that the Park Club appeared to be the ideal club and recommended that a similar one be built in Westfield. Two-thirds of the required amount has been subscribed.

The clubhouse will be provided with bowling alleys, billiard parlors, card rooms, reception hall, and other features, while arrangements will be made for tennis courts. No liquor will be allowed in the clubhouse.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 30.—"The statement admits of no comment from me," said Governor Wilson today when asked what he had to say on the latest attack upon him made by Col. Henry Watterson. The Governor was asked why he had no comment to make. "I had hopes that was self-evident," he replied. Then he said, "I am only sorry to have to regret a friendship which while it lasted I found interesting and enjoyable."

The league will also oppose the granting of licenses when they are presented at the Council meeting on February 19.

The following were named as a nominating committee to name officers for the annual election in April: G. E. Jackson, W. A. Bishop, W. A. Dempsey, A. McL. Rowland, H. R. Welsh, M. B. Dutcher and E. T. Teets.

Co. K Enjoys a Smoker.

The members of Co. K., following their weekly drill at the armory, last night, enjoyed a smoker, and informal entertainment, the affair being arranged by the entertainment committee of the company. The program included clog dancing by Robert Houston, of this city, and instrumental music by Barnes Brothers, of Westfield. IN MEMORY OF MY SON

HAROLD LAWRENCE BURLINGAME MULFORD

January 30th, 1891—January 30th, 1912

"The soul that lives most perfectly in this life creates most nobly for the life to come."

It seems to me most fitting that I should let my mother-love for my dear boy have its way on this, his twenty-first birthday, and within twenty-one days of the second year of his passing from our midst (Sunday, February the twentieth, Nineteen hundred and ten), the day God took him to the "Life Beyond Death," where there is a clearer light and a grander life.

Harold is ever in my thoughts. I miss him more and more as the days, weeks and months go by, his dear presence, his thoughtfulness of me, his always courteous, deferential manner, his genial smile, and the merry twinkle of his deep blue eyes, his unaffected good-will, too, I am sure is felt at times by his friends.

I am so happy in the knowledge that he endeared himself to all who knew him, and has done so much credit in his short life, not only to me, but to the memory of his father—Samuel Potter Mulford, who passed to the "Life Beyond" sixteen years ago.

I am most grateful to God for our nineteen years together—even though that should be all—and for having given me such a noble son, my prayers today and every day of my life are that God will bless, love, protect, and guide my dear, brave, loyal true son.

His great love and devotion for "Dearest Mom," and our short sojourn together in this life, will ever be cherished and revered in the heart and memory of his

ABBOTT SAYS 'TEDDY' WILL MAKE RUN IF---

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 30.—As a sequel, apparently, to his conference last week with former President Theodore Roosevelt, former Governor Edward C. Stokes received today a letter from Lawrence F. Abbott, one of Colonel Roosevelt's associates in the office of the Outlook, containing the positive declaration that Roosevelt will be a candidate for President if his party and his country decide to nominate him.

A. C. PLEYDELL DEFENDS PIERCE ASSESSORS' BILL

Trenton, Jan. 30.—At the hearing yesterday afternoon on Senate bill No. 15, the Pierce measure reorganizing the tax assessment system of the State, creating County Boards of Assessors to take the place of the present County Tax Boards and abolishing local assessors in municipalities of less than 30,000 population, an important substitute was proposed for section 9 of the bill by Assessor John P. Dullard, of this city. The substitute will be put into the bill.

The change proposed by Mr. Dullard is that the Board of Assessors in municipalities of more than 30,000 shall be composed of not less than three nor more than five members. The Pierce bill fixes the number of members in such boards arbitrarily at five members.

The Pierce measure provides for salaries of $3,500 in first-class cities and $2,500 in cities between 30,000 and 200,000 population. The substitute fixes salaries in first-class cities at not less than $2,500 and not more than $3,500, and in cities between 30,000 and 200,000, at not less than $1,200, nor more than $2,500.

A. C. Pleydell, of North Plainfield, secretary of the National Tax Reform Association, defended the bill. The objection of a speaker from Somerset county was that the measure would require six assessors to do the work now done by fifteen or sixteen, or in other words require an assessor to do three times the work now done.

M'NAMARA ATTORNEY INDICTED FOR BRIBERY

Clarence Darrow to Be Arraigned Thursday.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—Two indictments were returned by the county grand jury against Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for John J. McNamara and James B. McNamara, self confessed dynamiters.

The indictments charge Darrow with complicity in the attempted bribery of Robert F. Bain, a juror in the J. B. McNamara case, and George N. Lockwood, a prospective juror in the same case. Each indictment contains two counts. A conviction on one of the counts is punishable by hard labor in the state's prison for not less than one or more than ten years. A conviction on the other count is punishable by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment in the state's prison for not more than five years.

Darrow on being informed he had been indicted said: "I wish to reiterate the statement which I have made several times recently that, so that I know, nothing of any bribery or attempt to bribe jurors or any crime in connection with the McNamara case.

"I have retained Earl Rogers and Judge Cyrus W. McNutt as my counsel and will fight the case to a finish. That is all I have to say at this time."

Darrow will be arraigned Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. He was required to give $50,000 bond on each indictment.

ALLISON MACFARLAND.
Now on Trial In Newark For Murder of His Wife.

MACFARLAND CASE BEGINS.

Newark Prosecutor Outlines Charges He Hopes to Prove.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 30.—Willis MacFarland is on trial here for murdering his wife Elizabeth, who was found dead in her home on Park avenue on the night of Oct. 17 last. The trial is being held in the court of over and terminer. Chief Justice Gummere presides.

Prosecutor Walter A. Mott in opening the case for the state said that the wife was found dead in the parlor of her home, and that the prosecution would show that MacFarland had left the house a few minutes before the discovery of the crime and had gone to the home of his father, Thomas MacFarland, in Orange, where he was found by his mother and brought back to the house in Park avenue. Mrs. MacFarland was a sister of Mrs. Mott, the prosecutor's wife.

Witnesses testified that MacFarland admitted killing a bottle which he formerly contained liquor, but asserted that it was empty. He denied having had any other liquor in the house. He said he had left the house to go to his father's home in Orange, and had gone back to the house to find his wife. He said he had found her dead when he returned

WOMAN KILLED IN LAWRENCE RIOTS

Governor Foss Orders More Troops to Scene.

PATROLMAN ALSO INJURED

While Striking Mill Employees Hold Control of Streets Some Unknown Man Fires at Ground and Glancing Bullets Strike Italian Woman on the Sidewalk—More Militiamen Arrive.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 30.—In a riot near the Everett mills between striking woolen and cotton operatives and militia and police more than 1,500 men took part. For a time the strikers had complete control of the situation, the law forces being unable to exercise authority without resorting to firing on the mob.

The affray resulted in the killing of an Italian woman who was standing on the sidewalk, the stabbing of Patrolman Oscar Benoit and sore heads for many of the rioters, who were finally put to flight.

The woman killed was the victim of senseless shooting by one of the mob, who seemed to be taking great joy in firing revolver bullets into the ground on the opposite side of Union street from the woman. His identity is not known, and no arrests have been made. Neither the police nor militiamen fired a shot during the battle, and it is believed that the woman was killed by a bullet which glanced off a stone in the street. Patrolman Benoit was not seriously injured.

Governor Foss in Boston has ordered out twelve more companies of infantry, two troops of cavalry and fifty metropolitan police for the purpose of assisting in maintaining order at Lawrence. All the companies arrived in Lawrence early this morning. As there were eight companies on duty and three local companies who can be called upon at a moment's notice, there will be in the vicinity of 1,400 officers and men in Lawrence today.

DYNAMITE PROBE NEAR END.

Federal Grand Jury Expected to Return Thirty Indictments.

Indianapolis, Jan. 30.—According to the present understanding, the federal grand jury which has been investigating dynamiting outrages for more than a month, will complete its labors and adjourn either Thursday afternoon or Friday. It is expected that thirty indictments at least will be returned by that body, and it is said to be the plan of the government officials to have the arrests all made as nearly at the same time as possible. The warrants will be sent out to the several districts in which the indicted men reside, and local arrests, it is said, will not be made until there has been time in other districts to serve the warrants.

For more than two weeks stenographers and typewriters have been busy in the private offices of the district attorney preparing the indictments as they have been ordered by the grand jury, and while the names of the indicted men will not be given out until arrests are made, it is known that the grand jury has voted to indict some, and a number against whom the evidence is very strong are yet to be voted on.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR EGGS.

Poultry Show Auction In Wisconsin Causes Riot.

Superior, Wis., Jan. 30.—So scarce have the products of the Wisconsin hen become here that the directors of the poultry show decided to auction off several dozen eggs laid by the chickens on exhibition during the show. The auction caused a riot, in which women's clothes were torn and hair pulled.

As the trays, each containing twelve eggs, were sold one by one, the efforts of women on the outside to secure the few remaining dozens became frantic. Those who had been fortunate were forced to hold their precious burdens high above their heads to prevent their being crushed. The last two dozen were parceled out in packages containing three eggs each.

FIRE DESTROYS COLLEGE.

Narrow Escape of 150 Students at Holy Cross, Quebec.

There were 150 boarding pupils in the college, and all got out safely, though a number of them had narrow escapes.

DUKE OF FIFE DIES.

Exposure When Steamer Delhi Was Wrecked the Cause.

Assuan, Upper Egypt, Jan. 30.—The Duke of Fife, brother-in-law of King George of England, is dead here.

The duke had been suffering from a severe attack of pleurisy, which resulted from exposure when the steamer Delhi was wrecked off Cape Spartel on Dec. 13, and physicians say this caused his death.

The Duchess of Fife and her two daughters, who also were saved from the sinking steamer Delhi after three sailors had lost their lives in an attempt at the rescue, were at the duke's bedside.

HENRY STIRS UP FINANCIERS.

Texan Would Have House Look Into Banks and Corporations.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The seriousness to business interests of the country of the threatened inquiry into the so called money trust is just beginning to be realized by officials in Washington. No attempt is made to conceal the fact that this proposition has stirred up a fight between the Bryan and anti-Bryan men in the house that will be waged to a finish.

The situation over the proposed money trust investigation became acute when Representative Henry of Texas, a Bryan leader, presented a resolution providing for an inquiry that will affect national banks, railroads, industrial corporations and every combination and individual that has anything to do with financial affairs in the great cities of the country. His resolution is much more sweeping than that introduced by Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota, which up to this time has been the sole object of discussion in connection with the money trust agitation.

The proposed inquiry will be made the subject of a Democratic caucus.

HOLD WOMAN ON ARSON CHARGE

INSURANCE HER OBJECT?

South Orange Authorities Declare Mrs. Tronson Acted Hysteria In Effort to Place Blame For Setting Fire on "Negro Assailant"—New York Attorneys Furnish Her Bond.

South Orange, N. J., Jan. 30.—Mrs. L. Evelyn Tronson was arrested here on the charge of setting fire to her tea room, the Kopper Kettle, on the night of Jan. 19. When the place was destroyed by fire, she was found in a hysterical condition in the snow back of the place and told the police she had been attacked, a story which from the first they doubted.

Mrs. Tronson was placed under arrest, but was not required to go to the police station until her counsel, William Idyward of New York, appeared with $1,000 cash bail at her home, 57 South Orange avenue. There she was arraigned before Justice Roll, who accepted a certified check drawn to his order by the law firm of Wing & Russell of New York. She was held for a hearing on Feb. 9. Mrs. Tronson said nothing when she was arraigned, and her counsel refused to be interviewed.

The police declare that the incoherency of the stories told by Mrs. Tronson, was due to an attempt to deceive them. They say she even simulated hysteria. The facts of the burning of the tea room did not accord in any particular with the story she told of being attacked in the place. It is asserted that Mrs. Tronson was driven to set fire to the place because of financial straits. It has just been remodeled, and it is said that insurance had just been secured on the building. Mrs. Tronson is an attractive woman, about thirty-five years of age. Her partner in the business was Miss Helen Elliott. The tea room was patronized by wealthy women of the village, but the expense was too heavy for the volume of business.

All doors and windows in the rear of the building were locked. She was found to have rents in her clothing, as though roughly handled, but the police say she made the rents herself with a knife.

GIRL IS THE ONLY HOPE.

Bayonne Detectives Looking For Her Murder Clew.

Bayonne, N. J., Jan. 30.—The police here were engaged in a sweeping search for a young woman by the name of Ethel Abbott to inform her that a man who apparently was deeply in love with her had been found dead and to obtain from her if possible some clew to an explanation of his death.

The man has not been identified. Although he had in his pocket four penciled missives, which seemed to be rough drafts of letters which he had sent to the girl, none of these bore a signature, and the address of the young woman was not given.

Frank Mowliski, a truck driver, was urging his team along a lonely section of Avenue A, near Third street, here, when he saw the form of a man lying on the sidewalk dead. There was a bullet wound in the head.

Detectives were unable to find any trace of a weapon. The victim had been a handsome man about twenty-eight years old, five feet seven inches tall, weighing 160 pounds, clean shaved, with light complexion and blue eyes. He was well dressed.

SOLVE KEARNY MYSTERY.

Indigestion Killed Girl Found Dead by Her Sweetheart.

Kearny, N. J., Jan. 30.—After viewing the body of Miss Jennie Campbell, found dead by her sweetheart when he went to call on her in her home, here last Sunday night, Deputy County Physician Henry Allers stated that death was caused by acute indigestion, thereby removing all suspicion of foul play.

It was found the girl died in convulsions, and the county physician learned that she had been doctoring herself for two days for indigestion.

James Briody of 21 Merchant street, Newark, Miss Campbell's suitor, went to the house about 8:15 o'clock Sunday night. As no one answered the ringing of the doorbell, he went to the rear door and entered. He saw the body through an open bedroom door.

CONFESSES HE SHOT BROTHER

Salem, N. J., Jan. 30.—Richard Simpson, a fourteen-year-old colored boy, residing here, confessed to Prosecutor Simkins son and Sheriff Ayres that he murdered his half brother, Clarence P. Wright, on last Sunday afternoon at their home, near Woodstown, by shooting him in the head with a shotgun.

The slain boy was but eight years old and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright. Simpson said he shot the boy to get him out of the way, as he was always doing things for which he (Simpson) was punished.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson of 915 West Third street, are the parents of a girl, born to them Saturday.

PRINCETON WORK IN ASIA MINOR.

Professor Butler to Have Turkish Guard While Excavating Temple.

Professor Howard Crosby Butler of Princeton university is en route to Asia Minor, where he will continue the excavations begun by a Princeton expedition two years ago at the site of the ancient city of Sardis.

The work at Sardis has reached such proportions during the last two years that the excavations are now regarded by the Turkish government as the most important in its territory, and it has promised Professor Butler a guard of Turkish soldiers as soon as the work at Sardis is reopened.

Almost a third of a huge temple has been unearthed. In the western chamber of the temple was found a Greek inscription which proved to be a property mortgage couched in much the same legal phrases as a document of this kind today and showed that the temples must have been used for the wealth and treasures of the times.

A large building of unknown purpose, belonging to the Lydian period, and 250 tombs have been unearthed. The hundreds of bronze, silver and gold relics found in the tombs show that the same vault was used by succeeding generations for a period dating as far back as a thousand years before the birth of Christ.

Professor Butler was accompanied by three Princeton men, who will act as engineers for the party, C. N. Read, E. R. Stover and W. R. Berry.

FORTUNES IN GERMANY.

The essential matter of a recently suppressed Prussian "year book," is gradually coming to light, and a conspectus of the millionaire class of Germany is now possible. A millionaire in that part of the world is the possessor of 1,000,000 marks ($250,000), and of this class, according to the author of the compilation, there are 8,200.

The greatest seven fortunes in Prussia range between $15,000,000 and $17,000,000. The two named are both possessed by women—the former by the daughter of Krupp, the latter by a daughter of the Vienna Rothschilds. Between them come a number of noblemen whose wealth is principally in coal and zinc, a fact strongly corroborative of the claims to mineral wealth lately put forward by Germany. Immediately behind the fragment of the Rothschild fortune follows a Berlin banker. After him comes a duke in the mining and manufacturing district of Westphalia with $15,000,000.

Americans will wonder at the precision with which the Prussian fiscal authorities ascertain and tax them. The information is based upon assessments for "income and capital taxes," and an ingenious Teutonic system of checks and counterchecks leaves no room for ambiguity and permits no rich man a chance to escape paying his just dues. A publication equally accurate and comprehensive dealing with American millionaires would have its interest, but cannot be looked for at once.

MORE FREE MAIL DELIVERY.

Bill Providing It For 3,000 Towns and Villages That Do Not Now Have It.

Ten million residents in more than 3,000 towns or incorporated villages in this country which do not now have letter carrier service can be provided with free mail delivery for about $8,000,000 a year, according to estimates made by supporters of a bill which Representative Griest of Pennsylvania has introduced.

The measure proposes a new and economical system of mail carrier service for non-mail delivery towns or incorporated communities having 1,000 or more inhabitants. Mr. Griest contends there are 3,353 such second and third class postoffice towns that are between the free delivery and the city delivery stage and that would come within the scope of his bill.

New York state has 261 towns with postal receipts and population within the limitations of the Griest bill. Pennsylvania is second, with 205 eligible towns.

There are 42,000 rural mail routes serving 20,000,000 people. The city delivery service takes care of 40,000,000 people in 1,511 cities. This, Mr. Griest says, leaves many thousands of people, the majority of whom reside in towns and villages, without any form of free mail delivery.

HELD PRISONER BY FISH.

Man Rescued as He Was About to Drown In Rising Tide.

Held prisoner in a cramped position fifty yards from shore by a large black abalone, Roy Hathaway stood in the ocean off Rodondo Beach, Cal., two hours and called for help in vain, while the tide rose until the waves swept over his head. He was seen by chance and rescued. He would have been drowned in a few minutes.

Hathaway and several others went to the beach for a walk. Hathaway clambered on the rocks to look for shellfish, and others of the party traveled on a quarter of a mile to fish. In feeling into a crevice Hathaway's right hand came into contact with the abalone, which closed down on two of his fingers, holding him like a vise.

Suffering intense pain and watching the water creep up inch by inch, the young man had given up all hope when companions came back and saw his head and shoulders between the waves. They pried the abalone off with an iron bar.

Mrs. James Gray, of Monroe avenue, returned yesterday after a visit with relatives in Easton, Pa.

HOUSE PASSES REVISION BILL

Twenty-one Insurgents Vote With Democrats.

MINORITY FORCES ACTION.

Measure to Revise Iron and Steel Schedules of Payne-Aldrich Law Now Goes to Senate, Where Insurgents Are Expected to Aid Democrats In Its Final Passage.

Washington, Jan. 30.—By a vote of 210 to 166 the Democratic measure to revise the Payne-Aldrich tariff law was passed by the house. This measure deals entirely with the iron and steel schedules. The Republican minority became indignant when Majority Leader Underwood refused to permit unlimited discussion of the free list provisions of the bill.

On final passage twenty Republicans and Representative Berger of Wisconsin, the lone Socialist, voted with the Democrats for the measure. The Republicans were Jackson, Murdock and Young of Kansas, Aikin of New York, Davis and Lindbergh of Minnesota, Haugen, Woods and Hubbard of Iowa, Warburton and La Follette of Washington; Lenroot, Moore and Nelson of Wisconsin, Norris, Sloan and Kinkead of Nebraska, Kent and Stephens of California, Laffery of Oregon and Helgersen of North Dakota.

Three Democrats—Martin, Rucker and Taylor of Colorado—voted with the Republicans against the steel bill. In the Democratic caucus held a week ago to indorse the measure these members explained that they were pledged to their constituents to vote for higher duties on lead and zinc than were provided by the bill and were excused from being bound by the caucus action.

The scenes in the house just before voting by the roll call were disorderly in the extreme. Minority Leader Mann had repeatedly protested against the course of Majority Leader Underwood in moving to cut off debate on each paragraph and amendment before all the Republican members who had expressed a desire to speak had an opportunity to do so, and when Mr. Underwood, unable to induce Mr. Mann to agree to limit debate to what he considered a reasonable time, finally started the steam roller working and moved that the bill be put on its final passage there were jeers and cat calls from the Republican side, which were answered with interest by yells and cheers from the Democrats. Mr. Underwood's original motion that the committee of the whole arise and report the bill to the house was carried, 107 to 87. His motion that the previous question be ordered went through on a record vote, 106 to 116.

Then Representative Payne of New York, senior Republican member of the ways and means committee, moved to recommit the bill with instructions that it be kept in the ways and means committee until the report of the tariff board on the iron and steel schedule shall be in the house from President Taft. This motion was jeered by the Democrats and was defeated, 108 to 205. Then came Mr. Underwood's motion that the bill be finally passed, which went through, 210 to 166.

The bill now goes to the senate. The Democrats expect to have the support of the insurgent Republicans in that body and to send the bill to President Taft in practically its present form.

BRITISH LIKE SHUSTER.

Deposed American Treasurer of Persia Dinner Guest In London.

London, Jan. 29.—There was stirring demonstrations of approval at the dinner given by the Persian committee in honor of W. Morgan Shuster, former director of Persian finances, who is on his way home with his family.

The American made a speech in which he sketched his experiences at Teheran. It was temperate in tone, but in its words it showed an undercurrent of feeling that it was hard to disguise. While careful to avoid making any direct charges, there were ironical allusions to the causes which led up to his dismissal, and these portions of the speech were greeted with prolonged applause. It was evident that the diners were anti Russian and had no sympathy whatever with the part played by Great Britain in her indorsement of the Russian course in Persia.

HERRICK FOR TAFT MANAGER.

Former Governor of Ohio May Have Charge of Headquarters.

Washington, Jan. 30.—An Ohio man will have charge of the Taft headquarters that are soon to be opened here for the purpose of promoting the campaign for the renomination of Mr. Taft. Myron T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio, and Arthur I. Vorys, who managed the Taft campaign in Ohio in 1908, are the men now being considered for this place.

President Taft was scheduled for a long conference with Mr. Herrick in Cleveland, and it is understood that Mr. Herrick's availability for this place was one of the subjects discussed at that conference.

FOWLER SURE T. R. WILL BE DRAFTED

People Will Demand Roosevelt to Lead In Fight on "Interests", Says Ex-Congressman.

"EMPIRE VERSUS REPUBLIC"

Ex-President Destined to Play as Big a Part in Country's Peril as Did Washington and Lincoln, Former Representative Predicts.

Former Representative Charles Newell Fowler is convinced that "the people will draft Theodore Roosevelt and demand that he shall lead them" again as President. He made the statement in an interview given out from his office today.

The struggle in which the people will look to the former President to lead them, Mr. Fowler said, is the same as the fathers grappled with "Empire versus Republic." The interview links Roosevelt with Washington and Lincoln.

Mr. Fowler said:

"I was convinced two years ago that I then clearly foresaw that what has happened would transpire with regard to the recall of Theodore Roosevelt to the service of the people, and so expressed myself in a speech in Congress.

"I then said:

"'It will be the old, old story of the liberation of man; and it is just as true today as it was yesterday that vigilance is the price of that liberty.

"'It is still the Empire versus the Republic. It is still Monarchy versus Democracy. It is still greed, power and privilege versus equal opportunity.

"'Concretely expressed, it is dollars and cents versus equity, justice and a square deal under the law to every man living under our flag.

"'Two great trials in the courts of civilization have occurred on this continent. The first great trial was British tyranny versus the American Colonies. George Washington was the attorney of record for the Colonies; and the Colonies won.

"'The second great trial was slavery versus liberty. Abraham Lincoln was the attorney of record for liberty; and liberty won.

"'A third great trial is now pending in the courts of civilization in the United States. It is the case of the chairman of the National Monetary Commission, alias Aldrichism, alias the special interests, versus the people of the United States. Thedore Roosevelt is the attorney of record for the people; and the people will win.'

"Let us take a clear and comprehensive view of the situation as it exists today. For more than fifteen years a reconstruction of our governmental methods has been going on in our municipalities, our States and the nation at large. We have been engaged in the restoration and re-establishment of truly representative government.

"For more than a quarter of a century big business, gradually had captured and created and finally absolutely controlled all the political bosses who in turn were in full charge of our political machines, popularly called 'political organizations'.

"These bosses, or political machus, typified by Nelson W. Aldrich, although marching under different political banners, were always all fighting behind shields, whose reverse sides were identically the same.

"Commission government is doing its deadly work in routing out corruption and developing efficiency under the light of publicity and because of a higher degree of personal responsibility. The direct primary, adopted by State after State, is proving a most efficient guilotine for the political pirates, known as bosses, mis-called leaders and differing in no way in character purpose and the results obtained from the manchus of China.

"To finish this work, the complete restoration of a government by the people, is the dominant and the all-controlling thought of the hour, and fortunately for the welfare of the country the people are interested, they are aroused and are 'on to their job.'

"All other questions, whether stated from the Republican, Democratic, or a personal point of view are comparatively speaking only of secondary importance, as they can all be intelligently, squarely and bravely met as one after another they arise for legislative action. In a word, if necessary, all other things can wait until the people come into their own and popular government is fully restored.

"In my judgment the people will draft Theodore Roosevelt and demand that he shall lead them in the completion of the work of restoring and re-establishing the representative government of the fathers in order that the public will may work its righteous way."

ROBERT LOWRIE DIES ON VERGE OF HIS 100th YEAR

Oldest Man in This Vicinity, Whose Boast It Was That He Voted For Nineteen Presidential Candidates--Leaves Valuable Estate.

Within a comparatively few hours of his ninety-ninth birthday, Robert Lowrie, Dunellen's oldest resident, as well as one of New Jersey's oldest citizens, passed away at his home in Robert Lowrie.

Dunellen early today. He died at 2 o'clock.

Tomorrow Mr. Lowrie would have entered on his hundredth year. During his illness he expressed the desire to live long enough to pass his ninety-ninth milestone. He was conscious to the end and recognized those about him.

The funeral will be held at the late residence in Dunellen, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and relatives and friends are invited to attend.

A keen memory enabled Mr. Lowrie to tell of the many changes made by Father Time in the flight of years and during his life time he had noticed some remarkable transformations in the swift march of progress. He remembered the ante-railroad era in the early days and the excitement and curiosity of the residents of this section when the first train of steam cars traveled over the New Jersey Central. He recalled the days of the old stage coach passenger and mail route when Dunellen was a stopping point between New York and Philadelphia.

Mr. Lowrie felt especial pride in the fact that he voted in nineteen presidential elections. He graduated from the old Whig party into the Republican ranks and afterward always voted the G. O. P. ticket.

When Mr. Lowrie first came to this country as a lad of seventeen years, he located at what was known as Acquacknonk, now part of Passaic. A little later he removed to New Market and secured a position in a stone quarry.

During his career Mr. Lowrie was thrifty and saving and he accumulated considerable valuable property.

Born at Stirlingshire, Scotland, February 1, 1813, Mr. Lowrie came to America when a young man of nineteen in company with his brothers, James and George Lowrie, who also lived to ripe old ages, the former dying at 86 years, and George at 98 years of age.

Four days after his arrival in New York Mr. Lowrie found himself at Acquacknonk and later removed to New Market. It was in that village and Dunellen that he spent practically all his days. New Market in Mr. Lowrie's early days was about as big as it is now. Mr. Lowrie decided to settle there the day he saw it and he secured a job in a stone quarry and later was employed in John Giles' wheelwright shop, which stood on the site of Jenner's brick house. The shop is now in the rear of the Jenner house, and the ancient landmark now used by Philip Jenner for the same purpose.

After working a time at Giles' wheelwright establishment, Mr. Lowrie took a job at Vail's saw mill, which occupied the site of the present grist mill. At that time the mill was the most important business center in that village.

In 1840 he led Sarah Coriell, daughter of Ira Coriell, to the altar. Five children blessed that union—Mrs. George F. Giles, Mrs. Emma E. Giddes, of Dunellen; Mrs. C. T. Hunt, of Stockton; Abner Lowrie, of Dover, and Mrs. David Giles, of Plainfield, who is dead. Mr. Lowrie's first wife died and forty-eight years ago he took for his second wife Susan Louise Harris, of Harris Lane, who died four and a half years ago. There was one son by this union, Elston Lowrie, who is living. There are four grandchildren in this city, Dr. Elmer A. Giddes, Arthur S. Giles, Robert L. Giddes and Clarkson Lowrie.

Soon after his first marriage Mr. Lowrie engaged in farming, which he followed chiefly during his remaining active years. He owned a farm on the site of the old "Eight Row," on West Front street, and his farmhouse was called by travelers the "Half Way House" because of its

BUTTER PACKAGES MUST BE HONEST

Superintendent Waldron Will Begin Tomorrow Enforcement of Rule for Full Weight.

TO SAVE MILLION A YEAR

That Sum is What Short Weight Prints and Rolls Have Cost New Jersey Housewives—15,000 Women in Crusade.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 31. That through the giving of short weight in the sale of butter New Jersey housewives are paying a million dollars a year more than they should, is the declaration made by William L. Waldron, State superintendent of weights and measures.

As evidence of the interest he has been able to arouse in his fight against certain butter packers, Mr. Waldron says that fully 15,000 women have assured him of their active support.

Since Mr. Waldron announced some time ago that on and after February 1 next all print and roll butter offered for sale in this State must have the net weight marked plainly on the wrapper, he has received communications from more than a hundred women's clubs throughout the State. Upward of 15,000 women are represented by these clubs.

In their letters to the department the clubs have all expressed approval of the campaign, and every member assures him that they will personally report every violation that comes under their observation. With these 15,000 women and his own corps of city and county superintendents prosecuting the investigation, the State superintendent expects prompt action either in the way of respect for the new ruling or legal proceedings against the merchants who disregard it.

Some packers asked for permission to print on the butter wrapper the weight, "when packed," contending that they should not be held responsible for the natural evaporation of the commodity.

The State superintendent insisted however, that this was merely a ruse to evade the ruling and decided that the weight marked on the wrapper must be the weight "when sold." Mr. Waldron says that experiments by federal experts as well as himself prove that butter will not evaporate more than one quarter of an ounce to the pound, regardless of how long it is kept, with ordinary care. He has decided that the packers must make provision when packing the butter for any possible evaporation.

REV. DR. C. M. ANDERSON WANTED FOR 4TH YEAR

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, who is completing his third year as pastor of the First M. E. church, was given a unanimous invitation to return an other year, at the fourth quarterly conference held in Vincent chapel last night. Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, the district superintendent, was in charge and following the invitation to Dr. Anderson, in response to his request that all who were in favor show it by standing, every person present stood up. Dr. Anderson then stated that with the consent of the bishop and district superinendent, he would be pleased to return next year. This brought forth hearty applause. A committee of which H. A. McGee is chairman, was appointed to confer with the Bishop about Dr. Anderson.

The greater part of the conference was taken up with the presentation of reports from all departments of church work, including the Brotherhood, women's missionary societies, Epworth League, Sunday school, Ladies' Aid Society, etc., and all indicated a satisfactory growth and condition. The present membership of the church is 650, a substantial increase over last year. The financial condition of the church is gratifying.

An Evening of Music.

The members of Brightside Circle of The King's Daughters are invited to enjoy an evening of music at the home of Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, 19 Fairview avenue, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Each member is requested to bring a friend. If stormy the affair will be held Friday night.

WOULD KEEP SCHOOL FUNDS FROM CUSTODIAN'S BANK

Trenton, Jan. 31.—Two important bills relating to public funds were introduced in the Senate yesterday afternoon by Senator Silzer, Democrat, of Middlesex county. One requires that deposits in banks by the State Treasurer shall be made the next business day after the money is received. It fixes the maximum amount to be deposited in each bank, regulates the method of depositing money belonging to the State school fund and prohibits the treasurer from depositing State funds in banks of which he is an officer, director or stockholder.

The other Silzer measure provides that the custodian of school money shall deposit all money received the next business day after it is received and the custodian must not be an officer or stockholder in the bank in which the deposit is made. Such deposits in any bank shall not be in excess of one-third of the capital and surplus of the bank. A third bill put in by Mr. Silzer appropriates $25,000 for an armory for New Brunswick. He put in a fourth bill providing that one or more women shall be members of each board of education.

Other bills introduced were: By Mr. Smalley, of Somerset, regulating the issuing of school bonds and providing that the State school fund, whenever possible, shall be invested in bonds purchased directly from the local boards of education; by Mr. Smalley, authorizing the construction of improved roads by boards of managers of any State institution; by Mr. Gebhardt, repealing the act of last year abolishing the public drinking cup, a bill which the State Board of Health wil loppose; by Mr. Fitzherbert, proniblting the manufacture the manfacture of acetylene gas within 1,000 feet of any factory house, street, passenger station, subway or trolley; by Mr. Gaunt, regulating the raising of funds for building or enlarging school houses; by Mr. Leavitt, applying the misdemeanor clause in the crimes act to villages with reference to public officers being interested in public contracts.

William F. Arnold, city treasurer, a custodian of the city's school money, and George F. Brown, the borough collector, is custodian of North Plainfield's school funds. They would be affected by the passage of the Silzer bill, both of them being connected as official or stockholder with banks in which school moneys are deposited.

DR. W. H. MURRAY FOR 'BONNIE BURN' BOARD

The executive committee of the board of trustees of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, met last night to elect one of its number for membership on the new board of governors of the county hospital known as "Bonnie Burn," which is located on the mountains back of Scotch Plains. Dr. William H. Murray was selected. The county board will be composed of five members, two from Elizabeth, and one each from Plainfield, Summit and Roselle. Freeholder J. Hervey Doane, who attended the meeting, said that the work on the new hospital is progressing satisfactorily and it was hoped to have the buildings ready for the reception of patients early next fall.

There was also a discussion of heads for the various committees but the selection were not made last night, owing to the fact that it is not known whether those suggested for the places will serve. Mrs. Sherman B. Joost was made chairman of the house and friendly visitors' committee, and Mrs. William H. Murray was continued as chairman of the membership committee. The chairmen of the finance and publicity committees will be named later.

The committee decided to postpone its next meeting from February 23 to February 28. At last night's meeting were William S. Tyler, James P. Murray, Dr. F. E. DuBois, Leighton Calkins, Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, H. W. Marshall, J. W. Gavett and Freeholder J. Hervey Doane.

STIFF OPPOSITION TO SCHOOL BILL

Anderson Repealer of Last Year's Measure Revises Almost General Disapproval.

ONLY FIVE VOTES FOR IT

Leader Martin, of the Minority, Declared Repealer, Which Commissioner Kendall Wanted Passed, Would Increase Confusion.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 31.—Efforts of Assemblyman de la R. Anderson, of Somerset county, to have his bill repealing the statute enacted last year to govern school boards, placed on second reading immediately after being introduced led to practically unanimous opposition in the House yesterday. The measure as passed last year, it has been held is unconstitutional and will lead to confusion when it becomes effective tomorrow. The object of the desire for hasty action on the repealer was at the request of School Commissioner Kendall, who wanted the boards placed on the same basis as they were before the Fredinghuysen law was enacted last year. The point at issue is whether or not the boards that have eight regular members, but where the mayor has the right of a vote in the case of a tie, really comprises a board of nine members. There is also said to be faulty classification in the act and boards that have been legislated out of office under it will carry the matter into the courts. To overcome this litigation the State School Board was anxious to have the act taken off the statute books. The act as it stands calls for a new board to be appointed by the mayor in all districts where there are less than nine members on the board.

Minority Leader Martin held that the repealer would bring about a condition worse than it is expected will have to be faced and yet no good remedy is offered to meet it. Mr. Strietwoif said the repealer would cause confusion in New Brunswick and Mr. Watson held that the precedent was bad. Mr. Egan thought sufficient time should be given to consider the repealer and Mr. Groves held that the State Board had enough time to get the bill in early if it desired.

When Majority Leader Whyte asked the open question what effect the legal proceedings would have upon the acts of the new board and Mr. Watson answered that opinions had shown that they would be valid until questioned, the measure went down to defeat by a vote of 5 to 52.

WILLIAM VAN VALKENBURG WILL BE BURIED FRIDAY

The funeral service of William VanValkenburg, who died at his home on Bartle avenue, Scotch Plains, yesterday, will be held at the late residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, will officiate, and the burial will be in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Mr. VanValkenburg, who was 84 years of age, had been in failing health for a long time. He was one of the oldest residents of the Plains and respected by everyone who knew him. He possessed a strong Christian character and was an active worker in the Scotch Plains Baptist church and Sunday-school, being secretary of the school for years. He was also a charter member of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company and the Exempt Firemen's Association.

Mr. VanValkenburg was a Civil War veteran, having served through the greater part of the war. He never sought political office, but was a life-long Republican, being the first man to vote the ticket of that party when it came into existence. During the past few years Mr. VanValkenburg had been an invalid and was unable to get about as formerly. This condition was aggravated somewhat by a recent fall, which seemed to hasten his end.

TO ENTER

The Plainfield Daily Press Eight Weeks European Tour Contest for young women, and to win one of the trips offered, it is only necessary to read over the rules as set forth in the article in this issue of the Daily Press, and determine what district you are in. You may nominate yourself, or have a friend nominate you on the nomination blank which appears elsewhere in this issue, or by telephoning or by letter, or by calling on the Tour Manager and registering your name as a candidate. Then ask the manager to explain anything that is not clear to you and receive subscription blanks, folders, etc., with which to get votes and subscriptions. There is a vote coupon published in each issue of the paper, which when neatly cut out and sent in within the time limit, will count for five votes for the candidate whose names appears thereon.

Enter your name and win one of these valuable tours. Start early. Do it today.

That there are a large number of young women in Plainfield who would like to spend their vacations traveling in Europe next summer is proven. The announcement by the Daily Press on Monday that it would send a party of six from Plainfield and surrounding territory on an eight weeks' trip abroad has brought forth already a flood of inquiries and a large number of nominations and the interest manifested is of the keenest sort, the idea that the Daily Press was the first to offer an eight weeks' trip, conducted by the greatest and most reliable tour company in the world, whose very name means excellence, and that it was also announced in the Press at the start just what it was planned to do, including a schedule of the countries to be visited, has assured people that the paper started in with its plans all made, and had not put its tour together hastily, subject to additions in order to try to equal the offerings of others.

While it seems unnecessary to repeat information in these columns about the tours because of the widespread publicity given to the offer of the Daily Press by putting the paper into every house in town on Monday night, for the benefit of those who have not before seen the conditions, the plan is again briefly outlined. The Daily Press tours are not being conducted on stereotyped methods, using form write-ups which have seen service at other places in the past, but are being explained to the hundreds interested by direct personal attention of the publishers. This personal touch will be imparted throughout the entire contest, and continued with the travelers, in a way in for which only the firm of Thomas Cook and Sons is famous. In fact there is no stronger argument for taking the opportunity to go abroad as the guests of the Press, than lies in the fact that it will be conducted by Cook. Under their management a trip costs more for an equal length of time, than under any other company, but the Press has adopted the motto that the best is none too good for Plainfield, and the best it will be from start to finish.

The successful contestants in the five districts into which Plainfield and the surrounding territory have been divided, accompanied by a chaperone who will be selected by the contestant getting the highest vote in the entire contest, will be given an eights weeks' tour of Europe next summer, this newspaper paying every cent of expense. It is not necessary for those who wish to compete to be subscribers to the paper, the contest being open to everyone in the various contest districts which are named in a paze advertisement elsewhere in today's paper. Votes will be given for coupons cut from the newspaper each day, and deposited in a ballot box to be placed later in the Daily Press office, for cash payments in advance from both old and new subscribers. The votes for new subscriptions will count for just twice as much as those for renwal of olr subscriptions of the same length of time.

The Daily Press tour is arranged to visit England, Holland, Belgium, The Rhine, Germany and France. Several days will be spent in London and Paris, and stops will be made at all of the principal cities of the other countries visited. The travel between these cities has been so arranged that most of it will be made in the daylight hours, thus giving an opportunity to observe the life in the country sections, with their picturesque houses, people and customs. Throughout the entire tour the very best railroad and steamship accommodations will be provided, and the tourists will be cared for in hotels as good as are to be found in the cities visited. Most

APPOINTED TO KEEP TABS ON LEGISLATION

Parent-Teachers Ass'n Appoints Mayor Moy and Mr. Williams as Committee.

A 'QUESTION BOX' MEETING

Mayor G. W. V. Moy and H. H. Williams were appointed as a legislative committee at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin-Stillman-Whittier Schools at the Franklin School, last night, and in the future they will follow all legislation of especial interest to the schools. The need of this was explained by several members present, who said there were frequently measures being introduced in the Legislature which were of vital interest to the public schools, and might affect those in this city.

The question of having a visiting committee was also discussed and agreed upon. This matter was brought to the attention of the association by Miss Mabelle Phillips, of the Charity Organization Society, and at the request of the association, she explained the matter requesting that the association be represented.

The idea of having a visiting committee in each school, Miss Phillips explained was to bring the parents in closer touch with the Charity Organization Society work, through the children. The plan was considered a good one, and within a short time a visiting committee will be appointed.

A portion of the evening was devoted to a "question box" conducted by Mrs. G. Stuart Simons. Dr. Henry M. Maxson was also present and by his pertinent remarks helped to make this feature interesting.

Among the questions discussed were: How many times during a session are the windows opened and the air completely changed; how are the rooms for night schools cleaned and ventilated during the day; would it not be possible to provide a waiting room in the Franklin School for use during the cold weather and on stormy days; is it fair to detain a whole class because a few of the pupils have carelessly prepared their lessons; may we not have one good circus a year and then permit the children to see the parade and attend the afternoon performance; why are playgrounds closed when school begins.

There is some dissatisfaction at present over the noon dismissal for lunch, as children in many cases reach their homes at inconvenient hours for lunch. This matter will be taken up later with a view to adopting a more satisfactory plan.

The association received a letter from United States Senator James E. Martine, in response to one written him by the association, in which he expressed himself as being heartily in favor of the Child's Bureau bill. This information was received with considerable enthusiasm and satisfaction on the part of the members of the association.

MISSIONARY DISCUSSIONS OF 1ST BAPTIST WOMEN.

Interesting missionary papers were presented at the monthly meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, at the home of Mrs. Gifford Cooley on Rockview avenue. Mrs. Albert L. Kennelly, the president, was in charge.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Frank W. Jones, after which Miss Helen Adams presented a paper on "The Ancient Customs of the Women of China." This was followed with a paper by Mrs. Gifford Cooley which told of the heathen religions in this country.

The society is planning to give a reception the latter part of February, when each member will bring in her contribution and tell how she earned it. There was a social hour, yesterday, when phonograph selections were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Judicious Advertising

The most interesting thing to an advertiser is to know WHO READS the publication—who will see the message he prepares with such care. Are the subscribers and readers persons who will not only be interested in the message, but will be able and willing to BUY what he offers for sale? Because unless this be the case it is foolishness for an advertiser to spend time and money in sowing seed on unfertile ground.

This editorial in the current issue of Judicious Advertising is right. The advertiser does not want to talk to ALL classes. He wants to talk to the BUYING classes; that's what he pays for.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

Plainfield women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of gravel, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills should be used. Here's proof of their merit in a Plainfield woman's words:

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 6 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "You may continue to publish my endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills which I gave in August, 1905. I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I arose in the morning my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold it settled on my kidneys and any strain in my back always made the aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug store, that I had any hope of getting rid of my trouble. This preparation made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since. I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile, however, and they keep my kidneys in good working order."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Hospitals and Public Hygiene and Scientific Medical Research

Public hygiene, or sanitation, the outgrowth of the modern hospital, has been a very large element in arresting the ravages of disease, which in former times swept over entire nations.

It is a striking fact that disease which once assumed the form of veritable pestilences, are now at least, in civilized countries, almost unheard of, and others, though they have not disappeared, have had their fangs drawn so that the public suffers far less than it formerly did. If the voice, which comes from the laboratories and bedside of the modern hospitals where tireless research is constantly in progress, were heeded even the diseases which have been only abated, would almost, if not entirely, disappear.

First, the plague: Among the most frightful epidemics which devastate the world, India alone has lost 250,000 lives.

If you have read a novel entitled "The Fire and the Plague," you will recall the vivid and frightened picture of the plague of 1665, during which 70,000 persons perished in London alone.

This terrible mortality will never be repeated, because the research work of the hospital and its laboratory brought about the discovery of the living germ from which serum was made and now this affliction is unknown.

Cholera has almost been throttled in civilized countries for the same reason.

The scourge of yellow fever has been banished from Cuba and our own Southern States because of the untiring zeal of the medical men in the research laboratories and hospitals.

Let it be known that the priceless lives were sacrificed in establishing the cause and prevention of this yellow scourge, lives of scientists, medical men and nurses, workers in the hospitals allowed the fatal venom from the infected mosquito to be innoculated into their veins, for the good of their brother man and the establishment of a scientific fact. These were heroes indeed. Scurvy, typus and typhoid may also be mentioned as diseases which decimated armies, incapacitated thousands in their death dealing epidemics, but today are robbed of their work made possible by the building and endowing of the modern hospital and laboratory.

Smallpox killed 2,000,000 in a single year in Russia; another year 1,800 of little Iceland's population succumbed. In Mexico, 3,500,000 of her population perished in 100 years of this loathsome disease. Today, through the modernization of Jenner's wonderful vaccine, this disease has been almost wiped out of the world.

These are but cold figures, but if we could transfigure them, and let them represent broken hearts and desolate homes, and measure them in anguish and sorrow, they would speak more eloquently then mere percentages.

Nothing has been said of tuberculosis, the great white plague, because it is familiar to even the casual reader, how the lamented Robert Koch labored unremittingly in the German laboratories and hospitals before he gave to the world the cause and prevention of a disease which kills some person every twenty seconds.

Each year from now on, for all future time, will add thousands of lives, priceless human lives, perhaps some member of your family, not alone from these wonderful discoveries which have for the most part eminated from the modern hospital, but life saving work along other lines in surgery and medicine, all made possible through the munificence of a grateful public, in the establishment of places where the sick can be restored to health, the nurse educated, and scientific research work given full scope. The brilliant conquests of preventive demicine and the rapid advances in the general knowledge of biology, physiology, and pathology have all come from the modern hospital.

FRANKLIN TO TELL ALL AT DARROW'S TRIAL

McNamara Detective Will Be State's Witness.

Los Angeles, Jan. 31.—That Bert H. Franklin, former United States deputy marshal and more recently confidential agent for the McNamara defense, will be the important witness against Clarence Darrow when the latter is tried on complicity in the bribery of McNamara jurors, is indicated by the trend of events here. It is believed Franklin gave the district attorney's office the information needed to warrant an indictment against Darrow.

Additional indictments are expected and they may involve others connected with the defense of the McNamaras.

The grand jury is again in session, but is said to have given its attention to other dynamiting conspiracy investigation.

NO GENERAL STRIKE PLANNED

Anthracite Men Want Bituminous Miners' Financial Support.

Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—The question of fixing a scale of wages in the bituminous coal fields of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania was turned over to a subcommittee of miners and operators, and the arguments of the opposing forces were continued on much the same lines as for the past four days. The subcommittee consists of two operators and two miners, and if an agreement is reached it will be reported to the full committee for ratification. It is not believed that a scale will be agreed on at the present conference.

Leading members of the miners' organization are very anxious for the bituminous miners to remain at work after April 1, as it is generally conceded that there will be a strike in the anthracite fields, and unless the bituminous miners are working there would be no money with which to support the striking anthracite workers. No concessions from the terms demanded by the national convention have been proposed, but it is believed that the miners would compromise on an increase of 5 cents a ton and abandon the increase demanded on other work.

TRIED TO TEMPT SHUSTER.

American Tells of Overtures by Russian Minister to Persia.

London, Jan. 31.—William Morgan Shuster, the American, who was treasurer general of Persia, whose temperate speech at the banquet at the Savoy hotel calls forth the most favorable comment from the daily papers, says that he desired to avoid saying anything sensational until after his arrival in the United States, where he expects to be about Feb. 19. Then he will tell the whole story of the international intrigue leading to Persia's downfall.

He admitted that M. Poklevsky, the Russian minister at Teheran, proposed the day after the invasion of Persia by the ex-shah to make him (Shuster) grand vizier and put him in charge of the finances under the ex-shah, provided he would remain passive during the invasion. Mr. Shuster refused this proposal on the ground that he did not intend to end his official career by proving false to the Persian government.

HERRICK MAY SUCCEED BACON

Taft Offers Ex-Governor of Ohio Diplomatic Post.

A CABINET POSSIBILITY.

President, It Is Learned, Has Offered French Ambassadorship to Political Friend Who Has Been Mentioned as Manager of His Pre-convention Campaign.

Washington, Jan. 31.—It is learned here that President Taft has offered the post of ambassador to France to Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, former governor of Ohio.

It is learned that the president intended when he left Washington on his trip to Ohio to ask Mr. Herrick to accept the diplomatic post at Paris and, in the event of Mr. Herrick's declining to go abroad, to invite him to assume charge of the headquarters that are soon to be opened in Washington in furtherance of the Taft campaign for renomination.

Dispatches from Columbus indicated that President Taft had authorized the statement that he had not asked Mr. Herrick to take charge of his pre-convention campaign headquarters. In view of this circumstance, it is believed here that Mr. Herrick has signified his intention to accept the Paris post or has asked for time to consider it.

The ambassadorship to France has been open only a few weeks. Mr. Bacon, who has been there for more than two years, resigned, it will be recalled, in order to become a fellow of Harvard university. He informed President Taft that he would remain in Paris until his successor was chosen, but indicated that he would like to be relieved as soon as possible.

Mr. Herrick's name has been mentioned frequently in connection with the foreign service and also as a cabinet possibility since Mr. Taft's election to the presidency. His name was seriously considered for the treasury portfolio when the president was making up his official family. Mr. Herrick's circumstances are such as to make him thoroughly available for a post at one of the important European capitals. He is a man of wealth, but has recently been curtailing his business activities, so that he would be able to accept the appointment abroad with little inconvenience if he desired to enter the diplomatic field.

If Mr. Herrick accepts the ambassadorship to France and thus makes himself unavailable to take charge of the Taft pre-convention headquarters in Washington the president's friends are unable to suggest who to put in charge of the Taft headquarters.

TREATY WITH GERMANY TOO.

Secretary Knox Says Senate Objections Halted Negotiations.

Washington, Jan. 31.—In a speech at the National Press club here Secretary Knox disclosed for the first time that the United States and Germany had actually begun negotiations of a general arbitration treaty similar to the Anglo-American and Franco-American treaties. The negotiations were halted, Mr. Knox explained, by the unexpected objections in the senate to the latter treaties.

It was generally known that Germany was interested in the arbitration plan because Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had called at the state department and obtained a draft of the proposed treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the German foreign office. Mr. Knox's statement seems to indicate that if the treaties between this country and Great Britain and this country and France are ratified by the senate a similar treaty with Germany will follow.

JAPS REACH INTO CHINA.

Merchants Acquiring Large Interests In War Ridden Nation.

Tokyo, Jan. 31.—Several announcements tend to show that Japanese merchants are acquiring large commercial interests in China.

The Nippon Yusen Laisha, or Japanese Steamship company, is negotiating for the purchase of the Imperial Chinese Merchant Marine company. A deal is also on foot whereby the Chino Japanese company, in which there is a large Japanese interest, will take over the Hunyang iron works, the iron mines in Tayeh and the Pinghsiang coal mines.

REVISION FIGHT TO SENATE.

Steel Bill In Finance Committee For Hearings.

Washington, Jan. 31.—With the reporting of the Democratic steel bill in the senate the tariff revision fight shifted to a new stage.

The bill cutting the metal duties of the Payne-Aldrich law from 35 to 56 per cent, which was passed by the house, was signed by Speaker Clark and passed on.

The senate always refers tariff measures to the finance committee. The bill is expected to rest there for a time to permit hearings.

NOT RETAILER'S FAULT.

Don't blame the retailer if you find that you have to pay more for your shoes after March 15. The situation has not been brought about by any action on his part. The manufacturers attribute it to a scarcity of cattle and to a general demand for a better quality of shoe. They also say that the intended raise in prices is partly due to the frequent changes in style of footwear, necessitating the installation of new machinery from time to time. One of the largest manufacturers in New England credits thirty per cent. of the increase to fashion and the other seventy per cent. to rise in the price of hides.

Statistics put out by shoe manufacturing interests show that the cattle supply of the United States per 100,000 inhabitants is decreasing. The number of cattle has increased in the last decade from 62,300,000 to 69,000,000, or 10.7 per cent., while the population of the country has jumped from 75,000,000 to 92,000,000, or an increase of 20 per cent. According to the law of supply and demand, this has necessitated an increase in the price.

The effect of this shortage in cattle is further illustrated by the increase in imports of hides and skins. In the four years, from 1900 to 1904, 658,0000,000 hides were brought into this country, while from 1907 to 1911, 922,000,000 were imported, an increase of 40 per cent.

But in contrast to the proportionate decrease in the supply of hides for leather, manufacturers also argue there is a large increase in the demand for the finished product. Many new industries, like the automobile have demanded their share of the article, and all these conditions have sent the price up. So, as we say don't blame the retailer if you find the prices are increased.

Extraordinary gains in membership have been made in the United States in the last two decades by the Roman Catholic Church while the proportionate increases shown by Protestant denominations have been rather small. The figures themselves as compiled by Dr. H. K. Carroll, of North Plainfield, who was formerly director of the religious census, furnish food for thought. During the period mentioned the Roman Catholics have made a gain of over one hundred per cent. Their membership in 1890 was 6,231,417. The year 1911 found it to be 12,556,612. The Disciples alone among the Protestant bodies have made a proportionate gain, the growth of the flock being from 641,051 to 1,308,116. The Episcopalians are credited with seventy-eight per cent. increase, the membership figure in 1890 being 532,094 and in 1911, 947,320. Methodist bodies have in the same time increased from 4,252,843 to 6,294,726 or less than 50 per cent., and the Baptist bodies from 3,429,505 to 5,315,372, or hardly 34 per cent. Next in numerical order are the Presbyterians, with an increase from 788,244 to 1,340,310, or about 70 per cent.

Postal card polls being made by newspapers in various parts of the country regarding Presidential choices furnish some light on the situation. For instance, the Kansas City Star, which is canvassing the farmers of the west and southwest, reports that among 10,473 votes polled 5,683 are for Roosevelt; 792 for LaFollette and 758 for Taft. Clark has received more than twice the vote polled for Wilson. In Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, a postal card preference shows 10,549 for Roosevelt, 1,469 for Taft and 1,194 for LaFollette. Among the Democrats Bryan leads with 1,557, with Wilson a poor third at 594.

Through its legislative committee the New Jersey Medical Association has decided to do nothing this year to prevent the osteopaths obtaining recognition unless the latter attempt to get a bill through the Legislature for that purpose. The fights waged by the medical men in the past to prevent official sanction has given the osteopaths a whole lot of free advertising and has stirred up sympathy for them, so the medical men themselves say. The newspapers, therefore, will not be deluged with press agent literature from this source during this winter at least. That's some consolation.

The action of the Twelfth Ward Democratic Club, of Jersey City, in addressing a resolution to the Legislature urging the curtailment of the rights of justices of the peace to perform the marriage ceremony is something that will meet with popoular approval. The flagrant abuse of this right is too well known to need any comment. It would be a good thing for the reputation of the State should the Legislature take away entirely such power of the squire.

"Never touched me," murmured the "Guy" after "Marse Henry's" broadside had spent its force.

ONE FOUL, AT GAME'S END, DEFEATS P.H.S. GIRLS' FIVE

The girls' basketball team of the Plainfield High School lost its game yesterday afternoon at Roselle Park with the Roselle Park High School five, after an exciting contest, by one point. The final score was 13 to 12.

The game stood at a tie when the final whistle blew but Miss Dennick threw a basket from a foul which was made before time was called winning the game for Roselle after a hard struggle.

Just before the last whistle Miss Douglas made a foul for P. H. S. by stepping over the line. There was tense excitement for both teams as Miss Dennick stepped to the line to threw the foul. A well directed shot clinched the game for Roselle Park without over time. The lineup follows:

Plainfield—forwards, J. Stewart, A. Mehl; centers, R. Douglas, N. Waldorf; guards, M. Moy, E. Stryker.

Roselle Park—forwards, L. Dennick, L. Miller; centers, C. Hunt, M. Jack; guards, I. Dunnington, I. Miller.

Referee, Miss Cuddleback, timer, J. Lindzey.

Mrs. Martha L. Frech.

Mrs. Martha L. Frech, wife of the late George H. Frech, died in New York, this morning after a long illness. The funeral service will be held Friday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of her son, Garret W. Frech, 1027 Prospect avenue. Mrs. Frech's husband was for many years an official of the New Jersey Central and prior to his death last year was superintendent of the New Jersey Southern road. Mrs. Frech will be buried in the family plot at Somerville.

TEMPORARY LOCATION FOR MULLINS & SONS

The wonderful enterprise shown by the firm of J. Mullines & Sons, Newark, whose building and stock were totally destroyed in the big fire Monday morning, is in the fact that before the smoldering ruins died away the firm leased temporary quarters directly opposite their old place and are now located at 223 Market street, Newark, ready to do business as if nothing had occurred.

The firm had made arrangements with the largest furniture concerns in the country for large shipments of new spring furniture. This furniture is arriving in car loads daily and is being delivered to their new store at 223 Market street, but cramped quarters necessitates the firm disposing of their goods as soon as they arrive, and they have made tremendous reductions in order to keep the stock down. In fact the prices are at least half and the goods are being sold on the same liberal payment plan as before. Thos. Mullen showed undeniable pluck throughout this misfortune and immediately arranged to give his customers the advantage to buy this new spring furniture at reduced prices. Even though under great mental strain Mr. Mullen has already arranged with a prominent architect to begin plans for a new six-story modern building which will be the finest and best furniture emporium in the State. The estimated cost of the building will be at least $100,000 and will rise from the ruins as soon as the debris is cleared away.

JOHN C. COOPER BUYS DANIEL CORY'S FARM.

John C. Cooper has sold his farm of forty-five acres at Warrenville, and purchased the Daniel Cory farm of 160 acres, a half-mile distant. He will take possession April 1. The farm which has just been secured by Mr. Cooper is one of the best known in Warren township, and the large dwelling that stands thereon is probably one of the oldest in that vicinity. The late Daniel Cory, who lived on this farm for a great many years, was a successful farmer and an important factor in Warren township affairs. He died ten years ago.

Mr. Cooper intends to make a number of improvements on the place and he will continue to farm. The place is known as "Hill Top." Mr. Cooper bought the tract from Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, who has owned it for several years.

Mr. Beals will assume his new position tomorrow.

Mr. Beals will be succeeded by Everett J. Beers, who is a graduate of Colgate University. He formerly taught in the Geneva, N. Y., Lyndon, Ky., and Vassalboro, Maine high schools.

EVERY MAN ON POND TOOL WORKS FORCE LEAVES JOB.

(By Carrier Pigeon).

Stebbins Place, Jan. 31.—At a signal sounded by the engineer on the company's own whistle every workman in the big Niles-Bement-Pond plant abandoned his work at noon today. Some of the men hurried away from the shop with scarcely a glance behind at what a minute before had been a busy scene of industry, but most of them loitered about the plant, jesting as they ate the lunches with which they had provided themselves, seemingly enjoying the amazement of the company officials.

Just thirty minutes later, at another signal by the engineer, the men returned to work as suddenly as they quit. None of them has given any explanation of their extraordinary conduct.

FIRE FRIGHTENED BRIDE: DAMAGE NEARLY A DOLLAR

Westfield, Jan. 31.—An incipient blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Foster on Park street, yesterday, caused unusual excitement, and incidentally the neighbors are enjoying a good laugh at the expense of the Fosters. The fire, which was caused by some chimney trouble, so frightened Mrs. Foster, a bride of two months, that she promptly called her husband on the telephone at his New York office, informing him that she thought the house would burn down.

Mr. Foster dropped his work and took the first train for Westfield, arriving there several hours ahead of his usual time. On his way from the railroad station he stopped at fire headquarters, picked up a hand extinguisher and rushed to his home, where he expected to see a big fire. To his great surprise he learned that the fire had been extinguished and the total loss would not exceed one dollar.

PLAN DOLLAR DINNER AS BOOM FOR TAFT.

The Republicans of Union county are planning a busy spring campaign in the interests of the candidacy of President Taft for renomination and reelection. A dollar dinner will probably be one of the most notable events of the activities preceding the May Presidential preference primaries.

The event will be discussed at the next two meetings of the committee, it is believed, and in March or April, more likely in the latter month, the dollar dinner is expected to be served. The county committee at its last meeting took the first step in this county incident to the May election, when it endorsed Hamilton F. Kean for delegate to the national convention in June as a sincere Taft supporter.

The measure passed the House Monday evening, was rushed at the Senate, passed there yesterday, was hustled back to the Assembly, the passed bills committee, sent it to the Governor immediately, and as soon as he could examine it he signed it.

MAN ABOUT TOWN.

One of those typical red colored mammies, so frequently mentioned in stories of the south as being filled with superstition and awe for the "voodoo" doctor, entered a park avenue grocery store a few nights ago. She made several small purchases and when the total cost was figured up it reached the insignificant sum of thirteen cents.

"Lord's sakes," she exclaimed "Ah'd have bad luck fo' most a year if ah pays thirteen cents. Can't you make it twelve?" In a spirit of fun the clerk replied it would be impossible, whereupon the superstitious mammy said:

"Well ah cain't afford fo' a cent so you'll have to put them things back."

She was on the sidewalk and gone before the grocery man realized that she really meant it.

A Birthday Celebration.

ROBERT LOWRIE DEAD

central location between Dunellen and Plainfield. He was also owner at one time of the William Rice farm near Dunellen.

While in the employ of Vail's mills at New Market, and in later years when he farmed for himself, Mr. Lowrie peddled flour, visiting Plainfield, Elizabeth, Newark, Rahway and New Brunswick. At that period Newark was boasting proudly over a population of 20,000.

The distinction of voting for nineteen presidential candidates was probably not enjoyed by another Jerseyman. Mr. Lowrie cast his first vote at New Market in 1836 for General William H. Harrison, the Whig candidate, who was defeated by Martin Van Buren, the Democratic nominee. Four years later he took part in the first Whig victory in forty years by voting for Harrison and Tyler in the memorable "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" campaign. The other presidential candidates for whom Mr. Lowrie voted for follow:

1844, Henry Clay; 1848, General Zachary Taylor; 1852, General Winfield Scott; 1856, John C. Fremont; 1860 and 1864, Abraham Lincoln; 1868 and 1872, General U. S. Grant; 1876, Rutherford B. Hayes; 1880, James A. Garfield; 1884, 1888 and 1892, Benjamin Harrison; 1896 and 1900, William McKinley; 1904, Theodore Roosevelt; 1906, President William H. Taft.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

A revival of the famous old emotional drama, "East Lynne," the popularity of which never seems to wane, will be next Saturday's attraction at the Plainfield theatre. The remarkable longevity and prosperity of "East Lynne" can only be explained by the fact that the story it unfolds its intensel yhuman. "East Lyane" teaches a lesson that is clear and direct, and one that is not easily forgotten. The situations and climaxes are thrillingly dramatic, but are so happily blended with comedy scenes and incidents that it charms all. The play is in the hands of a specially selected company, which measures well up to the high standard of previous years.

In these turbulent times of get-rich-quick speculators and high-finance, Charles Klein should be called the physcological man. His gripping play, "The Gamblers," which comes to the Plainfield theatre February 5, deals with just such individuals. Some claim that Mr. Klein wrote his play around the career of Charles W. Morse, others that Joseph G. Robin's life offered the suggestion of the story. One of the exciting scenes in the play is where the board of directors is making every effort to save their chain of banks from failure, and themselves from the State's prosecutor.

Rabies Suspect Shot.

Someone in the Washington Park section telephoned borough police headquarters last night, that a mad dog was running loose in the neighborhood. Marshal Pope was sent out and located a sable collie on Myrtle avenue that had some sort of canine blind staggers. The animal was shot.

WESTFIELD WOODMEN LOSE TO JUNIOR PINNERS

Westfield, Jan. 31.—The Woodmen of the World received a setback in their aspirations for the coveted trophy in the fraternal bowling league, last night, when the Juniors captured two of the three games. Captain Snyder was handicapped by the absence of some of his regular bowlers and was obliged to use "subs," but the result was a surprise at that, for the Juniors comprise the weakest team in the league, having won but two games out of eighteen played.

The defeat of the Woodmen last night leaves a big gap between them and the leaders. Tuesday night's game between the Foresters and Arcanumites will be an important one, as the teams are tied for first place. Last night's score:

"VICE DETECTIVE" QUITS HIS JOB IN WESTFIELD.

Westfield, Jan. 31.—William Hansel, whose appointment as a vice detective by Mayor J. A. Dennis caused considerable comment a year ago, resigned his position last night, much to the relief of many citizens who never approved the action and criticized the extra expenditure of $3.00 to employ Mr. Hansel.

During his term, Mr. Hansel secured a few excise convictions, but otherwise there was not much for him to do. It is rumored that the resignation was due to friction between Mr. Hansel and Chief of Police Thomas O'Neill.

J. C. Calvert's Condition.

County Clerk James C. Calvert, who is seriously ill with heart disease at Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Elizabeth, was reported today as being slightly improved. There is little chance for his recovery.

LAY SIEGE TO CONGRESS.

W. C. T. U. Leaders Want "Dry Territory" Bill Passed.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Leaders of the W. C. T. U. and a host of state workers stormed the senate judiciary committee for favorable action on the Kenyon-Sheppard bill, which would prohibit shipment of liquor into "dry territory."

Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, national president of the organization; Anna A. Gordon, vice president, and Ellen M. Stone, missionary and temperance worker, headed the delegation.

The presence of the national leaders in Washington will signalize a week of the "white ribbon" campaign in the halls of congress.

PRIEST MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

Father Dalton of Kansas City Says All Young People Should Wed.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 31.—Marriages may be made in heaven, but the Rev. W. J. Dalton of the Church of the Annunciation believes they are facilitated by having branch matrimonial agencies right here on earth. In that belief he has established such a branch at his church, and at the present time he has some fifty couples in training for double harness, and the branch has been open only about a month. Father Dalton is conducting his matrimonial class openly, frankly and under that very name.

Father Dalton's object is to marry the young people of his congregation, and he tells them so. He called the young people together about a month ago and told them that any man of twenty-three or twenty-four who was making $65 a month should take a wife and that any girl of eighteen or nineteen should take a husband. Early marriages and large families, he told them, were to be the cardinal rules of a society he proposed to form. And he formed the society right then and there, and every one of the young men and women present were enrolled as members.

While the matrimonial class was instituted chiefly to serve the Church of the Annunciation, Father Dalton says the latchstring is out for any who are looking for helpful hints.

The two new senators from Louisiana will be Ransdell and Broussard, both members of the house at present.

ANOTHER KILLED IN MILL STRIKE

Martial Law Practically Rules In Lawrence.

TROOPS PREVENT RIOTING

Threats of Bayonet and Bullets Calm the Strikers, and Repetition of Serious Outbreaks Are No Longer Feared—Syrian Boy Victim of Knife Jab or Bayonets.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 31.—Threats of the bayonet and the bullet were effective in preventing a repetition of the rioting by the striking woolen operatives. The city is an armed camp, and while martial law does not prevail, the presence of twenty-one companies of infantry, two troops of cavalry and fifty metropolitan police, in addition to the local force and many private detectives with authority to arrest any and all disturbers, practically makes it so.

There was but one clash between the strikers and militia, but that resulted in the death of John Ramy, a Syrian boy, eighteen years old, who received a wound in the breast from either a bayonet or a knife in the hands of a striker and died a few hours later at the Lawrence hospital.

Joseph Ettor, national organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World and leader of the woolen operatives' strike here, was arrested on a charge of being an accessory to the murder of Annie La Pizza, the Italian striker who was killed in the riot on Union street early Monday night. Ettor was arrested at his hotel when he was about to go to bed and was taken to the police station and locked up.

In the vicinity of the Arlington mills a crowd of strike sympathizers attempted to cripple the electric car service by cutting trolley wires. The men were partly successful in their attempts before they were dispersed by the militia.

Today the city was as near under martial law as is possible under the Massachusetts laws. Colonel E. Leroy Sweetzer had under his command nearly two full regiments of soldiers, totaling about 1,200 men. A large proportion of the militia arrived here last night and at once began the work of patrolling the mill district and nearby streets.

The colonel said that the policy of the militia during the past two weeks was governed by circumstances, but from now on the rules would be stringent. Everything possible will be done to prevent further disorders and outbreaks.

The number of people entering the mills appears to be greater than before, but still probably is not as large as the number that worked last week. There are still about 22,000 operatives on strike or forced out by the closing of mills. There are three mills closed—the Everett, Arlington and Pemberton.

READY TO BE INDICTED.

Ironworkers Anticipate Charges and Employ Counsel.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 31.—District Attorney Miller says that Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, has been summoned before the federal grand jury in pursuance of the government plan to inquire into everything relating to the dynamiting cases, and as the American Federation of Labor was in charge of the defense fund it was desirable that its disposition be looked into. He said that he did not know of any intention to have Samuel Gompers appear as a witness, as the books which Morrison will bring will probably furnish all information desired.

In anticipation of being indicted, it is known that certain prominent iron workers living outside Indianapolis have retained Indianapolis lawyers to defend them in case they have "guessed right" and the report of the grand jury discloses that these ironworkers have been "elected to stand trial." The retaining of counsel in these instances is in addition to the employment of Leo M. Rappaport, attorney for the ironworkers, who, according to a sworn pleading filed by him in the federal court last week, has been retained to defend the union, its officers and members in any proceeding civil or criminal, in any state or federal court.

TO LAUNCH SPANISH WARSHIP

King Alfonso and His Queen Will Be Present at Ceremony.

Ferrol, Spain, Jan. 31.—Great preparations are being made here for the launching of the battleship Espana on Feb. 5. King Alfonso and Queen Victoria will be present at the ceremony.

Triumphal arches are being erected in various parts of the city, and a commemorative medal has been struck off. The archbishop of Santiago will be present at the launching, and the Marquis Comillas will give what he terms a "tie bridge," undoubtedly meaning a bridge tea party.

The steamship Alfonso XIV. and a warship squadron will take part in the event.

Pension For Countess Tolstoy.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—The czar has granted a pension of $5,000 a year to the widow of Count Leo Tolstoy.

"I'm a faithful Tafter, and with the Tafters stand," sings Postmaster-General Hitchcock on the front seat [illegible] Baltimore Sun.

MACFARLAND'S FATE IN HANDS OF JURY

Verdict Expected Today In Newark Murder Case.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 31.—A little more than two days will close the trial of Allison M. MacFarland, charged with wife murder here. Both the state and the defense have rested their cases. Arguments have been made. Chief Justice Gummere charged the jury this morning. MacFarland's fate is now in their hands.

In their arguments to the jury Frank M. McDermit, representing MacFarland, and Prosecutor Wilbur A. Mott agreed that the prisoner at the bar was either guilty of cold blooded murder or was innocent; there was no middle ground, both argued. The prosecution insisted that MacFarland put a bottle of cyanide of potassium in the medicine closet with the intention that his wife would take it, which she did on the night of Oct. 17. The motive was argued from correspondence between Florence Bromley of Philadelphia.

Lawyer McDermit's defense consisted mainly in putting before the jury a statement which MacFarland made to the police shortly after his arrest. He intimated the possibility that Mrs. MacFarland might have discovered letters showing her husband's infidelity and committed suicide. MacFarland was not put on the stand, and the Bromley girl did not appear in court.

PAUPER IS HEIR TO MILLIONS.

Atlantic Highlands Man Was to Be Sent to Poorhouse.

Long Branch, N. J., Jan. 31.—Instead of being sent to the county poorhouse, as planned, James Paddock of Atlantic Highlands, a patient at the Monmouth Memorial hospital here, fell heir to between $1,000,000 and $3,000,000. Paddock had been treated as a charity patient for paralysis. Some time ago it was decided to send him to the poorhouse, and word was sent to some of his relatives to that effect. A few days later a reply was received to the effect that in a few days relatives would be in a position to see that he wanted for nothing in the future.

Simon Paddock of Syracuse, a brother of the paralytic, died recently, leaving his brother between $1,000,000 and $3,000,000. Simon was a wealthy wall paper manufacturer and many years ago lost trace of his brother James. James was confronted by proof of his inheritance.

Simon Paddock, a son of the patient, who resides at Atlantic Highlands, is also beneficiary under the will of his uncle. He inherits $50,000. He left to receive the legacy. To make the trip young Paddock borrowed $15 from Judge John Foster, showing the latter a telegram informing him of the legacy. The youth is eighteen years old.

SWINDLER SENT TO PRISON.

Philadelphia Banker's Downfall Caused by Gambling.

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—Walter A. Snowden, a former assistant to the paying teller of the Trust Company of North America, who embezzled $8,500 from the concern, pleaded guilty in quarter sessions court to charges of embezzlement and was sentenced by Judge Heydt to the Eastern penitentiary for not less than fifteen months or more than five years.

In answer to Assistant District Attorney Rogers' questions the former clerk declared that his downfall was the result of gambling. He said most of the stolen money was lost in card games at gambling houses in this city.

Boy, Accused of Murder, Sane.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 31.—The defense of William Lee, the boy from Boonville, Ind., on trial for the murder of his father, mother and brother, was weakened when Dr. C. E. Laughlin, superintendent of the Southern Indiana Hospital For the Insane, declared Lee sane in answer to a 4,000 word hypothetical question.

Woodrow Wilson is a statesman who appears too skittish of honest support when it comes from an honest supporter.—Berkshire Eagle.

This Boiler saves coal

The square fire pot cuts down coal bills one-quarter, because its effective radiating area is 25 per cent. more than in boilers of like dimensions.

The square corners prevent ashes from clogging and choking, thus relieving you of much disagreeable labor. A cutting bar smashes all clinkers. The is easily controlled—moderate or intense heat, as you like, in a few minutes. Note in this sectional view how all interior surfaces tend upward toward the front connection.

This means quick water circulation and lively steaming. Many other strong points. Ask your dealer.

ONCE THE IDOL OF PLAINFIELD FANS

Billy Lee, Plains' Boniface, a Crack Semi-Pro Catcher in Days of Old.

TURNED DOWN LEAGUE JOBS

Liked the Independent Game, and Played it in the .300 Class, in the South, the Middle West and the East.

A quarter of a century ago the name of Billy Lee carried as much magic to the ear of the baseball fan in Plainfield as the name of Ty Cobb does to the rabid Detroit fan. In those days Lee "blew" into town from the breezy west with a crackerjack reputation as a ball player, and his services were eagerly snatched by "Tee Kay" Keller, manager of the famous Crescents.

Lee immediately became an idol of the fans and he continued in that role for a dozen or more years. While a member of the Crescent club Lee played third base and during his diamond activities in this section he turned down numerous offers from big league clubs and stuck to independent ball. Billy is now proprietor of a hostelry at Scotch Plains.

Lee probably enjoys the distinction of having the widest playing experience of any ball player in the independent ranks. During his diamond career which began at the age of seventeen and continued for twenty-eight years he played on the big semi-professional clubs in the south, and middle west before coming east.

He has lined up on teams with Perry Werden, Patsy and Oliver Tebeau, Tony Mullane, Tom Quinn, Jack Kirby, Jocko Halligan, Jack Brennan and scores of other old timers who drifted to big and little leagues.

Like all of the old timers, Lee holds with Arthur Irwin that the players of bygone days were just as speedy as the exponents of the game at the present time. When batting is taken into consideration, Lee believes that the oldtimers were heavier sluggers than the hitting stars of today, and he gives a plausible reason for this belief.

"We hit harder in the old times because the clubs did not carry so many extra pitchers as they do now. Twenty years ago a big league club would go through the season with three pitchers while now the pitching complement consists of 6 to 10 twirlers. In the western semi-pro clubs that played seven games a week two pitchers would do the work.

"Where there are now three or four sluggers in the old days it would be possible to pick out 50 or more fencebreakers in a league. The average player doesn't hit so hard and I believe it is because there are so many pitchers in the game," continued Lee.

Speaking of pitchers Lee said: "I do not desire to appear in the light of discounting the prowess of Mathewson, Bender, Brown and the other great pitchers of today, but I would be willing to stake my last buck, none of them are better than was Tony Mullane. Mullane had a 'speedy high-in' that made all of the sluggers wince."

Lee made his reputation in St. Louis when he blossomed out as a star catcher on Henry V. Lucas' Maroons which team in the early 80's rivaled the Brown's, under Chris Van der Ahe in the Mound City, for popularity. The Maroons made a ten strike when they defeated the Browns in a series of games and the following year they were the "real things" and drew big crowds much to the disgust of Von der Ahe.

Lucas was a millionaire transportation king, popular all through the Mississippi country, and he had the ball club as a pastime. He got a lot of sport traveling through the south and west beating the independent clubs, but fortune frowned on him with the result that his business enterprises and ball club collapsed. The Maroons traveled like a league team and had a countrywide reputation.

Lee is a native of Paterson, but when a small boy he drifted to St. Louis, where he worked in a machine shop. When the Maroons "busted," Lee signed with Ted Sullivan and played with the famous Paducah (Ky.) and Vicennes (Ind.) clubs. He also played with the Kansas City Stars, Chicago Blues, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Memphis, Louisville and the Pelicans of New Orleans.

When he came east, Lee took a position in the Potter Printing Press Works, in Plainfield, and with his salary and ball playing income he saved enough to embark in the hotel business twenty years ago.

Lee recognized as a sure hitter and one of his boasts while playing with Keeler, Turner, Bonner and other erstwhile stars on the Crescents, was that he fanned only once in five seasons. Lee, in '96 and '97 played in Westfield, and his last active season on the diamond was in '98 when he played with the Springfield (N. J.) club. For the last few seasons he officiated as umpire for the Scotch Plains club.

Chilton-Smith.

Miss Ethel V. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith, of East Second street, and Robert M. Chilton, of North Plainfield, were married at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. J. Y. Broek, on East Second street. The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. Robert Stevenson and Mrs. Walter Cahoone, of this city. The bride was formerly employed as stenographer at the Spicer Manufacturing Company's plant on West Fourth street. The groom is employed in a New York wholesale house. After a honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Chilton will reside in New York.

Mrs. T. A. Emmons, who has been spending some time with her daughter Mrs. A. E. Smith, of West Fifth street, left Monday for Daytona, Fla., where she will spend two months.

Public Conscience and Hospital Funds

The general awakening of the public conscience within the past few years relative to institutional work and the great benefits to every community from well equipped and efficiently conducted hospitals is becoming far reaching in its effect.

The list of recent large subscriptions by New England corporations alone, to hospital, institutional and welfare work in their local communities is really startling to one unfamiliar with the liberality of some of the oldest and most conservative industrial establishments in New England cities. Within a year at Manchester, N. H., the Consolidated Cotton Duck Co. contributed forty thousand dollars to public welfare work, and the Amoskeag Mfg. Co. of the same city voted twenty-five thousand dollars during the campaign.

The Arlington Mills at Lawrence, Mass., one of the largest textile plants in the world, and now the storm center of the present strike of textile operatives, recently contributed fifteen thousand dollars to local institutional work. In a Concord, Mass., campaign the Boston and Maine Railroad contribution was ten thousand dollars, while in a similar undertaking at Waterville, Maine, a like amount was voted by the directors of the Maine Central Railroad.

Within a comparatively few months at Lowell, Mass., the contribution of the Locks and Canal Corporation was sixty thousand dollars and to the same campaign the Lowell Machine Shops and the Appleton Mfg. Co. voted five thousand dollars each.

In the campaign at Wheeling, W. Va., which closed only last month, the call went out for two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to erect a new hospital. To this fund the National Tube Company—a local branch of the U. S. Steel Corporation—gave five thousand dollars and a similar sum was voted by the Wheeling Steel and Iron Co. The Wheeling Traction Co. subscribed two thousand five hundred dollars while the iron works, railroads and other public corporations gave sums ranging from two hundred dollars to one thousand dollars.

No greater cause for liberal public giving exists in Plainfield today than for Muhlenberg Hospital. The necessities of the institution are urgent, by reason not only of the large amount of work accomplished there without financial recompense, but equally because of the steadily increasing demands made upon the hospital by the public.

These demands should be met, and those who control the institution are bending every energy to meet them. The task is too great for any one man or group of men to handle alone. The public—and this means every woman and child in the community—is benefited by the presence of Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield. None can tell at what moment those in charge of the active work of the hospital may be called upon to exert every effort toward the saving of his life or of the lives of dear ones. Every true Plainfielder should "give till it hurts" in the coming campaign.

Arizona, the Forty-eighth Member of the Union

First True Exploration of That Section of America Was In 1540.

ARIZONA, whose entry as the forty-eighth member of the Union completes the nation of states from ocean to ocean, has had a history probably as turbulent and trying as any state in the Union. The struggles of the pilgrims of Massachusetts, the Hollanders who colonized New York, the Quakers who settled Pennsylvania and the English who brought civilization to the Virginia shores were no harder than those of the pioneers of Arizona. They were killed by Indians, robbed by lawless people of their own nationality, starved upon the deserts, frozen in the snowcapped mountains and bitten by poisonous reptiles.

They had no government for many years and fought as hard to get territorial rights as they have been fighting for the past ten years to get statehood rights. They were on the point of rebelling at one time, and even went so far as to establish a territorial form of government of their own despite the expressed desire of congress, exemplified in its refusal to grant a territorial government, that they should remain a part of New Mexico.

Their nearest peace and judicial officials were then 400 miles away, at Mesilla, N. M., and their law was the law of the strongest against the weakest. At one time all of the present state of Arizona was the county of Arizona, attached to New Mexico for purposes of administration only.

Whence Came Its Name.

General Nelson A. Miles, General Lawton, General Crook and many other noted men of the United States army gained their first fame in campaigning in Arizona. It was from Arizona that the only raid of United States troops was ever made into a foreign country not then at war with us; the soldiers were after Indians who had been killing and robbing in Arizona. The history of Arizona is thrilling from its inception to the present day.

The origin of the name Arizona is not definitely known. Bancroft, the historian, and some others have insisted that the name is from a supposed Pima Indian word, "Arizonac," although Bancroft admits that the "aboriginal meaning of the term is not known." The historian treats as "extremely absurd" the suggestion that the name is of Spanish derivation, and he apparently bases that conclusion upon the fact that there is no similar word in Spanish.

But it is possible that "Arizona" may have had its derivation from the Spanish words arida zona (arid zone). The well known tendency of uneducated speakers of Spanish to leave off the last syllables of words ending in vowels and their tendency to run words together would easily transform arida zona into "Arizona."

The First True Exploration.

It was about 1527 that Cabeza de Vaca turned his wandering footsteps to the Hopi and Zuni villages in the northeast, gaining Mexico at last by way of the friendly Pima settlements along the Gila.

It was in 1540 that Vasco de Coronado, governor of Mexico, lured by the golden tales of a monkish traveler, started northward on the first true exploration of that mysterious land. He sought the fabled Seven Cities of Cibola, where gold and precious gems paved the streets. Though he did not find the object of his search, his expedition led to Spanish settlements and agriculture and mining had some development.

Back again into barbarism was Arizona plunged by the Mexican war for independence, and not until the Gadsden purchase in 1848 did the firm hand of governmental authority again take hold. Even then, however, all that was known of Arizona was a narrow strip within which the Southern Pacific railroad now runs and along which flowed the tide of travel from the eastern states to the gold fields of California.

Treacherous Indians of Long Ago.

When the white man first went to Arizona there were approximately 40,000 Indians within the borders of the territory. The principal tribes were the Navajos, Hopis, Wallapais, Chemehuevis, Havasupias, Mohaves, Pimas, Maricopas, Yumas, Papagos and Apaches, of which there were several groups or divisions. The Navajos perpetrated several massacres in the early days, but it was not long before all the Indians except the Apaches had been subdued.

Tricky and cruel, the Apaches held out for many years against the inroads of the whites upon their ancient hunting grounds. Such leaders as Cochise, Geronimo and Natchez led the Apaches against famous American generals like Nelson A. Miles and George Crook. A reward of $5,000 was once offered for Apache Kid, but was never claimed.

Up to 1874 the Indians terrorized large sections of the territory and kept out immigration and capital. In that year all the Apaches that could be rounded up were placed on the San Carlos reservation. It was supposed that an end had been put to the Indian troubles, but raids in 1882 and 1883 shook the feeling of security.

In the year 1883 there were 25,000 Indians in the territory occupying lands reserved for them by the general government. The government was supporting about 5,000 of them.

In 1882 the Chiricahua, White Mountain and San Carlos Apaches broke out in open rebellion. On the morning of April 19 Loco's band broke out at San Carlos and after killing the chief of police started up the valley of the Gila, killing at least sixty white settlers.

Then for six years Arizona was the scene of a merciless Indian war. In 1883 Geronimo became chief of the Apaches. He massacred settlers and burned ranches almost at will. After each raid he would escape to the mountain fastnesses of Mexico, where the United States soldiers could not pursue him. Finally permission was secured from Mexico for soldiers to cross the frontier in pursuit of the Indians. In 1888 Captain Lawton, serving under General Nelson A. Miles, surrounded Geronimo's warriors and made them prisoners. The whole tribe was taken to Florida and later transferred to Fort Sill, Okla., as prisoners of war.

Bad Men Lived There.

There Geronimo remained until his death, three or four years ago, and the remainder of his band is still there. All desire to return to Arizona, and it is possible that some time the government may see fit to grant them their wish. Today they are as peaceful and placid as any Indians, having seen the folly of resisting the whites.

Of course there were bad men and gun men in Arizona in her early days. Stage and train robberies were by no means uncommon and excited only passing comment. Finally train robberies became so frequent that in 1889 the penalty for that crime was fixed at death. In the same year the legislature passed a law providing a fine of $25 for any one carrying concealed weapons.

It was not until after the penalty for train robbing had been fixed at death that Arizona became really peaceful. Now there is no train robbing any more, and as the day of the stagecoach is practically passed the stage robber is extinct.

Until 1907 everything was wide open in Arizona. Gambling was unrestrained and, except where municipal laws prevented, women and minors were allowed in saloons. In that year the legislature responded to an urgent message from Governor Kibbey and to pronounced public sentiment and passed a rigid anti-gambling law that closed such games.

OUR PEAT WORTH MILLIONS.

Peat may be used extensively in the United States before long, in the opinion of Charles A. Davis, who has been making extensive investigations for the bureau of mines.

The parts of this country where peat is most abundant are relatively remote from the coal fields, Mr. Davis says in a report. This is an important economic consideration. Peat, Mr. Davis says, could be produced with less danger and much more cheaply than coal. It would be more economical, for "two tons of peat could be bought for the same price as one ton of coal, and even the best coals do not have twice the heating value, pound for pound, of good fuel peat."

Mr. Davis estimates the peat of the country worth about $40,000,000,000. Peat of various grades, he adds, may be used for many purposes other than fuel. Paper can be made from it, coarse fabrics, dye stuffs, tanning materials, packing material and fertilizer filler.

The estate of old man Findle, consisting of one eight-day clock and a few other smaller articles, will be wound up next week.

SHATTERS SPRING THEORY.

French Scientist Says Microbe Does Real Awakening.

That the springtime awakening of the earth and all living beings so long sung by the poets and chronicled by the marriage clerks is actually due to a microbe is the thesis upheld by Professor Muntz of the French Academy of Sciences. The old theory that the increased warmth of the sun's rays worked the miracle is no longer tenable if the eminent investigator's opinion is to be believed.

After researches extending over a period of years Professor Muntz asserts that the phenomena of spring time are the direct result of violent bacterial activity in the soil, not due to the sun, but to a law of periodicity inherent in the microbes themselves. This activity highly multiplies the nitrogen in the soil, which in turn makes seed germinate and vegetation grow.

Congress In Session Until August.

TWO "ETHELS" IN BAYONNE MURDER

One Existed In Victim's Fancy, Police Say.

MYSTERY BAFFLES POLICE

Finding of Letters on Body of George J. Morris, Who Was Killed Monday Night, Brings to Light Strange Whim and Probable Fictitious Girl — Real "Girl" Talks.

Bayonne, N. J., Jan. 31.—The murder of George J. Morris here Monday night presents a most discouraging case to the police. Morris was killed near the Oil Seeds company plant, where he was employed as shipping clerk.

Detective Sergeant Griffin, in charge of the Bayonne detective bureau, inclines to the belief that the shooting was accidental. He picked up a newly made bludgeon fifty feet away from the place where the young man's body was found. It had been fashioned from a heavy billet of hemlock about three feet long and was broken off as though by a blow six inches from the thick end. Griffin believes this weapon was used by an employee of a neighboring factory in making an attack on an enemy and that the bullet which killed young Morris was fired by the person attacked and struck the young man as he walked by.

When Morris' body was searched at the police station a wierdly constructed love letter, written on the backs of railroad bills of lading and addressed to "Miss Ethel Abbott," was found. The police questioned the young man's family in vain in an endeavor to establish "Miss Abbott's" identity and now believe that she existed only in the dead man's imagination.

Morris had for two years been paying marked attention to Miss Ethel Peters, eighteen, of 21 West Fortieth street. There was no one, Miss Peters told the police, who could possibly have been jealous of her intimacy with young Morris.

Assistant County Physician Haskins removed the bullet from the young man's head at Guy's morgue. He declared it might have traveled several hundred feet before it struck Morris. It entered his face to the right of the point of the chin and plowed through his neck to the base of the skull, severing the jugular vein. The physician said the wound would have permitted the injured man to walk a considerable distance without leaving any trail of blood.

TO PROSECUTE DR. GREELEY.

Hackensack Physician Fails to Report a Death.

Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 31.—The board of health of this city has instructed its counsel, A. H. G. Maidment, to prosecute Dr. Horace Greeley, who conducts the Hillcrest sanitarium here, for failure to report a death from tuberculosis to the local authorities.

Dr. Greeley admitted that he had failed to make a report of the death of Miss L. G. Adams, twenty-six years old, of this city, as required by law. He said that the law in question is not strictly observed and that the practice of failing to report is general. He denied that any complaint against his conduct had been previously made.

Dr. F. S. Hallett of the Hackensack board of health said that the offense was a matter of negligence and that Dr. Greeley had never before been in an unfavorable light before the board.

SUPPOSED ACTOR SLAIN.

Shot In Camden In a Quarrel With Unidentified Man.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 31.—In a quarrel between two well dressed men at the corner of Locust and Sycamore streets in this city one of the two strangers drew a revolver and shot the other through the heart, killing him instantly. The bullet went clear through the body. The murderer escaped. The dead man was about forty years old, short and stout. The police say he was evidently an actor, as "stage money" was found in his pockets. There was nothing to identify him.

Mrs. Fannie Sweeten, who lives at the corner of Locust and Sycamore streets, heard the two men quarreling, and she went out to the street to separate them, but just as she reached them the shot was fired. The body of the murdered man was removed to a local undertaking establishment.

HELD AS WHITE SLAVERS.

Young Girl Appeals to Trenton Police and Three Are Arrested.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 31.—Thomas Delacio, twenty years old; James Vendre, thirty years old, and Pedro Bacera, forty years old, were arrested on white slavery charges.

The complainant, Dora Kamer, twenty-two years of age, who had appealed to the police for protection, told how she came to this country from Russia five years ago and was led into a pretense of marriage with Delacio. She charges that he kept her a prisoner here, in Philadelphia, and at a construction camp at Trenton Junction.

Vendre and Bacera are held as Delacio's accomplices, and the local police will be aided by the government authorities in a thorough investigation.

The village tailor received occasional orders from the vicar for such articles as hats, collars, or handkerchiefs. "You see," remarked the vicar one day, having called with his usual order, "when I want a suit I go to London. They make them there."

Calling again a few days later, the vicar remarked that he had not seen the tailor at church lately.

"No," replied the tailor; "when I want to hear a good sermon I go to London; they preach them there."—Tit-Bits.

COOK'S TOURS APPEAL TO ALL

tourist companies provide for their parties only the usual continental meals, which are not as frequent or hearty as those customary in America. The Cook tours are based on having everything as near like they would be at home as it is possible to have them while traveling abroad. For instance, the average breakfast provided to tourists consists of coffee and rolls, there is a light lunch and a big dinner. The Cook tours provide a full meat breakfast, luncheon and dinner, such as one has at home. Every fee is paid while traveling, to porters, bell boys and others, all of this being cared for by the Cook conductor who travels with the party. In addition to this conductor, who will remain with the Daily Press tourists from the time they land until they leave Liverpool on the way home, expert guides and interpreters are provided in each city, these men being constantly under the employ of Thomas Cook and Son. At each station the Cook firm has a uniformed interpreter and porter also in their employ, something no other company does. Think what this would mean if one of the young women was separated from her party. She would know exactly what to do, having merely to go to this interpreter, who would see that she was properly cared for until she was joined by the rest of her companions. The advantages of traveling under the famous house of Cook are too great to be enumerated in the limited space available here.

The opportunity is before every one. The names of the contestants will not be printed for a few days, so that until this is done all have an equal chance. It is urged that nominations be turned in at once, so that there will be no danger of leaving anyone out of the first list, because of confusion at the last minute. See all your friends. Ask them to wait until your name appears in the Daily Press and then do everything they can to help you. Tell them that you will take their subscription now and start sending the Press to them next week. Call at the Daily Press office, or call up on the telephone and ask for the contest manager, who will be glad to answer any questions. All of the assistance possible that can be extended will be given to every candidate, so long as it is not necessary to show favoritism. The situation is such in Plainfield that an offer of this kind will not come again for years, and the offer of the Daily Press has probably never been equalled by a newspaper in a city the size of Plainfield.

To those of your friends who have been taking the Daily Press for many years you can appeal for payments for a year in advance. To those who are not now subscribers you can say that you will be satisfied at the present time with a ten weeks' subscription, for you may rest assured that the many exclusive live news stories which appear in this paper almost every night will convince everyone that this is the paper to read to be posted on what is going on in Plainfield and vicinity. It is the paper that has and always did have the confidence of the people. Then you can go around before the end of the contest and get them all for a longer period.

There is no time like the present. Send in your nomination NOW. Also cut the vote coupons, good for five votes, out of the Daily Press and hold them until the box is placed.

DOCTORS DROP SCALPELS AND OSTEOPATHS CALM

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 31.—It begins to look as if New Jersey is not to witness this year the spectacle of a gory fight between the osteopaths and medical men of the State such as has occurred in the Legislature for the past few years.

The osteopaths decided several weeks ago that they would not take the initiative in the fight as in former years, but would wait to introduce their bill until after the medical men had presented their bill. But the legislative committee of the New Jersey Medical Association met here yesterday afternoon and decided to take no action this year to bar out the osteopaths unless the osteopaths themselves started the fight.

The medical men have decided that the fight they have waged annually against the osteopaths has done the medical fraternity no good, and has given the osteopaths thousands of dollars' worth of free advertising, in addition to stirring up considerable public sympathy for the new school.

The medical men intend to introduce two bills at the present session. One will provide a means for the restoration of reciprocity with New York in the issuance of licenses, and the other will make it possible to prosecute fakers who hold themselves out as able to cure chronic or incurable diseases.
